Labor Head Says War Goals Will Be Passed

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 8—(CP)—President William Green told the opening session of the 32nd annual convention of the American Federation of Labor here today that before the end of this year United States workers would surpass the war production goals set by President Roosevelt and predicted the day would come when "the armies of the United Nations, including America and Canada, will be in Berlin and Tokyo."

Emphasizing the convention keynote, "labor for victory," President Green told the delegates: "I can see... that you are moved by one sincere and single desire, and that is to serve and to establish peace, freedom, liberty and democracy throughout the world."

More than 1,000 persons—nearly 600 of them delegates and the rest visitors—filled the convention hall for the convention opening which was also addressed by Federal Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell and Premier Mitchell P. Hepburn of Ontario.

Premier Hepburn, who also spoke at the convention banquet tonight, said that as soon as possible his government would introduce in the Ontario Legislature a bill to make collective bargaining compulsory in Ontario.

Silver Serves In Scientific War

COSTLY METAL REPLACES COPPER, ZINC; BEATS BABBITT FOR BEARINGS

Solder—of silver. It will join metal pieces so strongly that the joint often is stronger than the original metal.

NEW YORK—Suggestion under shock makes it invaluable in the recoil mechanism of high-powered guns, adding length to range.

The most dramatic uses of silver in this Silver-Plated War, however are to be found in solder. Unlike lead, silver solder joins metal so strongly that the joint is often stronger than the original metal. This is a tank, for example breaks down on the field, it can be repaired with solder right on the spot.

USE OF SILVER FREES OTHER METALS

Miles of pipes in fighting ships and transports are now joined with silver solder, giving them added ability to withstand shock and strain. In the production of many kinds of bombs, silver solder is used to seal the joints.

Being an exceptionally efficient conductor of electricity, silver already is being used for wire of various sizes, and it has been proposed as a material for heavy cable in the massive, high-voltage bus bars in industrial plants. Since there would be no deterioration, it could be replaced after the war by the copper now needed elsewhere.

Silver also is making a major contribution to this Silver-Plated War by releasing quantities of precious other metals, like copper, nickel or zinc, for uses their special properties best fit them.

You can get an idea of how silver is helping to keep the war production ball rolling from comparative consumption figures. In 1941, 89,000,000 more ounces of silver were fabricated than in 1940, an increase of 25 per cent. The firm of Handy & Harman, the nation's oldest and largest bullion dealers, which was recently awarded the Joint Army-Navy "E" reports increased production in some silver lines as much as 400 per cent within the past year.

MACDONALD AND MACLEOD WEDDING

White gladioli, asters and palms decorated the United Presbyterian church where at a candlelight service, Miss Hazel MacLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. MacLeod of Quincy, became the bride of Donald Russell MacLeod, son of Mrs. Mary MacLeod formerly of Quincy, Mass. Rev. William Nichol, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin with lace inserts and a long train with a long veil caught to a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses with an orchid center and wore a pearl necklace a gift of the bridesroom. Her twin sister, Miss Pearl MacLeod, as maid of honor, wore a yellow taffeta gown with lace inserts. She wore a floral coronet with a matching veil and carried a bouquet of tallsmen roses. The bridesmaids, Miss MacLeod, sister of the bride, and Miss Dorothy Inman, were similarly gowned in pink taffeta streamers. The bride and groom were escorted to their places by Mrs. Warfield Orr and Mr. Lorne McNeill. Joyce Warren presented the bride with a handsome bouquet. After gifts had been presented by Mrs. Ray Laird and Mrs. Leigh Warren an address was read by Mrs. B. C. Woolner which expressed the hearty good wishes of the entire community. A generous purse was presented by Mrs. Gordon Laird.

The groom in reply said that this was truly a surprise party to them but nevertheless graciously thanked all present and invited all to visit them in their home.

Lunch was served, favorite songs were sung and the evening ended by bouncing the bride and groom as well as the genial host.

The future peace of the world "is safe only in the hands of labor and the great mass of organized society," said the Premier. He recalled that one of the first moves made by Hitler when he came to power in Germany was to destroy the German trade unions and said: "I want you people to put up the strength of the Canadian and United States labor unions to the test that lasting peace may come."

Mr. Mitchell warned that greater sacrifices are needed in both Canada and U.S. before victory could be achieved and expressed his conviction that if the German trade union movement had remained alive there would have been no war. The labor movement of North America has made "the greatest contribution to peace of any people in the world."

