"Captain Is A Lady" At Capitol

Heaping portions of romance and comedy are dished up for moviegoers in "The Captian Is a Lady," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre. Amid laughter and pathos engendered by a great cast of character actors a new romantic team is introduced.

The team is composed of Virginia Grey and Dan Dailey, Jr. Dailey, a tall young blonde is cast in the juvenile lead on the strength of a telling performance in his first screen role in "The Mortal Storm." Before entering pictures he was a musical comedy star. While on tour in "I Married an Angel" he was seen by talent scouts and signed to a long-termed contract.

Miss Grey, the other half of the new romantic duo, first won plaudits from critics for her role in "The Women." She further established herself with her performance in "Thunder Afloat". Now in "The Captain Is a Lady" she takes one step further toward stardom with an appealing sincere performance.

The action of the film principally revolves around Abe Peabody, a scheming, cantankerous yet lovable old seafaring man whom Charles Coburn plays to the hilt. In scenes which find him in an Old Ladies' Home, Coburn brings a seldom equalled hilarity to the screen.

Surrounding Coburn is an impressive group of Hollywood's top character actresses. Beulah Bondi plays the wife of the old seaman, who joins her when she goes to live in an Old Ladies' Home. Inmates of the home, whose sentiments range from mid-Victorian to ultra-modern are played by Helen Broderick Billie Burke, Helen Westley, Cecil Cunningham and Marjorie Main.

Each a scene stealer in her own right, these actresses are equally adept at bringing gales of laughter or silent tears. In "The Captain Is a Lady" their purpose is laughter, and they succeed. They tear through the scenes with a robustness that illustrates what happens when several scene stealers are cast in the same picture.

Robert Sinclair director of the film, has supplemented the story with touches of his own that add to its charm and humour. With pleasing effect, he has carefully balanced romance and comedy. Frederick Stephani has given the picture an effective yet unpretentious production and Leonard Smith contributes effective photography.

Included on the program is another in the Camera Adventure Series — a Travalogue — and a Color Parade.

With this splendid competition Badminton bids to grow in popularity during the coming weeks.

PRESENTATION — On Saturday, February 22, a very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Willis, Cornwall, in honor of Florence Macrae, teacher in Meadowbank School who has accepted a position in the National Defence department of the Civil Service in Ottawa. Mr. Colin MacPhail interrupted the gaiety and called upon Miss Muriel Macdonald to read a very nice address, while Miss Erma Bain presented Florence with an exquisite fitted travelling bag. After Florence fittingly replied, the crowd sang "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow." The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to the rhythmic melody of Francis Doyle's violin and Charlie MacKinnon on the guitar.

LEGION LIBRARY—The Library Committee of the local Canadian War Services wish to acknowledge with thanks further donations of books received during the past week from Mr. E. A. Brown, Mrs. Russell Chandler, Mrs. Graves, Miss M. L. Jenkins, Dr. H. L. Johnson, Mrs. J. A. Mathieson, Mrs. A. E. Morrison, Mr. Ivan Reddin. Miss Olive Ritchie, Mr. E. A. Shannon, Mrs. F. SOCIAL GATHERING AT KINGSTON — A most enjoyable evening was spent on Friday, February 28th when the members of Queen Mary and King William Lodges, their respective husbands and wives, assembled for a social time together. A very entertaining program was arranged for the occasion and Brother George Beers and Sister Isabel Newson, presided, while Brother Beers, capably acted as chairman. The first item on the program was the singing of O Canada, followed by the opening Chorus. Remarks were then made by the chairman. An address of welcome was given by Brother Reuben Barrett. Instrumental music was efficiently rendered by Sister Lila Holmes, Brother Davis Ward, Donald MacDonald and Chalmers Newson. Master Roland Ward also played some harmonica selections. Two humorous dialogues. An Easter Disappointment and Managing a Husband, caused much excitement. Brother Richard MacLean performed some lively step-dancing. A patriotic flag drill was certainly enjoyed by all present. A dainty lunch was served by the ladies, and all then joined in singing Blest Be The Tie That Binds and The National Anthem. A jolly half hour was spent in playing games and everyone departed for their homes with the feeling, "hope we have a social evening soon again."

