

Woman's Realm / Social and Personal / Fashions / Literature

Happenings of The Week

Princess Elizabeth, bachelor of music, first woman honorary member of the institution of engineers, now can affix an F.R.S. to her name. Thursday she joined the Empire's highest scientific circle when with a dip of the pen she became a fellow of the Royal Society. In primrose yellow and under the portrait of King Charles II, founder of the society, she received the honor from the president, Sir Robert Robinson, organic chemist. Facing her was a small audience including many of the best scientific names in Britain. She signed her name on one of the specially illuminated royal pages of the red bound charter book of the society which contains the signatures of every British monarch since Charles II, and every F.R.S.

The first appearance of the Governor General and his family on the Jasper Park Lodge golf course since their arrival last Saturday, for a short vacation, had its touch of humour. It came from a spontaneous remark by the Alexander's second child, the Honourable Brian. The children were along to accompany their Excellencies who were playing together. At the first hole Viscountess Alexander, playing first, drove a long, low ball from the tee that had a good deal of roll after it landed. A little taut perhaps, the Governor General was not so fortunate. His drive sliced enough to bring it uncomfortably close to the rough had too much lift and did not carry as far. Gladly, little Brian, who had been watching closely, dashed to his mother and said, "You beat him mummy." Everyone laughed, and none more than the Governor General himself.

Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, K. C., was receiving the congratulations of his friends Monday, on the occasion of his 52nd birthday.

The Czechoslovak Minister to Canada and Mrs. Frantisek Nemecek and their daughter, Miss Eva Sichrova Nemecek, are spending some time at Backley Beach.

Miss Catherine Bethune, daughter of Major and Mrs. H. L. Bethune, left by plane yesterday for Saint John. Miss Bethune is on her way to New York, from where she will go by plane to spend a holiday with a girl friend in Caracas, Venezuela, with whom she has corresponded for the past fifteen years and between whom a very close friendship has grown.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Scott, Saint John N. B., are over on a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rupp before proceeding to their new home in Truro, N. S., to which town Mr. Scott has been transferred.

Miss Anna Blair, superintendent of the P. E. I. Hospital is spending her holidays at her home in Georgetown.

Mr. Arthur Hodgetts of Toronto arrived this week to visit his wife who is summering at the Charlottetown.

Mrs. Frances Holl Trainor, who is leaving next Thursday for Toronto, to reside with her son Mr. Bill Trainor who is now visiting his mother, is being pleasantly entertained by her friends among whom she will be greatly missed.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Traylor was the guest of her Music Symphony group at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Curran, Keppoch. After a delightful social evening the group presented Mrs. Traylor with an album of records including Techaikowsky's "First Concerto," accompanied by many good wishes for happiness in her new home.

Last evening Mrs. V. L. Dingwell was hostess at a very enjoyable party entertaining the members of St. Paul's Anglican choir of which Mrs. Traylor was leader for several years. During the gaiety of the evening and before supper was served Mrs. Traylor was presented with a sterling silver compact and several pieces of exquisite costume jewelry as farewell remembrances from the choir members who expressed general regret at their loss in her going.

Dr. H. V. Hutcheson and Mrs. Hutcheson of Tarrytown, N. Y., who are spending a short vacation here after an absence of ten years, are being warmly welcomed. They are accompanied by their daughter Miss Joan and her cousin, Miss Maria Loyds Bowman of Charleston, South Carolina, and their two young sons Robert and Ronald. Dr. and Mrs. Hutcheson, the Misses Joan and Maria Loyds are guests of Dr. Hutcheson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Hutcheson, their sons being the guests of their uncle Mr. F. Gordon Hutcheson and Mrs. Hutcheson.

Mrs. W. Chester S. McLure who recently accepted the presidency of St. James Church W. M. S. was at home to the members on Monday afternoon at her beautiful home Bonnehilley. After a delightful social hour, tea was served amid the trees and flowers in the garden, the Past President Mrs. T.

