It has been the record of Princeton Church that considerable delay in the work of the congregation has been occasioned by vacancies in the pastorate of the church, but through the thoughtful consideration of the former pastor, Rev. A. N. Gillis, who remained here several months after the call had been extended to him from St. Andrew's United Church, Truro, the regular service has been carried on uninterruptedly. During the short interval after Mr. Gillis' withdrawal the congregation was privileged to have varied and acceptable supply. The committee appointed by the congregation to recommend a minister strongly urged that Rev. M. Grant of Leitch Creek, C. B. be chosen and on the acceptance of the congregation of this recommendation, a call was forthwith extended to Mr. Grant and after due consideration of it by him it was finally accepted. The induction service was held in Princeton United Church at two o'clock on Friday afternoon, Oct. 8th and considering the busy season was largely attended. The meeting was presided over by Rev. M. Boothroyd, chairman of the congregation, and other ministerial members of the congregation assisted in the service. Mr. Samuel Profit of Truro led in an earnest prayer and Rev. Dr. Grant of Kensington preached the sermon from the 1st text of the 23rd verse which he described as containing a double metaphor. He illustrated the simile by the fire and the sun and showed the difference between the church in leading men seek freedom from sin. The mystery of sin, its latent, attractive and destructive powers were pressed, and he presented to his audience in three words what is necessary towards a successful life in the work of the church or the individual—namely—Urgency, persistence and the steps which had led up to the induction, and the chairman, Mr. Boothroyd conducted the induction and extended the right hand of fellowship to Mr. Grant and in this the other members of the congregation heartily joined. A telegram from Rev. A. N. Gillis of Truro, N. S., was read by the chairman and in a practical presentation of the duties of the minister and his relations and hesitations to minister and congregation together you face the work of the kingdom. May God's richest blessing rest on you both. "Not by might nor by power but by my spirit saith the Lord of Hosts." Rev. Mr. Ross was then called to address the newly inducted minister and after referring briefly to the splendid record of the minister he stated that he pointed out a clear and beautiful way, the need of consecration of his young life to the work here, to his need of continued study, his preaching of the Word with a purpose and a whole-hearted service. A striking feature of the service was the address to the congregation by Rev. David Coburn of Bradenton, the duties of the people in reference to their new minister, to the Church of Christ and to God, making the "form of the Call" as drawn up, and signed by the people in a very interesting and straightforward manner—referred to their written obligations. They had professed satisfaction as to the "suitableness" of the man whom they had called to be their minister. They had promised to respect him—because of the work in which he is engaged and because of him in whose footsteps he is following. They had promised to "encourage" him in the work to "obey" the Will of God as interpreted to them, and faithfully to maintain him in the field. Having dwelt on these, the speaker then referred briefly to their unwritten obligations. They should sympathize with their minister—and in every possible manner encourage him in the work—to the end that God may be glorified and that His will may be done here on earth—even as it is done in Heaven. After the concluding hymn had been sung, Mr. Grant was introduced to the congregation by three members of the session, Messrs. H. L. Donald, Howard Ramsay, John Simpson. It is believed that Princeton United Church will be privileged to enjoy a ministry of successful cooperation under the leadership of Rev. Mr. Grant who has already won the admiration of all by his attractive personality.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE.

Dear Mrs. Sellar.—We, the members of Cymbric Women's Institute, wish to express our heartfelt sympathy for you in the loss of your dear sister, Mrs. Stewart, who was so suddenly called to "that beautiful land on high." We know the loss of a loved sister is very hard to bear, and we sincerely wish to offer you some word of comfort. There come times in our lives when we must trust God, where we cannot trace Him, knowing He is too wise to err. For the love of God is broader than the measure of man's mind; And the heart of the Eternal is most wonderfully kind. May the God of love comfort you, and may we all look forward to the time when we shall meet our loved ones where there shall be no parting. With deepest love and sympathy, Mrs. William Munn, Miss Cassie J. Rattray, Mrs. James H. Wares.

CONFIDENT OF BYNG RETIRES AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Announcement today of the retirement of Arthur F. Sladen, for the past 28 years private secretary and confidant of the Governor-General of Canada, caused something of a stir in the Capital. It is hinted that the resignation is the sequel to the recent constitutional controversy, but Mr. Sladen when approached declined to discuss the matter. He will probably take the customary leave of a few months before retiring from the public service. It is stated that R. B. Osborne, private secretary to Lord Willington, may succeed him. Mr. Sladen came to Canada with the Earl of Minto and served in turn, under Earl Grey, H. R. H. the Duke of Devonshire, and Baron Byng of Vimy. One of his sons, Lieut. Lawrence Sladen, fought with the Princess Pats, and was killed in action.

THE OPTIMIST

He may well be called the champion optimist. He was sitting on the roof of his house during a flood, watching the water flow past, when a neighbor who possessed a boat rowed across to him. "Hello, Bill," said the man. "Hello, Sam," replied Old Bill, pleasantly. "All your fowl washed away this morning, Bill?" asked the man. "Yes, but the ducks can swim." "Apple trees gone, too?" "Yes, but everybody said the crop would be a failure anyhow." "I see the river's reached above your windows, Bill." "That's all right, Sam," was the old fellow's reply. "Them winders needed washin'." "It has Many Qualities—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Allen's Electric Oil is armed against many ills. It will relieve a neighbor, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicinal chest in itself.

