SCHOOL BOARD MEETING—At a special meeting of the City School Board held Monday, plans were submitted of the splendid new brick annex to be built to Queen Square School immediately to the westward of the playgrounds. The old brick buildings at present occupying the site will be removed to make way for the new structure. The latter will be three stories and contain six classrooms each 25 feet by 30, three on the first story, three on the second with a large assembly hall on the third. There are other features, the details of which will be announced later. The building, which will be fireproof and finished in pressed brick is estimated to cost in the vicinity of $80,000. It is proposed to have it ready, if possible, after the midsummer vacation. Four of the rooms will then be occupied to take the place of four which were in the main building and which are being abandoned as classrooms. The plans after being examined by the members of the Board were sent to the Superintendent of Education for his approval.

INSTITUTE NEWS—The Mount Stewart Women's Institute held their monthly meeting in Foresters Hall on Tuesday evening, February 10th, with an attendance of twenty-two members. The meeting was opened by singing the Institute Ode. Roll call was answered with "What Would I do With a Thousand Dollars?" Many humorous responses were given. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The school committee reported that a map of Europe for the principal's room, and window shades for the primary department, were needed, and it was voted to supply these and Miss Coffin and Miss Annie MacDonald, teachers, were authorized to purchase them. Other improvements for the school were discussed at length, and will be taken up again later. The sick committee reported that they had visited several sick persons and brought them fruit. It was voted to hold the postponed Masquerade and box social on Easter Monday night in the hall. A paper on "Our duty to home and country" was read by Mrs. Charman in which she urged the buying of home products. A paper was also read by Mrs. A. M. Smith on the life of the poet Longfellow. Miss Helen MacDonald gave a violin solo, and Miss Annie MacDonald, and Mrs. Roy Jay sang "Darling I am Growing Old," very sweetly. A guessing contest was put on by the president, Mrs. Ross Pigott, first prize being won by Mrs. Ira Clark and second prize by Miss Annie MacDonald. A demonstration of making Easter li-—DEATH OF REV. F. A. MacDONALD—The people of Summerside and vicinity will regret to learn of the sudden death of Dr. Fred A. MacDonald of First Church, Old South, Worcester, Mass. Dr. MacDonald is a nephew of Mrs. Levi R. Silliphant and on his many visits to Summerside, preached in several of the town Churches with great acceptance. Rev. Mr. MacDonald was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while delivering his dedicatory sermon Sunday evening, March 15th; he continued to the end, announced a hymn and left the pulpit to collapse in his study. Rev. Mr. MacDonald was preaching on "Man's Obligation and God's Promises" the church has been entirely redecorated, a new chancel erected, and a Moller organ installed, and it was the first day the modernized auditorium had been opened to its congregation. Rev. Mr. MacDonald had not preached since June 8th, 1930 when he and Mrs. MacDonald left on a tour of Europe; he was taken ill abroad and was in a Paris Hospital for nearly a month. A six months leave of absence was granted him in September, and he recovered sufficiently to resume his pastoral duties on Sunday. The following is taken from the Worcester Evening Gazette: "March 4, 1931: 'In Old South Congregational Church, his pastorate for nine years, funeral services were conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for Rev. Fred Alan MacDonald. From the pulpit in which Rev. Mr. MacDonald was fatally stricken last Sunday while preaching his last sermon, words of pity and consolation were spoken to a throng of mourners by Mrs. MacDonald, as soloist, and minister Revs. Carl Dana Skiffin, assistant pastor of the church, conducted the service, opening it with a reading from the Scriptures. Rev. Dr. Edward Payson Drew, a former pastor of the church and acting pastor during a recent leave of absence of Rev. Mr. MacDonald, spoke a message of comfort and Rev. Dr. G. S. K. Anderson of Eoston, who was Mr. MacDonald's minister during his boyhood, preached the late pastor in a personal message and prayer. Services at the grave in the cemetery were conducted by Rev. Mr. Skiffin."—S.

A new line of sundaes, the first of their kind in the Province, will be served shortly at White's Tea Rooms. During the present winter Mr. White reports the lunch business has grown considerably, a growth attributed to the high standard maintained. The booths in White's Tea Rooms at semi-private. In the dust proof show cases are shown 150 kinds of chocolate bars, a large change from the time a few years ago when most dealers carried only half a dozen kinds. White's Tea Rooms have been carrying on business in the City for twenty years and with the passing of time have gained a position of prominence in the lunching places of the City.

