MR. T. A. CRERAR ENTERS DEBATE ON ADDRESS

Urged Economy in Canada and Liberally Criticised the Government.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 25.—T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, yesterday entered the debate on the address. Mr. Crerar is the first of his party to speak this session. His entry into the discussion was followed with keen attention by a well attended House full to the galleries.

Mr. Crerar did not agree with the Opposition leader that the government was "usurping" power but he would support the Opposition amendment to the address on the confidence of the country. The speech from the Throne in Mr. Crerar's view resembled the statement "of assets and liabilities of company going into liquidation."

He had no faith in the promised revision and though the mass of evidence collected by the Tariff Commission would be of very little value, it was a great misfortune that the reciprocity with the United States had been turned down. At this there was loud Liberal cheers. Mr. Crerar weighed the development of Canadian agriculture, Canadian natural resources, support of the growing market south of the international boundary. He criticized the Dominion Trade and Commerce for having no trade agents in the United States.

He urged rigid economy, Canada should enjoy a naval holiday for five years. He regarded the acceptance of war vessels from Great Britain as the greatest mistake the government made. He touched the National Railway problem, suggesting the appointment by parliament of a committee to discuss it outside party politics.

Mr. Crerar continued the debate on the address congratulating Mr. Meighen on his accession to the premiership, it was perhaps an indication of the growing importance of the west that this important office should now be filled by a westerner. He congratulated the mover and seconder to the address saying they "made the best of a bad job." He summed up the speeches of the two party leaders saying that in effect Mr. King had said to the Premier "we want you to get out" and Mr. Meighen replied "I am going to stay here as long as I can."

PLAN LANDMARKS ON LINE OF BATTLE

Memorial Stones of Special Design to be Erected Along the Entire Length.

PARIS, Feb. 25.—Along the chosen line of the great battlefront from the North Sea to the Swiss frontier uniform landmarks in stone are to be set up as a lasting memorial. Marshal Petain is to choose the places where the stones will be set, and the cost will be borne by the Touring Club of France.

While the war was still being won it was proposed that the piping times of victory and peace the front should be marked by a great roadway along its entire length, which would usefully serve as a memorial. With victory, however, it has been found that the cost of such an enterprise was much too great to be undertaken. The French Government felt unable to do anything in the matter, and so it has been left to private enterprise to erect a great line of white memorial stones along the famous line where French, Belgian, British and American soldiers held, fought and defeated the German armies.
