

200 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE

So delightfully refreshing—they said 200 years ago

"There's naught like a cup of Fry's for refreshment after the shops, my dear," they said in the long ago.

"It does buck one up" — "Just the thing after a hard day or a strenuous game," they say today.

Such have been the comments on Fry's Cocoa for two centuries — from women in many countries — in cottage and castle — in old lands and new.

The wonderful sustaining qualities of this famous beverage come from skillful preparation of the choicest beans. Its taste-tempting flavour is the result of 200 years of "knowing how."

Have you a tin of FRY'S in the house, now? Every dealer sells it. Look for the familiar FRY yellow label—it is a guarantee of the utmost purity and value in Cocoa.

"And such delicious flavour"— they say in 1928

In Memoriam

MR. W. A. HUTCHESON

The death of Mr. W. A. Hutcheson, which occurred at his home on Sunday last, removes another of Charlottetown's older residents and business men.

For some months his health had been failing, and on Sunday, Oct. 28th, he passed peacefully to his eternal reward.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Ina Rowe, and four children, May at home, Aline and Mrs. W. H. Harper in Montreal and William in Vancouver, and also one sister, Mrs. John Newson of this city. To the members of the bereaved family we extend our sincere sympathy.

FRANK READY

Frank Ready, whose death has already been recorded in the press, was a young man as popular as any in the community in which he lived. Endowed with a sharp and practical intellect he could quickly grasp the import of a situation, and he could as quickly act in meeting the exigencies that might be in evidence.

Possessed of a strong physical constitution, he believed himself capable of performing any strenuous labor, and, in this connection he may have exerted himself beyond his power sustaining thus developing the condition that resulted in death.

But he met death bravely, fortified by the strengthening graces of the Last Sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church. He was in the extreme hour, hopefully fortified by the consoling powers of his Parish Priest Mgr. D. J. Gillis, who with that loving charity so characteristic of the faith disposed his soul to meeting a merciful, but just Judge.

His funeral was held from his late home in Burlington to St. Mary's Church, Indian River. The funeral Mass being celebrated, and the solemn obsequies being conducted by Mgr. Gillis.

The deceased was a son of the late Michael Ready and his wife, in maidenhood, Josephine McKinnon, Burlington and was born there in the year 1890—A member of a family of six, three whom survive, Lillian, Fred and William. His widow also survives who was Elligabeth McKenzie, Lot 18, also four children.

The late Frank Ready, as a son, husband and father aimed at high ideals in life and honestly strove to attain them. But Providence foresaw a state of life superior to what this life can give hence summoned him to his just reward. Deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones. Requiescat in pace.

MRS. BRIDGET BOYLAN

"Oh, never from the memory of our heart Your dear maternal image shall depart."

Announcement of the death of Mrs. Bridget Boylan, Auburn, which occurred at her home on Thursday, Oct. 4th, brought mingled feelings of surprise and sorrow to many of her friends.

Her illness was of a few weeks' duration, but, although she had the best medical treatment as well as the careful attention of her devoted family, it was evident that her life was fast ebbing to a close.

The late Mrs. Boylan was in her 80th year. Her maiden name was Bridget McAdam, and she was the widow of the late Mr. John Boylan, who pre-deceased her several years.

The management of her home and the cares and duties of her household, were ever first in her thoughts. Apart from these, how- ever, she was always ready to do a kindly act, although it might demand much personal sacrifice and time.

She was a fervent Catholic; and she was for a number of years one of the most zealous workers in various activities of parish life. During her illness she was frequently visited by her pastor, the Rev. D. P. Croken.

Her last hours were peacefully and happily—consoled and spiritually strengthened by the sacred rites of the Church, with the forms of those whom she loved around her, and retaining full consciousness until her spirit winged its flight to her eternal home.

The funeral for Fort Augustus on Saturday morning was under the direction of Mr. Milton Jenkins. It was exceptionally large, many coming from a distance to tender their final tribute of friendship and respect.