FAREWELL GATHERING — On Saturday night, February 22, a goodly number of school chums friends and neighbours gathered in the sociable and spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Willis, Cornwall, for the purpose of remembering a neighbouring school teacher, choir member and community social worker, Miss Florence McRae, before her departure for Ottawa, where she will accept a Civil Service Commission. After all the guests had assembled and Misses Bernice McArthur and Louise Bain had escorted Miss McRae to the seat of honor, Mr. Colin D. McPhail, in a few well chosen words explained the purpose of the gathering, then calling upon Miss Muriel MacDonald to read the address, while Miss Erma A. Bain made the presentation of a beautiful week end kit, with comb, brush and mirror, accompanied by a small sum of money. Florence in very fitting words, thanked one and all for their kind remembrances. It is to be noted here that all the girls who officiated at the presentation were school chums and are now all near by successful school teachers. After the presentation, lunch was served by the young ladies present and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing, Chinese checkers and social conversation. Late Saturday night all rejoined their homes after wishing Florence much success in her new work.

The bride was attired in a dress of royal blue with matching accessories. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacLean sister of the bride and her husband. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Walter Solomon, Tuesday morning. They returned by train to the home of the groom they were accompanied by his sister Kathleen. On the evening of their arrival in Charlottetown a shower was held at the home of the groom's parents and they received many beautiful gifts. A very enjoyable evening was spent and was bought to a close by singing The Are Jolly Good Fellows.

The appointment of Lord Somers, Deputy Chief Scout to the late Lord Baden-Powell as Chief Scout for the United Kingdom, and later announcement of a suggestion that Lord Somers be made Chief Scout of the British Commonwealth, has special interest for Canadians.

In 1912 as a young man, Lord Somers spent some time on a farm near Pickering, Ont., associated with his brother-in-law the young Lord Hyde.

Older neighbors still recall him as a tall, fair young man, who participated cordially in the life of the community. He became an affiliated member of the local Masonic Lodge and as organist accompanied members on fraternal visits to other lodges. He was made a sidesman of the Anglican church.

It was the plan of the two young noblemen to carry on mixed farming, specializing in fruit. The plan was cut short by the sudden death in England of Lord Hyde's father the Earl of Clarendon, and the succession of Lord Hyde to the title.

Lord Somers saw active service throughout the first Great War first as a Lieutenant-Colonel of the Life Guards and later as O.C. of a unit of the then new Tank Corps, in which he notably distinguished himself, winning the M.C. and D.S.O.

In 1926 Lord Somers was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Victoria Australia, and it was there that he became active in Scouting, as Chief Scout of the State He returned to Australia as acting Governor-General in 1930.

From the first, Lord Somers was a keen and active Scouter. He took the regular Wood Badge training course at Gilwell Park, and as "Scout" Somers of the Wood Pigeon Patrol did his turn at all duties including cock and cookee.

He was made Deputy Chief Scout at Lord Baden-Powell's request in 1937, and was leader of the British contingent in that year to the 5th World Scout Jamboree in Holland.

Early in the present war, after having played a large part in the organization of British Scouts for war services he was claimed by the Red Cross, and sent as Commissioner for the Middle East to organize relief work in Turkey, Palestine, Iran and adjacent countries.

The appointment of Lord Somers as Chief Scout of the British Commonwealth will be made upon the formal approval of the Boy Scout Associations of the various countries of the Empire. According to announcement by Lord Hampton, Chief Scout Commissioner the late Lord Baden-Powell's title, "Chief Scout of the World," will be kept exclusively as a memorial for all time to the founder of the great world Scout movement.

A refugee from invaded Holland a former leader in work for crippled children at The Hague, Cubmaster Dirk Boon, has became leader of the Wolf Cub Pack of the Home for Incurable Children Toronto.

Dublin Sea Scouts have made it one of their wartime jobs to seek out crews of torpedoed vessels who reach the Irish capitol, and render them any assistance possible. Two officers of a Swedish ship recently helped proved to be formal Scouts.

The French Boy Scouts Federation has set up temporary headquarters at Vichy, according to reports from Switzerland. Throughout unoccupied France the Scouts have formed themselves into temprary patrols and are doing much work in helping evacuees from occupied France.

An impressive international tribute to the late Lord Baden-Powell was that paid at a Boy Scout rally at Buffalo on the 31st birthday of Scouting in the United States, Feb. 8. Before a silent, standing assembly of over 11 000 persons, filling Memorial Auditorium, colour parties of American and Canadian Scouts stood in a spotlight with crossed and lowered flags--the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes--for a minute of silence, followed by the blowing of the American Last Post, 'Taps," by an American Scout. Among the many prominent citizens and Scout leaders in the audience were President Walter W. Head and Chief Executive Dr. James E. West of the Boy Scouts of America. The Canadian Scouts were from Fort Erie, Ont.

