Everybody is troubled at this season with loss of vitality, failure of appetite, that tired feeling, or with bilious turns, dull headaches, indigestion and other stomach troubles, or with pimples and other eruptions on the face and body. The reason is that the blood is impure and impoverished.

Hood's Sarsaparilla relieves all these ailments. It is the old reliable medicine that has stood the test of forty years—that strengthens every organ and builds up the whole system. It is the all-the-year round blood-purifier and health-giver. It embodies the careful training, experience and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure.

—FUNERAL SERVICES.—The remains of the late James Frederick Campbell, whose sudden death by accident, while on duty as a brakeman in the yard at Utica, N. Y., on Feb. 22, 1917, was removed from the vault in Utica and brought to Boston, Mass., by his brother Donald Campbell of Montreal, being met by Wm. A. Campbell a brother living in Boston and Mrs. J. F. Campbell, widow and her two little girls Adrice and Audrey, who accompanied the remains to the home of his father, Ewen McKinnon Campbell, in Aberdeen, arriving Thursday the 17th inst. The funeral took place on Friday the 18th, a short service being held at the house, then preceded by sixteen carriages containing members of the Prince Alfred L.O.L. the remains was escorted to the Presbyterian Church over 50 carriages following in the rear.

The service in the church was conducted by the Rev. Geo. Miller, Pastor of the church, who took for his subject, "Who is the victor?" Speaking words of comfort, hope and encouragement to the sorrowing wife and family of the departed one, telling of his love and loyalty to them, and of his death while, doing his duty, and of the comfort and help brought to the sorrowing family and friends in the knowledge that he had gone to be with the God whom he loved, and was striving to serve. The choir sang "Hark, Hark my Soul," very beautifully. Mrs. John Wells sang, "Sometime We'll Understand" in her sweet, pleasing voice. Mr. Fraser MacArthur sang, "When I shall see him face to face," bringing hope and comfort to all. The service at the grave was conducted by members of the Prince Alfred Lodge, of which the deceased was a member. Beautiful flowers accompanied the body from Boston, gifts of friends and relatives. The pall bearers were Messrs John Rix, Robt. Williams, Wm. Coughlan, Stanley Arthur, Irving Williams, and Wallace Johnson. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the widow and her little ones; also to the family and friends in their sad bereavement. In 1898 the eldest son John lost his life in the Spanish-American war. One son Douglas, is fighting for his King and country, while a younger son Ross, has answered the call and left for Charlottetown Monday morning expecting to leave for England.

SUNDAY GETS BRUSH FOR COLONEL'S SHOES

Admirer Supplies Blacking For Evangelist If He Accompanies Roosevelt Abroad

Billy Sunday based his sermon last night on the question "Is there a hell?" Then he proceeded to emphasize the reality of the trouble awaiting the one who tried to escape it or was willing to "take a chance," and said: "When a man kicks hell out of the universe, he kicks heaven out also, for they both stand on the same leg."

Before beginning his sermon Sunday held up in view of the audience a blacking box and brush, which he announced had just arrived as a gift from a man up-State.

"I remarked in a sermon the other night that I was glad to know that Congress had consented to let Colonel Roosevelt go to Europe, and I would like to go along, if only to black his boots," continued Sunday. "Some fellow up-State read it in a newspaper and sent me a blacking outfit to take along. He sent only one box of blacking, but that's enough to last until we get to Berlin."

The entire Sunday family has accepted an invitation from Colonel Roosevelt to lunch with him on Monday at his Oyster Bay home.

An audience of 19,000 were in the Tabernacle last evening. When the "travellers" were called for, 952 persons responded, making a total of 1,221 for the day. Among the evening attendants were delegations of 2,500 from the New York Life Insurance Company, 700 from the New York World, 600 from three lodges of Masons, and smaller delegations from the Borden Company, the City Exchange Bank, the bank traffic department of the New York Central Railroad, the Hill Publishing Company, the Seventh Assembly District Republican Club, sailors from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and a group of Atlanta business men, who came here to study the campaign. They presented Sunday a banquet of American beauty roses.

Sunday said the doctrine of rewards and punishments was not distinctively that of the Bible, but had been given on the records of every nation since earth's history began.

"Men will try and forget punishment, try to hide results, try to close their eyes, so God planted this fundamental instinct in the breast of every creature after His image," the evangelist said.

"You can't buy it out, wish it out, hate it out, educate it out, or wear it out. How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation?"

Commenting on the common views held of hell, Sunday continued:

"The next man says: 'We get all the hell in this life. You get some of it, but you don't get hell—except—perhaps suffer here and there and always through the injustice, persecution, and internal work of the vicious. The sinner often has a high old time on earth, because he obeys God's laws as regards physical things, and God doesn't throw the universe out of gear to stop and punish one sinner or a million sinners. He has set a gift to one side for punishment, and at the same time those who have honored Him will be called to 'enter the joys of the Lord.'"

"The man who will not accept God's word on this matter has a small brain; you could put 10,000 brains like his in a mustard seed and they could turn handspins for 500 years and never get a stone bruise."

In defence of "hot air" conversation when applied for a purpose, Sunday said its original inventor was Job.

"Hot air is not slang; it is pure Bible talk," asserted Sunday. Then he quoted Job: "Should a man reason with unprofitable talk or with speech wherewith he can do no good? Job was the author of our phrase 'hot air,' and it means today just what Job meant when he used it. Job is the Mark Twain of the Bible, and in his sufferings he about exhausted the store of cynicism and sarcasm."

In his afternoon talk to 4,000 persons Sunday discussed the parable of the "Prodigal Son" and his elder brother, and he said that, while the elder brother was often held up as an example to children by parents and by teachers in Sunday schools, the prodigal was the better of the two. After a reference to the pretentious virtues of the elder brother, Sunday asked:

"Pretty picture, isn't it? But we'll have to spoil it." Then he declared that the elder brother was so selfish that he would have sent his mother to the poor-house.
