STYLE In Millinery

is not a mere matter of dollars and cents—not the consequence of leaving an order. It's the result of ARTISTIC TASTE without which the best efforts are dismal failures.

That is the reason this store's millinery gives such entire satisfaction, the reason that of hundreds of millinery customers this spring, none were dissatisfied. All are united in praising the artistic work of our splendid milliners.

New shapes and trimmings arriving almost daily makes it easy for us to satisfy the most particular. There isn't any other store in so good a position to make your new hat as this store.

And although it may not be a consideration—the price will be much less than you might expect.

In the Apothecaries' Hall may be seen a bottle in which are a number of young lobsters, very small, which were brought in from the hatchery at the Blockhouse. The youngsters, which are very active, appear to be all eyes and tall and are about one-eighth of an inch long. They are interesting to see.

At the Opera House last night a large audience was present to witness the presentation of The Convict's Daughter, a drama that was staged and played in a manner very much in advance of the average to which theatergoers in Charlottetown are accustomed. The company is deserving of the best reports, the work of the various members being careful, clever, and well balanced. Interest in the plot was sustained, and the delineation of the various characters was rewarded with hearty applause, testifying to the satisfaction of the audience with the work of the players.

While Mrs. Janeway, she used to spend some summers at Shaws Hotel, Braekley Point, where many Charlottetown people met her years ago. It is gratifying to be able to record the good impression that is being made by the S.S. Empress. The Moncton Transcript says that a Monctonian who returned from Prince Edward Island says that the bill of fare served on the new steamer, the Empress, beats any of the very best hotels in the maritime provinces. The dinner was well patronized and all the passengers had but one opinion and that is "Good enough for a King."

The rain storm which has prevailed with more or less violence, since Saturday afternoon seems to have been felt in greater or less degree all over the Island. At the present time the general impression is that there has been enough rain to last for a while. At Camp Brighton, the ground is in a somewhat sodden condition, and as the tents for the 82nd Battalion have to be pitched there today to accommodate the men, fine weather is anxiously looked for. Those who are weather wise predict finer weather today, and the probabilities support their belief.

ALICE LONG Liberal writes: "By a late number of your valuable and independent paper I see timely comments on the disgraceful state of the roads. Let me draw the attention of the powers that be, to the wretched state of the roads through Marshfield and Dunstaffnage. At this date 23rd of June, part of the district, left as the spring freshets have left them, are positively dangerous to the travelling public. To attempt to take the centre of the road opposite Mr. Wyatt's farm, would be to risk life and carriage. This directly under the eye, and within a few miles of the abode of Inspector Brodie, is surely criminal neglect. Is this treatment the result of the reduced majority given the Commissioner of Public Works at the last general election? It would appear so. If this part of the road is not attended to immediately, the majority will be reduced still lower."

A PRETTY wedding was solemnized in St. John, on the 20th inst., when Miss Eva Estelle James became the bride of Chas. L. Wood, eldest son of Lewis R. Wood, and formerly of Charlottetown but now on the travelling staff of Manchester, Robertson, Allison Ltd. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, Miss Eva McNichol was bridesmaid and A. G. Youngelaus supported the groom. The bride was becomingly gowned in white silk, with ribbon and lace trimmings, and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid, who also carried a bouquet, was dressed in white with trimmings of lace and ribbons. The bride's travelling suit was of grey cloth with hat to match. That Mr. and Mrs. Wood enjoy general esteem and popularity was evidenced by the large number of handsome gifts. From Mr. Wood's associates in Manchester Robertson, Allison, Ltd., came a Morris chair; the groom's gift to the bride was a piano. Mr. and Mrs. Wood left on the late express for Halifax. They will also visit Charlottetown and other points and on return will reside at 48 Sumner street.