MARGARET EILEEN O'NEILL

Previous to the removal of her body to Prince Edward Island, the funeral service of Miss Margaret Eileen O'Neill were held in St. Mary's Church, Viking, Alberta, on Friday morning, February 14th, at 11 o'clock where Solemn Requiem Mass was sung by her brother, Rev. J. R. O'Neill, Villeneuve, Alta., assisted by Revs. R. J. O'Neill and Thomas Foran, as deacon and subdeacon. The sermon for the occasion was preached by Dr. C.J. Foran, St. Anthony's Church, Edmonton. Present in the sanctuary for the Funeral Mass were Revs. M. McCarthy, Killam, Alta, E. Berrigan, C.SS.R., Edmonton, M. Volk, Hardisty, Alta., James Asne, Edmonton, Alta., N. Schmeltzer, Tofield, Alta. Father Schmeltzer acted as Master of Ceremonies for the Mass. At the conclusion of the funeral services, the body rested in the church until its removal to the station for shipment to Eastern Canada. Rev. J. R. O'Neill, pastor of Villeneuve, accompanied the body to Charlottetown, where interment was made in the family plot.

The late Eileen O'Neill came to Viking in September, 1938. She was born in Charlottetown, November 17, 1916, the youngest child of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill. She received all her education in Charlottetown where she successfully passed her Normal school examinations in May, 1934. In June of that year she entered the nurses' training school of the Charlottetown Hospital from which she graduated in July 1937. Not having very good health in Prince Edward Island, she came to Western Canada the following year, where she found the climate to her liking and soon felt vigorous and strong again. In August, 1939, she met with an unfortunate accident, while diving at Lake Thomas, which, effecting her spine, left her paralyzed until the time of her death. Her death was due to various complications which set in as a result of the accident. During the eighteen months of her illness she never complained, but left all things in the hands of God Who gave her life and Who saw fit to take her to Himself at the early age of twenty-four years.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her mother, Mrs. John O'Neill, Charlottetown, P. E. I., and the following brothers and sisters, Rev. J. R. O'Neill, Villeneuve, Alta.; Rev. R. J. O'Neill, Viking; Fred, Fanny Bay, B.C.; Helen, Mary (Mrs. Ray Stull), Frank and Charles all of Charlottetown, P. E. I.

The pall bearers were Messrs. A. Golka, A. Streit, Alfred Klontz, Vincent Slavik and John Pratt.—Edmonton Exchange.

HAROLD R. JOHNSON DIES SUDDENLY

Relatives and friends were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of H. R. John on at Oxbow, Sask., on February 8th.

Harold Raymond Johnson, B. A. B. Ed., who was in his 42nd year was born at Elgin, N. B. He started school at Souris, P.E.I. and then Kensington and later Prince of Wales College.

He commenced his teaching duties in Saskatchewan in 1919 and for a number of years was Principal of the High School at Rouleau. For nine years previous to coming to Oxbow, he held a similar position at Grenfell, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Johnson was appointed Supt. of Schools for the Oxbow Inspectorate in September.

While not very well acquainted in Oxbow, the late Mr. Johnson was quite well known in other parts of the Province where he had been closely associated with the teaching profession. He was held in the highest esteem by those who knew him well. His was a charming personality and he possessed an inspiring individuality as a teacher. His life had been devoted to his work, and he gave beyond his physical ability undermining his strength which led to a nervous breakdown.

At the age of seventeen he enlisted in the last Great War, and saw one year overseas. A shell condition following the war had left his nerves in a high strung condition.

He was a loving and tender husband and father, and his thoughts and motives had always been for his home and loved ones. To his sorrowing widow and two children Yvonne, age 12 and Barry, 5 years old will go the heartfelt sympathy of the community. He also leaves two sisters Margaret in Calgary, Alberta and Mildred of Winnipeg and two brothers Scott of Winnipeg and Ed of Toronto.

A brief funeral service was held at his home on Monday afternoon at which a number of friends were present, as well as members of the Oxbow Legion who acted as pallbearers. The funeral party afterwards proceeded to Wolseley where service was held in the United Church conducted by Rev. G. G. Heffelfinger of Oxbow. Interment was made in Wolseley Cemetery.

EUNICE THELMA BRIDGES

At her home in Cascumpec, Eunice Thelma Bridges passed away from the scenes of earth early Wednesday morning, Feb. 19th, at the age of 38 years.

The deceased, a daughter of Gilbert and the late Mrs. Bridges, was born in Roxbury, Mass, but, while still a child, came with her parents, to Locke Road, P. E. I. where her early years were spent. In her teens she became an invalid and later lived about two years with relatives in Boston and vicinity, hoping the change would improve her health. A few years later she went to Calgary, Alta., where she remained for three years and underwent a major operation. About ten years ago she returned to her home in Cascumpec where her parents had moved during her absence.