DR. McKINNON ON A VACATION.—Dr. Geo. W. McKinnon of Arcata, native of Charlottetown, P. E. I., left last month on a visit East. He takes a deserved vacation says the Oakland Maple Leaf. His son, who was recently graduated from Bellevue Medical College, N. Y., will accompany the father. Dr. McKinnon, Sr., has an only sister who is a nun in the order of St. Joseph, in Manchester, N. H. She has been there some 20 years. She is Rev. Sister Mary Leonard in religion, and the youngest of her family. She is the object of Doctor McKinnon and son's visit on this occasion. Charles McKinnon, who was the only living brother of Dr. McKinnon, Sr., passed away last March in Worcester, Mass., after a short illness from pneumonia. Charles McKinnon was married to Mary Ann McNeil, native of Egmont Bay, near Summerside, P. E. I. She died in Bangor, Maine, 30 years ago. The chief surgeon of Bellevue Hospital is Doctor Stewart, a native of Pictou, N. S. He is one of the noted surgeons of New York, Doctor McKinnon has a son practicing law in San Francisco. He is recovering from insured health contracted over seas during the war.

RECALLS OLD TIMES.—The Oakland Maple Leaf says.—S. M. Brown, the well-known brick contractor of San Diego, Calif., visited friends in Oakland and San Francisco last month, on his way home from Colorado, where he enjoyed several weeks' vacation. Mr. Brown is full of reminiscences of the old days when he was a boy in Charlottetown, P. E. I., and had as his playmate the late Watson Clark, well remembered by the readers of this magazine. "Sam" is well up in years, but is the picture of health.

WEDDING BELLS.—A very pretty wedding took place at St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, Mass., on Sunday, October 3rd, when Miss Annie MacDonald became the bride of Gerald J. MacDonald of Cardigan, P. E. I. The ceremony being performed by the Rev. Fr. York. The bride looked charming in a dress of sand canton crepe and black picture hat and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Mary MacDonald, while the groom was accompanied by Mr. Frank MacCormack of Dorchester. After the marriage a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother 8 Fifield St., where a few immediate friends welcomed the newly married couple. Amid showers of rice and confetti, they left on the 7:40 train. After a short honeymoon trip through the Maritime Province Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald will make their home at Cardigan, P. E. I. Congratulatory.

WHIST DRIVE.—There was a large attendance at the League of the Cross Hall Monday night to enjoy the whist held there for a charitable purpose. The ladies in charge feel quite gratified with the results and wish to thank all who helped make it such a success. The ladies prize was awarded to Mrs. J. J. Duffy, the gentlemen's to Mr. Jos. Peters, while Mrs. A. D. MacDonald received the consolation.

WHEAT IN ACID SOIL LIABLE TO WINTER KILL

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 11.—Experimentation at the State College of Agriculture indicates that wheat planted in acid soil is much more liable to "winter-killing" than that planted in fields where lime has been used to neutralize the acid.

A. W. Blair, associate soil chemist, says that in the majority of cases, 1,500 to 2,000 pounds of pulverized limestone per acre, or the equivalent in hydrated lime, will be sufficient for wheat. If clover or alfalfa is to be grown, heavier applications of lime may be required.

SCOTLAND'S OLDEST BURGH

RUTHERGLEN, October 12.—Rutherglen, a busy community of 29,000 Glasgow with a population of 29,000 recently celebrated its eight-hundredth birthday. It is said to have received its charter as a royal burgh from David I. in 1126. Although once a royal residence, Rutherglen Castle was demolished in the eighteenth century, but was garrisoned by the English during the wars with Scotland. Bruce laid siege to it on several occasions, but his brother Edward eventually captured the castle in 1312.

History is also linked with the old church, steeple of "Ruglen" as the natives call it. It marks the site of the original church in which a trace between England and Scotland was signed in 1297.

The Department of Mines, which sent Mr. Soper into the Arctic, has expressed itself as "very well satisfied with the results attained," and adds that "many larger expeditions have been out for years and brought back much less scientific information and material."

While the complete results of the expedition will not be known until Mr. Soper makes his official report. In an interview to-day he told of the exploration of Neelung Lake, the interior of Baffin Island with four Eskimauk. The lake has always been unmarked on maps of Canada. The work involved more than a thousand miles of traveling by dog sledge, a boat and canoe, and it has been shown that the lake was much smaller than originally supposed.

The 66 cases of specimens collected between July, 1924, and July, 1925, include birds, plants, skulls, insects, fish, geological, ethnological exhibits and photographs and sketches.

Mr. Soper who has been studying at the University of Alberta, went north on the Arctic in 1923, and did some intensive work while the ship was on its customary cruise. He returned to Ottawa and went north again the following season, and remained there until this fall. Mr. Soper was enthusiastic over the benefits of radio to the policemen and scientific men in the north. From November until February all the telegrams in the north received the personal messages sent to them, as well as excellent concerts from various parts of the continent. Oddly enough it was found that a broadcasting station at Hastings, Nebraska, was best suited for messages going to the Arctic.

"Ottawa has passed through this latter experience, but recently in saying a genuinely sorrowful 'good bye' to Byng of Vimy.

"But one turns now to the first part of what portends a most interesting period—the regime of His Excellency, the Viscount Willingdon and his fair lady. "What a happy season is ahead for those young women of the capital who this year will make their debut."

"ONE-MAN" EXPEDITION RETURNS WITH 3,500 SCIENTIFIC SPECIMENS

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12.—Some of the results of a "one-man" expedition into the interior of Baffin Island—a previously unexplored part of Canada—were known to-day with the return to Ottawa of J. Dewey Soper, who has been two years in the north. Mr. Soper covered more than 4,000 miles, and has returned with some 3,500 scientific specimens, etc.
