

TONIGHT Tomorrow

NR JUNIORS

Chips off the Old Block

NR JUNIORS

SECRETARY

NOTICE

The Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the Hazelbrook Dairying Co., Ltd., will be held at Hazelbrook on Wednesday, January 16th at 2 p. m. All patrons are cordially invited to attend.

A. W. JONES, Secretary

819-1-5-101.

NOTICE

The Annual Meeting of the shareholders and patrons of the New Perth Dairying Co., will be held in the Factory on Tuesday, the 15th of January, 1924 at 2 o'clock p. m.

ALEX. HAMILTON, Pres.
WM. CAIN, Secretary.

New Perth, Dec. 30, 1922.
789-1-4-tue31.

NOTICE

Prince Edward Island Pharmaceutical Association Examinations.

The Board of Examiners shall meet for the Examination of Candidates in the City of Charlottetown on Wednesday, January 23rd, 1924. Candidates must give notice to the Secretary-Registrar in writing of their intention to present themselves for examination at least fifteen days before the date fixed for the examinations, and notices must be accompanied by the examination fee of five dollars and by certificates to the satisfaction of the Council that the candidates possess the qualifications prescribed in the fifth section of the Pharmacy Act. Any person entering his name and not presenting himself for examination shall forfeit his fee to the Association.

F. P. HENNESSEY, Sec'y Registrar,
P. E. I. Pharmaceutical Association,
116-1-3-tst-61

AUCTION SALE

We are authorized by Graham Jardine, Esq., to sell at his home, 82 Brighton Rd. on Wednesday, January 9th, commencing at 1 o'clock, his valuable household furniture and effects, consisting of Parlor, Dining Room, Living Room, Bed Rooms, Halls and Kitchen, Estarfield Suite, Piano (Baby Grand), one Victrola, Bural Walnut side Buffet Table, Brass Beds, Bureaus, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets, Mats, Rugs, Curtains, Table Linens, Oilcloths, lots of valuable dishes, glassware, kitchen utensils and everything of the sort. Come early.

BENJ. CARTER & SON,
Auctioneers

Lobster Fishermen Attention

We are open to contract to purchase Live Lobsters for delivery at our Tignish Run and Sea Cow Pond factories, during Spring Season 1924.

THE STRAITS FISH COMPANY, LIMITED

Point de Chene, N. B.

A. F. Davison, Managing Director.
824-1-7-101.

MA JONG

COUPON

From the Charlottetown Guardian

Please find enclosed 50c for the Ma Jong Game as announced.

Name _____
Address _____

BLACK OXEN

GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Published by arrangement with Associated First National Pictures, Inc. Watch for the screen version produced by Frank Lloyd with Corinne Griffith as Countess Zattiany.

SYNOPSIS

All New York society is talking of the beautiful young woman who has been seen at every first night performance recently. She is said to be the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago who had married a Count Zattiany; but all attempts to establish her identity prove futile. Clavering, a newspaper columnist finally manages to meet her and immediately falls in love. As time goes on he discovers that she reciprocates his feeling. He asks her to marry him and this finally forces her to reveal her identity. She herself is Mary Ogden, restored to youth by the famous Steinhach gland operation. Summoning all her courage she goes forth to Clavering the whole story of her girlhood, her unhappy marriage with Zattiany, her subsequent love affairs abroad, of her war work and its toll of her health and finally of the amazing operation which has brought back her youth. Her life is not of mind-Clavering is shocked by the revelation, but still in love.

Next morning he receives a summons from his old friend, Mrs. Ogden, a contemporary of Mary Ogden's. She is worried about her flapper granddaughter, Janet, who has declared her intention of marrying Clavering. Jim Ogden, who, in a tardy attempt at discipline, has locked his unruly daughter in her room, bursts in with the news that Janet has escaped. After an unsuccessful search of Janet's haunts Clavering and Ogden proceed to Clavering's room—and there they find her. Her plan to force Clavering to marry her by being "compromised" is completely frustrated by her father's presence, and she is wild with rage.

Continued

PAZO

Get Two Trial Boxes

PAZO OINTMENT is a Guaranteed Remedy for all forms of Piles.

