SATURDAY, JAN. 30, 1904.

THE END OF LIBERAL UNIONISM.

The so-called Liberal Unionist party grew out of the secession of a number of prominent Liberals and their supporters from Mr. Gladstone when he took up Home Rule, and their alliance with the Conservatives. To the new party thus formed the name of Liberal Unionist was given, although the party was from the first mainly Conservative. The new fiscal departure of Mr. Chamberlain seems destined to resolve the Liberal Unionist party into its original elements, the Liberals returning to their party banner pretty generally, but with the notable exception of Mr. Chamberlain himself. The British Liberals are jubilant over the turn of affairs and are nothing loath to welcome back those who had wandered from the fold. And the occasion is to be duly celebrated.

A grand political banquet is to be held in celebration of the reunion of the long disrupted Liberal party. There will be present the Duke of Devonshire, leader of the Liberal, anti-protectionist campaign, Earl Rosebery, Earl Spencer, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Mr. Morley and Sir William Harcourt. The British Liberal party will be itself again, still true, as it has always been to free trade, and to some extent reinforced by Conservative free traders. Parties will regain something of their old normal conditions. The Conservative party must fight the battle of protection and of inter-imperial preference practically alone. It is admitted that Mr. Chamberlain's propaganda has made a marvellous headway for the brief time since it was launched, but we think it improbable that it can be carried to success at the next election.

Free trade is still a potent rallying cry. The very favorable showing of last year's trade returns offsets the cry of the decadence of British industry and commerce and the Opposition have in the "dear bread" issue a powerful means of arousing the prejudices and swaying the votes of the working classes. To a vast population which only by the closest economy can earn the bare necessities of food, raiment and shelter, even the possibility of a dearer loaf must cause grave alarm. And the reunited Liberal free trade party have this weapon ready to their hands. There will be a strenuous fight when it comes, and time, we believe will tell in favor of the Chamberlain idea, but it now appears probable that if a general election should be brought on during the current year it must result in a change of administration.

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN TELEGRAPH.

The Anglo-American Telegraph Company Limited, established in 1886, has a full page advertisement in the World Almanac for 1904, in which it proclaims itself as "The Pioneer Atlantic Cable Company," and gives a chart of its four cables between the Old World and the New, laid respectively in 1873, 1874, 1880 and 1894. At the bottom of the advertisement is this statement:

"This company, whose carrying capacity is far in excess of any other Atlantic cable company, is naturally favorable to the maintenance of a low rate with an increasing volume of traffic."

From local experience with the same company for many years the people of Prince Edward Island are compelled to say that the carrying capacity its lines is arbitrarily limited to twelve hours out of the twenty-four, while the company has shown itself to be unnaturally favorable to a high rate and a limited volume of traffic.

Human Body Has its Equinoctial Storms.

In its March From the Cradle to the Grave the Body Has its Periods of Change Which are Associated With Alarming Disturbances.

There are two great periods in men's lives. About forty-five every man realizes that some new condition has arisen, and if this time is happily passed, about sixty the health barometer takes another dip and storms of great import cloud the horizon of life.

These storms must be met, and wise people will fortify the resisting power of the body by Ferruzone, which builds up bodily strength, renews the blood, strengthens the heart and vital organs. New tissues are formed by Ferruzone, which enables the body to resist disease and prevent the organic changes so likely to supervene at this critical time.

No matter what the age or sex of the individual, as a nerve builder, a brain strengthener and general body invigorator, Ferruzone is the best medicine. It pushes back the feeling and appearance of old age, and puts the elasticity and vim of youth into systems that ordinary remedies fail to rebuild. This is not mere theory, but a claim that is reinforced by overwhelming evidence of the honest merit of Ferruzone.

Unlike oily emulsions, and alcoholic bitters, which are no longer prescribed by intelligent physicians, Ferruzone contains the latest and best strengthening elements in tablet form. Its quality therefore is uniform, its dose is small, just one tablet at meal time. You can't fall to be greatly benefited by Ferruzone, which is sold at drug stores, price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Insist on having only Ferruzone. Refuse all substitutes. By mail from N. C. Polson, Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

and your Already.

In England the Lord Chancellor, by virtue of his office, has a right to inspect all public asylums and hospitals. One day while the late Lord Herschell was paying a visit at the house of a friend near Norwich, he went for an afternoon stroll, and, happening to pass by the great insane asylum at that place, the thought struck him that this was a good time to perform an official duty. Incidentally, it may be said that Herschell bore the reputation of being somewhat pompous at times. He knocked at the door, which, after a long delay, was opened by an attendant. "You can't come in," he was informed. "It's not visiting hours." "That makes no difference. I shall inspect this institution just the same." "Indeed, you will not." "Come, come, my good man, I'm the Lord Chancellor." Herschell expostulated. "Oh, that's all right," answered the functionary, "we've four of you inside already."

A MACHINE THAT TALKS.

Ingenuous Invention of a Frenchman Has Lips and Teeth.

A talking machine that has created no little sensation is that just produced by Dr. R. Marage, a well known member of the French Academy of Medicine. It is an interesting device, which reproduces with perfect accuracy the sounds of the human voice, not, as in the case of the phonograph, by merely repeating words spoken by persons, but by a process which is purely mechanical from start to finish and in which no word is spoken by any human being. The sounds are produced by a system of vibration, says the London Sketch. Attached to the machine is a series of plaster heads, five in all, representing the five vowels, a, e, i, o, u. They are each a perfect model of a person's mouth, fitted with pliable lips and perfect teeth. Air currents set in motion by the machine are made to pass through the dummy mouths, which are fitted with sirens.

