

JAMES CASFORD, PORTAGE KILLED BY A HORSE

Was Trampled to Death at Home of Arthur Stead, Winsloe FUNERAL YESTERDAY

A very sad accident by which James Casford of Portage Road lost his life occurred on Saturday afternoon at the home of Arthur Stead, Winsloe, five miles from this city.

The deceased at about one o'clock was in Mr Stead's yard where his mare and a stallion belonging to the latter were. Mr Casford was knocked down by his mare, a quick tempered animal and while lying on his back on the ground Mr Stead's horse trampled on him, placing his left forefoot heavily on the right side of Casford's chest.

As a result the deceased's lung was pressed almost flat, his collar bone was broken and other injuries of a serious nature were sustained. Dr McLaughlin of this city was immediately summoned but could not do anything for the unfortunate man who succumbed to his injuries about an hour after the accident.

Dr H. D. Johnson, the Coroner, was called in and after viewing the remains he decided that under the circumstances an inquest was unnecessary.

The remains were transferred Saturday evening to the residence of the deceased at Portage from which place the funeral took place yesterday afternoon at two o'clock to the Milton Cemetery.

Archdeacon Reagh officiated and there was a very large attendance. The deceased was man of sixty-nine years and was married to Mrs. John and Mrs. Casford, both deceased, and, with his sister Emily and brother Thomas, resided on the old homestead which he farmed.

Besides the above he leaves to mourn the following brothers and sisters: John, George, Mrs. Annie Harris, N. Atwood, of Boston, after circling Washington's monument, flew directly into the White House grounds and landed on a grassy lawn, a short distance from the portico. Walking from the machine Atwood walked to where the President stood, and was presented by him with a gold medal from the Aero Club of Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 14—President Taft received his first aerial aviator shortly before three o'clock today. The President stood on the rear porch of the White House as Aviator Harris N. Atwood, of Boston, after circling Washington's monument, flew directly into the White House grounds and landed on a grassy lawn, a short distance from the portico. Walking from the machine Atwood walked to where the President stood, and was presented by him with a gold medal from the Aero Club of Washington.

LONDON, July 14—The first cruiser for China's modern navy, under the program adopted by that government last year, was launched at Barrow-in-Furness today. It is a small ship of 2,460 tons, and is equipped with turbines, providing a speed of twenty knots an hour. Its largest guns are six inch.

NEW YORK, July 14—The police department of the city of New York is willing to come to the aid of the Knickerbocker Ice Company and supply it with all the men it needs to load ice barges in hot weather. There will be no difficulty in procuring as many men as the ice company wants and they will work at the ice company's scale of wages. This was the answer tonight of Police Commissioner Waldo to the claim of President

WAS KILLED AT SIGNAL OF BLACKHAND

Special to The Guardian. JEANETTE, July 16—Upon the signal of the black hand to turn over money to its agent, Geo. Labarto, a wholesale fruit merchant, shot and killed Venci Cecliano, an Italian barber, here yesterday.

Labarto made his escape and his wife turned over to the police eight letters he had received threatening him with death if he did not pay over a large sum.

Special to The Guardian. BATTLE CREEK, July 16—One dead, one missing and a property loss of $100,000 was the toll of an early morning fire in the business district.

A lively stable was destroyed and Leo Hunt was burned to death while sleeping in the office. Harley Hamlin, proprietor, usually slept in the barn but his remains have not been located.

Special to The Guardian. MULAI HAFID IN TERRIBLE RAGE

LONDON, July 11—The special correspondent of the Express in an interview under date from Fez says: The Sultan of Morocco, Mulai Hafid, summoned me to the palace today, and made two statements for publication in the Express. His first statement is intended to be a justification of the Lamta outrages which were responsible for the British government's refusal to admit a representative of Mulai Hafid at the coronation. His second statement dealt with the Spanish invasion of Larache and Alcazar.

Mulai Hafid's appearance has considerably altered since I first interviewed him shortly after his accession to the throne three years ago. He is more corpulent, his face is bloated (for he is of the Filalian dynasty, from far south) and is noticeably accentuated by three years' vicious living.

For three days he had shut himself up in the palace, refusing to do business or see any one. His fit of passion on hearing of the Spanish landing brought on an indisposition which lasted all yesterday.

The Sultan plunged at once into the matter of the Lamta outrages, which the village was wiped out and the women and children were sold into slavery. He waited with obvious impatience during the recital of my personal virtues necessary to the presentation, and as soon as I had made my bow, waved me to a chair, leaned forward, gripping his knees nervously and began as follows:

"The story of Lamta that has reached Europe is an infamous lie. What is done is done, and in the case of this village of Lamta, what was done was well done. Instead of an undeserved outrage Lamta and the people of Lamta met with a well earned punishment, accounts of which have been greatly exaggerated.

