NEWSPAPER GIVEN JUDGMENT OVER PAYMENT FOR ELECTION ADVERTISEMENT

SUDBURY, Ont., April 16—Judgment in full with costs was given yesterday by the Sudbury Star in the paper Defendant in Division Court today in an action brought by the newspaper against a candidate in the last municipal election campaign.

The plaintiff sought $45, payment for an election advertisement in the paper. Defendant was Alderman W. S. Beaton but Alderman J. H. Simpson and Edward White also participated in the action as defendants.

Defendants claimed the advertisement, for which they had declined payment, had been nullified by the editorial comment of the newspaper. It was argued that the advertisement was published to the extent that the paper had no right to comment upon it in the same edition as it appeared.

Plaintiff argued that all advertising copy was subject to editorial supervision and that the newspaper had a right to comment upon it in the public interest. It was held that the expediency of inserting a paid advertisement. This would "muzzle" by political candidates anticipating adverse comment by a newspaper affecting their candidature.

The star stated its policy was to accept all editorial comment, with the exception of Communistic propaganda which it barred. It reserved the right to disagree with any opinions so expressed.

Judge Proulx held the newspaper had fulfilled its contract to publish the advertisement. The question and beyond that the dispute was a matter of newspaper policy or ethics not a question of law.

Praise For The Maritimes

Mr. Leslie Gordon Bernard, President of the Canadian Authors Association spoke at a recent meeting of the Maritimes Women's Club, Montreal.

After making a few remarks on Quebec, he turned to the Maritimes. He felt that the peculiar contribution of the peoples of the Maritimes was that they, in these chaotic times, still took time to live, to think and to enjoy life. He spoke of the way in which citizens of the Maritimes had permeated the life and the part of the Maritimes in the realization of the dream of Confederation. He felt that the same spirit which appealed to Maritimers to play their role so well in Confederation should continue to be cultivated, especially in these days of restlessness and unpopularity.

He pointed out that even in Halifax the word "secession" had been taken from the Maritimes. Mr. Bernard held the "secessionist" spirit akin to the defeatist spirit.

He also praised the Maritime Province as a place of remaining sanity in a world partly mad. He defined "remaining sanity" as the power to see with spiritual lenses. "Sanity" is a very important requisite in the world today.

He appealed to men and women everywhere to find inside their thoughts that were parochial or provincial or personal in a selfish way. Barriers, divisions, petty jealousies, even important differences must be subordinated to the present emergency and sanity to appraise must be preserved.

In the face of today's menace, it was imperative to have enough detachment to be poised. This intellectual pose had been one of the Maritimes' traditions. The territory of the Maritimes was declining in the world. It fell from 92.8% of the total population in January to 91.3%, thus breaking slightly below the figure for the United States (91.9%).

The down-turn resulted from heavy losses in the component industries of the Rate of Turnover of deposits and Revenue Carloadings and in moderate decline in Employment. The other two indices—Industrial Production and Wholesale Prices—were main.

The Rate of Turnover of Bank Deposits, which fell from 73.6 to 69.9, exercised the largest influence on the movement of the total index. Cheques transfers decreased much more than seasonally, probably reflecting the rather light trading on the major security exchanges and the slackness in both rural and urban retail trade.

The Carloadings Index stood at 69.0 as compared with 70.2 a month earlier. Freight traffic is always curtailed in February but this year the decline was heavier than usual. Grain shipments were much restricted and the important merchandise and miscellaneous classifications, which normally expand at this time, did not do so to the usual degree. The available figures for March, however, suggest that the decline in Carloadings was arrested in that month, largely owing to an upturn in grain traffic.

