U. S. Miners May Ignore Back To Work Order

Lewis Gives Command Under Federal Ruling

(By Francis J. Kelly)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—John L. Lewis late Saturday ordered his striking soft coal miners to get back on the job under a Taft-Hartley Law injunction, but some union miners said flatly they wouldn't go back without a contract.

Lewis acted quickly in compliance with a Federal court order issued a few hours after President Truman decided the "national health and safety" was endangered by the country-wide strike.

Lewis telegraphed district presidents of his United Mine Workers to send the 370,000 striking soft coal diggers back to work "forthwith."

But in Illinois, district president Hugh White said:

"As free American citizens, I doubt very much if the 24,000 Illinois miners will go back to work Monday. That's all I have to say."

The local at Robena, Pa., biggest in the U.M.W., had held a mass meeting after the court order came out and voted unanimously to disregard it. Then came Lewis' instructions.

"Robena still says 'no,'" John Ozanich, the local's president, said. They quit last Monday, unannounced, after Lewis had spurned a Truman plan to have a three-man board study the dispute with operators, independent of the Taft-Hartley Act and recommend a settlement. Lewis contended this would be to the miners' disadvantage, probably leading to a Taft-Hartley injunction anyway.

The Taft-Hartley Act contains the machinery for an 80-day injunction against a strike.

70 Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—John L. Lewis (above) is 70 years old today. The powerful labor leader doesn't look as fiercely rugged as when he was lambasting President Roosevelt a decade ago. But he is still the scowling, roaring Lewis—relishing the spotlight position he has occupied perhaps more often during the last 15 years than any other American except Franklin D. Roosevelt. While 70 is the retirement age for presidents of the United Mine Workers, Lewis is staying on the job. A week ago the executive board of his Union voted to continue him in office—as everyone expected it would. Last week Lewis started his 31st year as head of the U. M. W.

N.B. Child Fatally Burned In Fire

SHIPPEGAN, N. B., Feb. 12 (CP)—Five-year Jilbert Chaisson, burned Saturday night when flames swept the home and grocery store of his father at Island River on Shippegan Island, died in hospital early today. The fire started in the house while Mr. Chaisson was at a meeting and his wife, with their eldest daughter, Claudette, were in the store near the residence. As Claudette ran for help, Mrs. Chaisson rescued Donald, 3, and Rheel, 1, but was unable to enter Jilbert's room. Mrs. Chaisson's brother, Alban Ward, and another neighbor broke a window and carried out the little girl. She was given first aid before taken to hospital at Lamèque. Damage was estimated at $3,500. All the groceries in the store were salvaged.

11 Dead, 100 Injured In Series Of Tornadoes

Unconfirmed reports boosted the death toll as high as 15. The Texas-spawned storms struck hardest Sunday spreading northeastward into border areas of Louisiana and Arkansas.

The twisters started Saturday, hitting the Texas communities of Laporte, Alvin, Baileyville and Chapel Hill. Sunday new tornadoes lashed at Corley, Hughes Springs, Groesbeck, Haslam, Gill and farm areas near Lufkin. Most of the areas near Lufkin.

Most of the areas near Lufkin Sunday storms were concentrated in the northeast corner of the state.

Across the border in Northwest Louisiana the Sunday storms struck Shreveport, Logansport, Curtis Forbing and Royston. The small farming community of Mt. Holly, in extreme South Arkansas, also was struck Sunday. No casualties were reported.

Drew Accuses Gov't Of Hiding Essential Facts From Parliament

QUEBEC, Feb. 12 (CP)—Progressive Conservative leader George Drew said here Saturday night the Government's conduct has brought Canada "dangerously close to the point" where debate in Parliament becomes meaningless.

Mr. Drew, addressing a convention of Quebec district party organizers, accused the Government of withholding "essential facts" from Parliament.

