42-Day Steel Strike Estimated Costliest In History of United States

FITTSBURGH, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation today joined the growing line of steel firms to make peace with the striking United Steelworkers' Union (C.I.O.).

The Wheeling agreement followed the familiar Bethlehem pattern which first cracked the steel deadlock two weeks ago.

United States Steel Corporation's capitulation Friday virtually ended the paralyzing strike, costliest in the history of the United States. The 42-day strike cost nearly $1,000,000,000.

Steel companies which traditionally follow the lead of "Big Steel" are expected to sign with the steelworkers as fast as lawyers can draw up contracts.

Major firms still on strike include Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corporation, Crucible Steel; Pittsburgh Steel and Sharon (Pa.) Steel.

But although the great steel strike of 1949 is practically over, thousands of steelworkers face a bleak Christmas.

Most steelworkers will get only two pay cheques before Dec. 25.

Some families will be weeks catching up with back rent and credit which was extended to them during the strike for free pensions and insurance.

Here are the results of the United States most costly steel strike:

1. Steelworkers obtained $100-a-month, company-financed pensions including social security. They also got a five-cent hourly insurance program in which they pay half the cost.
2. The United States lost a conservative estimate of $75,000,000 in steel wages and steel production, other hundreds of millions indirectly.
3. United president Murray was happy over the settlement.

Engineer Injured As Trains Collide

PLASTER ROCK, N.B., Nov. 13 (CP)—The engineer of a westbound freight train suffered minor injuries Saturday when it collided head-on with an eastbound freight on the Canadian National Railways line here.

Engineer R. Parris of Edmundston, N.B., the only person hurt in the accident, was taken to the Tobique Valley Hospital with a broken arm and facial cuts. He suffered the injuries in jumping just before the crash. Other trainmen escaped by jumping when they saw a collision was inevitable.

The eastbound train was waiting at the station for the westbound to take a siding when the accident occurred. Both locomotives were damaged. Six cars of the westbound freight and one of the eastbound were derailed, with some thrown 50 feet into the station yard from the track.

Couple Killed On Railway Crossing

McGIVNEY, N. B., Nov. 13 (CP)—A man and his wife were killed at this central New Brunswick rail junction Friday night when a slow-moving train ground into their car on a level crossing.

Victims were Joseph H. Pelletier, 33, and his wife, Lauretta, also 33, of Connors, N. B. They had been married only six months.

R.C.M.P. said the Canadian National Railways train, bound from Moncton to Edmundston, was moving into the station when it rammed the automobile.

The couple had been en route to Chatham, N. B., where Pelletier was to have replaced a fellow customs officer.

Dr. Charles MacKay, Fredericton, York County coroner, ordered an inquest for Wednesday. The bodies were taken to Connors Saturday for burial.

Both the train pulling into McGivney station, and the car were reported travelling slowly when the crossing accident occurred. A slippery road was believed a possible factor in the crash.

A broken truck on the C.N.R. locomotive, No. 51, delayed continuation of the train's trip to Quebec until a substitute engine arrived from Napadogan. The 1948 automobile was destroyed.

Yugoslavia Ditches Treaty With Albania

By Alex H. Singleton
BELGRADE, Nov. 13 (AP)—Yugoslavia Saturday ditched her treaty of friendship and alliance with Albania, 10 days after delivering a sharply worded note to her little southern neighbor.

Marshal Tito's Government charged that Albania, goaded by Soviet Russia and her eastern European dependencies, committed unfriendly acts.

In a note handed the Albanians Nov. 2, Yugoslavia told her to stop these hostile gestures and to live up to the terms of their 1947 friendship treaty. A reply was demanded "within the shortest possible time."

Albania ignored the demand.

It was the first time that Yugoslavia, badgered for months by Russia and her Balkan followers, has taken the initiative in scrapping one of the alliances which formerly bound them together.

Earlier, following campaigns of mutual abuse and accusation, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria severed treaty ties with Belgrade. Diplomatic relations, however, continue.

Saturday's formal note—more than 3,000 words long—handed to the Albanian Legation at noon, listed these specific grievances against the tiny Communist state on the shores of the Adriatic:

1. It had carried on a furious and hostile press and radio campaign against Yugoslavia.
2. Used unheard-of methods in its official communications of state.
3. Prevented Yugoslavians owning border property from crossing the frontier to their holdings on the Albanian side. These Yugoslavs were arrested and mistreated.
4. It organized a group of traitors and deserters to provoke frontier incidents and carry on subversive activities against Yugoslavia.
5. It was the first to start a "provocative trial aimed at slandering" Yugoslavia.

