DEAR SIR,— I beg to acknowledge payment of Policy No. 5152 for $2,200 on my life. The amount paid by me for premiums on this policy was $282.28. I am now in receipt of your cheque for $2,983.38 in satisfaction of the policy, being a return of all the premiums paid by me, and $701.10 in addition thereto. When I consider that my life was insured for $2,200 for fifteen years, ever since I paid the first premium, I consider this a very satisfactory settlement.

Yours very truly,
HUGH MACKENZIE.

HORSES IN WINTER.

Some Hints as to Their Care During the Slack Season.

A great many farmers have a large number of horses which work hard during the spring season and during the autumn when the land is being prepared for fall crops or being full plowed for spring crops. As soon as this work is completed they have little or nothing to do until next season. Just how to take care of these horses during that period is a problem. One of the most serious features is the change from hard work to idleness without careful attention to feed. The farmer seems to forget that the amount of grain should be restricted gradually. If this is not done, indigestion will surely result. Give only a small feed of grain but let the animals have a liberal supply of roughage. If pasture is available, let them have some grass, but do not compel them to live only on green crops after a summer of dry substantial feed.

There is frequently much difficulty in feeding new corn and sometimes new oats to these animals. If a ration consisting partly of new and partly of old crops can be used, there will be little danger of bad results. A little later in the season when the weather becomes cool and when corn fodder is available, the ration may consist largely of corn fodder with a little grain. It does not pay to allow the animal to become thin, but neither is it profitable to feed expensive grains. Experiment a little and see if a good maintenance ration cannot be secured from corn fodder, clover hay, using possibly a little oats and corn. If alfalfa is available it may take the place of grain to a large extent.

The treatment of colts during the fall and winter is different. These animals are growing and must be given oats, clover hay or bran, so as to supply material for building up bone and muscles. A corn diet is a little too heating for colts, but there is little harm in feeding some corn. If a few roots, such as carrots can be secured and kept for horses and colts during the winter, the result will be entirely satisfactory.

For horses and colts not at work, a very warm barn is not necessary. Anyone who has had experience in wintering horses knows that animals allowed to run in the open field with a warm shed will do very nicely. A heavy growth of hair results, which is a great protection in cold weather and also when rains are frequent. The pure air in these open sheds is a factor in the healthfulness of the herd during the winter, American Agriculturist.

A Rest Needed.
From the Western Swine Breeder.
"After a young sow farrows her first litter, she should be given a rest before breeding again. The first litter is the hardest draft on the system of the dam, and she should be given a rest. If her first litter comes in the spring, and this is the best time to do not breed her again until fall, and if in the fall, let her rest until spring. She will make a better breeding animal in the end."

I have used three bottles of your MINARD'S LINIMENT and am completely cured.

MARVELLOUS DISCOVERY OF GOLD, SILVER AND COPPER ORE MADE ON PROPERTY OF THE EASTERN NATIONAL COPPER COMPANY, Ltd., AT CHETICAMP, CAPE BRETON

ORE-BEARING SCHISTS
From 75 Feet to 100 Feet Wide,
AND TRACED FOR 5000 FEET ON THE LENGTH; DEPTH OF 85 FEET ALREADY PROVED

MR. M. V. GRANDIN, engineer in charge of the development work, reports the discovery of an immense body of gold, silver, and copper bearing ore from seventy-five to one hundred feet wide on the property of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, at Cheticamp, Cape Breton. This is probably the first known instance in Eastern Canada of the unearthing of a large deposit of metalliferous ore such as made the mining industry of British Columbia, the Western States and Mexico of great magnitude. The discovery in Cape Breton tends to confirm the opinion of mining experts that Cheticamp is one of the most important mining districts in Nova Scotia. The Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, owns some of the finest sections of this district and is now engaged in blocking out a body of ore estimated to contain 160,000 tons, worth $10.00 per ton or higher.

THOUSANDS OF TONS OF ORE ALREADY IN SIGHT. Every Day Adds to the Proved Value of the Mine.

THERE is no safer form of mining investment than good gold-copper deposits, as they occur in immense veins and carry regular values. Many of the private fortunes of the United States owe their origin to a lucky investment in a gold copper proposition. The property of the Eastern National Copper Company, Limited, is undoubtedly one of the most valuable in the country. Besides its extensive mining claims the mining company controls timber for mining and building purposes and will also have natural water-power.

A LIMITED AMOUNT OF STOCK IS OFFERED AT $3.00 PER SHARE (30 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR) PAR $10.00. The stock was started at $1 per share, and has advanced steadily to $3. Next advance will likely be to $5, and we expect that it will be quoted at par—$10—in the Spring, based on ore actually blocked out. Less than 1000 shares will be sold at the present figure of three dollars.