Though handicapped by physical weakness, her life was a shining example of victorious living. She possessed a cheerful disposition, a keen sense of humour and a strong Christian faith. She loved the beautiful, the true and the worthwhile things in life. Her friends were never depressed while visiting her; rather they were cheered and encouraged to face the trials of life by contact with her heroic spirit. She took a keen interest in the life of the community and in all its people, young and old. Indeed everybody loved Eunice even to the smallest child. Truly the success of a life does not depend upon its length in years.

She was a member of Cascumpec United Church and was for some time a member of the choir and assistant Superintendent of the Mission Band. However for the past few years her failing health has not permitted her to carry on this work or even to leave her home except on rare occasions.

She was the author of a number of short poems several of which have been published in newspapers and magazines.

There are left to mourn her sorrowing father, three sisters and one brother, namely, Laurie, Mrs. Arthur Ferguson, Wollaston, Mass.; Vera, Mrs. Clifford Collicut, Burton, P. E. I.; Iva and Melvin at home. Her mother predeceased her less than a year ago.

The funeral service was held in the home on Friday afternoon, Feb. 21st and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. M. K. Charman, who gave a very appropriate and helpful address. The hymns sung were "Never Further Than Thy Cross," "All the Way My Saviour Leads Me," and "The Sands of Time Are Sinking."

The pall bearers were Heber Profit, Horace Gamble, Hostan Hierliley, Kenneth Leard, Henry Bridges and Eskine Lewis. Interment was in Cascumpec cemetery.

In Memoriam

MR. PATRICK LYNN

In the recent passing of Mr. Patrick Lynn, the district of Auburn mourns the loss of one of its oldest and one of its most respected citizens. The son of the late James Lynn and the late Nellie Collins, the deceased was born some eighty-four years ago. Apart from a few years passed in the United States, Mr. Lynn spent practically all his life in his native district.

By his demise there is severed a kind friend, a hospitable neighbor, an exemplary Christian and a loyal citizen. Here was a man who took delight in rendering assistance to all, especially to the sick and needy. In his religious connections a Catholic, he was "not merely a hearer of the word but a doer also". A keen and intelligent reader Mr. Lynn kept constantly informed on the progress of the European conflict and was one of those who placed unwavering hope and unflagging confidence in the ability of Great Britain to overwhelm the forces threatening to destroy Christian civilization.

During his last illness the deceased was tenderly nursed by his niece, Miss Laura Lynn and by his nephew, Mr. Damian Lynn. Nothing that a constant vigilance, human kindness and unselfish care, could contribute was spared by his affectionate niece and nephew in order to assuage the pangs of death which were swiftly drawing on. He had the added consolation of receiving the Last Rites of his church from his pastor, Rev. Dr. Louis P. Callaghan and thus fortified, he breathed his last on the night of February 11.

His largely attended funeral solemnly wended its way to Fort Augustus on the morning of Feb. 13. High Mass for the repose of his immortal soul was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Callaghan who also officiated at the grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Edward J. Roach, Edwin Curley, James McKenna, Raymond Boyland, Joseph McEntee and Patrick Callaghan. Requiem aeternam dona ei Domine, et lux perpetua luceat ei.

thoroughly!"

She managed to lower her glass to the window sill without spilling any more; through a haze she was aware that Hawksford was looking at her fixedly. She pulled herself together with a supreme effort.

Allen, who had smashed his glass in the fireplace, was laughing about it, and had not noticed her.

"Break it!" he was saying to Miss Marris, as she finished drinking. "Break it—you really should break it, you know!"

"I certainly shall not," said Miss Marris. "What on earth will they think of us here?"

Lorna managed a smile, but a painful fancy seized her. There was something queer about Allen's manner! It was strange and abnormal! Had he suspicions about herself and Hawksford such as Miss Marris had had? Was that why he had asked Hawksford to drink with them? She drank the rest of her champagne hurriedly. Hawksford was moving directly towards the door.

"I must go!" Allen said abruptly, "I'll have to go at once if I'm to be in town by four-thirty!"

"How wretched! Must you?" said Lorna.

"A hundred-and-twenty miles of dusty, difficult roads!" said Allen. "I can't stay another moment!"

Hawksford departed saying: "Thanks very much!" as he went. Allen said goodbye to Miss Marris and walked out immediately. Lorna went with him. On the stairway, out of the sight of prying eyes, he drew her to him abruptly and kissed her, saying: "Darling!"

The words she struggled to find were unnecessary, for he hastened on, and three minutes later he was in his car, waving goodbye. A roar, a pull of dust, and he was gone; the nightmarish incident was at an end. And she hadn't told him about Hawksford, she hadn't breathed a word about the awful things weighing on her mind, or the unknown difficulties she was about to face!
