member that Denmark and other European countries together with the U. S. A. are our competitors. They are all fully aware what quality in a product means. We have not done so badly in the past, but, to rest on our laurels would be folly. It should be the desire of all egg grading stations, all dressed poultry stations, all canners of poultry on P. E. I., to strive for the utmost in quality.

Turkeys On Wire

A new branch of poultry raising is the raising of turkeys on wire. This year has shown a very good increase. The old way of raising turkeys was to let the hen hatch out the turkeys and raise upon the range. What raccoons, foxes and disease left were marketed — quite often very few. Today, we raise them in wire enclosures, on wire floors — and we raise practically 100 per cent. Very few losses occur. There may be some features objectionable to the wire raising of turkeys compared to range raising but, generally speaking, results on P. E. I. have been far more satisfactory and very good profits are being made. Herbert Matthews, B. H. Turner, Guy Kennedy, George Roper are up and coming turkey raisers. There are others — more daily are becoming interested. We have printed a pamphlet on "Raising Turkeys on Wire" (P. E. I.) Copies of this pamphlet have been forwarded upon request to other provinces — Alberta, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick. The interest is keen.

Better poultry housing is in evidence throughout the Island. This year, many up to date poultry houses were built. In 1940, about 50 brooder houses were listed under the Brooder Housing Policy. Today, there are about 600. All are indications of prosperity in the industry.

Three new R. O. P. breeders —good men—Lloyd Burns, Freetown; Wilfred MacDonald, Covehead; William Wheatley, East Royalty.

The story of William Wheatley is worth telling. Some years ago, two young men went to Northern Ontario. They worked in one of the copper mines of the International Nickel Company, saved $2,000—came home—one to try poultry for a living, the other —pigs. Today, W. Wheatley has some 2,200 layers composed of about 1,000 for hatchery purposes —1,000 a commercial flock and 200 entered in R.O.P. Bill Wheatley today is a man to be envied. He has an excellent set-up and, briefly, would make many an executive envious.

Future Of Industry

The question asked today is "What of the future?" The pessimist will say production generally will be downward—the optimist, it might hold its own. The thoughtful thinker, the visionary or enthusiast will say it will be upward. I lean toward the latter class. There is no reason for pessimism in the poultry industry. It has stood on its own feet throughout the war — it has not been bolstered by the bonus system as have so many other farm industries. It stands upon its own feet, can and will do in the future if poultrymen and others connected with the poultry industry will follow sound advice, practice good poultry husbandry and sound business practices.

In P. E. I., we have natures ideal poultry setting. An island—a help in disease control—the climate, neither extremely hot nor cold, with the cool temperatures lasting well into June and starting again in September or earlier. Poultry prices and egg prices move upward as they move eastward—we are pretty far East.

There is a very good living in raising poultry. To make a sufficient income, numbers must be raised. Quality and quantity count. Poultry raisers and would-be raisers of poultry should keep this thought in mind, "the difficult task takes time — the impossible just a little longer. Be prepared to have a little bad luck —be prepared to pay for your lack of experience—have the guts to see yourself through to success."
