ONLY ONE MONTH OF FISHING.—The actual lobster fishing season, owing to untoward circumstances, did not begin much before this present week, say Monday 26th, just one month late. The fishermen and packers have now but one month. No doubt they will ask for an extension in July. But from experience of other years, fishing being usually slack at the end of June, fishermen don't usually want an extension for July fishing. However, things may work differently this year.

ICE GONE AGAIN.—The strong southerly wind of Saturday evening and all day Sunday has driven the ice along the North Shore, out of sight, this time surely not to return. The strong north westerly wind of Friday and Saturday carried the large body of ice in towards the shore in a southeasterly direction striking the shore about Big Pond and along East towards East Point. Further west the surge, however, although coming in to about trapping ground, did not strike the land, it was heading south-easterly, but it got in amongst the traps at Hope River and Black Bush, but not close enough to do much damage. At Big Pond, Rockbarra and further east, the ice swept in over the traps into the shore taking everything with it. The damage to traps at Rockbarra and further east is not at the moment known, but it must be considerable.

PLAY THOROUGHLY ENJOYED.—The Morell Dramatic Society presented their four act comedy drama, "Cranberry Corners" before a crowded house in the Georgetown Hall on Victoria Day. A special feature of the entertainment was the music rendered by the Rollo Bay orchestra of four pieces, two violins, piano and mandolin. This orchestra supplied splendid music between the acts of the drama. The plot of the play was a good one showing the intrigues of a proud aunt from the city who to cover the illegal work of her husband, perjured herself and thus convicted her brother-in-law an innocent man, of murder; then to still further her interest she planned to marry her niece to a rich city man who was in league with the aunt and knew the correct account of the murder. The daughter, however, would not at first consent; but in the end she was about to give in and obey her aunt's wishes. Just about this time, however, her lover arrived from the country, and brought with him a wanderer who was in reality the girl's father. He had been freed from prison by a written confession of the guilty party who was now on his death-bed. The father overruled the aunt's decision and gave his consent to the daughter to marry her lover, and they leave New York, the home of the aunt and go to "Cranberry Corners" to live on the farm. This plot was well interspersed with comedy, and local hits, and kept the audience in laughter almost from start to finish. It may be hard to specialize in the case of characters to specialize on any particular player yet the splendid work of Mrs. E. Rossiter, as Miss Mullin; of Mrs. J. B. Jay as Maid, of Miss Marion Douglas as the rich, proud aunt and of Miss Dorothy Rance as Charlotte Bannister the heroine, deserve special mention. Among the gentlemen the role of Tom Denton, the hero, played by Mr. R. G. Loughlin and of Heseckah Hopkins played by A. B. McAdam are entitled to special mention. The other players also took their parts very creditably. These consisted of Layeta "Dingwell," as Amelia Denton, sister of the hero; of Layton Coffin as Sidney Everett, the rich man who was in league with the aunt, of H. F. Anderson as Ben Latham the father of Charlotte; of E. W. Anderson as Andrew Denton, Tom's father; and of Roy Baker as Nathan Speck, the hired man. Mr. R. Chesson of Rollo Bay acting as between acts two and three and received a well earned encore. After the play was finished the floor was cleared and all the young people joined in having an hour's dance which was enjoyed by all. The Morell Players are loud in their praise for the way in which they were treated by the Georgetown people and hoped that they would have a change to reciprocate in the near future. The staging of the National Abthem brought the evening entertainment to a close.

How He Celebrated His 86th Birthday

It is not given to many to spend their octogenarian birthdays in continental tours, yet there are exceptions and one of the most noteworthy of these is that of Mr. Thomas H. Bulpit, of Montague who has recently returned from a most enjoyable trans-Canadian tour.

After spending a few days with friends in Charlottetown and at his native place, Tryon, Mr. Bulpit started on his long journey westward arriving at his daughter's home seven days after leaving Prince Edward Island. Mr. Bulpit kept a diary of his journey, describing minutely much of the scenery of the trip over the Rocky Mountains was thrillingly interesting, the narrow passes along precipitous cliffs, tunnels, the longest of which was five miles, snow-capped mountains, wooded valleys and all exceedingly grand and beautiful, being fittingly described in his well kept diary. Arriving at Powell River he found himself in a veritable summerland, gardening being just begun, peas, onions, vegetables of every variety having been planted and dykes, hedges and lawns covered with early flowers. An experienced gardener and farmer himself, he assisted in the designing and preparation of Mrs. Campbell's garden which he left, he became a veritable thing of beauty.

Powell River is minutely described in his diary. The town has a population of about 4000 and is set in the midst of a fine farming section. The main industry of the town is paper manufacturing, several pulp mills furnishing occupation to many hundreds of people. One of these mills, operated by an American firm has a capacity of 2,040 tons a day. The surrounding country is well wooded, many of the trees being of immense size. Stumps eight and nine feet in diameter are common and clearing these off the land is one of the agricultural problems. The stumps are blown up with dynamite. Mr. Bulpit had seen the operation—at a distance—when thirty cartridges were placed under one stump. After the explosion the place previously occupied by the hole looked like a huge cellar. The cost of clearing the land is anywhere from $500 to $1000 an acre.