He said it had misrepresented Canada's export trading position, broken an undertaking that there would be no constitutional change without consulting the Provinces and ignored the law over publication of the McGregor report on flour-milling.

In the case of the report of an alleged milling combine in Canada, the Progressive Conservative leader said:

"There is no reason to believe we would ever have known about that report if Mr. McGregor had not resigned as a result of the conduct of the Government."

Speaking in French, Mr. Drew said the Government had shown no more respect for its constitution than it has for the constitution.

"In spite of its clear and unqualified promise that there would be no change in the constitution without consulting the Provincial Governments, steps were taken during the last session, without consulting any Provincial Government, which provided for very substantial amendments to our constitution which could have far-reaching effects upon the rights of the provinces." He said that on the trade situation, the Government gave assurances of confidence in Canada's overseas trade situation as recently as December.

"You know what has happened in two months," said Mr. Drew. "Our contracts with Great Britain for agricultural products have been terminated or greatly reduced. As a direct result, prices for most farm products have dropped sharply. The Government has taken no steps to find alternative markets overseas."

"This in turn, has resulted in growing unemployment throughout the whole country. As the buying power of our farmers decreases and our overseas trade diminishes, there is an immediate effect on industrial employment."

After his half-hour speech Mr. Drew told newspaper men he was in "entire accord" with a district convention resolution calling for an inquiry into Federal public accounts.

The resolution called for an inquiry into Federal public accounts for the last 10 years and a second resolution called for a campaign to establish that the Government is avoiding its responsibilities regarding "unemployment and employment in general."

The convention also called on Mr. Drew to "denounce the Government's negligence" regarding Russian spy activities in Canada and to protest against practice "treating" Government grants to U. N. E. S. C. O.

Appointed Minister Of Works & Highways

The appointment of Hon. H. H. Cox (above) as Minister of Public Works and Highways, was announced on Saturday by Premier J. Walter Jones. The latter has held this portfolio since the resignation of the present Senator, George E. Barbour.

Mr. Cox, who has the longest continuous service of any member in the Legislature, was first elected as a Liberal representative of Second King's in the general election held on June 23, 1927, and has been successful at every succeeding general election.

A non-portfolio member of the Government for some years, he has been acting Minister of Public Works and Highways on a previous occasion, and has also been chairman of the Fisheries Loan Board and the Province's representative on the Atlantic Herring Commission. He served recently as acting Premier during the absence of Premier Jones from the Province.

Born at Morell, June 17, 1875, Mr. Cox is a son of the late Julius Cox and Jane Ellen Jeffs Cox. Early in life he went to work with his uncle, the late Hon. R. W. Cox, who conducted a general store. In 1910 he went into business for himself and built up a flourishing trade which he expanded until his retirement a few years ago.

In addition to mercantile activities he has been prominent as a lobster packer and operates a 180-acre farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox reside at Morell. Recently they returned home from a visit to their son Herbert who is general manager of the large Malarectic Gold Mines in Quebec.

Expect Long, Lively Session Of Parliament

By D'Arcy O'Donnell
OTTAWA, Feb. 12 (CP)—If advance signs are any indication, the second session of Canada's 21st Parliament, opening Thursday, will be active and lengthy.

The Government has maintained customary silence on the legislation it plans to introduce, but opposition parties have indicated there are many things they want to discuss.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said in an interview that he has made it a practice not to anticipate what may happen at a session. However, his recent statements and speeches have indicated that he will criticize the Government's trade and employment policies and what he terms its "complacency" in dealing with Communist activities in Canada.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said he also plans to bring up the question of loss of trade markets and of "increasing" unemployment.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, in a recent speech recommended adoption of his party's financial theories as an antidote to the loss of markets and the unemployment problem.

Mr. Coldwell said he will inquire into the fuel shortage which caused the Canadian National Railways to curtail passenger service.

The C. C. F. will press for the reasons behind the resignations of Ross McLean, National Film Board commissioner, and his executive assistant, Ralph Foster.