4 1-2 Hour Speech From Mr. King

OTTAWA, March 17.—In one of the longest speeches heard in the House of Commons for many years, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition yesterday opened fire on the Government. It was the Liberal keynote speech, in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. For four hours and thirty minutes, the Liberal leader bombarded the treasury benches. He directed his fire almost entirely at Premier R. B. Bennett, particularly attacking the Prime Minister's attitude at the Imperial Conference.

Public interest in the proceedings was very great. Crowded galleries with people standing in rows behind the seats; knots of interested persons gathered outside the exits waiting and hoping for a chance to get in where they could hear; a tense chamber with members on the qui vive to spot attacks; now and then a quick interjection as the Opposition leader continued hour after hour; all these testified to the exceptional interest which the opening day of debate had attracted.

Finally the Liberal amendment summarizing the views of the Opposition in the space of three hundred words, brought the speech to a close at about half past ten o'clock. It was the signal for an outburst of applause from the Liberal benches. Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister, sat throughout the entire speech, making only a few interjections. Instead of launching at once into his reply, he moved the adjournment of the debate and also of the House. He will go on tomorrow. Thus the House is assured of another big day in the debate on this address.

The amendment which found a seconder in Hon. Charles Stewart, former Minister of Interior, charged that the policies of the government had failed to produce a remedy for the ranks of the unemployed. It criticized the proposals made by the

he was wanted on the phone. The message was from his man Aban Gallant at Abram's Village, to say that the store there had been broken into during the night. It was after his conversation that he noticed a pane of glass had been taken from the lean-to at the rear of the building. In the meantime the assistants in the store had discovered a coat sweater and other articles were missing from the store besides five dollars in cash which had been left in the till overnight. A number of packages of cigarettes were missing. He at once notified Mr. Miller and Mr. Trainor of the Provincial Police. He then decided to go into Sunnyside himself. He suspected a prisoner to be the man who had broken into his store as he had met him on the road the night previous and had given him a lift. He asked if his name was Casey and he said no, it was Arsenault. He took him as far as Urbenville on the road to Abram's Village. He recognized him as the young man Casey, who had formerly lived at Egmont Bay. On Saturday morning he identified him. Inspector Miller gave evidence that he had been acquainted of the theft by Mr. Gallant and had arrested Casey on Water Street, Summerside, on information given him by Mr. Gallant. He questioned him about his whereabouts on Friday night. He said he had been working at Freetown and had $7 in his pocket. He had gone to Lot 16 looking for work. He had stayed the night at Miscouche station and returned to Summerside on Saturday morning where he had bought a suitcase. When searched by Mr. Miller he had $9.17 in cash, a watch, sweater similar to the one in court, underneath his own sweater and numerous other articles about his person. He did not offer any explanation as to how he came by the articles. In the afternoon evidence regarding the theft at Abram's Village was taken.

Mr. Aban Gallant, clerk at the store, testified that he had closed the store the night of Friday, March 13th, and on going to the store in the morning he saw that a panel had been taken out of the door and the safe tampered with. The lid of the cash box had been wrenched off and $2 taken out. There was some silver and coppers in the cash drawer. Some of the coppers had been taken and one which was a peculiar shape and had been in the drawer for some time was gone. A similar coin was among those found on the young man. Several articles were missing from the store, including a watch and two chisels. The empty clam cans were found in the store and it was noticed that two tins of clams had been taken from the shelf. There was evidence that an attempt had been made to gain entrance through a window.

Another witness residing at Egmont Bay gave evidence that he had been awakened about 1 a. m. on Saturday morning by a young man who he believed to be the prisoner for a drink of water, as he was thirsty. He drank two pints. He spoke in French. When he left, witness watched him and he walked towards Wellington. Other witnesses

Prime Minister to the Imperial Conference, asserting that these propositions were responsible for the failure of the conference. And it declared that if the policies of the government were persisted in "the very serious conditions which exist at the present time will be intensified rather than relieved."

The attitude taken by Premier Bennett at the Imperial Conference came in for strong criticism by Mr. King. He asserted that Mr. Bennett's method of approach to the conference "resembled nothing more closely than the presentation of an ultimatum to an unfriendly nation on the eve of war." He charged that Mr. Bennett had attempted coercion with respect to the domestic politics of the Mother Country, and that he had assumed a "petulant and childish" attitude when his proposals were criticized by Hon. J. H. Thomas, in the British House.

And Mr. King went further. He predicted failure of the coming economic conference in Ottawa if Mr. Bennett did not change his attitude and his proposals.

