Y. P. S. Rally At Belfast

Judging by the large congregation which gathered in the Belfast Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening for the Eastern Divisional meetings, there is no lack of Christian enthusiasm among the Y.P.S. Societies of the East. When the roll of the societies were called during the proceedings, at least one hundred and sixty young people arose in groups here and there among the audience, as representative members.

The song service was led by the pastor of the church, Rev. D. L. Griffiths, who also spoke happy words of fraternal welcome to the contingents who were present from Cardigan, Montague, Wood Islands, Murray Harbor North, Peters Road and probably other centres.

The Rev. J. A. Pritchard in his capacity as convener of the P.E.I. Societies presided, and lucidly explained the purpose of this new movement, which after a few sectional rallies will lead up to a joint convention at Charlottetown in the Fall.

Rev. J. H. Douglas and Rev. Younger Lewis, B.A., who started the devotional service also made short and edifying addresses which were much appreciated. Appropriate hymns were sung, and Mr. Dave Griffiths gave an effective rendering of the solo "The Lost Chord."

The guest speaker was the Rev. T. O. Hughes, B.A., of Halifax, N.S., whose services were fortunately recruited, although he is spending a restful holiday in P.E.I., gave the main address, and as a man of much experience in young people's activities, and possessing a very pleasant personality with an easy gift of speech, he held the attention of the audience while dwelling upon the spiritual privilege of being coworkers with Christ through the medium of the Y.P.S. Resolutions pertaining to future activities were put to the meeting by the Chairman and unanimously adopted.

Miss Florence McPhee presided at the organ.

After the close of the meeting, which was enjoyable as it was edifying, the visitors were entertained to a light lunch prepared in the vestry room by a number of St. John's Church ladies, who received a hearty three cheers from the visitors at the request of the chairman and another ringing cheer accorded the pastor.