Trapped As Flimsy House Is Destroyed

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP)—Two men and a five-year-old boy were burned to death today in a flash fire that turned their flimsy, tin-covered home into a blazing inferno.

Killed in the 12:45 A.M. blaze, believed started when an oil-lamp overturned, were:

Patrick Conlon, 40; his son James, and Jack O'Neill, 49, who was visiting the Conlon family.

Two other occupants of the shack on the edge of Bronson dump in Ottawa South escaped with minor burns. They were Mrs. Margaret Conlon, wife of Patrick Conlon and mother of James, and her two-year-old son, Terence.

A heroic rescue attempt by a neighbor, Rheel Demers, saved the life of Terence Conlon.

Awakened by the screams of Mrs. Conlon as she raced from the blazing building to summon aid, Mr. Demers rushed to the shack and dragged the baby through a rear window. He was driven back by the flames.

Mr. Demers said that when he awakened, the entire front of the Conlon shack was ablaze.

Other neighbors said Mr. O'Neill made his way almost to the safety of the front door when he was pinned to the floor by wreckage from the roof caving in.

The tin covering of the walls of the building twisted and buckled in the searing flames and the building collapsed within a few minutes.

Betty Tolhe, above, of Toronto, had a lucky hunch that a painting her mother bought 50 years ago for $5 might be an old master. She took it to New York city and an expert there assured her that the painting was done by a student of Titian, 16th century Italian artist. He said he is unable to estimate its value.

Will Permit Inspection But No Commission

Says Large-Scale Explosive Work Underway In Russia.

(By Norman Altstetter, Canadian Press Staff Writer)
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 13 (CP)—Andre Y. Vishinsky told the United Nations Saturday Russia stands by her offer to allow inspectors to enter Soviet territory under a system of international control of atomic energy.

But he reiterated, in an address before the special political committee of the U. N. Assembly, that Russia will never give up one bit of the best step that can be taken by any international commission.

Charging that the Western Powers wish to limit Soviet economic development through atomic energy resources, Vishinsky said in a wrap-up speech in the debate on control of atomic energy and prohibition of atomic weapons, that large-scale explosive work is taking place in Russia.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada told the committee that in the face of the East-West deadlock, the best step that can be taken by the assembly is:

1. Call attention to the issues involved.
2. Instruct the Big Five and Canada to continue their talks examining "all concrete suggestions and all avenues of approach."

Speaking for the Western Powers, McNaughton said a Venezuelan proposal to appoint a mediator for the atomic problem is not appropriate at this time.

Expect Vote

The 50-member committee is expected to vote Monday on Canadian-French, Indian, Haitian.

"No Reservations" Czech Gov't Warns Priests

PRAGUE, Nov. 13 (AP)—Roman Catholic priests were told Saturday the Czechoslovak Government will accept no reservations in their oaths of loyalty.

Vaclav Nosek, Communist Minister of the Interior, in effect rejected the offer of Czechoslovakia's bishops for priests to swear allegiance to the Communist Government on the condition they would violate no Divine or Church laws or human rights.

The bishops' special dispensation to the priests was offered Oct. 25 so the clergy could stay out of jail. It represents a retreat from the stand that priests could take no oath of loyalty to the government.

"To this Nosek said no," his declaration was in a speech before a conference of officials of the regional national committees. These committees are charged with local administration of the new Church control laws which went into effect Nov. 1. The laws make the clergy of all denominations civil servants.

Nosek boasted that the Government is winning its fight with the Church.

The Papal decree of excommunication of active Communists had been a failure in Czechoslovakia and any Roman Catholic Churchman who tries to execute it will be arrested, he declared.

He also announced that the priests could not accept their new Government-increased salaries with reservations. The bishops in their Oct. 25 dispensation said the priests could take the salaries provided they informed their Church superiors.

Now that the priests are paid by the government, Nosek indicated, it expects them to obey the law to the letter no matter what their bishops tell them.

His statement coincided with the announcement that Communist President Klement Gottwald had pardoned and halted prosecution of 153 more Roman Catholic laymen charged with violating the Church laws. The announcement said all had repented their opposition and asked for clemency.