Pay your druggist $1.20 for two boxes of PAZO OINTMENT. When you have used the two boxes, if you are not satisfied with the results obtained, we will send $1.20 to your druggist and request him to hand it to you.

We prefer to handle this through the druggist because his customers are usually his friends and will be honest with him.

PARIS MEDICINE COMPANY,
193 Spadina Ave., Toronto, Canada

Rheumatic Pains

Are relieved in a few days by taking 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Syrup after meals and on retiring. It dissolves the lime and acid accumulation in the muscles and joints so these deposits can be expelled, thus relieving pain and soreness. Seigel's Syrup also contains no dope nor other strong drugs to kill or mask the pain of rheumatism or lumbago; it removes the cause. 50c. and $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Annual Meeting

Hillsboro Dairying Company. The Annual Meeting of the Hillsboro Dairying Co. will be held at the factory on Wednesday, Jan'y 9th, 1924, at 2 p. m.

BLYTHE MURST, Secy.
773-1-3-tue31.

Annual Meeting of J. R. Dinnis Fox Company Ltd.

The Annual Shareholders' Meeting of the John R. Dinnis Pedigreed Foxes, Limited, will be held on Monday, Jan. 14th, 1924 at 7.30 p.m. in the Board of Trade rooms, Charlottetown, P. E. Island.

Sgd., John R. Dinnis, President.

AUCTION SALE

Of groceries at 1 o'clock, Tuesday, the 8th Inst. at our warehouse, Queen Street, and continued each day at same hour until sold, consisting of:

Biscuit, plain and fancy
Canned Goods.
Soap, laundry and toilet.
Confectionery.
Tobacco.
Baking Powder.
Spices and other goods.

J. A. FARQUHARSON & CO.

Royal Yeast Cakes

STANDARD OF QUALITY FOR OVER 50 YEARS

MAKE BETTER HOME MADE BREAD

ed with the prospect of a few hours she could call her own. These hours had been increasing during the past fortnight but were no less welcome. Not a word of that dinner was known to any but those who had attended it. People do not foul their own nest unless they are ready to desert it and sometimes not then. Moreover, the women were too ashamed or too humiliated with their failure to invite the criticism of their friends, and although they avoided the subject among themselves, their agreement to bury it was no less final for being tacit. The men, with something of the deliberation of male guests at a diplomatic dinner where there has been an unfortunate incident involving dangerous possibilities, if known, call one another up on the telephone the next day and agree to "forget it." Even Dinwiddie never heard of it. As for Madame Zattiany, she could be trusted to dismiss it from her contemptuous mind. Nevertheless, these young women, who had entertained her almost constantly, pointedly omitted her from their luncheon parties and dinners. Her new light-heartedness she had been induced to attend several parties during the past few weeks. And they had little difficulty in persuading others to follow their example. The more amiable of the younger women might have looked upon their attack that night with horror if they had heard of it, as indeed several at the dinner had done, but they were no more than the "foreign invasion" than their militant sisters. The ministrations of the men were unheeded, and when one or two tried to arrange theatre parties or dinners in Madame Zattiany's honor they received graceful rebuffs.

Even the attitude of her older friends had changed, now that the dramatic novelty of her return to them, and their first determined enthusiasm, had worn off. They were no more and more their disapproval of what she had done, the more so perhaps, as the majority of them, being excessively thin, might have accomplished a like result had not their standards protected them. This naturally inspired a certain self-realization of their superiority, which increased daily.

If she had made the attempt and failed it would have been enough, for such violations of the law of orthodoxy insulted the curious, and she had been so prepared, but triumphantly to have succeeded in making herself young again while the rest of them were pursuing their unrefined way to the grave was a deliberate insult both to themselves and to God.

Moreover, they hardly knew what to talk to her about, and although this might still have been the case had she returned to them carrying aloft the erinked and spotted flag of time, so far apart their lines had run, her scientific victory added an ever-increasing irritant. Also, she had never been a "woman's woman," and it was patent that, as ever, she was far more animated in the company of men. Inevitably, old scandals were raked up. They had been frowned upon in the days when she was protected by her husband and the great by her position. He gave her, and the rumors had been dismissed, for more interesting scandals, both public and private, at home. They no doubt would have remained in the limbo of history had she returned looking no better than themselves, but her radiant countenance of nature revived them, and these ladies discovered that their memories were more lively than might have been expected of their years.