THE LAST STRONGHOLD. "Now, listen. The people of Lamta robbed my couriers and killed two of them. The soldiers found them hanging by the heels, head downwards. Lamta was the last stronghold of the rebels near Fez, and was a well-known meeting place for the hostile tribesmen of Beni M'Ter. When other villages had surrendered Lamta still held out as a center of disaffection.

"The villagers fired on the punitive force under French and English officers which I sent against them. Therefore they were punished neither less nor more than other rebel strongholds have been punished, no one objecting. As for the sale of innocent people of which so much has been made in Europe—why, if an innocent people have suffered, they may come for redress to me."

MORE SPANISH TROOPS LANDED IN MOROCCO

TANGHER, July 14—It is stated that the Spanish transport Carlos V has landed 500 additional troops and six guns at Larache, where she landed 200 on the previous day. There is uneasiness here because of Spain's increasing activity.

CIVILIANS WIN GUARDIAN CUP BY TWO POINTS

Exceedingly Close Contest Between C. R. C. and 4th Regt Teams THE SCORES

The Guardian Trophy, for which the keenest of competition has existed in the course of four matches, was captured by the Civilian Rifle Club Saturday afternoon after a most exciting and exceedingly close finish from their worthy rivals the 4th Regiment C. A. The majority was only two points, which is itself an index of the keen yet gentlemanly rivalry between the two teams and close contest which was necessary to decide the victor.

The laurels and the cup go to the Civilian, and deservedly so, but at the same time credit must be given the 4th Regiment for the splendid struggle they put up. They went into yesterday's match with a lead of six (Continued on page 3.)

DOESN'T LIKE HEALTH REPORTS

ROME, July 14—Pope Leo, especially in the later days of his Pontificate, was accustomed to bed quite well and wake up to find himself reported at the point of death. So accustomed did he become to this that he used to scan the papers "to find out the state of my health today."

Up to within a year or two, Pius X. was almost free from this kind of annoyance, and when such a statement was made, allowed himself to be sent the trouble and discovered the source of the rumor. Once a rumor of the kind reached his sisters, who were hurrying to the Vatican, insisted on seeing him, although there is a strict rule that they must give notice of their visits. Thus some difficulties were made for them, but when they did enter his presence they were surprised at his robust condition which he boasted of.

At the present moment something of the kind is taking place. According to the rumors the Pontiff is seriously ill and a Conclave is imminent.

This, of course, is nonsense, but certainly he is not the man he was, and the trouble can be described with one word—gout. There is absolutely nothing else the matter with the Pope, but those who watch him and find he recovers ever more slowly from each attack, and in consequence is more languid.

Pius X. is certainly a genial man. He loves his kind and enjoys the breath of fresh air which he gets from the outside world through audiences. He is not like the man he was, and the trouble can be described with one word—gout. There is absolutely nothing else the matter with the Pope, but those who watch him and find he recovers ever more slowly from each attack, and in consequence is more languid.

POPE'S BROTHER IS A POSTMAN. Recently the visits of his sisters, who live "just around the corner," have been more frequent, but his health is not discussed, as he does not like the topic. "Just as the 10th of July," he cried the other day. "Thus the good ladies confine themselves to pleasant gossip about 'home' affairs. His Holiness still takes a most affectionate interest in all the members of his family. The latter, however, do not profit by his exalted position. The inn at Rome is kept just as before his nephew's wife still teaches the primary class in the village, and his brother is still a postman. Pius X. certainly cannot be accused of nepotism."

WEATHER FORECAST

TORONTO, July 17—Moderate southeasterly to southerly winds; fair and warm at first then showers, and local thunderstorms.

COMMUNICATION THROUGH PROVINCE AND WITH MAINLAND

Saturday the Northumberland left this port at 8.20 a. m., for Picton with passengers, freight, express and mail, docking at 12.00. She left on return at 4.30 p. m., docking at this port at 8.00 p. m., bringing passengers, freight, express and mail.

The Harland left Saturday afternoon at three-thirty for West River and returned at night. She had a good general cargo and a large number of passengers. Today she leaves returning Tuesday morning.

Saturday the Eastern and Southern express trains arrived on time, up the Hudson river to the Knickerbocker company's various ice stations to see if there were a scarcity of labor at any of all of them. This was the reason assigned by the company for refusing to sell ice to independent dealers during the hot spell. Minard's Liniment cures colds, etc.

ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY SIGNED

Way Now Clear for General Arbitration Treaty Some Opinions PROBABLE RESULT

Special to The Guardian. TOKIO, July 16—The revised Anglo-Japanese treaty, signed in London on Thursday, which clears the way for a general arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States, was published here Saturday. It is regarded simply as a revision suited to changed conditions. The quick signing of the treaty was a surprise to everybody.

Editorials in the leading papers are widely divergent. Some of the yellow journals were vexed at the proposition and expressed suspicion that the United States was trying to isolate Japan from the nations.

The majority of papers, however, were hopeful that the treaty would be the means of drawing the two powers closer together.

THE CONVOCATION RECOMMENDS CHANGES IN MARRIAGE SERVICE

LONDON, July 14—It has long been suggested that the form of marriage service of the Church of England is unsuitable to present-day decorum in speech, and at last action has been taken by the lower house of convocation at a meeting held in the church house at Westminster yesterday.

The alteration proposed is in the following clause of exhortation in the marriage service: "And, therefore, marriage is not by any to be entered into not taken in hand unadvisedly, lightly, or wantonly to satisfy men's carnal lusts and appetites, like brute beasts that have no understanding, but reverently, discreetly, advisedly, soberly, and in the fear of God."

It was suggested that the clause should read: "It is not by any to be taken in hand unadvisedly, lightly, or wantonly, but reverently, discreetly advisedly, soberly, and in the fear of God."

There is a great deal too much prudery about in the twentieth century," said Canon Rhodes Bristow, in opposing the proposed alteration. Canon Henson, supporting the proposal, said prudery was a bad thing, but coarseness was also a bad thing, and the sixteenth century from which this particular exhortation came was a coarse age. At his own church, St. Margaret's, Westminster, he was frequently asked by persons who were good churchmen and Christians to bowdlerize the exhortation.

After the discussion the alteration was agreed to. There was a keen debate on the proposal to modify that part of the

ENCYCLICAL FROM THE POPE

ROME, July 14—The Pope, in view of the increased cost of living, has issued an encyclical to Catholics with a view to helping the working and salaried classes.

The Pope has decided to abolish the obligation to hear mass on the days of St. Joseph and St. John the Baptist and Corpus Domini, which henceforth will be solemnized on the nearest Sunday. Catholics must continue to attend mass on Sundays, Christmas, New Year's, Twelfth Day, Ascension Day, All Saint's Day, Feast of the Conception and St. Peter and St. Paul.

If any such feasts fall on a fast day the Pope will dispense Catholics from fasting.

SUNDAY BASEBALL QUESTION

ALBANY, N. Y., July 13—After a debate which fairly bristled with Scripture quotations and extracts from the works of famous theologians, in the assembly yesterday afternoon, the bill of Assemblyman Bush, which provides local option on the Sunday baseball question, was passed. Under the measure the question can be put to a vote of the people in any community of the State on a petition signed by 5 per cent. of the electors.

NEW ARENA TO BE BUILT IN NEW YORK

Special to The Guardian. NEW YORK, July 16—That a great arena is to be built in Lexington Ave. became known yesterday when it was announced that the International Exposition Co. had been incorporated at Albany with a capital of $100,000.

The cost will reach $2,000,000 or $3,000,000. It will be two hundred and eighty-five feet long and one hundred and twenty-two feet wide and will be suitable for horse shows, bicycle races, athletic contests and political conventions.

It is to be a big improvement over Madison Square Garden.

A HALIFAX BOY CHARGED WITH FORGERY

BOSTON, July 14—A youth who says he is Russell L. Hubble, of Halifax, is the youngest prisoner ever booked by the Boston police on a charge of forgery. He says he is sixteen years old. Inspector Harris arrested him today and charges the boy with, in the most daring manner, having negotiated checks on the National Shawmut Bank, bearing the forged signatures of C. F. Fuller.

The police say that several weeks ago the boy went into the jewelry store of the E. B. Horn company and got a ring with a check for $85 to which Mr. Fuller's name was forged. This forgery put the Shawmut Bank officials on their guard. When the boy went there today with two other checks he was detained until the "bank squad" of detectives arrived.

THE PAPAL ALEGATE LEAVES FOR NEWFOUNDLAND

OTTAWA, July 14—Mgr. Stagni, papal legate, accompanied by Mr. Sinnott, his secretary, left Ottawa tonight for Montreal on his way to St. John's, Nfld. It is understood that he will spend some time in Newfoundland.