45th Wedding Anniversary

CUTTING THEIR WEDDING CAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell, 36 Warren Ave., Wollaston, Mass., celebrated their 45th Wedding Anniversary on May 28th with open house. Ten members of the original wedding party were present. The Campbell's have been residents of this City for 40 years and Mr. Campbell, formerly of Prince Edward Island, has been in the Granite Tool Manufacturing business in Quincy for 35 years.

They were married by the former Rev. W. W. Dornan of the United Presbyterian Church of Quincy and Mrs. M. of Wollaston who is Credit Manager of Sherwin Williams Co., of Boston; Cecil H. of Buffalo, N. Y., who is in the optical business, and Russell G., who is in business with his father in Quincy. They have 7 grandchildren.

Over 200 guests were present, among them Mayor Charles A. Ross. The Campbell's received many beautiful gifts and flowers. Mrs. Campbell wore a beautiful blue dress and a corsage which was a gift from her grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are planning a vacation to Prince Edward Island, sometime in July.

ORIGINAL POEM WRITTEN BY MRS. CHARLES ROSS, QUINCY, MASS.

Anniversaries are the milestones, marking off the treasured years Of two lives that have together, shared their joys, and yes, some tears "Forty-Fifth," when looking forward, seems like an eternity But thinking back in recollection, they have passed so rapidly It is on these occasions, to encourage with the saying "The first hundred years are hardest, the rest are easy sailing." Well Boy met Girl in this case, (ere the Church was built they sat) At a time were they both worshipped on a particular Sabbath Day. Well the meeting proved eventual, Charlie followed with a date And many more by indications, he picked Jennie for his mate. Time went on, another Charlie, soon came on to make them three. Then came twins, two more sons added to the Campbell family tree That must have frightened Charlie, coming in bunches, as they say, For they had no more additions, from then on to this day. Charlie proved a second mother, they were twins would cry. To him in desperation, whenever the twins would cry He has other qualifications, he's a veritable housewife's friend; He can cook a delicious dinner, from the beginning to the end. He has sampled them too, I'll warrant for figures never lie. He has trouble with his waistline, though he stoutly will deny. And we could give you the reason, if we wanted to be mean. We could say she don't stay anchored, long enough to take on weight. And to say she's always travelling of course we'd hesitate. Charlie thought if he transported her, down to a foreign shore, To so called "Swanky Wollaston", he'd clip her wings for sure. But, no, she still kept flying, till her feet would remonstrate. Then they would up and throw her, she'd have time out to recuperate. This lovely home they have here, have so many entertained. If it were called Hotel Campbell, it would be rightly named. They are known for their hospitality, from here to the Canadian Shore. You can sense their sincere welcome, when they meet you at the door. These spacious rooms stand through the years held many happy guests. Friends of long years standing, they've enjoyed with every friend. Of all the happy occasions, they believe old friends are best. This rates as one of the happiest, best wishes we extend. On this Forty-Fifth Anniversary, God has allowed them to attain, And we hope that in His Providence, many happy years remain.

by her husband, and between them they supplied all the floral trimmings for hats worn by the Duchesses of Gloucester during her stay in Australia. One of the special decorations recently sent to London for the Queen, was a creation called "chanticler" in the form of an inverted rooster's tail in the colours of a vivid Rosella parrot. A hat made for the Australian soprano, Marjorie Lawrence. Lawrence said he, "where are you going?" "Laws, Judge," said she, "I've been whah I've goin'."

Morning Smile

A Kentucky judge met an old Negro mammy of his acquaintance. "Good morning, mammy," said he. "Where are you going?" "Laws, Judge," said she, "I've been whah I've goin'."

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Making Most Of Marriage

Both Men And Women Expect Too Much Of Each Other

A restaurant in a small Connecticut town bears this intriguing legend on its front:

"If your wife cannot cook, eat here and keep her for a pet."

