Meighen On Senate Hours

OTTAWA, Feb. 28—(C.P.)—Functions of the Senate and its many useful services to the public were upheld highly yesterday by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in the Upper House.

A statement by Senator James Murdock (Lib. Ottawa) he had been asked last week by his leader (Senator Raoul Dandurand) to postpone his address on the Hughes war resolution until today, coupled with a reference by Senator Murdock to a photographic reproduction in a newspaper of a Hansard report on a brief Senate sitting, prompted the remarks. When the Senate leader made his comments, Senator Murdock arose to state he had never intended to cast any reflection on anyone in the chamber "because I realize that it is just a condition that cannot be helped."

Nothing was lost and nobody could be blamed for postponement fo Senator Murdock's speech, said Senator Meighen. Some criticism, perhaps, came from part of the press ill-informed of the facts. As a matter of fact the address of Senator Murdock was just as appropriate today as it was late last week.

"This House, as I interpret its functions," continued the Senate leader, "does not exist in order to be a duplicate of the House of Commons in the matter of long discussions of political events and tendencies in Canada. If we are merely a replica of the other chamber, debating all and sundry matters, as we would if we were responsible to individual constituencies, then we would lose the value we have to the people of the country.

"I have no apology at all to make for the remuneration I draw as a member of this House. I am in favor of shorter hours of labor in this and all other countries; and not only am I in favor of the eight-hour day, but I am convinced that we are stepping far behind the trend of events in limiting it to eight hours. I believe we will have to come to six, five, perhaps, possibly in our own lifetime; and only when other countries will march with us in that direction can we proceed, because only then can we afford to take those steps. I know of no eight-hour day in my life during any session of Parliament, and I rejoice that I have the privilege of working longer hours and the privilege of assuming special responsibilities."

Passengers Injured In Rough Voyage

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

BOSTON, Feb. 28—The Lady Somers of the Canadian National Line arrived in Boston today after a stormy trip from Bermuda with two passengers injured during a rough passage.

An ambulance waited at the dock to take Miss Alice V. McDonough of Boston to a hospital. She had been severely cut about the head when heavy seas crashed in a porthole. Fourteen stitches were taken in her wounds by the ship surgeon.

Mrs. William Luther of Cambridge received cuts on her leg which required four stitches to close.

Officers said it was one of the worst storms the ship had encountered in months.

SOUTH MELVILLE AND VICINITY

Aneas Costello was a recent visitor to Maplewood.

Miss Vonnie Greenan of South Melville is spending a vacation in the city.

Mrs. Will Dunsford spent Sunday in Victoria the guest of her mother, Mrs. Johnstone Ford.

Ephraim Malone, our local wood sawer made a business trip to the city alst week.

Gerald Nantes and Johnny Trainor of Maplewood have been recent visitors to South Melville.

John Ferguson left last week for Charlottetown where he is taking up a business course.

Misses Esther Noonan and Kathleen Bassett and Ellsworth Noonan of Albany spent last week in South Melville, guests of the Misses Marion and Patricia Flood.

The many friends of Mrs. Sylvester Monaghan will regret to learn that she is not enjoying her usual good health.

South Melville school is progressing well under the capable and efficient management of Maurice Bradley, one of our own local young teachers.

Miss Georgina Sampson of Winsloe is the guest of Mrs. Ephraim Malone. Miss Sampson is convalescing after an operation in the City Hospital.

The Kelly's Cross Dramatic Club are preparing to stage a play in the near future. As these players have a reputation for excelling in the dramatic art we anticipate something out of the ordinary when their play is ready for presentation.

The farmers of this locality are busily engaged in procuring their yearly supply of firewood. This same commodity appears to be getting quite scarce in places as farmers as far distant as Tryon are securing their supply this year from Gordon Dunsford of this place.

Last Wednesday, while returning from Charlottetown via the West River ice Mrs. John Dixon and daughter Miss Dorothy had a very narrow escape, when two miles below Bonshaw their horse broke through the ice. With the help of just the two ladies themselves the horse managed to extricate herself, but the sleigh had to remain in until Mrs. Dixon and daughter walked to Bonshaw and procured help. Fortunately despite the cold and exposure neither of the ladies are much the worse of their somewhat thrilling experience.

The card party and dance held in Kelly's Cross Hall on Jan. 23rd was well attended and enjoyed by all. Those affairs are under the auspices of the C. W. L. and previous to this a series of them have been held in various houses in South Melville, with much success both from a financial and social viewpoint. The first was held at the home of Mrs. Jas. E. McQuaid and next at Mrs. Ephraim Malone's while the following week Mrs. Jas. [illegible] president of the C. W. L. was the hostess. On Jan. 16th a successful one was held at the home of Mrs. Sylvester Monaghan and despite unusual cold was largely attended.

