Kensington And Vicinity

Mr. Walter MacLeod student at Mt. A. University, Sackville, N. B., enjoyed the Easter holidays in Kensington, the guest of his friend Mr. Allistair Salter.

Sgt. Major Frederick Semple and Pte. Urban Hickey left Monday morning to rejoin their respective units, after enjoying the holidays at their homes here.

Her many friends will regret to hear that Mrs. Ferdinand Kilbride is confined to her home by illness.

Tuesday election day now a thing of the past, passed off quietly in this vicinity, with approximately 80 per cent of the voters turning out to mark their ballots.

A successful card party, lunch and dance under the auspices of the C. W. L. and sponsored by the Misses Vina Higgins, Yvonne LeBlanc and Francis Kelly was held in the McMahon House, Kensington, on Monday evening. After a dainty lunch served by the young ladies was partaken of and prizes for cards presented to the lucky winners namely Ladies, Miss Angeline Gallant. Gentlemen's, Rev. Reginald McDonald, the remainder of the evening was thoroughly enjoyed in dancing to music furnished by Mrs. Alonzo Cameron, Mr. Ferdinand Kilbride and Mr. Felix Arsenault.

An evening long to be remembered by the younger element of Kensington took place in the McMahon House Kensington on Tuesday evening when the Girl Guide Troop chaperoned by their leaders, Miss Redfern and Miss Taylor gave a party to the Boy Scout Troop. Getting away, with all lustily playing numerous games the evening past all too quickly, for the young lads and lassies, all however, were perfectly satisfied when a dainty lunch served by Mrs. C. D. Fowlatt, the Misses Jean Cousins, Doris Saunders, Wilma Delaney and Graldine McLean was laid before them and needless to say, one and all did ample justice to the sumptuous repast. During the evening the youngsters were entertained with music and solos by Miss Nora Taylor and Mr. Elwood Dunning. The enjoyable evening came to an end with all heartily joining in singing "God Save the King" at 9:30 P. M. sharp. H.

SPECULATION

formation and possibly a Ministry for Air.

Authority for establishing a Munitions and Supply Ministry was placed on the statutes at the emergency war session of Parliament last September. Organization of other additional departments could be proceeded with pending the next session, expected to open early in May

Another subject of wide interest in the capital is the House leadership of the National Government group which will form the official opposition in the House of Commons.

Conservative Leader Manion, who headed the National Government candidates and suffered personal defeat in Fort William, was at his office today but was tired from the strenuous campaign and gave no intimation of his future plans.

Likely Leader?

Hon. R. B. Hanson, who was a member of the House of Commons from 1921 to 1935 and who was Minister of Trade and Commerce the last year of the Bennett Government, is suggested as a likely House leader in the event Dr. Manion does not return to the Commons.

Mr. Hanson was defeated with his party in the 1935 elections but was successful yesterday in York-Sunbury, N. B., which he represented throughout his Parliamentary career. He is 61.

Members of the government frequently have mentioned the heavy tasks imposed upon Defence Minister Rogers because of the expansion of the air force. In other Dominions where there has been similar enlargement of the flying branch air ministries have been formed.

While there has been no direct intimation the government was considering division of the Defence Department, it is believed the question has been given serious consideration.

Transport Minister Howe has been mentioned as probable choice for minister of a new department of Munitions and Supplies. He has had jurisdiction over the War Supply Board since early last fall and if such a department is formed this board, headed by Wallace R. Campbell, would form its nucleus.

Much of the departmental work necessary for a session already was completed when Parliament opened Jan. 25 only to be dissolved the same day when Mr. King decided to hold an immediate general election.

Three-Months Session

The government is expected to prepare a compact, brief legislative program and aim at completing the session within three months at the most. With a record-breaking majority in the House of Commons and fresh mandate from the people, the Government would have little difficulty in conducting a short session.

A feature of the session will be presentation of the report of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations. It was withheld from publication at the Government's request during the campaign and probably will not leave the hands of the Commission until Parliament opens.

