THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1909.

AN AGE OF RECKLESS EXTRAVAGANCE.

Perhaps there is nothing new in the saying, but it is true if not new that we are living in an age of unparalleled extravagance. It is true of all the great nations, Britain, Germany, Russia, the United States. The European nations are spending more money on preparations for war in a time of peace than they were wont to spend half a century ago in their great wars of those days.

The United States, perhaps the richest of the great powers, in resources at least, is spending with a hand equally lavish. It has been said that the American people are the most extravagant of any in the world, and this seems true, and is a result of the easy and rapid accumulation of wealth in that country. Perhaps it is but natural that the Government of a country whose people are extravagant should embody the national characteristic in its own conduct and methods.

This is from the Boston Herald:

"Every American who votes knows that his Government is extravagant. Speakers in every party have said so. They have said that retrenchment is desirable, that the country is spending much more than its income, that a huge deficit confronts the goverament. The ex-President has said so; the President has said so; the chairman of the appropriations committee has said so. But how many of the people really care? How many of them think much about it? Nowhere can we detect even the beginnings of a movement for retrenchment."

This might pass for a fair representation of Canada today, or of Australia or New Zealand, both of these antipodeau Dominions having been lavish spenders in the past. We are but copying the practices and methods of other countries, British and foreign. It is a time of lavish expenditure the world around. Extravagance, like an epidemic of grippe has overspread the Old World and the New. Of course, it is the taxpayers' business, but the Canadian taxpayer, like his American cousin, seems not to care. And it suits the office-holders whose pay is increased, and the contractors, middlemen and hangers-on who live at the public crib. So it will go on till the tax payer begins to feel his burdens and to sit up and take notice. But when will that be?

These facts remain: the dear people like to have the Government spend money, and are ever calling for more expenditure. When was even a Government turned out of office for too lavish expenditure? In Britain and Germany the enormous outlay for more and bigger warships is justified on patriotic grounds. In Canada the people think it better to run in debt for railways than Dreadnoughts. Railways are more useful, in peace times at least, and they do not become obsolete, which is another advantage. A pretext or excuse is never wanting.

So far in Canada the Government has always been able to get money, all the money it can use, by taxation and by borrowing. That will be true for perhaps some time to come. Ministers hold an open hand and their followers cheer them on, ever ready with new demands and old or new excuses. It has become unfashionable to speak of economy. Even the Opposition is dazzled into silence. So the merry game goes on.

A MODEL CANADIAN POLICE FORCE.

The police force of the city of Toronto enjoys the distinction of being the most creditable and efficient among the larger cities of Canada. F. S. Spence of that city, well known in Charlottetown as a temperance and prohibition advocate, has supplied to the Montreal Witness an interesting account of this force, from which the following is abridged.

Fifty years ago the police force was under the direction of a committee of the City Council. This led to various abuses and the law was changed to bring the force under control af a Commission consisting of the resident County Court Judge, the Police Magistrate and the Mayor. This method is still in operation and proves highly satisfactory. The Chief of Police is secretary of the Commission. The Commission makes a yearly estimate of the amount of money required and the City Council finds the money. Otherwise the City Council has no control of the police force, and no power to make an appointment or dismissal of an officer or constable.

The Toronto police force consists of 418 officers and men. The principal officers are one chief, one deputy chief, one chief inspector, one staff inspector, eight divisional inspectors, one inspector of mounted force and one inspector of detectives. The pay of a policeman in his first year is $700, from his second to his fifth year $800 and after five years $900. Patrol sergeants receive $1,000, sergeants and detectives $1,200, inspectors $1,550 to $1,800, and the chief $4,000.

A pension system is provided to which each man contributes 7 per cent of his pay, and after twenty years service he is retired on half pay, that is, half of the pay he received in his twentieth year. He has a proportionate interest in the fund if he retires before having served twenty years. The mounted force consists of two sergeants and thirteen men. There are one sergeant and twelve men in the detective department. With the exception of the chief every officer in the force has risen from the ranks. No member of the force is allowed to participate in a municipal election beyond voting. A policeman with ten years good record gets a good conduct badge and ten cents a day advance in pay, and another badge and ten cents more pay after fifteen years.

Mexico has appointed fifty commissioners to inquire into the best methods of education in other countries, and ten of the commissioners are women. The world moves.

Ten thousand friends of the Tunnel are waiting to learn when we are to have that promised "immediate survey" of the Straits to ascertain whether that great work is reasonably practical. Before the provincial election the local Liberal leaders promised, "with the assistance of our representatives at Ottawa," to urge this matter upon the Federal Government. It cannot be allowed to drop. It is six months since that plank in the Liberal platform was somewhat ostentatiously paraded. What has since taken place is not altogether assuring, but the people are still hoping.

RHEUMATIC LIVER OVER STRAINED KIDNEYS

Caused sickness that puzzled able physicians. Was cured by Ferrozone.

A Real Miracle.

"My doctor told me I had gouty or rheumatic liver and kidneys," writes G. O. Forde, from Halifax. "I guess he was right for I was a mighty sick man and felt the same was pretty nearly up. So many remedies failed that the doctor was completely puzzled. As for symptoms—I had bushels of them in the morning a sort of nausea. Sometimes the bowels were constipated, at other times quite relaxed. I felt dull, and a sense of weight in the back and over the liver was very distressing."

LOST 15 POUNDS IN WEIGHT.

'My color resembled a yellowish pallor, and gradually I lost weight to the alarming extent of fifteen pounds. I looked jaundiced and felt sure I would die.

"Then I read of the wonders worked by Ferrozone and in despiration I bought six boxes. At once I began to mend. Ferrozone must have put a peg or two into the nervous system for things at the end of the month began to look up. In three months I felt like new, but kept on taking Ferrozone. In six months I was cured."

FERROZONE SAVED HIS LIFE.

"Were it not for Ferrozone I wouldn't be alive to-day. I am sure it will cure any weakness, rheumatism, gout, debility, poor blood or nervousness. My condition embraced all these, and Ferrozone cured me." Reader, get Ferrozone today, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers.

HERE IS PROOF.

The disappointed victims of poor Catarrh remedies should read the statement of J. R. Smith, of Lake Stream, N. B. In Catarrhozone he found an absolute cure and says: "Last winter my little girl of eight caught cold which lodged in her ears in the form of Catarrh. She became sick and deaf and nothing helped. By inhaling Catarrhozone she got relief and gradually the discharge went away. She was cured perfectly of Catarrh. Personally I can recommend Catarrhozone for coughs and throat irritation; its a wonderful medicine." Sold everywhere, 25c. and $1.00.