I wonder if that isn't the best remedy that has ever been suggested for the cure of the divorce evil for when you come down to brass tacks the main thing that is the matter with matrimony is that husbands and wives expect too much of each other. They are not content with their mates possessing a few desirable qualities. They expect them to carry a full line of all the charms and virtues, and when they find out that their Marys and Johns are not all around perfectionists, they feel that they have been gyped.

Curiously enough, it is only in marriage that otherwise reasonable human beings expect to get the whole works for the price of a marriage license. They don't expect to have a few diamonds thrown in when they buy a peck of potatoes, or for the kitchen stove to turn into a concert grand, but they do expect the impossible of marriage, and to spend the balance of their lives in a trance of romantic bliss.

DAY OF AWAKENING

And when they wake up from this pipe dream and find that marriage is full of work, worry, bills, ills and that their husbands and wives are not fairy princes or pin-feathered angels, they no longer see each other through rose-colored spectacles, but through magnifying glasses that enlarge each other's every fault and foible.

They have come to the crossroads of their fate and just a step down the road is the divorce court, yet neither one has done the other any harm. It is just that they have expected too much of marriage, too much of life, too much of each other.

So we have the philandering husbands who think they have fallen out of love with their wives because they have lost their youthful beauty, and the peevish, fretful women who find their husbands dull company to live with, and the world is filled with broken homes and half-orphaned children and embittered divorced men and women have lost all faith in everything that is true and good.

But the solution of this problem is not in the separation of husbands and wives and their trying to find a mate nearer to their hearts' desires. It is in their making the best of what they have, in their concentrating on the good points of their mates and shutting their eyes to their defects. For the quest of the ideal mate is a hopeless one. No such creature lives.

Mary may no longer be young, beautiful and gay, but that does not keep her from being a crackerjack cook and manager. She may have lost her figure, but she will never lose her loyalty and devotion. Her back again, but she will never lose her husband's big shot because she made her shoulder a ladder on which he climbed to success. And many a wife rides in limousines and wears sables because a quiet little man, who has never thought of himself as a hero, as a great lover, has worked his fingers to the bone to give them to her.

So if you happen to be married to wives or husbands who can't cook, why not make pets of 'em?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton M. D.

A SULFA DRUG GIVING RELIEF IN ULCERATIVE COLITIS

James W. Barton, M.D. What is known as mucous colitis is becoming increasingly common. While "itis" means "inflammation of" any part, hence colitis, in mucous colitis there is more of an inflammation or infection. The great majority of these cases are caused by nervousness and emotional disturbances, the treatment aims at (a) having the patient learn to control his emotions, and (b) using a soft diet. What is called ulcerative colitis is a severe ulcerated condition of the colon, believed also to be due in most cases to nervousness and (Continued On Page 3)

Better English

D. C. Williams

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "She purchased a new pair of stockings."
2. What is the correct pronunciation of "Canton" (China)?
3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Avaricious, Hectious, Pernicious.
4. What does the word "drastic" mean?
5. What is a word beginning with "enr" that means "to throw into ecstasy"?

- ANSWERS
1. While this expression is commonly used, "a pair of new stockings" is preferable. 2. Pronounce kan-ton, as in can, on in on, accent last syllable. 3. Hectious. 4. Acting vigorously; extreme; effective. Such conditions call for drastic action. 5. Enrapture.

October Wedding With Lieut. Mountbatten, Believed Planned By Princess Elizabeth

Royal engagement of Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten, the former Prince Philip of Greece, is confirmed now. October wedding is expected for the princess, seen beside her father as the royal family attended the wedding of Hon. Patricia Mountbatten. Lieut. Mountbatten, seen at the right, may be elevated to the British peerage and given a dukedom, London thinks.