While it is possible consideration of this report will be deferred until after the war it is believed more likely that it will be submitted to a Dominion-Provincial conference to be held in Ottawa either during or after the Parliamentary session.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

HOW TO TAKE BABY PICTURES

It's easy to take good baby shots indoors with any camera—and easier if you have a camera with fast lens. With photo bulbs, box-camera snaps can be taken at night.

GOOD baby pictures are easy to take indoors, with photo lights, —provided you follow a few simple rules.

Probably the chief difficulty, in indoor shots, is that your subject likes to crawl about—and thus gets away from the spot illuminated by your photo lights. There are two simple solutions for this. Either give the baby a toy to amuse him and help him "stay put," or else place him where his movements are restricted. For example, in the crib or play pen.

Here is a simple routine which will help you get better baby pictures indoors. First, load the camera with high speed film. Pick a suitable spot for the pictures, and arrange your photo lights for a soft, diffused lighting, with no harsh shadows. A No. 1 and a No. 2 "flood" bulb in cardboard reflectors, four feet from the subject, are correct for box-camera snapshots on high speed film.

Turn on the lights before you place the baby. Put him in position—give him a bright-colored toy or one that makes a noise—and start shooting. Wind the film immediately after each shot, so as to be ready for the next pose or change of expression. A whole series of good pictures can be taken in a few minutes, and the best expressions will usually come within that time. Five minutes is long enough for the average session of baby pictures.

A fast camera is an advantage in taking these pictures. Use a shutter speed of 1/50 second, with f/8 lens opening, or 1/100 second at f/6.3—and you are more sure of a sharp picture, even if the baby moves slightly at the moment of exposure.

With a fast lens, you can also take indoor pictures by daylight or sunlight coming through a window. The baby picture above was taken in that manner. An f/6.3 or f/4.5 lens is fast enough, if you use high speed film and a 1/25 second shutter speed. In the picture above, the bedspread acts as a reflector, throwing light into the shadows. This is desirable, as there should be no harsh, black shadows in a baby picture.

Every parent should have a full album of baby pictures, tracing the child's growth. The more of these pictures you take, the easier it is to take them, because you gain a bit of experience with each shot. And a complete record of the baby's early life—especially that first year—is a precious thing . . . one that you will always treasure.

correspondents in France who said that British fighter planes shot down at least five and possibly seven German planes in three distinct battles over the western front, losing one plane themselves.

R. A. F. Outnumbered

The R. A. F. was outnumbered by 31 to seven in the fights, the dispatches said. A communique from the commander-in-chief of the R. A. F. in France, covering part of the air activity reported by correspondents, formally announced the shooting down of two German craft, with the loss of one British plane.

The Air Ministry announced that scouting aircraft sank a German patrol vessel in the North Sea. It said:—

"In the course of reconnaissance over the North Sea today, aircraft of the Royal Air Force coastal command attacked and sank an enemy patrol vessel."

Semi-officially it was said that the British planes dived from the clouds in face of heavy anti-aircraft fire and dropped bombs at one of four vessels they spotted in the North Sea. One plane reported scoring a direct hit.

"There was a big explosion," this source said. "Before the flames and smoke had died down the British aircraft flew into a cloud to escape the storm of retaliatory fire. When they emerged from the clouds the crew saw only three ships."

Reuters News Agency, in reporting the far eastern detention of the Soviet steamship Vladimir Mayakovsky said she had taken aboard munitions-making metals at San Pedro, Calif., and at Mexico.

Numerous Ships Stopped

Numerous ships plying northerly routes have been taken into Kirkwall for examination during the war.

The Ministry of Information announced that 125 neutral ships had been inspected by the contraband control service during the week ending March 23.

Fifty of the cargoes were released intact. Eight-five of the ships arrived during the week and 40 had arrived previously. Among the nationalities represented were—the following: Netherlands 30, Italian 28, Norwegian 19, American 11, Belgian nine, Swedish nine, Portuguese four.

The Ministry announced that 24 neutrals were in the control ports awaiting inspection yesterday. Nine had been there three days or less. The nationalities were as follows: Netherlands 18, seven held three days or less; Belgian three, one held three days or less; Italian three, one held three days or less.