It would be too much, as Mary told Clavering, to ask a violent contradiction of human nature from worn out glands and she left them no malice. She only wondered that Jane Ogden, Elinor Goodrich, and Lily Tracey were still faithful in private—to the world all of them preserved a united front; they would not even discuss her with their children, much less their grandchildren; but they made up their minds that it would be for the good of her soul to let her see, with no flaw in their politeness, just what uncompromisingly sensible woman of high moral and social responsibilities thought of her. Mary, being human, felt the pin-pricks, but was glad on the whole to be rid of them. Those first weeks of almost girlish pleasure in what was to her a novel society, had vanished forever on the night of her dinner. Scornful and indifferent she might be, but although they could not kill her youth, they drove home to her what she had guessed in the beginning, that the society and the companionship of young people—fashionable young people, at least—were not for her. Their conversations, interests, shallow mental attitude to life, bored her. That curious brief period of mental rejuvenescence had been due to the novelty and excitement of being in love again, after long and arid years.

And now, Judge Trent had told her that she would be free to leave in a fortnight. She had walked the three miles from Broad Street with a buoyant step, and she had vowed that never, not for any consideration whatever, would she set foot in America again. Vienna was the city of her heart as well as of her future exploits. She would buy the blue Zattiany palace from her widowed niece-in-law and make it the most famous rendezvous in Europe. But of all this nothing to Clavering until they were in the Dolomites.

She rang for her maid and exchanged her tweed walking suit for a tea gown of violet velvet and snow white chiffon, which stockings

WOMEN! DYE OLD THINGS NEW

Sweaters Waists Draperies
Skirts Dresses Gingham
Coats Kimonos Stockings

Diamond Dyes

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint any old, worn, faded thing new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store.

The United Church of Canada

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Parliament of Canada at its approaching session for an Act making provision for the completion of the union of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the Methodist Church, and the Congregational Church of Canada, to form the United Church of Canada; incorporating The United Church of Canada; providing for the admission thereto of Local Union Congregations; providing for the holding, use and administration of the property of the said Churches and the congregations thereof; and providing for the carrying of the said union into effect.

Dated at Toronto this 7th day of December, 1923.

McGREGOR YOUNG,
Bank of Hamilton Bldg., Toronto
GERSHON W. MASON,
60 Victoria St., Toronto
On behalf of the applicants.

Annual Meeting

Hillsboro Dairying Company. The Annual Meeting of the Hillsboro Dairying Co. will be held at the factory on Wednesday, Jan'y 9th, 1924, at 2 p. m.

BLYTHE MURST, Secy.
773-1-3-tue31.

AUCTION SALE

Of groceries at 1 o'clock, Tuesday, the 8th Inst. at our warehouse, Queen Street, and continued each day at same hour until sold, consisting of:

Biscuit, plain and fancy
Canned Goods.
Soap, laundry and toilet.
Confectionery.
Tobacco.
Baking Powder.
Spices and other goods.

J. A. FARQUHARSON & CO.

The Middle Ground

By Marlon Rubincam.

A YOUNG CYNIC
Chapter 70

So Jane had gone—cheerfully writing back that she was giving them all the details, when in reality she was telling them nothing at all!

"What a way to get married!" Mrs. Talbot grumbled, having read the letter several times, perhaps hoping that more information might come from a second reading. She really felt Jane was not married at all, probably because she was the sort that must experience a thing, or see a thing, before she could really believe it. Jane once laughed at her for that, and said she was of an "empirical turn of mind," a term of philosophy that meant nothing at all, naturally, to the mother.

Mrs. Talbot drew conclusions from her own experience, these conclusions she had, until recently, held as unalterable. From one or two experiences, which either she had gone through, or heard about, came a generality. The generality was a law after that.

She had not witnessed Jane's marriage. For weeks before it happened, Jane had protested that she would not marry Donald. "It isn't at all the way a marriage ought to be," she complained to Amy.

There were two ways of bringing up girls, according to her standards. One was to leave them in complete ignorance of all the vital facts of life, on the theory that the more one knows of such taboo subjects as sex, the more, unconsciously, one's mind is corrupted. The stricter adherents to this standard left their children in complete ignorance, which resulted disastrously in some cases. "Where the normal instincts are fully developed, and the mind is not given information to realize it, there's bound to be a disaster," Jane once said.

