Soviet Call for Big Three Parley

LONDON, Jan. 11 — (CP) — Radio a Soviet voice for the first time in an apparent call for a new "big three" parley, the Moscow radio said tonight that the time had come for a "further consolidation" of unity among Great Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union.

Hitler's only hope now, the Soviet announcement warned, was to split the anti-German alliance.

Speaking in the English language, the Moscow commentator assailed attempts to exaggerate differences of opinion among the Allies and asserted that German propaganda "may deceive this or that Allied journalist, but it cannot change the basic alignment of forces."

FINED $500 — The seizure of four stills near Dunstaffnage on Dec. 19 last by the R. C. M. P. had its culmination in Stipendiary-Magistrate Tweedy's office yesterday when a resident of Dunstaffnage pleaded guilty to ownership and operation of the four stills and received a fine of $500 or six months in jail. Three men had been charged with the offense. One was acquitted last week and another yesterday.

SEVEN BELOW ZERO — The lowest temperature this winter — seven below zero—was recorded at the Charlottetown Experimental Station yesterday morning. The weather moderated during the day. The cold wave extended to New Brunswick where Saint John reported eight below and there were other reports telling of 30 below temperatures in other parts of the mainland.

SUPREME COURT — Two non-jury cases were heard in Supreme Court yesterday, Mr. Justice Arsenault presiding. Both were appeals against convictions under the Prohibition Act made in the Magistrate's Court. The first was the appeal of Blanche Moore from a conviction which carried a fine of $400 or four months in jail. It was dismissed with costs. In the case of Aeneas McDonald, judgment was reserved. Court then adjourned till 11 o'clock Monday morning when it is expected the trial of Florence Elizabeth McNeill on a charge of murder will be opened.

Major MacDonald, who is home on extended leave recovering from his wounds received in France has been undergoing medical treatment in Halifax and Montreal. He is the son of Senator and Mrs. J. A. MacDonald and served with the North Nova Scotia Highlanders.

The WEEK at S.D.U.

The students returned from their holidays on Monday January 8th. Lectures for the second semester began on the following day.

Rev. O.P. Wood is a patient in the Charlottetown Hospital at present. We are glad to report that Father Wood has made such satisfactory progress that he expects to return to the College within the next few days.

The heartfelt sympathy of the students is extended to Clark MacAulay on the death of his mother.

The students offer their sincere felicitations to Rt. Rev. J.A. Murphy, D.R., pastor of Kinkora parish, on his having attained the silver jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood and wish him many long years of health and happiness.

Joe Mahar, popular member of Grade XII class and hockey star of the College, joined the Army during the holidays. All the boys wish Joe every success.

Word has just been received that Rev. Gavan P. Monaghan, Ph.D., Paed.D., formerly a member of our staff and now superintendent of schools in the diocese of Oklahoma City and Tulsa, U.S.A., was recently the recipient of a doctorate in pedagogy from Laval University. We extend our heartiest congratulations to Rev. Dr. Monaghan on this well-deserved honor.

Through the untiring efforts of Rink Manager Ivan Farmer and his energetic assistants a splendid sheet of ice has been provided in the College rink. Hockey Manager George Smith expects to get an intramural hockey league under way within the next few days. The following are the members of the Rink Committee: Ivan Farmer (mgr.), F. Corcoran, R. Gallant, B. MacDougall, D. Burge, R. Blacquiere, O. Mullin, J. Bradley, E. O'Hanley, C. Mullin, and L. Martin.

Basketball Manager Mike Dunphy reports that the Saints have entered the City League and will play their first game on Saturday evening.

The Students wish all readers of this column a very happy and prosperous New Year.

Uncle Sam Has Interventionist Growing Pains

By C. R. BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 — (CP) — Uncle Sam is a veteran in the diplomatic field but as an international interventionist he is still suffering growing pains which threatened to develop a serious ailment.

This has been sharply emphasized in recent weeks while the British and Russian Governments have been grappling with the grave problems of political control in the countries liberated by joint efforts of the three great powers.

President Roosevelt and his young Secretary of State, Edward Stettinius, have been under constant fire of charges that thier stant fire of charges that their the way open for Anglo-Soviet exploitation of advantages they could not have gained except by aid of United States armed forces.

Many Congressmen, as well as those who write and talk for the public enlightenment, make demands that negotiations with foreign governments be made publicly, forgetting that even if the State Department could and would conduct diplomatic negotiations that way it would lose the confidence of foreign governments with which it must negotiate.

This situation is one of the growing pains and it evidences itself every time President Roosevelt or the Secretary of State holds a press conference.

One difficulty is the wide gulf which separates the President and his Cabinet from Congress. They do not sit in Congress and Congress is suspicious of their every act because its members do not enjoy the privilege of British and Canadian parliamentarians to question the Leader of the Government and his Ministers.

Many suggestions have been made to bridge this gulf by having administration heads appear periodically in the Senate to be questioned and make reports.

It is expected the new Congress will receive a number of bills designed to "streamline" procedure and get away from what has been called "the gaslight era" methods which still prevail in both chambers.

Lt.-Gen. Bradley Discusses Nazi Drive In West

WITH THE 12TH U.S. ARMY GROUP, Jan 9 — (AP) — Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley, discussing the German counter-offensive which was aimed at splitting the Allied line in his 12th Army Group sector said today that the now-thwarted enemy move "may materially affect the Germans' ability to resist."

Gen. Bradley, who was awarded the Bronze Star by Gen. Eisenhower today for his part in halting the Germans, stated at a press conference that Germany's ability to prolong the war may have been reduced, but added quickly that this did not mean the Allies could assume the Germans are on the verge of collapse," and there is much hard fighting ahead.

