

"JIGGS" SPEAKS JAPANESE NOW -- "MAGGIE" TOO!

Oriental Readers Greet "Bringing up Father" as the "Best Reading of the Spring" -Noted Cartoonist Burning Midnight Incense to Make Nippon Public Smile.

"Jiggs" is speaking Japanese! The hero of "Bringing up Father"; militant "Maggie," his wife; "Buddy Moore"; his old pal; and all the others in the most amusing family cartoon drama are appearing daily not in Asahi Graph, a leading Japanese newspaper, which can boast of being the first Oriental publication to feature a "funny page" serial from the western world.

This also being whispered that the creator of the "Jiggs" family—seemingly George McManus, himself—is studying Japanese on the quiet. Months ago he would slip away from his "pals" of press and art circles to spend a few hours with the Japanese collection in the Metropolitan Museum of Arts and Science. In this wise does he Orient himself in this new Far East field of humour.

Asahi Graph is waxing enthusiastic over this new comic sensation. The Japanese public has been told editorially that it is "the best reading of the spring."

With a graphic picture of "Jiggs" and "Maggie," Asahi Graph announces the acquisition of this famous comic cartoon series with a conspicuously printed notice and a headline, a literal translation of which reads:

"SO POPULAR AS TO BE THE BEST IN THE WORLD!"

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL QUEEN

Queen Helena of Italy, who played such a big part in the entertainment of President and Mrs. Wilson on their visit to Rome, has been called the most beautiful queen in the world, and the most cultured and gracious as well. She and Spanish fluently, in addition to Italian and Latin. She knows Greek as well and is familiar with the literature of all ages. She is a great lover of flowers, fine lace and rare jewels. In Rome she takes interest in the social life of the court; in her country house she speaks French, German, English, Monza she is a country woman; in the Alps she is as hardy a climber as the Tyrolese, going over glaciers, along narrow paths or to the edge of a precipice with charming indifference.

If the predestination and immutability of God render it improper for men to pray, because their prayers cannot change His purposes, then the same things must render it equally improper for men to plough, sow, reap, or make any other effort for any end whatever. All these, with the Divine blessing, will be in vain, and can no more change the purpose of God than prayer.

Tempting The Pixies

(By Dominion News Service.)
An eerie experience that befell a farmer near Mullingar is exciting the people of that neighborhood and giving those who maintain that the "Little People" have not left Ireland reason to boast.

The central figure in the curious affair, who is 60 years of age, lives between a Horseleap and Streamstown, and upon his land is located "Fairy Mound" or "Fort" as it is termed in rural Ireland. Recently the farmer carried out some minor building operations at a lane leading to the Fort. This lane has always been known locally as "The Fairies' Right of Way" and there has been a superstition in the locality that such places should not be interfered with. Some of the older people communicated their fears to the farmer that if he persisted evil consequences would befall him.

The farmer laughed at what he termed "old wives' tales," but the next day was disagreeably surprised to find that his working clothes, which he had carefully laid away, had been mysteriously cut in several places. He determined to test the theory that was at once spread abroad that the Fairies were responsible. Taking the suit he suspended it on a cord from the ceiling of a spare room. He then locked the door and sealed the windows of his chamber.

To his astonishment and, it is said, dismay, on the following day the garments were cut in many more places, and in fact seemed well on the way to being completely shredded. And the old wives of the district shook their heads wisely and said: "The good little people brook no interference with the forts."