Mr. Coldwell said he will ask External Affairs Minister Pearson for a full report on the international situation and on the possibility of closer co-operation among Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom on atomic-energy developments.

C. C. F. members will urge

Labor Party Leaders React Vigorously

LONDON, Feb. 12 (CP)—Winston Churchill tossed a seven-point "blueprint for the future" into Britain's political campaign today. Labor Party speakers promptly started shooting at it. The Conservative leader, fighting to overturn the Labor Government in the balloting Feb. 23, made proposals in a leaflet distributed widely throughout the country.

He said: "We must have a government that will—

"1. Show resolute leadership and tell the people the truth, seeking to unite all sections of the people in a national effort.

"2. Bring about a closer relationship between us and the countries of the British Empire and Commonwealth.

"3. Take practical action to increase production and lower the cost of living.

"4. Reduce Government spending and cut out all waste.

"5. Lower taxation to encourage everybody to try and help them to save.

"6. Give people a chance to make the most of their lives—give them opportunities rather than regulations.

"7. Aid farmers to grow more food—particularly by providing more feeding stuffs."

"In my opinion," said Churchill, "only this policy can save the people of Britain from mass unemployment, maintain the social services and prevent a grievous fall in the standard of living."

In the vanguard of Labor leaders reacting vigorously to this "blueprint" was Sir William Lawther, president of the National Union of Mine Workers.

In an address at Loughborough, Lawther said: "Judge the Tories by their performances and not by their promises. Never again—sensible men and women trust such false friends."

Labor expects to retain power—in the view of many supporters—possibly less than half the Party's previous majority of nearly 200.

Conservative leaders predict that Churchill will get the verdict with a big enough majority to form a government without allies.

Leaders of the once-dominant Liberal Party, who had only 10 House of Commons seats in the Parliament just dissolved, think their 450-candidate effort may confound both prophecies and give them the balance of power in the next government.

Reports Large Increase In Consumption Of Eggs; Sharp Decline In Surplus

A large increase in egg consumption and the reported shipping of eggs to a new market have practically eliminated the egg surplus in other parts of the Dominion, it was learned from Mr. F. M. Nash, District Manager Poultry Products.

He stated that egg consumption at the low price level increased by 50 per cent in many areas and in some as high as 75 per cent as compared to consumption at high levels.

A large increase was reported by several local retail stores. One store reported a 100 per cent increase of egg sales at their lowest level compared to sales when Grade A eggs were selling for 63 cents per dozen. The latest increase in prices resulted in a five per cent sales decrease from the peak reached at the low level.

The new market reported to be opened up was Switzerland. It was thought that one and probably two carloads of Canadian eggs had been shipped to the Alpine country. Several other countries have also shown an interest in Canadian eggs.

Former Mayor Curley Bereaved By Double Death

Archbishop Of Montreal Resigns

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12 (CP)—The Vatican Saturday announced the resignation for "health reasons" of the Archbishop of Montreal, Most Rev. Joseph Charbonneau.

A Vatican press release said Pope Pius had accepted the resignation tendered by the 58-year-old Archbishop and appointed him to the titular post of Archbishop of Bosphorus.

Msr. Charbonneau attracted considerable attention last year when he authorized special collections in his archdiocese of 5,000 striking asbestos miners.

The strike, which centred around Asbestos, Que., started Feb. 15, 1949, in a demand for increased pay. The special collections were taken at the doors of all Roman Catholic Churches in the Montreal archdiocese May 1.

Vatican circles said they understood that Bishop Philippe Desranleau of Sherbrooke also has sent in his resignation but that it was not certain that the Pope would accept it.

In Sherbrooke, Que., Msr. Desranleau said Saturday that he does not intend to resign.

Earlier last week Vatican sources described as "ridiculous" reports that the Pope intends to replace Bishop Desranleau because of "anti-capitalist" tendencies.