A High Mass of requiem was sung by the Rev. Father Croken, who also officiated at the grave. The pall bearers were Messrs. James Quinn, John Kelly, Edward J. Roche, John Simpson, J. J. McKenzie, and Philip Shea. Numerous Mass Cards, Spiritual Bouquets, and letters of sympathy were received.

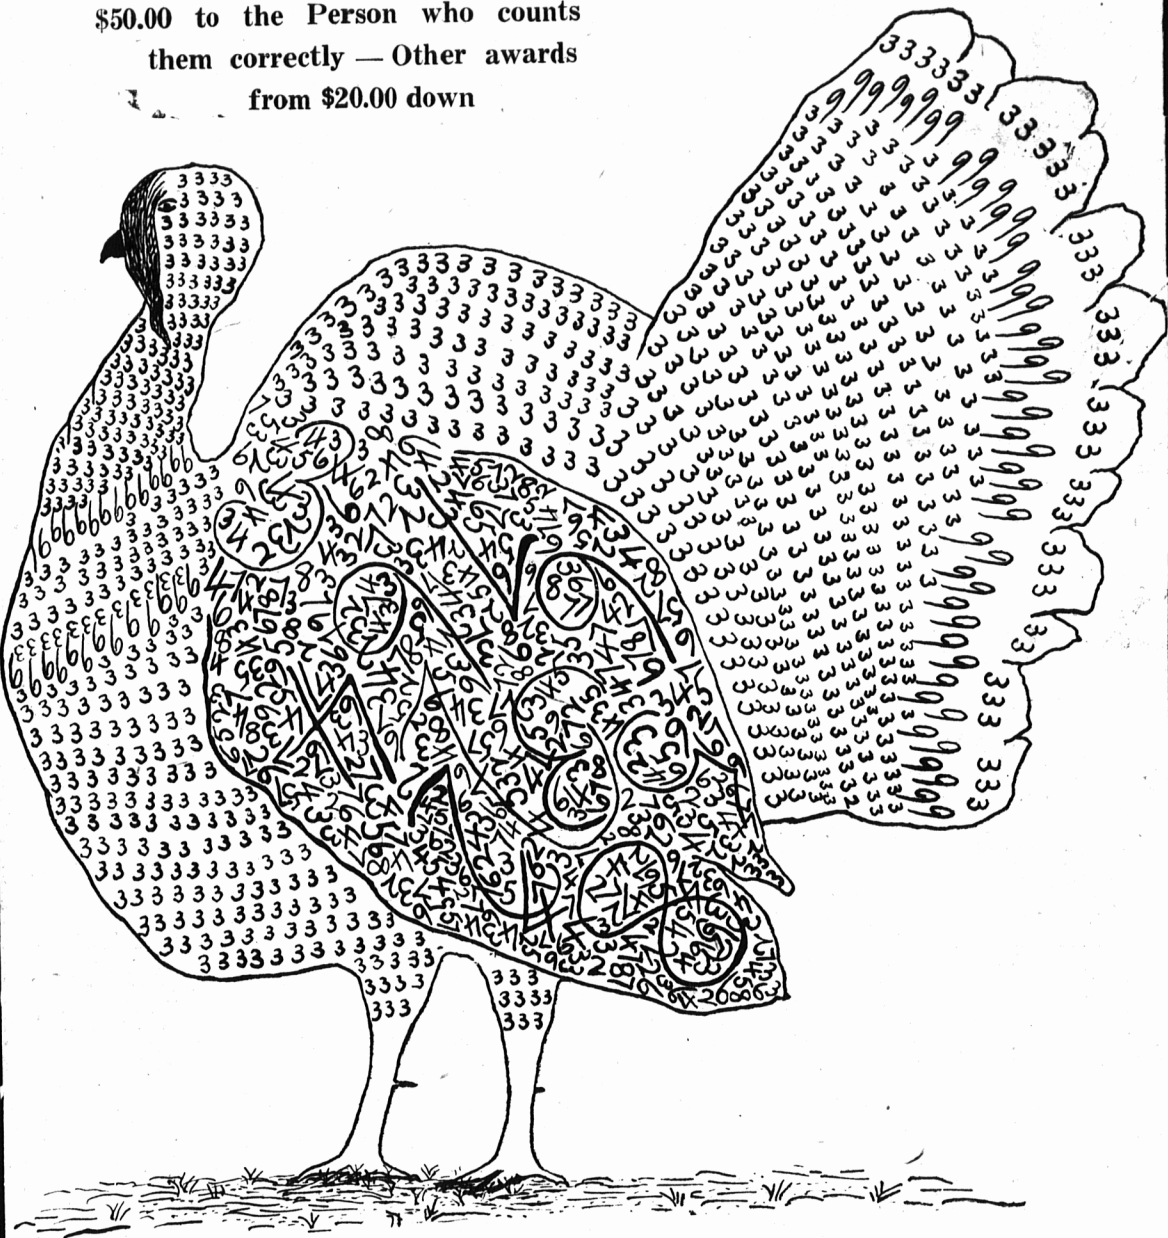

A family of three sons and three daughters are left to mourn, viz: Terence, and Raymond, Auburn, John, Lake Verde, Mrs. George Byrne, Morell, Mrs. Patrick J. Callaghan, and Mrs. Ambrose Callaghan, Auburn. A brother, Mr. James McAdam, and a sister, Mrs. James Trainor, Waterville, also remain.

Those who sympathize with the family members, relatives, and friends in their bereavement and loss. May her soul rest in peace.

Mass Cards, Spiritual Bouquets, and letters of sympathy were kindly sent by the following: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Boylan, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Callaghan, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Callaghan, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Boylan, Mr. Terence Boylan, Mr. and Mrs. George Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. James Trainor, and Louis, Mrs. James Kelly, Agnes and Irene, Mr. and Mrs. William Redmond, Miss Minnie Trainor, Fall River, Mass, Mr. John Kelly and family, Miss Minnie Byrne Morell, Mrs. John McCarron and family, Mr. James Byrne and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Quinn, Miss Kathleen Kelly, Cambridge, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wisener, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kelly,

Insidious Eye Strain

We use this adjective advisedly. Sufferers from Eye Strain may have perfect vision and therefore do not suspect the presence of any eye defect. The motive power of the entire human organism is Nerve Energy.