After an extended visit at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Campbell, he visited Vancouver and Victoria, arriving in the latter city on March 8th. Here he was met by his grandson, Mr. George Campbell and driven to the latter's home. In Victoria Mr. Bulpit met many former Prince Edward Islanders, a party of eleven of them assembling at his grandson's home to welcome him on the night of his arrival. Here also Mr. Bulpit had an opportunity to indulge in his favorite pastime, gardening, with advantages of soil and climate not excelled, if indeed equalled, in his own province. The public buildings, the city generally and the surrounding country were visited, the scenery everywhere being very beautiful. From Victoria he went by steamer to Vancouver, a most interesting trip over smooth water and in beautiful weather. Here accompanied by his grandson, George Campbell who met him with his car, he drove to the latter's home in Ladner, a town in the centre of a fine dairying country, the Delta, a populous section of grazing land about eighteen miles long and five miles wide, a rich alluvial soil admirably suited for grazing and mixed farming. A dyke eight-teen miles long protects it from the Fraser River and the whole delta area is cultivated. Dairying is the principal industry and a large milk condenser takes care of the surplus milk. While at Ladner a large hotel a few doors from the home of his grandson caught fire and was burned to the ground. There was great excitement as the adjoining buildings were in danger. Mr. Bulpit assisted in preventing the spread of the fire, standing all night by a hydrant at his grandson's home and plying the hose to such good effect that his efforts to save the building were specially mentioned in his grandfather, the late Rev. Jas. Bulpit having been the first Methodist pastor stationed in Charlottetown. Mr. Bulpit is now nearly 87 years young and still good for almost any kind of enterprise, including, if he thinks desirable, another transcontinental tour of 7,500 miles.

You couldn't make such chocolates at home—without long years of candy-making experience. And yet—they have something about them that suggests the pure wholesomeness, the fresh piquancy, of home made dainties. So we call them Neilson's "Home Made" Chocolates. They are boxed plainly, in order to give you this extra quality at a low price.

"Thank God for Tea! What did the world do without it—how did it exist? I am glad I was not born before Tea." Thus wrote the brilliant Sydney Smith in the early days of the nineteenth century, and countless thousands have echoed his sentiments since. But if Sydney Smith could so enthuse over Tea as it was then, what would he say of it to-day, when science in growing and art in blending have brought your cup of Tea to such a high point of perfection.

And what would he think of to-day's cost? At an incomparably lower price you are able to enjoy Tea of a deliciousness Sydney Smith never knew or imagined. "KING COLE" Orange Pekoe "The Extra in Choice Tea"

F. W. WOOLWORTH'S WIDOW IS DEAD

NEW YORK, May 26.—Mrs. Jessie Creighton Woolworth, widow of F. W. Woolworth founder of the chain of five and ten cent stores bearing his name, died on Tuesday at her home, Winfield Hall, Glenoeve, Long Island. Mrs. Woolworth was 69 years old and survived her husband about five years. She was the daughter of Thomas Creighton, of Pictou, Ont.

She is survived by two daughters and a grand-daughter. The daughters are Mrs. Eleanor Woolworth Donohue and Mrs. Jessica Woolworth McCaa, both of whom are still active in the F. W. Woolworth Company. The grand-daughter is Miss Barbara Hutton.

At the time of Mr. Woolworth's death in 1919 his estate was estimated to be worth between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000 but it is believed to have increased to upwards of $60,000,000 since. It consisted then principally of $12,500,000 of common stock and $3,000,000 of preferred stock of the F. W. Woolworth Company and 300 per cent ownership in the Woolworth building, which was without mortgage and worth $11,000,000. There were additional holdings of stock in the Irving National Bank and various miscellaneous investments. Aside from the sale of the preferred stock to help pay inheritance taxes and the recent sale of the building, the estate is believed to have remained intact.

Offer of Spain Rejected as Impracticable

(Canadian Press) BRUSSELS, May 26.—The sub-committee of the inter-university relations of the Intellectual Commission of the League of Nations, under the chairmanship of Professor Gilbert Murray of Great Britain, has rejected the proposal of the Spanish Government to establish an International University in Spain, with special provisions for the Jewish students of Eastern Europe who are hit by the percentage limitation of their numbers in local universities. The feeling was expressed that it would be impossible at present to establish an official International University, although to encourage co-operation between steps should be taken immediately the universities of the different countries by a frequent exchange of professors and students.

CANCER DEVELOPMENT HAS SEVERAL CAUSES

NEW YORK, May 26.—Cancer is not considered contagious, but if scientists eventually discover that a microbe transmits the disease a way will be open for its rational treatment and control. Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., set forth today in a telegram to Dr. George A. Soper managing director of the American Society for the control of cancer. "There are several causes which contribute to the development of cancer," said his telegram today. "Microbic infection possibly is one of them. Chronic injury or irritation is a long-recognized cause and may give opportunity for infection."