Churchill Ice Racing

The third ice race for the season of the Churchill Ice Racing Club, was held on Saturday afternoon, February 23rd, and for all the day was very cold, a large crowd of spectators gathered to see the races. A crowd of volunteers, with horses and shovels, gathered that morning and by noon had a splendid course, one third of a mile long, and thirty feet wide cleared for the race. The increasing number of ladies who attend these races, speak well for the conduct and manner in which the races are carried out. The best of feeling prevailed among the horsemen and bikes, boots, and hopples are loaned from one to the other, during the different classes. Class A had there starters, Lou Patch, Lacopia Lad, and Gamble.

Lou Patch again proved she is a high classed pacer, winning with ease. Lacopia Lad, owned by Archie Shaw, Argyle Shore, and driven by Archie Murley was second each heat. This was his first race this winter, and he went a dandy race, in fast company. He is in the pink of condition, and looks to be a much improved pacer since last year. Gamble, a real fast pacer but a bit unsteady, third.

Class B. had four starters, and proved an exciting race, going four heats to decide a winner.

Major Hoople owned by Louis MacPhee, Clyde River, and driven by Johnny Murray, iniated to the Hopples for the first time, took kindly to them, gained confidence each heat, winning the third and fourth heat and race. In fact this was the first time "Major" was asked to try the pace, not seeming to make much headway on the trot.

The Old War Horse Silver Todd, was on the job Saturday won the second heat, but was caught napping the last heat when the word "go" was given, otherwise would probably have won the race, was second in the summary.

Ola Axworthy, owned and driven by Archie Murley, Argyle Shore, was on high at the word "go" the first heat, and won with ease, and looked good enough to win the race, but in warming up and during the first heat got hopple chaffed which made her a bit unsteady, finished third. "Ola" is a smooth going pacer, and it was her first start in company. She is sired by Bud Axworthy out of the same Dam as Premier The Great, whom race going fans will remember raced so well at Summerside and Charlottetown as a three year old, but whose racing career was cut short by dying very suddenly that winter apparently of heart failure. We look for Ola to improve with each start.

"The old reliable, "Prince", who was to have started in Class C. but did not fill, his owner being a good sport, always on hand every race, decided to start in Class B. and he went a great race, being only beaten by a neck for third place the first heat by "Major Hoople," who finally won the race, was fourth.

The next races will be held Saturday March 2nd at 2.30, boys bring along your speed, Spring is just around the corner, and the first thing you know "Maddy's Park" will be floating down the river, "Bonshaw the Beautiful"; and out the harbor.

The following is the summary—

Class A.

Lou Patch (D. MacDonald)..	1	1
Lacopia Lad (Murley).....	2	2
Gamble (A. MacPhee).....	3	3

Class B.

Major Hoople (Murray)..	3	2	1	1
Silver Todd (Louis MacPhee).....	2	1	2	2

Major Chandler's Appeal

The following address was broadcast last night by Major R. C. Chandler, President, of Charlottetown Branch Canadian Legion, B. E. S. L. in connection with the Legion's membership campaign.

I fell very much like apologizing for interrupting, even for a few minutes, this very entertaining program which the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion is privileged to offer you tonight. Please accept my apologies. My justification is that I have been entrusted with a message to the War Veterans of Charlottetown and vicinity, and so to those War Veterans who may be listening in this evening, I address these remarks.

Comrades: As you may be aware, the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion is now endeavoring to enlarge its membership,—a membership which has been sadly depleted during the last five years of economic distress. Our ultimate objective being to have every Returned Soldier a member of the Canadian Legion,—as indeed he should be. It is, therefore, my privilege to extend to every one who, by reason of service to King and Country,, may have become eligible for membership in the Canadian Legion, the very cordial invitation of the Charlottetown Branch to join us, and by joining us become a member of what His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, has described as the Greatest British Organization of all time, the British Empire Service League.

If you are a Returned Soldier there are two fundamental reasons why you should become a member of the Canadian Legion.

The first is, that you need the Canadian Legion. You may not have realized that, but you do. Perhaps, with the coming of Peace, seventeen years ago, you acquired unaccustomed responsibilities,—and responsibility means worry. Where else can you recover,—even for an evening, the care-free philosophy of the Canadian soldier,—the philosophy that eliminated worry for tomorrow, because tomorrow might never come? Where else can you recover the comradeship you enjoyed in those strenuous years from 1914 to 1918. Where else can you meet the friends with whom you lived in trenches, or dugouts, or gunpits—with whom you shared your rations, faced a machine gun, or played Crown and Anchor?

