Revolver Fight Between Citizens and Men.

LARGE HOTEL WRECKED

Because Italians Were Sheltered—Men Being Brought From Portland.

MONTREAL May 31—(Special)—The strike situation is unchanged. One hundred and fifty men left Portland today to take the strikers places. A revolver fight between the new men and a mob of citizens took place at Kingston. No one is seriously hurt. At Princeton people drove a crowd of Italians from the place and wrecked the house of the only hotel-keeper who fed and lodged them, contrary to the wishes of the people.

NOTIFIED OF DISMISSAL.

The Services of the Professors of Morren College Not Wanted.

QUEBEC, May 31—(Special)—The Professors of Morren College, have been notified that they will not be wanted after the year 1899-1900. The school is not paying, but strong efforts will be made to keep it alive. The notices to teachers are in case of emergency.

FROM JAMAICA.

NEW YORK, May 31—(Special)—The cruiser Brooklyn struck an unknown obstruction off the Battery and was badly damaged. She will have to go into dry dock for months.

THE DERBY RACES.

One Horse Broke its Fetlock and had to be Slaughtered.

LONDON May 31st—(Special)—Flying Fox won the Derby; Dancoles second; Innocence third. Holocat broke his fetlock and was shot.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 31—(Special)—Rain, probably thunder storms, then fair, cooler, brisk southerly winds.

THE BANK ROBBERY.

How It Was Worked by Two Smart Operators

MONTREAL, May 30—Unless some extraordinary circumstances develop shortly, it may now be safely said that the thief who relieved the Merchants Bank, of Montreal, of some three thousand dollars, will never be brought before a criminal court of justice. So far the detectives have been working day and night on the case.

THE P. W. C. CONVOCATION

A Brilliant Meeting in the Opera House Last Night.

THE VALEDICTORY ADDRESS BY

Miss Bremner—Essay by Miss Smith—Addresses by Principal Anderson, Rector McLellan and Premier Farquharson—The Medalist and Graduates—Musical Features.

Prince of Wales College had an unusually brilliant "Commencement" at the Opera House last evening. There was a large auditory. On the platform were Hon. Donald Farquharson, President of the Board of Education, Principal Anderson, Rev. A. P. McLellan, Rector of St. Dunstan's College, Hon. J. L. McLean, and eighteen the lady graduates of the year. When the curtain rose the ladies of the St. Cecilia Mandolin Club, who immediately discoursed a pleasing selection, were seated on the front of the platform. Miss Alberta Smith read an excellent essay on Lady Macbeth, which showed careful study and a clear insight into that notable character. After a chorus by the College Glee Club—Miss Maude L. Bremner winner of the Anderson Gold Medal, read with good expression and distinct enunciation the VALEDICTORY '99.

There are few communities in which customs and traditions remain longer than in the society of the student world. Among the most important of these customs is the practice of delivering a Valedictory address by the graduates, as they bid farewell to their Alma Mater. The members of the present Graduating Class have not heard hard enough to disregard a tradition that has been followed for so many years; and tonight, as we receive from our honoured Principal the reward of our labors, with a brief retrospect of the past, we too, must say farewell. Yet it is the ordinary sequence of events, although it must not appear so. Day follows night, and night day; the events are always the same but they must not appear so. New phrases must be fashioned to express the same old thoughts, until our language has become a jumble of metaphors. So it is with the writing of Valedictories. Classes enter college, struggle through examinations, and graduate, and the events are the same, but they must not appear so. Tonight the class of '99 must say "good by" to their Alma Mater. We are come to the exercises which bring to a close the ever-memorable "Prince of Wales" days, and we stand, as it were on the threshold of the outer world. Our days of college life are to us but as "a watch in the night," and it is difficult to realize that the goal which once seemed so far before us, is now behind and a thing of the past. With regard to the work of the past year, the best possible results have not been attained, owing to the insanitary condition of our classrooms, which caused several of the students to discontinue their studies for a time. The curriculum in no way deviated from that of previous years except that it was somewhat more extensive. We regret, however, that up to the present time, the study of German has not been included in the college work. We trust that in future, more attention will be given to the teaching of modern languages, for, in this branch alone, our students when pursuing their studies in higher seats of learning, are unable to attain that excellence which characterizes their work in all other departments. We see no reason why this should not be remedied. It would be difficult to point out a parallel case in any similar institution, and we feel that we are justified in making this suggestion—not in any spirit of criticism or fault-finding, but from a sincere desire to forward the usefulness and prosperity of the institution of which we are all so proud.

