THE COOK'S CORNER

RASPBERRY MARLOW

1 1/2 cups raspberries
16 marshmallows
1 cup heavy cream
Method: Crush the berries well, then place over direct heat. Cut the marshmallows in quarters with scissors dipped in hot water. Add to the heated berries and stir the mixture over hot water, until the marshmallows are dissolved. Remove from the heat and chill. Whip the cream until stiff and fold into the fruit mixture. Pour into a tray of your automatic refrigerator with the cold control turned to fast freezing and freeze until firm. The flavor of coffee will add appreciably to the appeal of a frozen dessert. Try this coffee parfait and see. A strong coffee infusion is used in this, and it is made by using 2 tablespoons coffee to 1 cup water.

COFFEE PARFAIT

1-2 cup strong coffee infusion
2-3 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
Dash of salt
2 cups heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Method: Combine the sugar and coffee infusion. Stir over heat to dissolve the sugar and then cook until the syrup will spin a thread (about 234 deg. F.). Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon colored, and slowly pour the coffee syrup over them, beating constantly. Beat the egg whites with a dash of salt added, until stiff. Fold these into the first mixture thoroughly and then chill. Now beat the heavy cream until it reaches a not-to-stiff consistency, that is, until it will round up slightly off a spoon, but would not keep its shape. Add the vanilla. Fold the cream into the chilled coffee mixture and pile into a freezing tray. Have the cold control turned to fast freezing, and freeze the mixture until of the desired consistency. This will make two refrigerator trays full.

Dorothy Dix Says—

AGE DOESN'T GIVE YOU THE RIGHT TO BE DISAGREEABLE

Because You Are Old You Are Not A Soloman; Here Are 10 Commandments For Old People

Here are 10 commandments for old people:
1. Don't give up your job too early. Most old people climb up on the do-nothing stool too soon. There is still 20 years of good work in them if they will only buck up and do it. Also, it will keep them young if they will keep busy. The real exir of perpetual youth is doing something in which we have a pride and skill and that keeps us on our toes. The reason so many old people get to be pests is because, having nothing to do and no interests of their own, they have to stick their fingers in everybody else's pie. Meddling in their escape from boredom.
2. Don't live with your children. Keep some place of your own, where you can do as you please and have freedom and independence, instead of having to walk on eggs to avoid friction with your in-laws and your grandchildren. Better is one room that belongs to you than the guest suite at Mary's. The father or mother who goes to live with the children has to become a dresser. They have dandruff on their collars and grease spots on their necks of which is conducive to happiness.
3. Keep a medium-tight hold on your pocket book. Give your children as much as you can afford, but keep most of your money in your own hands. Never turn over all of your property to John and Mary on the promise that you will be a child would not ask such a thing, and a greedy child is more to be dreaded than any other grafter. In old age our best friend is our check book. Between Father and Mother who have gifts to bestow and a will to be made and Father and Mother who are empty-headed is the difference between finding welcome on their children's doormats and having to eat cold shoulder at their children's tables.
4. Follow Benjamin Franklin's advice to keep your friendships in good repair and continually add new ones to them, for old friends have a way of creeping off to the cemetery and you will be very lonely unless you have provided some one to take their places. Make a business of cultivating people. Show them little attentions. Write letters. Send telegrams. Show an interest in their affairs. Never forget that if you want to have friendship you have to earn it.
5. Keep yourself as attractive-looking as possible. Too many old people think that age gives them the privilege of going slouchy and frowsy and even unwashed. They cut out the barber and the hair-dresser. They have dandruff on their collars and grease spots on their vests and generally look as if they needed to be run through the laundry.
6. If you do not want to be forgotten and sit at home grouching over how lonesome you are in the running by doing things for other people. Go out of your way to show them favors. Put them under obligations to you by paying them attentions. Entertain as much as you can. After all, a chop calls for a chop. And when we are old we are no longer so ornamental and glamorous as we used to be. We have to throw in a chromo with our pound of tea.

1. Don't try to run your children's lives. Let them mess them up in their own way. Because they are your sons and daughters is no indication that they have a single taste or talent in common with you. Any way, times have changed and what might have been a wise thing to do in your day may be a fool thing to do now.

2. Don't think you are Solomon. Don't indulge yourself in the common vice of age, which is self-conceit. Just because you are 80 does not automatically make you wise. You may have lived all these years without learning a single thing and be just as stupid at the end of your life as you were at the beginning.

3. Don't think that age gives you the privilege of making yourself disagreeable. Don't be one of the peevish, fretful ill-tempered ill-mannered old people whose families are looking forward to the time when Grandma or Grandpa dies and they can have a little peace and comfort.

4. And, finally, don't be a repeater. Don't tell the same stories over and over again until people flee at your approach. Keep tab on your reminiscences and never recall anything that happened later than last year unless you are specifically asked about it. As long as you can read the daily papers you never need go, scribble in, your conversation.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Please suggest a way for me to pry my 14-year-old daughter away from the telephone. A boy or girl will call her up from two to 10 times a day and talk anywhere from 10 to 50 minutes. We have a party line and I think this is a great injustice to the other people on it. It also gets on my nerves. My husband and I have tried reason, threats and so forth, but all to no avail. Any suggestion will be appreciated. MRS. E. B.

ANSWER—It is hard to do anything with a telephone hound, and certainly there are times that they make all of us wish that Mr. Bell had been doing something else when he invented that little instrument that curses us with all blessings.