And where the girl, in blind ignorance of what she was doing, blundered and was found out, Mrs. Talbot, along with everyone else, blamed the girl as being "bad" and never once put the blame upon the mother who had left her in ignorance.

Mrs. Talbot prided herself on being broad minded about these intimate subjects. She had imparted some small bits of information from time to time, not knowing that she was treating the "who's subjects of sex as something morbid and fearful.

Yet, because she had read occasional stories of a sentimental turn, she pictures herself before Jane's marriage as indulging in long and intimate talks with her daughter, preparing her mind for marriage, and the changed life that marriage would mean. The summer before had been a great disillusion, for Jane's medical and psychological studies gave her a knowledge that her mother was certainly never likely to attain.

It was daughter, not mother, who imparted information about life, love and sex in the occasional talks these two had!

"It's a sacred subject," Mrs. Talbot said—having read that phrase often in these same sentimental stories, and not realizing that she was making it a morbid one by her attitude of timidity toward it.

But if she could not have Jane to talk to, at least there was Amy. "She's 18, it's really time she knew something," she said to herself.

So, gathering up her courage—for it required courage to talk about it, she approached the subject with Amy.

Here she was met, not with the shyness she expected of a "good and innocent" girl, but with frank and amused laughter.

"Goodness, mother, I know all that in my cradle," Amy told her. "You should hear the things the girls back home used to tell me—of course they were mostly wrong, they really didn't know anything much, they had a lot of awfully queer ideas! Of course they talked about it—just because they didn't know anything. If they had they wouldn't have been interested in it."

And when her mother wondered at that, she went on—

"Thank heaven, Jane took me in hand and taught me something truthful. Jane let me read some of her medical books—you needn't look shocked, mother, why shouldn't she? I'll tell you this, she gave me a perfectly sane, normal wholesome idea of it, not the distorted, morbid ideas the girls at home had."

The force of this logic had to be admitted. After thinking it over for a day or so, Mrs. Talbot decided Jane was right!

And a day or two after that, she searched the book shelves for some of Jane's books, and spent several afternoons alternately being shocked at the enormous frankness of the books, and admiring them for the clear and unemotional statement of the subject. "As for me," said Amy with a long as he doesn't find it out, I won't be cheating!"

A revolting vision of Adam's fat face and figure came up before Mrs. Talbot's eyes.

Tomorrow—Re-Enter Dick

Health and good looks

—the reward of internal cleanliness

HEALTH and good looks go hand in hand. If you do not keep clean internally, your looks and health are undermined together. A clogged intestine breeds poisons that reach every part of the body. These poisons ruin the complexion, and undermine health. Constipation brings on such ailments as headaches, bilious attacks, and insomnia—each of which saps your health and vitality. Soon much more serious conditions follow.

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives

Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Physicians Favor Lubrication

The lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is not a laxative and cannot gripe. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

Don't give disease a start. Adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. Nujol is not a medicine. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol

For Internal Cleanliness

Better than porridge

Children are apt to bolt down their food without chewing. That means poor teeth and poor digestion. The best food for growing children is Shredded Wheat because it encourages thorough mastication. Contains all the nutritive elements in the whole wheat grain, including the bran which is Nature's best food laxative. It is ready-cooked and ready-to-eat—delicious for any meal with hot milk, sliced bananas or other fruits.

Shredded Wheat

SHORT COURSES IN AGRICULTURE

Will be held in the Hall at York and Pownall from Wednesday, January 9th at 7.30 p. m., until Friday, January 11th at 7.30. Sessions afternoon and evening. Subjects will include Field Crops, Live Stock, Dairying and allied subjects. Everyone welcome.

845-1-8-31.

being shocked at the enormous frankness of the books, and admiring them for the clear and unemotional statement of the subject. "As for me," said Amy with a long as he doesn't find it out, I won't be cheating!"

A revolting vision of Adam's fat face and figure came up before Mrs. Talbot's eyes.

Tomorrow—Re-Enter Dick

Nujol

For Internal Cleanliness

TRADE MARK REGISTERED