Famous Designer Will Now Marry

PARIS, Dec 5—Gabrielle Chanel, famous beauty and creator of fashion, has at last, declare the gossips of the cafes tonight, decided to marry.

She is said to have turned away duke and millionaire. She loved her art too well to be wooed and won by title or wealth.

The man of her choice is M. Paul Iribe.

He, too, is an artist—in jewels.

But he has won this lovely woman by pleas of poverty and simplicity not with riches and promises of great social position.

This is the story of their idyll.

"I am a simple man and poorer than you. If we marry you must be prepared to live my way, according to my means," he told her.

"Did I not start as a little shop girl in a milliner's shop in Compiegne?" she replied. "Was I not happy when I was poor? My life of luxury shall not mar our happiness."

So the beauty who has worked for the beautiful women of the world has shut her eighteenth century house, dismissed her servants and is living in a humble middle-class family hotel.

The great Chanel will marry her artist and settle down in some quiet Paris suburb.

But she will still carry on the great fashion business that has made her famous throughout the world.

June Will Play In Cinderella

LONDON, Dec 5—June, Lady Inverclyde, is to appear in patomime for the first time this Christmas.

She has been engaged by Mr. Julian Wylie to play Cinderella in his pantomime at the Palace Theatre, Manchester.

Miss Phyllis Neilson-Terry, who will also be making her first appearance in pantomime is to be the principal boy in the same show.

Lady Inverclyde said that although she has had previous offers to appear in pantomime she has never before been able to accept.

Liked The Idea

"I liked the idea as soon as Mr. Wylie suggested it to me," she said, "but I could not make any definite plans until I knew what was going to happen to the piece in which I was then appearing.

"I am looking forward tremendously to the experience, particularly as Cinderella is such a lovely part."

June, who achieved fame as a musical comedy and revue actress, recently had her first experience of a "straight" part when she played on tour with Mr. Hugh Wakefield in "No Surrender."

COLLECTING DOG TAXES EXPENSIVE

MONTREAL, Dec. 4 — (C. P.) — It cost the city $330 to collect $66 from 33 citizens who did not have licenses on their pet dogs, a recent estimate revealed. In such cases, an official explained, first comes the cost of inspectors who journey about the city finding canines without licenses. Then the administration must send the offender one or two notices of warning. There are paid employees to send out these notices, the mailing of which adds to the expense.

When John Citizen heeds not this warning the City Hall advises the Recorder's Court that a certain person has failed to pay his dog fees and a summons should be sent. The printing, compiling and delivery of this document amounts to a tidy sum.

Down comes Mr. Citizen in a hurry to pay $3 fine and costs of about $2. He pays the cost of a licence and immediately his fine is returned to him.

VALLEYFIELD W. M. S. THANK OFFERING SERVICE— On Tuesday evening, November 21st the annual Thank Offering service of the Valleyfield auxiliary W. M. S. was held in Valleyfield Church. The roads and weather conditions were such to permit of a large attendance of the residents in the vicinity of the church as well as many from the surrounding districts. The offering, though not yet all accounted for, was very satisfactory. The pastor, Rev. D. M. Sinclair, conducted the service in his usual dignified and pleasing manner and also delivered an able and intensely interesting address, taking for his subject "The Romance of Missions" which was listened to with the closest attention throughout. A special feature of the program was the rendering of several selections, in solo and duet by those well-known and highly appreciated singers Mrs. Farnell and McKay of Amherst. Particularly appealing was the number entitled "Shadows". The Valleyfield choir under the leadership of Mrs. John P. McLeod, contributed special music in their usual effective manner, with Mrs. W. A. Bruce as organist, who also capably accompanied the guest musicians and played for the congregational singing. On behalf of the Valleyfield Auxiliary, Mr. Sinclair spoke words of warm welcome to Mr. Farnell and Mr. McKay and also expressed the thanks and appreciation of the whole congregation for their splendid contribution to the success and enjoyment of this Thank offering service.

Tripe Popular Again in London

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec 5—With his unconscious head in her lap, the Queen of Bulgaria knelt by the roadside and washed the wounds of an injured motor-cyclist.

King Boris, Queen Giovanna, Prince Cyril and Princess Eudoxia were motoring from a mountain resort outside Sofia when they saw the body of a man stretched on the road beside his wrecked machine.

The royal car pulled up, and the Queen sprang out and ran to the stranger's side. He was stunned and bleeding.

After tenderly washing his wounds, the Queen tore up her handkerchief and bandaged him.

The King and Prince Cyril then lifted the man into their car and drove him to the nearest hospital.

