The Eyes of the World

About twenty years ago a famous scientist and inventor made the statement that "unless educational conditions are changed everyone will be wearing glasses in fifty years."

How truly he spoke may be realized when you see so many people wearing glasses today.

If you wear a pair of properly made and properly fitted glasses they will relieve your eyes and PREVENT THEM GETTING WORSE. On the other hand if you neglect your eyes they may reach the point where even glasses will not help them to any extent.

Have your eyes examined and know the conditions present.

TRAFFIC VICTIMS IN HOSPITAL SHOWN TO OFFENDING MOTORISTS

DETROIT, Nov. 20.—Forty persons convicted of speeding by Judge Charles L. Bartlett were conducted through the Receiving Hospital today to view the victims of traffic accidents who are patients in the institution. Judge Bartlett personally conducted the tour.

The parties making the tour were found guilty of speeding and violating traffic laws today. At the close of the tour they returned to the court room to pay fines or start jail sentences meted out to them during the morning session of court.

Judge Bartlett believing good would result if those convicted of traffic violations saw the suffering of their victims, made arrangements for the tour with Dr. Thos. K. Gruber, superintendent of the hospital.

Seventy speeders were arraigned before Judge Bartlett today. At the opening of the court this morning the judge announced that, in accordance with his pre-election promise, he would double sentences of all convicted of speeding in an effort to make the lives of people of the city safe.

As the convicted motorists passed in 1887.

MAY LEGITIMIZE 'MILLER' DIVORCES

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A special act of the Legislature may be necessary to legitimize about 100 children and to ratify the remarriages of victims of Herbert F. Miller, the "divorce mill operator," who obtained decrees in many courts in 1919, 1920 and 1921 through a force of trained witnesses and by forging decrees.

"More than 100 of these fraudulent decrees have been traced," said Bennett Siegelstein, of 99 Nassau street, who appeared in court today for Samuel B. Foster, an American consular officer at Buenos Aires, who was forced to return to this country because of the discovery that his "Miller divorce" was worthless.

"Litigation following from this situation will be in the courts for years, if not generations," said Mr. Siegelstein. "There are 100 or more children of men and women who have re-married after Miller divorces. Technically, these are all bigamous marriages, except where the parties obtained new divorces after discovering the frauds. There probably will be cases 40 years from now where estates will turn on the point of whether a child of the second marriage is legitimate after the first marriage was dissolved by a Miller decree.

"If an preparing an act to submit to the Legislature which would legitimize the remarriages of parties to these Miller divorces where both sides have innocently re-married. This act would make such divorces valid without further action. Many other clauses would have to be added to remedy all the evils of these divorces.

"Most of Miller's first divorces were correctly obtained with the sole exception of the fact that Miller was not a lawyer in New York state. Later Miller developed a small company of professional witnesses to be used when it was decided his real witnesses would make a bad impression on the court. He later conceived an idea of selling divorces outright so that his fees were 100 per cent. forged. He simply manufactured a decree, forged the name of a judge to it, and fled it. Finally, men and women, who had been divorced without their knowledge, made inquiries at White Plains and an investigation by the District Attorney there revealed about a score of fraudulent divorces. Since then these fake decrees have turned up in many parts of the state. Miller disappeared when the investigation was started.

Straight Fight In North Lanark, Ont.

(Special to The Guardian.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—As a result of today's official nominations for candidates to fill the five vacant Federal constituencies there will be only two election contests. As forecasted, Liberal candidates in the constituencies of Megantic and Jacques Cartier, Que., and Gloucester, N. B., were acclaimed. Eusebe Roberge of Laurierville, is the member for Megantic. Theodule Rheaume will represent Jacques Cartier and John G. Robichaud the member for Gloucester. These constituencies were all represented by Liberals in the last parliament.

In Lanark, Ont., there is a straight fight between Dr. R. F. Preston, Conservative, and David Findlay, Liberal. Both candidates live in Carleton Place. The contest in Hamilton is a three-cornered one, with no Conservative in the field.

Hon. R.E. Finn, Minister without portfolio in the Nova Scotia government and official candidate of the Liberal party is opposed by John J. Power, K.C., running as an Independent Liberal, and James O'Connell, representing Labor. Mr. Finn has been a member for Halifax in the Nova Scotia legislature since 1906.

Hall Murder Case Before Grand Jury

(Special to The Guardian.)

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 21.—The case which special Prosecutor Wilbur A. Mott has woven out of the mystery surrounding the murders of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, had its first official hearing today when 12 persons told their stories to the Somerset County Grand Jury. Mr. Mott expects tomorrow to offer the evidence of ten or more witnesses. Three women are sitting on the Grand Jury.

