There was a clean sheet at the Police Court yesterday morning.

A MALE teacher is wanted for the Grand Tracadie School. See ad.

YESTERDAY morning some fifteen men from Messrs. Bruce Stewart & Co's machine shops went to Ploton, to place boiler plate on the deck of the steamer Princess for this port.

Messrs Beer & Goff's own baking powder "The Golden Crown" is giving splendid satisfaction, it is a pure powder will compare favorably with any of the much advertised brands and is sold at the very reasonable price of 25c. per pound tin.

OWING to a mistake an announcement was made in the First Methodist Sunday school on Sunday last that there would be no session of the school next Sunday (Jan. 5th). The school will meet, however, next Sunday at the usual hour.

THE Department of Agriculture will conduct a series of meetings throughout the Province, commencing at Tignish on Jan. 7th. The following gentlemen will deliver addresses: H. B. Ross, B. S. A., Carbyville, editor of Maritime Farmer; A. G. Gilbert, Poultry Manager, Ottawa; Jas C. Irving, M. L. A. Cherry Valley.

A most enjoyable time was spent Christmas evening at the residence of Mr. Donald Dockerty, St. Peter's Road. The table was furnished with all the luxuries of the season and everything necessary to tempt the palate and refresh the inner man was there in abundance. Santa Claus himself was no stranger and his timely visit was welcomed by all. After dinner a musical entertainment was given combined with social conversation and games. Although in his eighty-second year, Mr. Dockerty enjoys good health and bids fair to see many happy returns of the day. Many of his children and grand-children were among the guests assembled to do honor to the occasion. That he may long be spared to reap the golden fruit of a well spent life is the sincere wish of all those who had the pleasure of partaking in one of the most enjoyable evenings ever spent in this vicinity.

On the evening of Dec. 23rd, Rev. Mr. Stirling of Clifton, received intimation that the regular prayer meeting of that evening would be held at the Manse. Mr. Stirling who has been in a measure, but we hope only temporarily, confined to the house was glad at the prospect of meeting with his friends. Soon afterwards members gathered and a more than usually sweet hour was spent. But this was not to be all, for Mr. A. Campbell then stepped forward and in a few suitable words, in behalf of the Clifton and Summerfield sections of the congregation, presented Mr. Stirling with a valuable racoon coat, and following him was Mr. John Murray with a beautiful astrakhan coat for Mrs. Stirling. It was a complete surprise. Mr. Stirling for himself and Mrs. Stirling thanked their friends for their splendid gifts, valuable in themselves but most valuable as their gifts. He also feelingly referred to the many other evidences of sympathy and affection they had been receiving. After remarks from some others "How bright these glorious spirits shine," was sung, and Mr. Stirling thanked the giver for all for the kindness of his people and invoked upon them Heaven's rich blessing. This closed an evening which was well worthy of the pen of an Ian McLaren to make it live again before us.

COMMERCIAL CAFE,
 Queen Street, next door Prowse Bros.

A VERY pleasant evening was spent at the home of R.S. Barrett, Esq., Kingston, on Monday evening, Dec. 23rd, at the choir and several members of Kingston Baptist Church assembled there for the purpose of showing in a practical way their appreciation of the services rendered by Miss Lola Barrett, as their organist for the past year. The evening passed in pleasant conversation mingled with music and singing. Soon the attention of all present was turned toward Mr. William Holmes who began to act in a strange manner moving across the room and nervously unfolding a neat parcel which he held in his hand and presenting it to Miss Lola Barrett on behalf of the choir and members of Kingston Baptist Church. Mr. Holmes pleaded with her not to accept it for its intrinsic value, but rather in the spirit in which it was offered—the appreciation of work well done. The presents a beautiful lady's gold watch chain also a sum of money. In the centre of the chain was a little locket with her initials engraved. Miss Barrett who was taken by surprise thanked them for their beautiful present and assured them that this act of kindness would not be soon forgotten, that she would strive to be more faithful in the future than in the past. Mr. Barrett also thanked them on her behalf for the kindness they had shown and the valuable presents she had received from them. Mr. William Newson, also made a few remarks. In referring to the choir he said, their numbers were few but the singing was perfect, and that the music was good. All who attend worship in Kingston Baptist Church was prepared to admit it. Miss Lola is indeed to be congratulated on this evidence of her success as a musician, when her tender age is considered being yet in her early teens and although attaining to such a high standard in music other branches of study are not neglected by her being a pupil of the highest grade in Kingston school. At the conclusion of the presentation and address all joined in singing that old hymn "Blest be the tie that binds." Nuts and candy were then served, Mr. Holmes acting "Santa Claus" with a lavish hand, after which the young folks continued their merriment with games and innocent amusements, while the older ones grouped together, discussed the graver questions of life with a sprinkling of reviews, Kingston teachers and scholars of 30 years ago coming in for a share. Thus the time passed too quickly. Old father time gave notice that the wee sma hours were drawing nigh. The merry company broke up after singing "God be with you till we meet again."