Needlecraft FOR THE HOME

THREE ON A MATCH

A pretty playsuit, combining brief bloomer-shorts with a cool, boat-necked blouse, teams up with a full, flounced skirt that turns the outfit into a go-everywhere frock. Make the versatile skirt in a dark cotton—and wear it with your peasant blouses, too!

No. 2234 is cut in sizes 9, 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19. Size 15 blouse, 2 yds., 35-in.; bloomer-shorts, 1 5/8 yds., 35-in.; skirt, 2 1/2 yds., 35-in. To order: send 20 cents in coin to Needlework Bureau, Charlotetown Guardian.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ Province _____

How Can I!!

By Anne Ashley

2234
SIZES 9 - 19

Q. How can I save gas when cooking soup and vegetables?
A. Turn the gas burner down until just sufficient to keep the water bubbling. The food will cook just as quickly, and even better, than if the burner is high and the vegetable boiling hard.
Q. How can I make use of muffin tins?
A. Greased muffin tins are handy for baking apples, stuffed tomatoes, stuffed peppers, and for the individual creamed-egg-on-toast dish.
Q. How can I clean white enamel furniture?
A. Clean with turpentine and it will retain its gloss.

small hands therein. "Put it down and see what she'll do," I called to Jennie from our veranda. "I know what she'll do!" Jennie answered, at the same time lowering the basin to the ground. Cautiously then, and delighted—and clothed she eased herself into its depths with pleased chattering and splashing.

(Continued On Page 3)

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Ellen's Diary

By an Island Farmer's Wife

It was this morning that a giant blood-red poppy, that had been a long time unfolding, hobbled with a clump of creamy-white columbine in the flower bed. And with a hum of industry a parcel of bees gathered their sweets there. In my bed of remembrance, I thought how new appear so quickly they defy both Jennie's and Jamie's efforts to keep them gathered, held broad faces upward—whites and yellows and deep purple velvet ones. Innocent trusting faces they are a-kin in expression to those of ours and others small ones, though I fancy, not nearly so happy. We held our grand-daughter low to smell them and then went on to offer her the unmatched scent that is to be found deep in the heart of a rose. Later while about the lawn while Jennie spread her wash, she had a wish to remain near the bird-bath, which rests not too steadily on a pedestal. Jennie interrupted her work more than once to carry her a distance from the bird-bath. But quick as a flash she was back to draw herself upright to dabble fingers first and then two

Household Scrapbook

By Roberta Lee

SHOES
Some people have the habit of keeping their shoes in the boxes in which they are delivered. This is a bad practice. Shoes require air to preserve them, and they should never be kept in an airtight box.

CLEANING GLASS
It is an easy task to clean windows and mirrors with a cloth dipped in two tablespoons of household ammonia to two quarts of water. This will also give the glass a polish.

BOUILLON
Always keep a can of bouillon of convenience in the house. It can often take the place of stock called for in recipes.

Cook's Corner

FRUIT RICE CREAM

- 1-2 tablespoon unflavoured gelatin
 - 2 tablespoons water
 - 2 egg yolks
 - 1-3 cup sugar
 - 1 cup scalded milk
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 1 cup warm cooked rice
 - 1-4 cup candied fruit
 - 1-2 cup cream whipped
- Soften gelatin in water. Beat egg yolks with sugar and stir in scalded milk slowly. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until custard coats the spoon. Add softened gelatin and vanilla, and cool until mixture begins to set. Fold in rice, candied fruit and whipped cream. Pour into mould and chill until firm.

CHINESE RICE

- 1 cup rice
 - 1 1/2 cups boiling water
 - 1-2 teaspoon salt
- Wash rice thoroughly and drain well. Add rice to boiling salted water in top part of a double boiler. Bring to boiling over direct heat. Cover, and cook over very low heat 10 minutes. By that time the water should be absorbed. Then put pan over hot water and let cook 10 to 15 minutes longer. Remove cover a few minutes before serving to let steam escape. Yield: About 3 cups rice.