Through his invention Dr. Marage has discovered that the steam sirens used on board ships can be so constructed as to imitate certain sounds. Thus different phonetic syllables may be obtained which could be used to form an international alphabet. By an ingenious contrivance attached to this wonderful instrument it is possible to see reflected in a tiny mirror the vocal chords of a singer.

By the same device one can also trace their action and see how, as the note gets higher, the aperture between them becomes less and less, until when the top note is reached it is almost closed. As the force of air current expelled becomes stronger the opening decreases in size. It increases as the force becomes less. The smaller the aperture the greater the vibration. This is how human beings get their singing voices. "There is no mystery about it," declares Dr. Marage. "It is a purely mechanical process, based on known laws of higher mechanics."

The New British Ambassador.

Sir Mortimer Durand, the new ambassador to Washington, has always been my beau ideal of an English gentleman and diplomatist, without fear and without reproach. Sir Mortimer is a tall, handsome man of superb physique and with the bearing of a well set soldier. It has been said that he is one of the few men who can wear the diplomatic uniform without looking ridiculous in it. With strangers he has a grave, dignified and very polite, though somewhat distant, manner, but in reality he possesses a most genial disposition and is gentle and tender hearted as a woman. I have often thought he assumed this rather haughty demeanor in order to protect his too vulnerable good nature from being constantly assailed. In any case, it stood him in good stead in his relations with orientals of the first rank, who despise levity of manner in high officials. Sir Mortimer loves sport and outdoor exercise, but when he has important work in hand will devote himself to it for fifteen hours a day, if necessary, and for weeks together.—London M. A. P.

Curious Collectors.

The Parisian ragpicker is a well known character to all who have traversed the streets of that capital at night, but he has a colleague concerning whom little is said or known—the dead dog and old cork collector. Why these two industries should go together is inexplicable even to the men themselves, but such is the case. Dead dogs are by no means bad property. The skin fetches from twopence to three-pence when it has not become deteriorated by long residence in the water, the fat is worth fivepence per two and one-third pounds, and the bones also sell for a trifle. The corks are by no means so valuable, as after they have been cleaned and pared they only sell for fivepence a hundred. The profession is only sufficiently lucrative to maintain a few members, 2 francs a day being the average gain, who reside for the most part in that chiffonier quarter, the Rue Petit, Cite Philippe.—Golden Penny.

How Climate Affects Railroads.

There are three great railroad lines that show the climatic problems that engineers have to solve in building—the new transcanada road, traversing high northern latitudes; the transaustralia road, running through an arid region, and the Uganda road, which traverses a tropical country. In high latitudes many difficulties have to be overcome, among them being the effects of mountain sickness on the workmen. In rainy regions floods and landslides must be provided against, and the early decay of ties, sleepers and bridge material. In dry countries it is necessary to provide water, to guard against fire, against sand storms and against many other things that the passengers, riding in the luxurious cars, never think of.

Liquids Americans Consume.

Somebody who has been computing the quantity of the liquids consumed by the American people within a twelvemonth has found that we drink last year enough tea, coffee, wine, beer, liquors and other beverages to cover an area of land two miles square to a depth of ten feet—a lake large enough. It was suggested, to float several navies of the size of our own. The amount of alcoholic beverages alone which were necessary to satisfy the national thirst during this period would fill a canal 100 miles long, 100 feet wide and 10 feet deep.—Harper's Weekly.

NUN INHERITS MILLIONS.

DES MOINES, IOWA, Jan. 26.—Sister Philomena, mother superior of Mercy Hospital has just learned that she is heir to one-fifth of an estate of $10,000,000. The estate is that of an uncle, John McCormack, who died in Melbourne, Australia, ten years ago. McCormack owned several gold mines, sheep ranches and other property.

The Happy Home.

Happiness must be founded on health. Where there is ill-health there will surely be unhappiness. The happiness of many a home has received its downfall at the table, spread with rich and dainty foods. The first symptoms of disease of the stomach are ignored as being disagreeable but not dangerous. Presently dyspepsia or some other form of disease fastens on the stomach. At any stage Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. But the cure is quicker if the "Discovery" is used in the earlier stages of disease. If you have any symptoms of diseased stomach use "Golden Medical Discovery" and be cured.

"I feel that I would be doing an injustice to you if I did not send you a statement of my case," writes Mrs. David W. Guice, of Hamburg, Franklin Co., Miss. "I had liver complaint and indigestion. Everything that I ate disagreed with me. I suffered all the time with swimming in my head; heart beat too fast; my feet and hands were cold all the time. Did not sleep well at all. Was able to get about but very little. I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' in May, 1897, and by December I began to get about very well. Have been doing my work ever since. Feel better than I have for several years."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

When the Letters Begin to Dance

It's a sure sign that your eyes need looking after. Possibly they have an inherited defect that is just beginning to show itself, possibly they have been strained by too much reading or sewing. At any rate it's a warning Nature gives that your eyes need help. And that help is found only in the right glasses. We examine eyes free and our charge for glasses, when needed, is very fair. E. W.
