Blues Defeat Whites In Rugby Game

In the first game of the Summerside High School interclass rugby series the team from Grades nine and twelve, the Blues, defeated the Grades ten and eleven, the Whites, by the close score of 11-9. In an exciting battle which surged up and down the slippery field, the only convert was made of the six tries due to the difficult angles. Jackson was the high scorer of the game getting all the Blues tries including the only successful convert. Soon after the game started Jackson snared the ball near the midfield strip, eluded his tacklers and went over for the first try. The Whites opened a hard hitting offensive which slowly forced the ball down the field and after a stubborn battle on the ten yard line a loose ball was dribbled over and fallen on by Bowness. The Whites kept up the offensive and just before the half time whistle McNeil put them three points up after a tricky fifteen yard dash. The Blues put on the pressure as their final touchdown which was an clever passing attack sent Jackson over the line with the equalizer. A few minutes later Jackson took the ball in his own territory and after a sensational exhibition of broken field running crossed the line with their final touchdown which was converted to clinch the game. The Whites opened up a savage attack which ripped their opponents defence wide open and paved the way for Eric Sheen to smash his way across the line for his team's third try. The game ended with the Whites trying desperately to score.—S

BADLY HURT WHEN THROWN FROM WAGON

Mr. William Craswell of Bloomfield was brought to the Prince County Hospital on Monday morning suffering from a fractured collar bone and hip, which injuries he sustained when he was thrown from the wagon in which he was driving on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Craswell accompanied by his wife was returning home from a visit to a friend in a near by district and was anxious to get home before dark. Mr. and Mrs. Craswell are elderly people and a little nervous driving on the road. As they were nearing a bridge at the foot of a steep hill they saw a car approaching and in endeavouring to give the motor car plenty of room Mr. Craswell drove too near the railing of the bridge and the occupants were thrown out, and the horse broke loose and ran over the road. Mrs. Craswell was working on a farm in Bedouque and his foot got caught in the hay presser crushing it severely. He received medical attention and is now resting comfortably.—S

WHEN CO-EDS WORE SERGE AND CALICO

(By The Canadian Press) MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—College girls of 50 years ago, consisting of "sensible" coats, dresses of serge or cashmere in winter and print or calico in summer, cotton or heavy woolen stockings, fur coats or silk hose—was recalled by Dr. Grace Ritchie England, a member of the pioneer class of women at McGill, at the luncheon recently given by the Alumnae Society to mark the 50th anniversary of the admission of women to McGill. She said the quarters allotted to the 10 women students was a classroom in the Peter Redpath Museum for lectures, and contrasted them with the imposing block of buildings which accommodate the 600 or so women students of today. Montreal at that time was like a "sleepy overgrown village," said Dr. England; transportation was furnished by horse-drawn trams or cabs, the sidewalks were of wood and there were no towering buildings. In 1884, a group of students from the High School for Girls, petitioned to be allowed to enter McGill. Two of them had headed the list in the Associate in Arts examinations. Principal Dawson was sympathetic but there were no funds available. Fortunately a timely gift of $50,000 from Hon. Donald Smith later Lord Strathcona, to endow a college for women, made it possible for the first class to enter the university in 1884. Two years later assurance was given them that degrees would be granted to women, and they are permitted to wear the college gown.—S

This is her last trip to Summerside this season.—S