Finns Start On Road To Reconstruction

By Max Harrelson
Associated Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI, March 27 —(AP) — Finland made a start tonight toward rebuilding the nation on the ashes of an unhappy peace, as Premier Ri to Ryti's wartime cabinet resigned and was succeeded immediately by a coalition ministry under the same leader and dedicated to the sole task of reconstruction.

The new cabinet differs from that which led the country during three and one half months of war chiefly in that it includes members of all major parties and several minsters with no active political affiliations. They were selected because Finns generally agreed they were the best men to direct the gigantic task of post-war rebuilding.

Premier Ryti and eight others of the wartime cabinet have been carried over in the ministry formed today. There is a new foreign minister, Rolf Johan Witting, 61-year-old veteran of varied scientific, financial and political experience. He replaces Vaino Tanner, target of bitter attacks by the Russian press and radio. Tanner becomes minister of food supply a new portfolio created as a result of postwar conditions.

Five of the six new members of the cabinet have been comparatively inactive politically. The sixth, minster of justice Oskari Lehtonen, belongs to a coalition group which before the war supported Field marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim's policy of strong national defences.

Signature Of Waterway Treaty Is Anticipated

WASHINGTON, March 27 —(AP)—Signature of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway treaty was anticipated today by observers close to the State Department as an aftermath of the overwhelming victory of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the Canadian general election yesterday.

The treaty is virtually ready for signature, they said. The signing had been held up by the Canadian Government until the elections were out of the way, these sources added.

The treaty calls for a deep seaway which would permit ocean vessels to penetrate to Great Lakes ports and also develop extensive hydro-electric power. The treaty is now at Ottawa.

Said Premature

OTTAWA, March 27 —(CP) — Reports from Washington that an agreement with Canada on the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway and power project was ready for signature went without official comment here tonight but one close to the Government said they were premature.

One of the surprising features of the Dominion election campaign was the complete absence of any reference to this long-discussed project in the speeches of the leaders.

Nazi Pursuit Ships Need Dwarf Pilots

WASHINGTON, March 27 —(AP)—Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, said today that in an effort to compete with American-made planes, Hitler had cut down the size of his pursuit ships so that their pilots "almost have to be dwarfs."

Johnson made the statement to newsmen after secretary of war Harry Woodring told the House of Representatives Military Committee that the pilot's quarters of the new Curtiss P-40-D pursuit plane were being reduced about two feet in depth.

Johnson said the change would not require smaller pilots but would help to make the plane faster and more manoeuvrable.

Menzies Accuses Two Laborites Of Treason

SYDNEY, Australia, March 27— (CP)—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies today accused Australian Labor Party members who have shown pro-Soviet leanings recently of treason, and said he hoped that when Australia goes to the polls before the year's end it will show the world the country is still British, and neither Russian nor piebald.

(Piebald is a word being used in Australia to describe the Labor Party's policy of supporting the cause of Empire but opposing sending of Australians to fight overseas.)

Mr. Menzies spoke as results of the Liberal victory in the Canadian general election were hailed here as proof of that Dominion's determination to pursue its war policies along lines already laid down.

The Canadian elections were closely watched since Mr. Menzies' coalition government must go to the people within a few months when the government's three-year term of office expires. The government is hoping that the general election will reveal Australia solidly behind the Commonwealth's war program and thus stop the increasing boldness of extremist elements of the Labor Party.

French To Close Spanish Refugee Camps

PARIS, March 27— (AP) —The French government announced today that it will close within the next four days the last of its Spanish refugee camps, the population of which has dwindled to 6,000 men from a peak of 500,000 men, women and children.

In announcing the decision French officials said the remaining inhabitants of the once extensive camps established after the Spanish civil war for Republican refugees, would be assimilated into the nation's war effort against Germany. This has been the case with 151,000 others of the original refugee flood who elected to stay in France.

Approximately 345,000 other Spaniards, it was disclosed, either have returned to Spain or have taken refuge in other countries.