LINKING UP WITH THE INTERCOLONIAL

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 14—The Canadian Northern Railway today awarded a contract to a St. Paul firm for the construction of 550 miles of railway to cost $15,000,000. The line will extend from Port Arthur, Ont., to the north shore of Lake Superior to Sellswood Junction, just north of Sudbury.

MOTORMAN DROPPED DEAD BUT DISASTER AVERTED

NEW YORK, July 14—The question of what happens if a motorman of a speeding subway express train drops dead at his post, was most assuredly answered today when a ten-car express train crowded with passengers during the rush hours, came to a sudden stop between stations. The motorman, Wm. A. Stone, was found under the third car dead. He had opened the window of his "box" to get air and had fallen out while his controller was at full speed. An emergency button, on which the motorman's hand naturally rests while working the controller was released when he fell, automatically shutting off the power, and applying the air brakes. Within three car lengths, the train came to sudden stop averting what otherwise might have proved a disastrous collision with a train ahead.

U.S. IMPORTS FOR JUNE SHOW AN INCREASE

Cotton Export Also Shows An Increase at Present-Naval Manoeuvres SHAM BATTLES

NEW YORK, July 16—The completed record of a remarkable year in country's imports trade was made public yesterday with figures for June showing an increase in grain, meats, cotton and mineral oil for the fiscal year of nearly $140,000,000.

During the year the greatest increase was in the export favor of United States following the period in which foreign trade was in an unsatisfactory condition.

NEW YORK, July 16—In preparation for an extensive war game 820 officers and men of the New York division of the naval militia embarked yesterday on battleships that will attack the fleet attempting to defend Long Island Sound.

At the finish of the sham fight the company vessels will gather for manoeuvres.

marrage exhortation which describes the first cause for which marriage was ordained. A committee recommended that the cause should be: "It was ordained for the increase of mankind," instead of "It was ordained for the procreation of children."

The archdeacon of Birmingham said he did not think the inclusion of the word "procreation" was at all effective. To a large number of persons it was widely offensive, and, as a priest uttered it with hesitation and slurred over it, a great deal of the effect of the teaching which the exhortation was meant to convey, and which he regarded as extremely valuable, was lost.

The committee's recommendation was agreed to. The next proposal was to omit entirely the paragraph indicating the second cause of matrimony, and being: "Secondly, it was ordained for a remedy against sin."

Procurator Pennefather moved an amendment that the passage be retained. The archdeacon of Berkshire seconded it, and said that he would like Canon Henson to warn persons who were married in fashionable churches, that passages in vows which allowed their daughters to read, that was the real danger of the time. Cultivated persons who considered the words of the marriage service coarse, he added, were those who left in their drawing rooms books containing language which had an immoral influence on their daughters.

The amendment was defeated, and the committee's recommendation was carried.

AMERICAN BEEF PACKERS MUST GO

NEW YORK, July 14—American beef packers must go to Argentine for their product, said J. Ogden Armour today, if they wish to retain their hold upon the exportation of beef. The Chicago packer was asked what was meant by the American beef man's invasion of South America, when he arrived from Europe on the steamer Lusitania.

The United States cannot longer afford to export beef, he continued, for it is all needed to supply the home demand. This has been the condition for some time, and it is more forcibly put to the American packer every day. There is a great demand in Germany and England for packed meats, and Argentine offers the simplest solution.

THIS POLICEMAN GOT A BIG SURPRISE

NEW YORK, July 14—As he was leaving a Brooklyn police station early this morning, Sergeant Michael Lane espied an object on the sidewalk which looked to be a rubber football. He stepped back a few paces, got a running start and gave the supposed ball a kick. It was a bomb. Sergeant Lane fell to the street unconscious, and every window in the station house was shattered. The sergeant was removed to the hospital in an unconscious condition. Detectives who examined the fragments of the bomb said that it had contained enough powder to blow up a city block.

DO NOT SCOLD

Mothers, don't scold. You can be firm without scolding your children; you can reprove them for their faults, you can punish them when necessary, but don't get into the habit of perpetually scolding them. It does them no good. They soon become so accustomed to fault-finding and scolding that they pay no attention grow hardened and reckless in consequence of it. Many a naturally good disposition is ruined by constant scolding, and many a child driven to seek evil associates because there is no peace at home. Mothers with their many cares and perplexities, often fall into the habit unconsciously but it is a bad habit for them and their children. Watch yourselves, and don't indulge in this unfortunate and often unintentional manner of addressing your children. Watch even the tones of your voice, and, above all, watch your hearts; for we have divine authority for saying that "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh."