"If we wind up with our freedom and our shirts will be lucky," Mr. Mitchell as he called for greater sacrifice, can win the war. I believe it will be found in the North American continent. We have the genius for mass production. But material is not enough. We must be prepared to give our life itself so the things we believe in will survive."

President Roosevelt had stated after his recent tour of western war plants that he had found the end of the war "declare here that the President of the United States need not hope," said Green.

"I assure you that as the representative of this year all the standards of this year will be exceeded by the workers of America."

Only speaker at the afternoon session was Archibald McDonald, Gordon Laird, attached to the British Embassy in Washington, who said that two-thirds of the people of Great Britain are now engaged in employment or are in the armed forces.

SOCIAL GATHERING FOR BRIDAL COUPLE

A delightful evening was spent at the home of Mr. William Toombs of North Rustico on Monday, September 7th. The purpose of the gathering was to honor and congratulate a recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henry of Kensington. The bride was formerly Miss Elva Bernard of North Rustico, a very popular and now much-missed member of the community. The room and seat of honor were tastefully adorned for the occasion with pink and white streamers. The bride and groom were escorted to their places by Mrs. Warfield Orr and Mr. Lorne McNeill. Joyce Warren presented the bride with a handsome bouquet. After gifts had been presented by Mrs. Ray Laird and Mrs. Leigh Warren an address was read by Mrs. B. C. Woolner which expressed the hearty good wishes of the entire community. A generous purse was presented by Mrs. Gordon Laird.

Bristol and Vicinity

This vicinity has lost another of its oldest residents in the passing of Mrs. Katie Hogan, in her eightieth year. Mrs. Hogan, before her marriage was Katie Sinnott, and spent all her life in this vicinity.

Pte. Robert Belanger, arrived last week to spend his leave with his wife who is at present spending some time with her parents here. This is Pte. Belanger's first trip to the Island and he is very well pleased with its beauty and hopes to come again.

Mr. Laurance Gauthier, Mr. Fred Mosher, and Seymour Blackland left here this week to join one of the Government freighters. Mr. Mosher, is no stranger to the sea lanes having served for quite some time. He was at Dunkirk on that great rescue event and later when his ship was sunk by submarine spent hours in the water. In going to sea again he will serve as deck hands, all are old seamen.

Pte. Arthur Blayland spent a few days leave with his wife and family here last week.

Pte. Howard Mosher, who arrived from England some time ago, has gone to one of the training centers where no doubt his overseas experience will prove of great value.

The latest potato ever seen here was on display last week at the Bristol Post Office. This plant spud weighed twenty-two ounces and was grown by P. R. Sinnott, Jr., a school boy of tender age, yet he knows how to grow potatoes.

Mrs. Walter Cheyerie, Souris, was a visitor to Bristol, Sunday the guest of her cousin Miss Mabel O'Brien.

Cpl. Albert Griffin, R.C.A.F. leaves this week after spending some time with his wife and family. Cpl. Griffin, who stands well over six feet tall was Police Officer in Moncton for several years.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. S. J. Keefe, Morell, who will be eighty four years young this week. A retired sectionman, old railway man, especially those in the east will remember him better as he served as foreman at Harmony Jct. for years.

Mr. Hemps Harrington who has been taking a course in Electric welding at one of the training colleges spent the week end at his home here.

Most of the potato digging has been completed here but as yet no tubers have been shipped from this section despite the fact many farmers have them bagged up and ready. Miss Mabel O'Brien, teacher at St. Andrews, is enjoying her fall vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Stannis Dapierre have moved from their summer house at the Harbor back to their home here. A few fishermen still remain at the shore for fishing on the good days that still remain.—B.

OATMEAL COOKIES

1 cup lard
1-2 cup sugar
1 cup dark corn syrup
2 eggs, beaten
1-2 cups sifted flour
3-4 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons mixed spices (cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice or cloves)
1 teaspoon soda
1-2 cup sour milk
2 cups oatmeal
1 cup chopped nuts.
Cream lard and sugar. Add syrup and blend well; beat in eggs. Sift together dry ingredients and alternately with milk stir in oatmeal and nuts. Drop by table-spoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Makes about two dozen large cookies.

Jabs at Japs Strike Home

Anti-Nazi cartoons of this type, drawn by Bill Moran of Hawaii, are being distributed to Japanese in the islands to impress upon them the true nature of Japan's present government. Top cartoon is self-explanatory; lower depicts war lord Tojo holding a tea house orgy with his favorite geisha girl—Death. From his cup spills the blood of Japan's youth. Such lack of dignity is distasteful to island Japs.