A former distinguished student—Dr. Fredrick Howatt of Hammond, Indiana, has intimated that it is his intention to offer annually a prize to the student of "Prince of Wales" who submits the best essay "German to Canadian History or Literature." We appreciate his generosity and thoughtfulness, and we hope that others of our graduates will acknowledge in a similar manner, their indebtedness to our College. During the term a pleasing relaxation was offered the young men by the proceedings of the Debating Society and the Mock Court. With regard to the Glee Club which is so much in evidence this evening we have the audience to judge for themselves of the results achieved under the cheerful and efficient management of Mr. Hedley McKinnon, who also assisted in making our annual concert in aid of the Y. M. C. A. such an unprecedented success. We would suggest to our successors that the Young Men's Christian Association be reorganized. Such an organization, working, as it does, on the broadest religious basis, is valuable in the highest degree to a college such as ours. The College Journal should also be revived, for it reflects the opinions of the students, makes known their wants and voices their aspirations. Athletics too should not be neglected, as at present; and we hope that in future every student will realize the importance of physical as well as mental training. Gymnastic exercises for lady students might also be introduced in the "New Building."

Those who were present at the Convocation of '96 will remember the word of the Valedictorian on that occasion. "Let us hope," he said, "that the Valedictorian of '97 will have as his theme a retrospect of the History of old Prince of Wales; and that the classes of '98 will pursue their studies under more favourable auspices." The classes of '97 and '98 have come and gone, and to the class of '99 the singular honor is given, that in all probability, it will be the last class to graduate from the old build-

MT. ALLISON CLOSING.

University Convocation Last Evening. President's Address Brief.

SACKVILLE, May 30.—The university convocation exercises Tuesday evening were of a very high order. Dr. Stewart opened with an impressive prayer. Dr. Allison then called upon four of the graduating class to deliver their addresses.

Mr. A. R. McDonald, of P. E. I., discoursed in a lucid and scholarly manner on "Kant's Contribution to the World of Thought."

Miss Florence Bowles, of Ottawa, a fine type of the "fair girl graduate with her golden hair," by her charming manner and appearance, made a strong impression which was heightened by her masterly manner in which she handled her subject: "Conventions and Social Progress."

Mr. George H. Turner discussed the theory of evolution in a manner that showed his grasp of the subject.

Miss Mionie Moore in her vocal solo Mireille Waltz sustained her reputation of being the best singer at Mount Allison.

Mr. E. Forsey, of Newfoundland, made an earnest appeal for justice to the English speaking fishermen of Newfoundland, against French aggression.

Miss Julia Colpitts, who, as head of class, delivered the valedictory, handled the well worn theme in an able and original manner. During the course of her remarks she made a touching reference to the death of Mrs. Allison. She closed by bidding farewell to the President and Professors, to the townspeople and to her fellow students and classmates.

B. A. degrees were then conferred upon the graduating class, numbering 18 gentlemen and four ladies.

Dr. Allison made a lengthy report beyond saying that the past college year had been a most pleasant one. The graduating class represented New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Ontario, Newfoundland, and also contained the first citizen of the United States that ever graduated here.

Speeches were then delivered by Premier Emmeron, of New Brunswick, Rev. S. F. Huestis, of Halifax, and others.

ing, about which, in passing, we may say a few brief words. Its history has a peculiar interest for those who have attended it; but to sum up the facts connected with it, and the reminiscences of the days spent within its walls, is by no means an easy task. There is some.

SCOTTISH SCANDALS

Cemetery Management in Edinburgh.

SHOCKING PRACTICES

Connected With the Burial of the Dead Stir Up the People.

EDINBURGH May 31—(Special)—The city is stirred by scandals in the cemetery management.

Evidence in court in a trial against the superintendent showed that frequently two bodies were buried in one grave and that bodies are dug up, the coffins burned, and the bones dumped in a hole to enable fresh interments to be made. The city and all Scotland are greatly shocked by the revelations.