The only suggestion that I can make is to ask the telephone company to co-operate with you and address a letter to your daughter by name, telling her what a pest she is making of herself by abusing the use of a public utility. DOROTHY DIX.

Your Individual HOROSCOPE — By Frances Drake

For Monday, Aug. 11
MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Unwise spending may tempt today. Star the week right by being sensibly systematic and consistent. Constancy is another requirement for this day and week.
APRIL 21 to MAY 20 (Taurus)—The unusual may occur in personal matters now—and you should be ready to take quick advantage of every opportunity to advance both your personal and business interests. Watch carefully your money affairs.
MAY 21 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Some restricting heart influences for you of this sector of the zodiac. Can you increase your chances to be recognized by those in authority your superiors and high officials of state and government? Think!
JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Be discreet in dealings with everyone, but especially strangers and the opposite sex. Don't borrow trouble. A determined, righteous outlook is important this truly helpful day.
JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Have a better understanding of your own emotional nature. Know where to stop and what to build up. If you follow this advice and also strive after steady advancement, you'll really go places this generally favorable period.
AUGUST 23 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Money and regular business matters here show a few problems. Be in the thick of progressive activities and useful plans. You can, and should, profit with others. Good foresight needed.
SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Deal with new clients and customers, seek favors, go after new business and ways of improving present methods. You've a naturally inventive mind, keep it well oiled for use. Be discreet in domestic affairs.
OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Care particularly asked in industrial and manufacturing interests. Don't overestimate or be indifferent. Show a firm hand (which you can do ably) where required.
NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Both personal and general matters are favored this all-round topping period. Be actively interested in everything worth while. Don't argue needlessly, but do discuss intelligently with intelligent people.
DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn)—A sizzling day for financial and heart interests. But look out that you don't get burned through carelessness or lack of forethought. Synchronize your efforts to agree with today's demands.
JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 20 (Aquarius)—An encouraging set of aspects urge you to expend your energies along only vital and productive lines. Brush up on new methods to incorporate their good points into your own routine.
FEBRUARY 21 to MARCH 20

Living & Leisure — The Woman's Realm

FROM A STRIP OF BLUE (By Lucy Larcom, 1824-1963) I do not own an inch of land, But all I see is mine,— The orchards and the mowing fields, The lawns and gardens fine. The winds my tax-collectors are, They bring me tithes divine,— Wild scents and subtle essences, A tribute rare and free; And, more magnificent than all, My window keeps for me A glimpse of blue immensity,— A little strip of sea.

Just Not "Cute" Insisting on staying in the sun so long a bad burn results. Complaining bitterly all the way home about the possibility of blistered shoulders or a headache from too much sun. Taking a picnic lunch, the eating of which requires virtual gymnastics. (His idea seems to be that every girl ought to brush up on ways to make picnic dishes which are really good and at the same time easy to eat and handle).

MOST IMPORTANT ROOM So much stress is laid on the ornate bathroom in the new home, yet it is a wise woman who will look to see if the kitchen is practically a palace. The equipment necessary for her comfort rather than glass walls and stall showers in the bathroom. Believe an old housewife, the bride will be in the kitchen much more than the bathroom.

HOW TO WASH A WOOL SWEATER Sweaters will retain their proper shape and size even after many washings if they are laundered correctly. Draw an outline of the sweater on a thick turkish towel before washing. Use rich lukewarm suds, handle quickly and gently, taking care that the sweater is not stretched. Rinse thoroughly in lukewarm water never wringing or twisting during the process. Absorb excess water by wrapping in a thick towel, then lay out the sweater on the dry turkish towel to conform with the pattern drawn. If it tends to shrink a bit, pin in shape with rustproof pins.

DECOLLETTE The off-shoulder decollette is decidedly an influence, not only in decollette, bare or veiled, but in yokes and embroideries.

BEACH HABITS ANNOY ESCORT "I think women who wear a great deal of make-up on the beach look silly," writes a young man who says he likes to go to a beach every Sunday so that he usually takes a girl with him. "I feel pretty strongly about this," he continues. "I just don't like to be seen on a beach with a girl who obviously has put too much make-up on her eyes and cheeks. And I don't think that any one who intends to get into the water at all ought to wear one of those grease paint foundation businesses unless she is dead sure that it won't get streaked."

BUYING FOR VICTORY LONDON—(CP)—At a Red Cross sale were tickets for seats to watch the Victory Procession after the war; seats to see the first post-war boat races and seats for the first post-war lawn tennis championship at Wimbledon.

MOORE & McLEOD Limited

HEAVY SMOKER MAYBE

LONDON—(CP)—Charles Smith, 65, was sentenced to six months in jail for shooting at a shopkeeper who told him the shop's supply of cigarets was exhausted. The bullet missed the shopkeeper.

A Morning Smile

A wealthy auto tourist lost his pedigree dog while stopping in a small town. He inserted a lost ad in the newspaper, offering a reward of $100. The next day he went to the office to inquire, but no one was to be found except a decrepit janitor. "Where the thunder is the newspaper force?" asked the tourist, impatiently. "They're all out," the old man replied, "trying to find yer dog."

ICELESS TRANSPORT WELLINGTON, N. Z.—(CP)—Because of shortage of refrigerated space trial shipments of cheese in ordinary cargo space are being sent to Britain.

Needlecraft—For The Home

Keep up with the spirit of the times in this patriotic hou e frock. Your daily chores will go like the wind because you will feel and look so well-dressed.