The Index of Employment fell by 1% reflecting, in the main, a less-than-normal seasonal increase in manufacturing employment and an unusually heavy reduction in the working-force employed in logging, Retail and wholesale trade were also slack. Employment in mining and transport were well maintained and workers were taken on for railroad maintenance work, probably owing to heavy snowfalls. Among the manufacturing industries, the tendency for employment to expand less than is usual appeared to be general both in heavy and light industry. Lumber and pulp and paper mills were exceptions, however. Through Industrial Production was almost unchanged, the movements of its sub-indices confirm the evidence of the employment record. Making allowance for seasonal variations, manufacturing production was quite sharply curtailed despite gains in newspaper output, in consumption of cotton by the textile industry and in a few other items. Considerable larger mineral exports and some expansion in construction were the chief factors offsetting the loss in manufacturing.

Bank Of N. S. Business Report

TORONTO, April 11—After having remained relatively stable since last October at a level somewhat above the low point of the recession reached in July, the Cumulative Index of Business in Canada declined to 61.9% in February. THE BAPTIST CHURCH

At the morning service the flag presented to the Ninth Charlottetown Girl Guides by the Royal Edward Chapter I. O. D. E. was dedicated with the simple and impressive ritual of the Guides. The official City of the flag by Mrs. J. A. Matheson. The Junior Choir had charge of the morning music under direction of Miss Campbell, with Miss Calbeck supplying the accompaniment.

Rev. Harvey L. Denton, B. D. in his sermon on "Inscriptions" addressed his message particularly to the young. At the building of a new church in Honolulu, Dr. Palmer the rotor was asked to suggest an inscription for the church. Above the communion table "not more than 18 letters" to fit a definitely specified space. After much thought he offered "Love Never Falteth." When this church in which we worship was built, nearly fifty years ago the inscription was "worship the Lord in the Beauty of Holiness." As an inscription suggesting the ideal of the home one might well suggest "Let thy Father and Mother be Glad." Let life and daily conduct be of such nature as will bring joy to parents. Saint Paul offered to his young friend Timothy an ideal which might well be the inscription associated with our schools, "Study to show thyself approved, and to gather them up in one ideal for life may you all have in your hearts the inscription, "Follow Jesus." Among the Junior Choir, duets by Audrey and Verma Mac-

ST. JAMES CHURCH

At St. James Presbyterian Church yesterday the Minister, the Rev. Dr. P. Moorhead Legate delivered two thoughtful and inspiring sermons on the life of Christ. In the morning, from the text, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?" he pointed out how loyal Jesus was to his duty under all circumstances. In the evening he briefly reviewed the highlights, as it were, of Christ's life and death and declared that each of us must decide what we "shall do with Jesus which is called the Christ."

The special music at the morning service consisted of a quiet "Children Pray This Love to Cherish"—(Spoor) by Mrs. N. D. MacLean and Mr. Arthur Bruce, and the anthem by the choir "Alleluia, Christ is Risen"—(Stimpe). In the evening the choir sang the anthem, "Shepherd of Souls" from The Sign of the Cross (Edward Jones).

Mrs. Marguerite Brehaut and Althea Saunders, solo by Donald Irving.

The ordinance of baptism was received by two candidates at the close of this service.

Before a large evening congregation Mr. Denton delivered an eloquent sermon with the thought "Becoming Friendly With God." The Choir presented the anthem "Blessed be the God and Father."

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

At the morning service, Rev. L. M. Murray, gave a very inspiring sermon on the theme, "Take up Thy Cross." In this sermon the minister pointed out that to take up the Cross means to thrust out the inner self that clashes with God's will. This self denial is indicated by the Christian's lack of self-esteem, his ability to overcome prejudices, and his complete surrender to God's will. The sermon of the evening was delivered by Rev. Hugh Millar. Basing his thoughts on Psalm 2:2, the minister pointed out to two forms of blasphemy; the rejection of God, and the attempt to evade God. These the minister said were due to a small insufficient conception of God and an attempt to defy the moral laws of the universe; and were remedied and prevented by an application of the love of God as revealed in Jesus Christ.

The choir repeated some of the Easter Anthems and the chorus "God so Loved the World", from the Cantata "The Burden of the Cross."