Tony Demers Is Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

CHARLOTTETOWN, Nov. 13 (CP)—Tony Demers, voted the most gentlemanly player in the Quebec Senior Hockey League last year, was found guilty Saturday of manslaughter in the death of his girl friend.

A jury in King's Bench Court took only 10 minutes to reject a murder charge and decide that the fatal beating Demers gave 32-year-old Mrs. Anita Robert warranted the less severe verdict.

The jurors added a recommendation for clemency.

Mr. Justice Cesaire Gervais announced he will sentence the former National Hockey League player Nov. 22.

There was some applause from the courtroom, jammed with 600 persons, when the jury's verdict was given. Mr. Justice Gervais sternly called for silence and the minor demonstration quickly subsided.

Mrs. Robert, whose husband is a chef in a Banff, Alta., hotel, died in a Masqo, Que., hospital Sept. 16, following a drinking party that began the previous day. She was taken to the hospital by Demers from a friend's cottage on the shore of Lake Magog.

The Crown contended Demers beat her because of jealousy and because she had called him a vile name while they drove in his car late at night through the countryside.

The defence, calling 32-year-old

War Memorial Windows Unveiled At St. James'

"This is an historic day in the life of this congregation. This is a high day, a holy day. This is the fulfillment of a dream, the incarnation of a hope, the realization of a lofty purpose. Today in these magnificent windows we would render glory to God; we would pay tribute to the sacred memory of the fallen; we would offer thanksgiving for the safe return of the survivors; we would pledge our whole souls to the creation and preservation of a just and lasting peace throughout the earth."

These were the opening remarks of a sermon delivered by the Reverend T. H. B. Somers, St. James' Church, yesterday morning following the unveiling and dedication of three stained glass windows erected to honour the memory of the eight men of the Parish whose lives were given in World War II.

The special service of Remembrance was attended by a large congregation including members of the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. and members of the Kirk Troop of Boy Scouts who attended in a body.

Mrs. Melville Andrew and Mrs. Lorne Stewart, representing the mothers of the men whose sacrifice was being commemorated. The Minister read the inscription, "To the Glory of God and in grateful memory of the men of St. James' Church who gave their lives in freedom's cause in World War II, 1939-1945: John Agnew, William Andrew, George Auld, Niall Burnett, Ira Clark, William MacLaren, John MacLean, Lorne Stewart."

Following prayers of Thanksgiving and Dedication a silence was observed. The shrill notes of "The Last Post" and "Reveille", sounded by Bugler Frank Smith, broke the stillness and marked the end of the solemn, moving ceremony of dedication.

During the service the colours

British Doctor Quits Gov't Health Service

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, Kent, England, Nov. 13 (AP)—Doctor 2108 quit the tax-supported National Health Service Saturday and went back to private practice as Dr. E. P. St. John Lyburn in a "revolt against the antiquarian methods of medicine as practised in this country."

When the health plan came into operation, Dr. Lyburn took the title "Doctor 2108", the number sent him by the Minister of Health.

Dr. Lyburn announced today he has accepted an invitation to tell the Missouri Medical Association about socialized medicine.

The invitation was made in the course of a trans-Atlantic telephone call Dr. Lyburn said.

"The man calling, and seemingly a good many persons in America, are intensely interested in the operation of our health scheme and I was urged to come over right away—today—to deliver some lectures."

"I can't go just like that, but I agreed to make a trip to Missouri next January."

"I revolt against the antiquarian methods of medicine as practised in this country," he said in his statement yesterday.

He said the British system, under which physicians and hospital fees are paid by the Government, has made overworked doctors superficial and has wasted millions of pounds "on useless pills and bottles of medicine."

Death Saturday of Mr. Frank McRory

A well known Charlottetown painter, Mr. Frank McRory, passed away in the Charlottetown Hospital Saturday. Mr. McRory was suffering from a heart ailment for some time and was taken to Hospital following an accident in which he was injured on Saturday night, Nov. 5.

There will be no inquest held, as an investigation of the accident clearly showed no fault on the part of the car driver, it was learned from Coroner Dr. Ira Yeo last night.

Mr. McRory was born in 1877, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank McRory, Charlottetown. He lived in this City throughout his entire life.

He received his primary education at Queen Square School and later entered the painting trade. Before his illness he was one of Charlottetown's oldest active painters. Mr. McRory was a valued member of the St. Dunstan's Basilica Holy Name Society.