Mr. Raymond Lavers recently paid a visit to Charlottetown.

Mr. Stephen Sculley and Mr. Jas. Dalton recently motored to Charlottetown.

Miss Mildred White, R. N., and Miss Annie Murphy were among the recent visitors to Charlottetown.

Mr. Herman Lavandier has returned to his home in Georgetown after spending the past six months in Halifax, N. S.

Capt. Wallace Allison, C. A. has returned to Georgetown after spending a few days in Cherry Valley and Charlottetown.

A pretty autumn wedding took place at St. James' R. C. Church, Georgetown on Wednesday, Nov. 29th, when Katie M. Fraser, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fraser, Georgetown, was united in the holy bonds of Matrimony to Mr. Wm. Martell of Burt Point, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Martell, Pamure Island. Rev. O. Kiggens officiating. The bride looked winsome, gowned in white satin and lace with white hat and other accessories to match, and wrap of chinchilla fur. Miss Millicent Fraser, sister of the bride, prettily dressed in blue silk was bridesmaid and Mr. Neil White supported the groom. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a white gold watch and to the best man a set of gold cuff links. After the ceremony the wedding party motored to the home of the bride where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served, after which the happy couple departed on a short wedding trip. The brides travelling dress being midnight blue velvet with blue hat and chinchilla coat.

A few evenings previous to the marriage a shower was tendered the bride by her many friends followed by a dance and supper in St. James' Parish Hall. The hall being prettily decorated in white and pink for the occasion. The presents were many and costly, (among them a cabinet of silver from the brides brother, Mr. John Fraser of the Civil Service, Ottawa, also a cabinet of silver from her younger brother Kenneth Fraser, C. N. R. Georgetown), which testifies to the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held.

Canada May Soon Produce Its Own Nut Crop

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (C. P.) — Prospects Canada will some day produce crops of nuts of many varieties, sufficient to her own needs, are envisioned by George H. Corsan, whose exhibit of Canadian grown nuts at the Royal Winter Fair attracted considerable attention.

Conducting "experimental acres" at Islington, near here, Mr. Corsan has made a hobby of nut tree cultivation for several years. His problem is to grow trees and shrubs that will stand the Ontario winter and produce edible, easily crackable fruit ripening before the frost comes. At present most of the nuts entering into commerce for various purposes, principally as articles of food or sources of oil are grown in semi-tropical countries or the warmer districts of Europe and Asia, although the modest filbert and the walnut are also produced in Britain.

Mr. Corsan has given a lot of attention to the improvement of the pecan, a close relation of the Canadian hickory and bitter nut, all of the "carya" family. His Canadian walnuts have also been brought to a point of perfection comparable with the imported varieties. By means of grafting, crossing and other technique of the horticulturist these species of kernelled fruits on the Corsan plantation have attained marketable quality and require only time to become of commercial quantity, in the opinion of the owner.

For his experiments at Islington Mr. Corsan has searched Europe, Asia and the semitropics, securing quite a collection of the hardier varieties of nut-producing trees and shrubs. Some of his imported stock came from Pennsylvania. His private nursery has now produced, in the open, good crops of filberts, almonds and the edible chestnut, in addition to the walnut and pecan. He maintains there are few varieties of nuts in commerce that cannot eventually be grown with profit in Canada.

Mrs. Corsan, who is in charge of the exhibit at the Winter Fair, in the absence of her husband, is equally enthusiastic in her claims for the future of the nut growing branch of agriculture in Canada.

COUNTY JAIL

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec 5—Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, under indictment for the operating table murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, read her Bible in the county jail today andl discussed the precarious state of her health with a matron assigned to guard her.

Warden David Money Penny assigned three jail attaches to watch over the 62 year old physician to guard what he interpreted as a suicide threat contained in her enigmatic statement.

"You know this won't bother me very long."

Jail physicians noted a slight improvement in her physical condition, although Dr. Wynekoop is suffering from a critical case of arterio-sclerosis. She is beyond medical aid, the prisoner told Dr. F. W. McNamara, the jail physician.

The trial of Dr. Wynekoop will in all probability begin shortly after January 1, hearing on a writ of habeas corpus was scheduled for today, but her attorney, Frank Tyrrel, said he would postpone the bond plea and allow the physician to remain in the county jail while recuperating.

Half the battle in doctoring children is to give them something they will like; something they will take without any fuss, and this the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It acts promptly by soothing the air passages, loosening the phlegm, strengthening the bronchial tubes and fortifying them against serious chest troubles.
