

Floorglaze

Light dust—make the house cleaner with Floorglaze

Surface any floor in a few minutes with Floorglaze (500 square feet to the gallon) and that room will get rid of most of the dangers that lurk in dust.

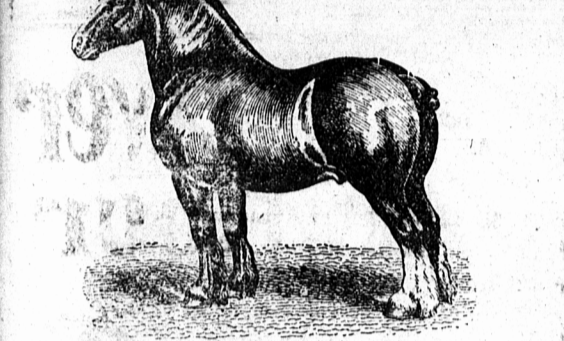

Practically, a Floorglazed floor is one seamless and germ-protected sheet of beautiful color (ten charming shades of Floorglaze—anyone can put it on right)—and it just CAN'T wear off.

This is the floor finish that dries hard over-night, with a brilliant gloss which lasts. It is so durable that it does perfectly for floors exposed to the weather (verandas, summer houses, etc.) Nothing else is so well worth the money.

Your dealer surely has Floorglaze. But, if he hasn't, we will see your demand filled. Tell us the dealer's name, and allow us to send you a Free Book you'd care to read.

ORD DALMENY

Imported From Scotland in 1905
 Patch No 12219 Canadian No 726

Lord Dalmeny is the most fashionable bred Clydesdale ever imported to the Island and as an individual can be beaten.

He was only shown three times—won first at Haldimand and at Simcoe, and first at Tilsonburg. His colts took second and third at the same exhibitions in their class, though three months old.

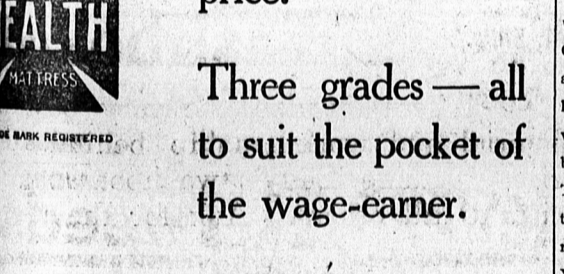

Look him over before selecting a stud. Stands in Charlottetown for the season of 1908 at the Revere Hotel stables. Terms for the season $10.00 to be paid on or before Dec-1908.

What Britain Owes.

The visits which the King and Queen have been paying to the Sovereigns of Denmark, of Sweden, and of Norway, have been watched with interest and sympathy by the British people," writes the "Times." Our relations with the Scandinavian people are amongst the very oldest in our long history. They date back, as we all know, to Saxon times, when, indeed, they were by no means agreeable to us. The sea-kings and their wild followers gave us our first great practical lesson in sea-power; and in our language, in our place-names, and even in the character of some of our local populations in both Great Britain and Ireland, ineffaceable traces of their presence yet remain.

"They gave us one of the wisest of our early Kings, whose memory as a wise legislator and ruler, as a conqueror and as a poet, ranks him amongst the most notable and picturesque figures of those distant times. In later days, when our navies largely depended upon the supplies of timber and other materials, which we drew from the North, the attitude of the Baltic Powers was a subject of constant solicitude to the greatest of our statesmen. Those Powers have been our friends, and they have aided against us, but as friends or as foes they have won and enjoyed our admiration and regard.

At the Royal banquet at Stockholm, King Gustavus observed that the Swedes feel that they are akin to us by language and by origin. We recognize that kinship with pride, not only as between ourselves and the Swedes, but as between ourselves and the nearly related peoples of all the three Scandinavian kingdoms.

"Commerce in our own days, and the intercourse which commerce brings, have quickened the sense of friendship between us and these nations, while it has been cemented and strengthened yet further by the close family connections between their Royal Houses and our own. The King and Queen have, in fact, been the guests of their own relatives at all of the Northern Courts.

"At Copenhagen their host was the brother of Queen Alexandra, the Crown Prince of Sweden was married at Windsor, and his bride was Princess Margaret of Connaught; in Christiania our Sovereigns are in the home of their daughter, Queen Maud, and of her husband, King Haakon. These, too, were wedded on English soil, and their son, Prince Olaf, was born in Norfolk. Visits paid to countries to which we are bound by ties so manifold, and so intimate could hardly fail to be acceptable and pleasant, and we are glad to think that they will leave the happiest impressions upon the minds of the Scandinavian Sovereigns and populations, as assuredly they will upon the minds of our own King and Queen and of their subjects.

"This is the first time, as King Gustavus observed, when he proposed the health of his Royal guests, that Sweden has had the pleasure of bidding a British Monarch welcome to her capital. King Edward has indeed seen that stately and beautiful city before, but it was many years before the beginning of his reign."

SUMMERTIME SONG.

The sun is so bright and the sky is so blue,
 And the grass is so green—I am glad, aren't you?
 The leaves are so thick and the trees are so tall,
 There's hardly a thing that should fret us at all.
 The days are so long and the nights are so brief,
 With moonlight and with stars and pillows and rest.
 A boy should be glad when in bed he is curled,
 To live in this airy-day, merry-day world.

The air is so fresh and the morning so fine,
 I would all your thoughts were as merry as mine,
 The clover's so sweet and so jeweled with dew,
 The morn'g so bright—I am glad, aren't you?
 The song of the birds are so glad as they play,
 The woods are so cool, and so perfect the day.
 Let's march on and on with a banner unfurled,
 "Hurrah for this airy-day, merry-day world!"

The turf is so soft and the orchard so white,
 With blossoms and buds, and our hearts are so light,
 Our joys are so real, and our troubles so few,
 Our plans are so merry—I'm glad, aren't you?
 A blessing on life, with its health and good cheer,
 There's so much that's good I am glad I am here,
 Sun-splashed and moon-mellowed sweet-blossomed, dew-pearled,
 Three cheers for this airy-day, merry-day world!

Vapo-Cresolene

Established 1879

Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Cough, Grip, Asthma, Diphtheria

Cresolene is a boon to Asthmatics

Does it not seem more effective to breathe in a remedy to cure disease of the breathing organs than to take the remedy into the stomach? It cures because the air rendered strongly antiseptic is carried over the diseased surface with every breath, giving prolonged and constant treatment. It is invaluable to mothers with small children.

Those of a consumptive tendency find immediate relief from coughs or inflamed conditions of the throat.

BAT ORANGES

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP WELL

Careful tests have proved beyond question that orange juice has clearly defined medicinal virtues. Those who suffer with indigestion—are compelled "to diet"—and that after eating oranges regularly for breakfast there is no distress, no palpitation.

Where there was a tendency towards constipation, the eating of oranges regulated the bowels.

In skin troubles, those who began the morning meal with an orange were noticeably improved.

There is, however, a quicker way to get better results. This is to take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" tablets at bedtime in addition to the juice of an orange before breakfast the next morning. "Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, in which the medicinal action in many times intensified by the special way of combining them. Valuable tonics are then added.

Take the juice of an orange before breakfast—take "Fruit-a-tives" at night—and you will quickly be rid of Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Constipation and Biliousness. "Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price by "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.