The proceedings today were more than usually guarded. A squad of State troopers patrolled the Court House and surrounding grounds. They established a dead line around the jury room and beyond it no one was permitted to pass.

Women, scores of them, came early. They hung over the dark ledged balcony which is built inside of the Court House on the second floor in the vain hope that Mrs. Hall, widow of the slain minister, or Mrs. Jane Gibson, who raises pigs and has become the most important witness in the case, would appear.

At the opening session, Mr. Mott, assisted by A. M. Beckman, Prosecutor of Somerset County, outlined to the Grand Jury the salient features of the case.

A. J. Cardinal, a New Brunswick newspaperman, was called to tell how the bodies of the murdered pair lay when he first saw them stretched out under the crab apple tree at the lonely Phillips' farm. As Cardinal testified, his gestures could be seen through the low windows. His story was to the effect that he picked up letters and cards about the body and held them until the police arrived. Dr. E. L. Lohlein, a veterinarian, succeeded in his story.

By the time Mr. Mott had discovered that his witnesses could be seen from without. So the plaintiff stand was changed and later the curtains were drawn.

A sensation was caused when Pearl Bahner, who was with Raymond Schneider when the bodies were found, came through as underground passage from the jail to the Grand Jury room. She was on the stand only about fifteen minutes.

In the hall, as she emerged from the jury room, she met Schneider for the first time since she became star witness against him on a charge of attaching her. She nodded, but Schneider sitting between two detectives, did not move or speak.

Dr. Wm. P. Long, the County coroner's physician, who failed to report that Mrs. Mills' throat was cut, was the next called. He fledged with the door knob as he entered, but his story was soon told. Mrs. Grace Edwards, of New Brunswick, was the last witness. She told how Schneider came to the Stryker home to telephone to the police.

Mr. Mott refused to discuss with the reporters plans for tomorrow's session of the Grand Jury, nor would he say whether Mrs. Hall would be a witness.

While the Grand Jury was in session in New Brunswick, newspapers printed a letter from Mrs. Grace Sipel, wife of a farmer of Middlesex, which brought a new character into the already overcrowded case. The letter stated that her husband, George Sipel, knew nothing of the murders, but declared that Mrs. Gibson, the pig woman, was trying to bring him into it.

Sipel admitted Mrs. Gibson had talked to him about the case, when she sought for reporters. He declared, however, that all the knowledge he had seen in a wagon on Easton Avenue the night of the shooting. Last Saturday, he said, Mrs. Gibson asked him to swear to something, but he asserted he told her she was talking to the "wrong type of man."

Tomorrow, Doctors Cronk, Hazerman and Smith, was made the autopsy on the bodies of Rev. Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills will be questioned.

SETTLEMENT MADE WITH RESCUERS OF SHIP'S PASSENGERS

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—Amicable settlement of court this morning put an end to two actions instituted several days ago against the Canada Steamships Lines Limited, by two river pilots who aided in the rescue of the 450 passengers from the Rapids Prince which went aground in the Lacaille Rapids last August. Hill Guerin, who sued for $5,000 accepted $2,800 as compensation for his services, while his assistant, Joseph Cardinal, who sued for $2,800, took $1,200.

CAUSE OF FIRE IN UNIVERSITY YET UNSOLVED

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—Mystifying conditions were declared to surround the origin of the fire which caused heavy damage in the main building of the University of Montreal, last week, at the enquiry by the fire commissioner's court here today. All the usual theories advanced in such cases were apparently not applicable while the several possibilities in view of the fact that flames were first observed issuing from the laboratories were nullified by explanations of the witnesses called at the enquiry.

Catholic Clergy Prohibition League

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Because of the misconception of many people that Catholics oppose Prohibition, the Catholic Clergy Prohibition League, through its president, the Rev. George Zuercher, pastor of St. Vincent's Church, North Evans N. Y., has given out for publication the following statement:

The greatest objection among Catholics to Prohibition used to be that it would interfere with sacramental wine. Many of the objectors were absolutely sincere. Since the advent of Prohibition, there is not a single case on record where a priest found it difficult to obtain the necessary sacramental wine.

Under Prohibition Catholics spend more money for education. Some Catholic colleges find it difficult to accommodate all applicants. The Catholic University of Notre Dame, Indiana, is discontinuing its preparatory school, in existence ever since the University was founded, because of the great increase in the enrollment in the collegiate courses.

Catholic institutions formerly trying to reform drunkards, are now devoting more of their energies to the training of neglected children.

Where Prohibition is not very strictly enforced, as in some cities in the State of New York, Catholic clergymen entertain some doubt as to the permanency of Prohibition, and are, therefore, rather reticent about its manifold benefits. Elsewhere we find most favorable expressions for the strict enforcement of the law.