Next morning, Tuesday, the train from Charlottetown brought more passengers for Ottawa in the persons of Senator John McLean and Mrs. McLean, Senators Hughes and Sinclair, also Miss MacDonald, daughter of the Honorable J. A. MacDonald, of Cardigan, and many others gave similar evidence. At the conclusion of the evidence the Magistrate said that according to the evidence the charge of breaking and entering had been fully substantiated, also that of identification. In view of the fact that a number of the articles stolen had been found on the prisoner, he saw no other course open than to send him up for trial to a higher court.

Experience Reminiscent Of Old Times

The following lively description of the experience of the passengers belated while enroute to Ottawa on March 9th, will be read with interest: As all will remember, Monday morning, March 9th, was a beautiful one and prospects looked bright for a quick trip to Ottawa, especially when the report from the boat was that crossings were being made on Summer Schedule and that no less than thirteen round trips had been made from Saturday at four o'clock until Sunday evening, but such was not to be our luck.

Arriving at Borden on schedule time Monday, passengers were surprised to find that the good old Car Ferry steamer was held fast in the ice blockade at Tormentine and that she had been there from two o'clock the night before. However, we were shunted down to the pier where the cars were kept comfortable by steam heat from the Power House. There were a considerable number of passengers including Senator McArthur, Mr. A. E. MacLean, M. P., and Mrs. MacLean, of Summerside, John H. Myers, M. P., and Mrs. Myers, of Hampton, all enroute to Ottawa, also Mr. Chas. Chandler and Bruce Taylor, of Charlottetown, who were on their way to Montreal and Dr. McIntyre of Montague, the latter going to Montreal on account of his brother's illness, a large number of commercial men and our always courteous friend, Mr. Chas. Meikel, Travelling Passenger Agent, C. N. R.

At noon, when no signs of the boat could be seen, our train was pulled up to the station and the hotels were well patronized for the noon hour. After lunch, we were again shunted down to the wharf and by this time the wind had increased to a gale and all hope that the boat could get out of the ice jam at Tormentine was given up and at four o'clock it was announced that a train was being sent out to Charlottetown and Summerside and that any passengers who wished to return home could do so. A number availed themselves of this opportunity and started out. The ones for Charlottetown did not get along too badly as the train reached that point at eleven o'clock that night but the passengers for Summerside were not so fortunate and were obliged to spend the night in the famous Kelvin Cutting and we understand that the passengers who left Borden for Summerside on Monday at four o'clock did not arrive there until Wednesday morning at three or four o'clock. Well, to return to those who stayed at Borden. We were well taken care of by the different hotels and by private citizens. Some were fortunate enough to get beds, others had to be satisfied with a big hotel chair while others got quarters in private homes.

More Passengers

Next morning, Tuesday, the train from Charlottetown brought more passengers for Ottawa in the persons of Senator John McLean and Mrs. McLean, Senators Hughes and Sinclair, also Miss MacDonald, daughter of the Honorable J. A. MacDonald, of Cardigan, and many others from different points. It was a day of excitement at Borden; no progress was reported from the Car Ferry; all hotel accommodations was overtaxed. The Borden Hockey Team, winners of the A. E. MacLean League were to play Montague in Charlottetown. Two or three of their players were on the boat at Tormentine and some in Moncton. The wires were kept hot arranging and negotiating for aeroplanes to bring the boys across the Straits. The railway wanted definite information in connection with the special train to take the team to Charlottetown with their supporters. All was confusion for some hours. At last arrangements were made and although quite stormy the plane arrived, brought over the players one at a time and then the special got away. The plane picked up Dr. McIntyre and took him to Moncton to catch his train to Montreal.

Wednesday morning dawned with no boat still in sight but around nine o'clock the good news was received that she had broken out of the ice jam and soon the welcome whistle was heard and baggage was quickly packed but there was no rush as the boat was out so long that four hours were needed to get water supplies for the return trip. Meanwhile, the train arrived with further recruits for Ottawa. This time there were two members of the Fox Breeders' Association, Messrs. Shelton Sharpe, M. L. A., and George MacCallum, as well as numerous other passengers, some of whom had started on Monday, but had gone up the line or to Charlottetown for accommodation. Finally, on Wednesday, the train was pulled down to the wharf between eleven and twelve o'clock at noon and the passengers that left home Monday morning were able to step aboard ship on Wednesday at 12 o'clock. Shortly after twelve, the boat pulled out and in less than an hour was within a stone's throw of Tormentine Pier but here again a delay of two more hours occurred as it was only after two hours continuous pounding at the ice jam that she was able to break through into the Harbour and dock.

Mr. Charlie Meikel who had attended to every detail for the comfort of the passengers, brought the cheering news that the Ocean Lim.
