...*STRAWBERRY BOXES AND CRATES—Crate and two dozen boxes for 30c. cash with order. Book your orders early. Montague Publishing Co., Ltd., Montague. 1665-6-28ME31.

...*FUNERAL HELD—The remains of Mrs. Alex. Cheverie, who died at Bradalbane, were brought to Souris at noon Saturday and were interred at St. Mary's Cemetery on Sunday afternoon.—G.

...*THE I. O. G. T. LODGE in Georgetown is booming. Last meeting was perhaps the most interesting schooling held for some time. The rum-sellers have to do business very slyly indeed to escape the eye of so many temperance workers.

...*GIVE OLD ADDRESS.—Subscribers are asked when having their papers changed from one address to another to please give old address as well as new one. This prevents any delays and saves unnecessary trouble in going over the books.

...*SCHOOL WORK.—School year is now nearly ended and to say that great interest is being taken in the competition for places in the different departments is putting the matter very mildly. Georgetown is greatly disappointed to hear that Principal McCarthy is likely to leave the school. It is to be hoped that he will consider the matter and remain for another year as he is a most efficient teacher.

...*THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY Saturday evening the three act farce The Arrival of Kitty was presented to a crowded house in Georgetown by an amateur Montague Company. The play was splendidly produced each one playing his or her special role as well as could be wished. It has been remarked by those who have seen this play put on by professionals that there was little room for improvement. The vocal solos, which were sung between the acts by Miss Annie Sutherland and Miss Flora Mellish were much appreciated and received hearty applause.—G.

...*SAD DEATH.—Although expected the young people of Georgetown were no less shocked to hear of the death of one of their most beloved associates Herbert Parker J. who passed away at a prominent hospital in Montreal this week. The remains arrived in Georgetown Thursday morning accompanied by his parents who had been summoned and were with him when he died. Preparations for his funeral were at once commenced by the Presbyterian pastor, Rev. Joseph a valued member. The Oddfellows the Orangermen and Cool Templars attended in full regalia and accompanied their brother to the grave. Services were conducted at the house by the Presbyterian pastor, Rev. Joseph Greenless after which the various societies with many friends formed in procession and proceeded to the cemetery, where its impressive burial service of the Oddfellows was read and the remains committed to the grave. The casket was literally banked with flowers, many beautiful wreaths having been sent by friends and societies. The funeral procession was one of the largest and best conducted seen in Georgetown for many years. The late Mr. Parker was a young man who was quiet and unassuming and a general favorite. He will long be remembered for his excellent qualities. The Guardian joins his many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.—G.

...*LOBSTER SEASON.—The lobster season will soon be wound up and The Guardian is informed that this is the most successful season for this important industry for many a year around Georgetown. It is understood that there are more lobsters than there are cases to put them up in.

...*NEW RESIDENCE.—A very beautiful residence is nearing completion which adds very materially to the appearance of that part of Georgetown in which it is located. His friends wish the owner Mr. Ben. Stewart many happy years enjoying the comforts which this well laid off residence will surely afford.

...*DREDGING.—The second scow belonging to dredge No. 11 has been hauled upon the land for repair. Those scows when hauled out of water and put up on blocks are real monsters. They are all iron and must be very heavy. Iron when in salt water continually, soon rusts and if not properly cared for will eat through and the scow becomes unfit for further use. Too much credit cannot be given to Capt. J. N. McDonald for having this repair work, so efficiently done and the great success he has in hauling out and blocking up those scows.—G.

How sleep the brave who sink to rest By all their country's wishes blest! When Spring, with dewy fingers cold, Returns to deck their hallow'd mould, She there shall dress a sweeter sod Than Fancy's feet have ever trod. By fair hands their knell is rung; By forms unseen their dirge is sung; There Honour comes, a pilgrim gray, To bless the turf that wraps their clay; And Freedom shall a while repair, To dwell a weeping hermit there.

McCORMICK Lowdown Manure Spreader

McCormick Lowdown Manure Spreader has a score of good features in its construction. Each one is the result of careful field experiment.

A McCormick spreader is low enough for easy loading, yet it has plenty of clearance underneath. The rear axle is well under the load, rear wheels have wide rims and Z shaped lugs, insuring good traction under all conditions. Frame, wheels and all driving parts are of steel. Apron tension is adjusted by a simple device. Winding of beater is prevented by large diameter and beater teeth are strong, square and chisel-pointed.

The McCormick Lowdown Manure Spreader is built in several sizes, suitable for large and small farms, and can be equipped with widespread attachment if so desired. For further information, and catalogue apply to your nearest McCormick local agent, also on the following machines, etc:
