CORNELL'S BIG DRUNK

This Year's Exercises Opened

BY A MIDNIGHT SPREE

In the Downtown Saloons.

—President Schurman's 'Belief in God' Emblazoned On Cornell Beer Mugs—This is Another Islander.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Cornell grill-room in the New Ithaca hotel was initiated Saturday night. It is still unfinished, but in the hands of an old Cornell graduate, receiving its finishing touches from his brush. A resident graduate architect had general charge of the changes. A Cornell professor assisted him in certain details. All that could be done by Proprietor Gluck to enlist university sympathy and attention was done. The grill-room has been especially attractive for boys attending Cornell. It might be called the 'Cornell University cauteen.' It has been designed and beautified in the old German beer-resort style. It is advertised as a special student beer and liquor resort. An orchestra will play from 6 P. M. to midnight every week day until the university closes.

The millionaire brewers have been given a free hand in this grill-room. Herbert Ballentine, a graduate of Cornell, now a partner in the big brewing firm in Newark, N. J., contributed to the decorations. His gift is a huge pair of beer-barrel heads protruding from the wall. They are made very handsome from the artist's standpoint. The wealthy Barthelomays, of Rochester, have been accorded the same privilege, and they have taken advantage of it in as bold a manner as did Ballentine.

Several days ago I was told that it was intended to get professors to attend the grill-room exercises to keep the boys orderly. One professor remarked in an indignant manner that professors have something else in their curriculum to perform than to become supers for barrooms, and draw students into them and start them on a drunkard's career.

I saw to-day a row of beer-mugs or 'steins' for sale, in the show windows of Raikin's fancy crockery store on East State street for $5 each. They are very artistic in design and finish. The lids have an excellent portrait of the foundery of the university, Ezra Cornell. They are made as if of about 15 staves, each stave being the back of a book with its title and author name. The largest reads: 'J. G. Schurman's Belief in God.' Others read: 'F. M. Finch, The Blue and the Gray,' 'M. C. Tyler's Patrick Henry,' 'A. D. White's Warfare of Science,' 'Hiram Corson's Notes on Shakespeare,' and so on through the leading authors and members of the faculty.

They were manufactured especially for students of Cornell. An owl that stands above the portrait of Ezra Cornell seems to indicate that they are for night service. In President Schurman's annual address last Thursday to the students, he made no reference to the repeated statements published in THE VOICE about the students' drunks and drunkeries at Cornell. Nor did he deny any of the statements. He claims no gain in the number of students entered this year in Cornell, but was glad that it was no less than last year.

The new grill-room had all the drunken students in town at its opening Saturday night. It was a repetition of THE VOICE's description of commencement week carousals. It was perhaps not quite as bad as then, but it was bad enough. The Sabbath came in upon 'the crazy students,' as a New Ithaca employee called them, and they were soon staggering and climbing up the hill to their homes. The night police followed to keep them from brawling and yelling.

GRADUAL DEVELOPMENT

Not Rapid Fortunes to Be Looked For—Mining Officials and Miners at Ottawa—Royalties May Be Changed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—(Special)—A. P. Severin, ex-Governor of Alaska, has faith in the mineral wealth of that country. He says there is rich gold bearing quartz everywhere in the islands of the Alexander Archipelago and on the mainland from the southern boundary as far north as Skagway and Dyea.

Six months in a year is too short a time to expect to make fortunes. The development of the country's mineral wealth will be gradual.

OTTAWA, October, 3.—(Special)—Typhoid fever is prevalent here.

James D. McGregor, Yukon gold commissioner is here, also several Yukon officers and miners.

A rearrangement of the royalty is likely to result from their conferences with the cabinet.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Fatal Fires at Ruchibucto and Sherbrooke, Que.

RUCHIBUCTO, Oct. 3.—(Special)—A fire on Sunday burned the residence of Martin Daigle, St. Charles, Kent Co., and his father, aged 80, and three year old child perished.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Oct. 3.—(Special)—Four children of a farmer named Clartier were burned to death in his barn on Sunday.

THE BEHRING SEA QUESTION. Attorney-general Martin Presents His Views.

QUEBEC, Sept. 29.—Hon. Joseph Martin, attorney-general of British Columbia, reached here this morning. After breakfast he held an informal reception in the Chateau Frontenac, and cabinet ministers over his recent victory. Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave the visitor a hearty welcome. Subsequently they discussed Mr. Martin's mission.

'Fighting Joe' bargains with him for presentation to the Canadian commissioners a memorial dealing with the Behring Sea and Alaska Boundary questions as well as other issues, including commercial reciprocity and reciprocity in towing and wrecking. The memorial expresses the views of the provincial government. Mr. Martin admitted that it takes a strange attitude respecting the Bering sea question. The British Columbia government are unwilling that Canada should cede her rights to pelagic sealing for a compensation to the Canadian sealers now engaged in the industry. Mr. Martin pointed out to a correspondent that the solution proposed would deprive of a living many whose interests are as worthy of consideration as those of the capitalists.

Mr. Martin is confident that no difficulty will be found in settling the Alaskan boundary dispute. His idea is that the American interpretation put on the treaty defining the boundary should be strenuously resisted. It would have the effect of making Canada surrender at least three million acres. As stated, with it are fishing rights. The attorney general protested strongly against the large and expensive methods adopted by American customs officials in enforcing the bonding regulations at Skagway and other gate ways to the Yukon. This is one of the points he will touch upon before the Canadian commissioners. The memorial favors a wide measure of reciprocity between the two countries.

Hon. Mr. Martin will seek the abolition of the United States duty on ores containing lead. He says the question is one involving the very future of the mining industry. Until the completion of the Crow's Nest Pass railway the coal deposits along the line will not be available for smelting purposes.

Cap'n Cox, who represents the British Columbia sealers, states that he never advocated the extinguishment of the rights of British subjects to engage in pelagic sealing as a basis for the settlement of the dispute. He does not purpose to influence the commissioners. They would be satisfied with a just settlement. If compensation were offered his fellow sealers would be prepared to sell out of a business fast becoming unremunerative.

The international commission sat for half an hour to-day. The Bering Sea question was again under consideration. The sub-committees met this afternoon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking to a prominent Montreal visitor to-day, said that the outlook for the adjustment of many questions now looked brighter than it was last year.

HE WAS TORTURED

Frightful Death of the Emperor of China.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A special despatch from Shanghai says the announcement of the death of the emperor is confirmed. The reports as to the means employed in the taking of his life differ. One story has it that he died by poison, and another that death was caused by strangulation, while a third states that he was subjected to frightful torture, a red-hot iron being thrust through his bowels.

PHILIPPINE REBELS

Declared by Merritt Intelligent, But Unfit for Self-Government.

MARSEILLES, Oct. 3.—(Special)—Gen. Merritt has arrived here. He says the Philippine leaders and insurgents are a more intelligent body than the Cubans, but he doubts their ability for self-government and thinks with the Spanish government ended they will be ready for any form that may be devised for them.

COLORED MINERS.