The Catholic Bishop of Great Falls, Montana, Right Reverend Maltheus C. Leonard, under date of April 25, 1922, wrote us of the general attitude of the people of his state: "We have an army of intelligent and patriotic citizens who are in favor of enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment."

The liquor traffic has ruined so many Catholics physically and spiritually, that the Catholic Church, in spite of the many Catholic immigrants, in spite of the marvelous generosity with which Catholic edifices were built, and in spite of the hard labor of so many priests, and of thousands of self-sacrificing nuns, was losing ground. Nothing ever happened in America that will make for the spiritual progress of the Catholic Church, as Prohibition. Fifty years hence the greatest wonderment will be, why all Catholics did not work with tooth and nail for Prohibition.

Among the most active members of the Catholic Clergy Prohibition League are: Rev. C. P. Barron, Columbus, Ind.; Rev. M. Mahoney, Mendota, Minn.; Rev. A. Jacquesmet, O. P. Priory, Fall River, Mass.; Rev. George Zuercher, North Evans, N. Y.; Rev. M. F. Snerlein, Nadeau, Mich.; Rev. P. J. Murphy, Dalhart, Tex.; Rev. E. A. Hannan, Washington; Rev. P. Sarrasutti, Bayonne, N. J.; Rev. M. J. Wyte, Sunnyvale, Cal.; Rev. J. McNamee, Chicago; Right Rev. Bishop Lenihan, Great Falls, Mont.; Rev. J. Kubacki, Cleveland; Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan, Catholic University, Washington.

Critics Acclaim Canadian Tenor

(Special to The Guardian.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The critics of the evening papers today echo the chorus of praise which was accorded by their morning paper confreres to Edward Johnson, the Canadian tenor, who made his initial appearance with the Metropolitan Opera Company last night. Mr. Johnson sang the role of Avaro in Montemezzi's "L'Amore e la Morte," Lucrezia Borgia being the prima.

Mr. Johnson is no stranger to New York, having sung important roles here with the Chicago Grand Opera Company for three seasons, but New York now claims him for its own. Seldom has a new Metropolitan singer been given such a warm tribute from both press and public as the Canadian tenor received today. He was busy throughout the day opening a flood of messages of congratulation from his fellow musicians and the musical elect of the city, and there is not a dissenting voice in the chorus of praise from the professional critics.

Like the majority of Canadians who attain fame in New York, Mr. Johnson, though still a citizen of the Dominion, appears in danger of being confiscated by his American admirers. This is indicated in the remarks of some of the critics. "We ought to be proud of this American tenor," declares Duane Taylor, of the World. "He has a beautiful voice, even by the Metropolitan's difficult standards; he has stature, grace and looks, and he has dramatic talents that would take him far even on the spoken stage."

Richard Aldrich, of the Times, said: "There is a tenor who is something more than a voice, who is an artistic personality. He is the work of Lister and Pastour." These words, which carry the promise of a life without disease, terminated only by senile decay, formed part of the presidential address of Dr. John Matheson at the annual meeting of the Caledonian Medical Society in London. Though treatment by vaccine and serum has been the fashion for some time, he said, success has, so far, been attained in very few cases. But experimental research may find a remedy for all germ diseases no less effective than those remedies now available for smallpox and diphtheria.

Dr. Matheson has no faith in the monkey gland fantasy or in any of the other modern specifics for making the old young again. Medical science, he thinks, can never abolish, or even largely modify, the cycle of existence—growth, maturity, and decay. But he has a profound belief that the process of decay may be, to a very large extent, postponed—but not by drugs.

Longevity, he thinks, may be attained by raising the power of resistance of our tissues to the attacks of germs and their poisons. "If two people are exposed to the same infection, one may catch the complaint and the other not."

COLD WAVE COMING

TORONTO, November 21.—There are indications that an important disturbance will develop over the north-western states and that as it moves eastward it will be followed by a cold wave, now spreading over the western provinces. The weather continues very mild in Ontario and western Quebec, and rather cold in the Maritime Provinces.

Man is supreme lord and master of his own ruin and disaster. Controls his fate, but nothing less in ordering his own happiness.

Medical Science May Stamp Out Most Germ Diseases Eventually

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Medical science may one day stamp out disease as surely as gangrene has been stamped out in surgery by the work of Lister and Pastour. These words, which carry the promise of a life without disease, terminated only by senile decay, formed part of the presidential address of Dr. John Matheson at the annual meeting of the Caledonian Medical Society in London. Though treatment by vaccine and serum has been the fashion for some time, he said, success has, so far, been attained in very few cases. But experimental research may find a remedy for all germ diseases no less effective than those remedies now available for smallpox and diphtheria.
