THE introduction of asbestos in Charlottetown as a substitute for plaster is fraught with general satisfaction. Those who have used it in other cities agree that in a short time it will supersede all other plastering materials in common use. It has a preference over all other plasters for the reason that it is fire-proof and because it works more easily than the ordinary plaster. It is capable of a beautiful marble-like finish and presents a surface peculiarly suitable for ornamentation and frescoing. Owing to its plastic qualities it can also be used to great advantage for cornices, beads and other fancy moulding work. As to its cost, it is not dearer than good sand mortar. In further explanation of the fire proof qualities of asbestos, it should be stated that not only is the plaster itself wholly incombustible, but it is also a non-conductor. Asbestos is also perfectly adapted to outside plastering. Those contemplating building should see work in new Desbrisay Block, or in the homes of Mr. J. F. Whear, M. L. A., Henry Laphorne, Esq., Henry Hermans, Esq. Any information can be had by calling at the office of the agents Messrs. McKinnon & McNevin.

We have had our first experience in show-days this year, and it has been a grand success—not in the amount of goods sold, for we did not have it for that purpose; in fact made it distinctly understood that those who were kind enough to favor us with a visit of inspection were not expected to buy, but simply to have a look around. It has been a great pleasure to us having our friends visit us in this way, and we think they did not regret coming, judging from the many complimentary remarks made after looking over our new stock of Xmas Perfumes. We will be pleased at any time to have our friends call and look our stock of Perfumes, Ebony Goods, Kodaks, Atomizers &c., whether they intend buying or not. Our clerks are at the disposal of anybody who comes in to see us.—Johnson & Johnson.