When our objective is reached, and every Returned Soldier is a member,—then you will find them in the Canadian Legion,—the direct descendant of the glorious Canadian Corps. Time will not permit me to quote at any length from our Constitution, but please bear with me a minute or two, while I read an extract here and there to show you just for what the Legion stands.

"To perpetuate the memory of the fallen, and of those who die in the future. To promote, and care for memorials to their valor, and sacrifice."

"To see to the maintenance, and comfort of the disabled, the sick, and the needy, and to promote the welfare of the women, the children and other dependants."

"To foster loyalty among the public, and education in the principles of patriotism, and duty."

"To strive for Peace, Goodwill, and Friendship among nations."

This country is the richer for many splendid Orders, Lodges, and Fraternities, but which of them is founded on higher ideals than the Canadian Legion? Many of these orders have solemn ceremonies, and rituals, designed to impress their ideals upon the members. Which of these ceremonies is as impressive, as solemn as thought-provoking,—which of them will linger as long in the memory as the high, clear, note of the trumpet, sounding the "Last Post" over the grave of some tried and true comrade?

Many, too, demand high qualifications from the applicant for membership, but which of them ever required a candidate to spend a lonely vigil in the ghostly salient of Ypres, to struggle up the muddy, shell-torn slopes of Passchendale, or to force his way through the massed barbed wire of the Hindenberg Line, as a preliminary to membership?

If you have met the requirements,—the highest requirements demanded by any organization on earth, and are eligible for membership in the Canadian Legion,—why not join? You'll be in good company.

Then, too, the Canadian Legion needs you. That is the second reason why you should become a member. For years the Legion, and its greater sister organization, the British Empire Service League, have been working diligently to better the lot of the War Veterans. Watching constantly, and jealously, for any infringement of the rights given him by the Parliament of our Country. Yet the Legion has never made any unreasonable demands,—nor has it ever made any demands unreasonably. It has brought its contentions before all governments reasonably, respectfully,—supported by arguments presented without threats, or recriminations, and by so doing has won the respect, and earned the consideration of those who direct the destinies of our Country. Such an enviable position has the Canadian Legion achieved by its patriotism, moderation, and the ability of the men directing its policies, that a very eminent Canadian Statesman, occupying a position in the State which has been equalled by few, referred to it, not long ago, as "One of the greatest single factors favorable to the maintenance of staple, democratic government in the Dominion of Canada." And the Legion has indeed reached a desirable position,—when its advice on matters pertaining to Returned Soldier problems is sought by Governments, and when received, given sincere consideration. But governments, being what they are, and only too well aware that the honors of office are given, and taken away, by the votes of the people, are apt, however, much as they respect the Canadian Legion to ask themselves, in a whisper "How many votes are there in the Canadian Legion?" There is where you come in. And there's one good reason why the Canadian Legion needs you. So that the voice of the Canadian Legion may be accepted as the unanimous voice of the Returned men of Canada.

You may be fortunate enough to be able to say: "But, why should I join? I need nothing either from the Government, or from the Canadian Legion. Why should I become a member, and pay $3.00 a year?"

Perhaps you don't, but you can be as sure as you are of anything on this earth, that there is some old comrade of yours who does need something. Yes! Some man from that old unit of which you were so proud. Shall we give it to him?

In the most desperate battle of the war, did you ever hear of the Canadian Corps abandoning its wounded? Shall we now abandon these comrades, wounded in the fiercest economic struggle in history? The motto adopted by the Canadian Legion is "They served 'till death—why not we?" This question was asked by our old Corps Commander, Sir Arthur Currie, and he supplied the answer. He died serving the war veterans, and the dependants of the fallen, as Grand President of the Canadian Legion. A glorious example of service which we hope will be an inspiration to help bring every returned man into active membership in the Canadian Legion.

Again we extend to you our heartiest invitation to become a member of the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion.

We'll make you welcome. Thank you.

Pimples and Terrible Rashes for Two Years. Healed by Cuticura.

"I was troubled with pimples and terrible rashes on my face. The pimples were red and hard and large, and my skin was sore. They proved very itchy, especially in the summer, and I lost rest. The pimples caused my face to look terrible and I was ashamed to face the public.

"This lasted two years and after using many things that proved unsuccessful I tried Cuticura Soap, and I was healed after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap with the Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Pauline S. Sobchuk, Ansonville, Ont.