Covering his group headquarters that in leaving the Ardennes front lightly held, the Allies took "what is known in military terminology as 'calculated risk,' striking boldly to the north and south with surplus troops instead of keeping them in the then quiet Ardennes sector.

"This technique — of striking boldly while taking calculated risks," he declared, "is what has gotten us to the German border. In my opinion, had we followed more cautious policies, we would still be fighting west of Paris."

"German losses in this offensive," said Bradley, "have been enormous. Our artillery and air forces have been able to punish him much more severely in the open than had been possible while he remained in his fortifications."

The shift of part of the U. S. 1st Army and all the U. S. 9th Army on the northern flank of the German penetration to the command of Field Marshal Montgomery is temporary, Bradley said, and those American forces will be returned to the 12th Army Group as soon as the enemy salient is eliminated and communications are re-established.

The actual timing of the German counter-offensive and its strength were "somewhat of a surprise," Bradley admitted.

Prime Minister Churchill sent congratulations Tuesday to Bradley on his receiving the Bronze Star. Mr. Churchill said the award "seems to embody the feelings we Britons all have about your part in this great battle in which United States troops have won such high renown. . . . We are proud to serve in loyal comradeship with your soldiers and march with them to final victory."

After Fifty-Nine Years

(By BROTHER V. ANDREW, F. S. C., in Oakland Maple Leaf)

About the middle of June, 1944, in company with my sister, Mrs. W. P. Gleeson, I had the great pleasure of revisiting Prince Edward Island for the seventh time. Since leaving the land of my birth fifty-nine years ago, I found that a great many changes had taken place — many fields that were formerly cultivated and yielding abundant crops, are now abandoned and are having their "second growth" of spruce or fir —also farms that were formerly covered with hardwood, spruce or fir are now cleared away, and green crops of hay, grain and potatoes are now waving in the Summer breeze. I was also told that there is enough of cleared land at present for farming is now none more scientifically than when we were young and that it is more profitable these days to allow the timber to grow for there is agreat price offered for all kinds of lumber.

Many of the relatives and friends living fifty-nine years ago are no longer here on earth. Only their names are recalled on the tombstones in the parish graveyards—a grim reminder that we too, will soon be following them. But one thing that has not changed during the past many years—the red clay is as red as ever and the grass seems to be even greener in contrast with the red background!

My sister and I had for a travelling companion, a very dear friend in the person of Miss Florence Christian of Launching, P. E. I. She was returning to her old home after spending two years or more in sunny California. Her jovial disposition and winning ways, besides being dressed in a tailored blue suit caused her to be named the "Bluejay" of the party.

On account of having business to attend to regarding our deceased brother's estate — the Rev. Daniel F. White—we were detained two days in Vancouver, B. C. While there my sister and I were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Campbell, formerly of Greenvale, P. E. I., and also a teacher in Rollo Bay. The younger children of Cyril White and others had the good fortune of being well taught by this capable schoolmaster Mr. Campbell having had the good fortune of spending some years in Alaska and the Canadian Northwest, is now retired. Mrs. Campbell came from Nova Scotia, but on more occasions than one, visited Prince Edward Island. Their happy family consists of two sons aviators in the service of their country, a younger son, the Rev. Donald Campbell, Pastor of one of Vancouver's Churches and also acting as shore Chaplain for the Navy. They have also two charming daughters, Mary and Edith.

While in Vancouver we had the pleasure of meeting Sister Viola Mossey, of the Sisters of Service. Those Sisters are in charge of a hostel for working girls. Sister Viola has also another sister who is a member of the Congregation of Notre Dame, in St. Joseph's Convent in Charlottetown. Both are from South Lake, P. E. I. We had the pleasure of meeting the parents of these Island Nuns while attending Mass at East Point and also their brother Basil, Manager of a large bank in Antigonish, Nova Scotia.

Our trip through the Canadian Rockies was most enjoyable and the scenes through Banff and Lake Louise linger long in one's memory. Service on the Canadian National was all that could be expected, especially during these war days, and the up-to-date air-conditioned Pullman cars made travelling a luxury. On account of the many service people going across the continent, the dining service was sometimes curtailed but this is to be expected during war time.

After leaving Vancouver, our first lay over was in Montreal where we visited our cousin in the person of Sister St. Aidan Maureen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Keefe of Gowan Brae, P. E. I. Sister St. Aidan Maureen has been stationed for some years at Bourget Academy, 1214 Mountain Street, Montreal. There we also met her brother, Frank O'Keefe, on his way to Toronto for further military training. Francis has two other brothers in the service, James, a Bombardier in training in Western Canada for overseas service and also Joseph, connected with the Canadian communication division at Halifax.

At Villa Theresa, Newcastle, New Brunswick, we had the pleasure of meeting our two other sisters, Sister S. Hildebert of Mount St. Bernard College, Antigonish, and Sister St. Cyril, stationed at Newcastle, N. B. The four of us then journeyed on to Prince Edward Island for a month's vacation and a grand reunion. The two Nuns spent most of their time at the Sisters' Convent in Souris. During their stay many former pupils and relatives visited them, while they in turn visited other relatives and friends. One of the interesting trips was to Grand River and Launching, sponsored by the generous Pastor of Rollo Bay, the Rev. Father Sinnott. Mrs Peter McGinnis of Souris Line Road as well as Mr. Peter Gallant of Souris, also furnished transportation for the Nuns to Gowan Brae, North Lake and elsewhere.

During our personal vacation, the most of it was spent along the trout streams and mill dams on the Eastern end of the Island. We were rewarded by landing around 200 of the finny tribe. No doubt no other place on this continent, for its size, has so many trout streams as this beautiful Island. For me, the streams that gave of their abundance, were those running into North Lake and also those at Gowan Brae.