He leaves to mourn two brothers, Rev. Louis McRory, Deer Lodge, Montana; Joseph at home, and one sister, Rev. Sister St. Clair, North Dakota.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning to St. Dunstan's Basilica.

Former Resident Of City Dies In Kentucky

The sudden death of Harry "Nuncie" Walsh, 46, former resident of this City, which occurred at Louisville, Kentucky, on Friday, will be learned with much regret here by his many friends, particularly among the horsemen of this Province.

The late Mr. Walsh, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh of this City, left the Province some 12 years ago for the United States where he has been training running horses. He was trainer for the T. D. Buhl stables of Detroit and was at Louisville with horses from that stable at the time of his death. It was reported that he had gone to bed on Thursday night complaining of a bad cold, and was found dead in his bed Friday morning.

With a love for horses since his early childhood, Mr. Walsh started his career here training horses with such well known horsemen as Johnny Conroy, Dr. R. F. Scanlan, Wellington MacNeill, and Commander George Buntain. After spending some eight years working with various stables in the United States, he left this Province permanently about 12 years ago to carry on his profession there.

The late Mr. Walsh was not married and is survived by one brother, Mr. John A. Walsh, Fitzroy Street, City.

The funeral will take place this morning at Louisville, Kentucky, where burial will also take place.

Two Burned Saturday

WAKEFIELD, Que., Nov. 13 (CP)—Two small children were burned to death Saturday when fire destroyed an isolated farm house at nearby Fieldville, Que. Dead are Raymond, five, and Rose Marie, two, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Poirier.

Mrs. Poirier heard a noise in the kitchen where Raymond was asleep. She ran to the kitchen to be met by a wall of flame. The flames spread rapidly. She also was unable to save her daughter, asleep in another room.

Mr. Poirier was cutting wood some two miles away when the fire broke out.

The fire is believed to have started from an overheated stove pipe.

BURGLARS MAKE HAUL

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—Burglars carted off $100,000 worth of furs and mink skins, but overlooked millions of dollars worth of other furs in a sumptuous showroom, police said Saturday. Ten mink coats were included in the haul from the midtown factory-showroom of importer Louis Sinker.

Prince Charles Will Spend First Birthday Quietly

By Norman Critchens
LONDON, Nov. 13 (CP)—Prince Charles of Edinburgh, born on a misty November night six years before his parents' first wedding anniversary, is one year old tomorrow.

Most of his birthday will be spent in the bright, cream-walled nursery at Clarence House, St. James's Park.

As his father, the Duke of Edinburgh, is away in Malta on naval service, the bonny blue-eyed Prince will be denied those joyful romps that the two have shared so often since he left the cradle. His mother and his jolly, good-humored nurse, Miss Helen Lightbody, will be on hand to make the day as merry as possible.

There will be a children's party during the afternoon to which all children of the royal family and many of their friends have been invited. But however fast and furious the fun may follow, Charles will be put to bed at his usual hour—6 p.m.

For one so young, Charles has exerted great influence on life outside his environment. He has set nursery fashions for children all over the world. He has influenced the toy trade to the extent that celluloid ducks and plastic fish have been sold overseas on the recommendation "as used in the royal bath."

A street in Essex has been named after him. So has a ship.

Already the Prince has a "bat-

DAYTON, O., Nov. 13 (AP)—The United States Air Force now can keep its fire fighters reasonably cool in the hottest crash landings. The Air Force announced successful tests of a new glass-fibre suit which keeps firemen at a 130-degree body temperature in 2,000-degree flames.

HALIFAX, Nov. 13 (CP)—Official inland forecasts issued tonight by the Dominion Public Weather Office at Halifax: Synops.

Sunday evening there were still northerly winds and cloudy skies in the eastern part of the Maritimes. In the central part of the district, under the influence of a high pressure area, skies were clear and temperatures were below freezing. A disturbance centre was causing cloud to spread over the western regions and there was some snow in New Brunswick. This same disturbance was causing snow and occasional freezing rain in New England and Quebec.

Southerly winds ahead of the disturbance are bringing milder air into the district. Rain can be expected in most regions Monday.

Regional forecasts, valid until midnight Monday:

Prince Edward Island: Rain Monday. Milder Monday afternoon to south 20. Low during the night and high Monday at Charlottetown 30 and 45.

High tide today at 3:26 A. M. and this evening at 5:28 P. M.