Normal eyes, it is computed utilize about 20% of this Nerve Energy, but when Eye-strain is present, a much larger proportion is required. Hence defective eyes, through their consumption of an excessive amount of Nerve Energy may seriously affect the functioning of other organs of the body and produce ill health.

MISS BLANCHE RICHARDSON

The death occurred in Halifax recently of Miss Blanche Richardson, at the age of 75 years. Miss Richardson was a close connection of some Charlottetown families, being a first cousin of George E. and George A. Hughes. Nearly seventy years ago, her father, James Richardson, was connected with the Imperial customs in this city. He married one of the daughters of George A. Hughes, a retired Imperial official who removed to Charlottetown from Halifax and who died and was buried in the old cemetery of Elm Avenue. He had two sons, F. W. who will be remembered by many as clerk of the House of Assembly for many years, and who was the father of George E. Hughes of Apothecaries Hall. The other son, Richard, lived in Georgetown for many years, and was father of George A. Hughes, retired train dispatcher. The daughters were Mary, who married Hon. Edward Whalen, Unity, who married the late W. D. Tanton and Alde- lade, who married Mr. Richardson, and who was the mother of the lady lately deceased. Mrs. Richardson died in this city and was also buried in the old Elm Avenue cemetery. One hundred years ago the Hughes family was very prominent in Halifax social circles. One member of the family was at one time Lieutenant Governor of the province and commander of the Imperial forces in British North America, being an admiral in the British navy. Miss Richardson's great grandfather was for many years connected with the naval dockyard at Halifax. The Hughes family came originally from Wales. It gave the British navy. One of the family, Sir Richard Hughes, baronet, (the second baronet) was a clergyman, being rector of a Church in England for forty-four years.

The New Zealand government is irrigating more than 70,000 acres of land and will increase the area supplied with water.
