Softball followers at No. 10 Gunnery and Bombing School at Mt. Pleasant should be in for a real exhibition of softball this afternoon when the team from that station tangles with the All-Star Station team that will represent the Charlottetown Airmen.

Monday night a large crowd of fans saw these two same squads put on an exhibition of ball that would be hard to equal anywhere. It just abounded with scintillating plays from the time the first batter stepped to the plate until the final out and it is still a hard matter to figure just which squad is the better one.

Certainly, although the Charlottetown team did come through with that important opening victory, they at the same time failed to show much better than the Mt. Pleasant team. They did have a little more batting power as a glance over the summary of Monday's game will show but the defence of the visitors was so stout that with the exception of that fifth inning their blows were failing to payoff.

But when the break came as a result of that close force-out play at third base the Charlottetown team were quick to take advantage and Patterson's mighty wallop to left field proved to be the payoff. It was clutch hitting of the highest order and Patterson was very nearly mobbed as he chased his three teammates over the plate.

Walter Goss, Y. M. C. A. supervisor at the Mt. Pleasant Airport and manager of the team will be remembered here among local sports followers. He was very active in baseball, softball and basketball circles not too many years ago. Still a youngster as far as age goes but a veteran in experience he was naturally disappointed in the outcome of Monday's game but at the same time was high in his praise of the performance staged by the Charlottetown squad.

Walter was always a great type of sportsman taking his defeats just as well as he took his victories and the same held true yesterday. Rather than look back on any miscues of Monday's game he pointed rather to Wednesday's game on his home diamond and together with his team felt confident that they would force the series into a third and deciding game which if it becomes necessary will be played on the Summerside diamond Wednesday night following the afternoon game at Mt. Pleasant.

And it will not be surprising to this writer if a third game will be necessary. Mt. Pleasant have a strong team welded together and if they can solve the offerings of Walter Brown, Charlottetown pitcher, they will be very, very tough to head.

But in Brown they will be facing the toughest softball pitcher to get to show his stuff here in a good many years. All season long while performing in the City League Brown has been steady and dependable and he showed his mettle Monday night with that two-hitter he pitched.

The two hitter came right on top of another two hitter that he pitched on Sunday for the Officers' squad. Only on Sunday, Brown, through a couple of bad errors behind him and a momentary loss of control on his part lost a game that with two out in the ninth looked to be "in the bag."

But that was all forgotten about Monday night as he again toed the slab. And that time backed up my the brilliant support that he did receive he came through with flying colors. His delivery is not an overly fast one but he must have had loads of stuff on the ball to throttle the Mt. Pleasant batters like he did.

Tomorrow, however, will tell the tale of just which station team will earn the right to travel to Montreal to take part in the playdowns here and again we say fans in the western part of the Island will see one of the toughest games — if it doesn't go to a third and deciding encounter — that they have ever been privileged to witness.

Members of the Detroit Tigers who were with the club back in 1940—fellows like Rudy York, Pinky Higgins, Diz Trout and Hal Newhouser — are probably wondering today, like a lot of the rest of us, if it is possible for history to repeat.

You members of the "Let's Give Vaughan the Razzberry" club will, of course, recall what happened in 1940! How the Tigers staged a sensational finish to snatch the league championship from the Cleveland Indians and then got bumped off by the Cincinnati Reds in the world series.

For those who recall that lightning pennant dash made by the Tigers of '40 in the last six weeks of the season, the present winning pace of the Detroit entry must loom as a "tailor made" pattern for something similar this year.

At this juncture in 1940 the Tigers were in second place, being challenged by the third place New York Yankees and there was little doubt among baseball minds that the pace-setting Cleveland Indians would breeze in. Then the Tigers applied the preamble to their "photo finish."

With a brilliant stretch of winning baseball, they moved into first place on Sept. 9, although they weren't able to hold it for more than a day. Moreover they had been as low as third on Sept. 5. Finally they took over first place again on Sept. 19 and held it to the bitter finish, winning out by a two-game margin.

Up to the present, that was the most hectic finish the American League has had in recent years. But from the way things are shaping up the 1944 finish may be as good or better.

However, if it is any consolation to the league-leading Browns, it can be reported that the lead they enjoy at this time is about two and one-half games better than that held by the Indians at this stage in 1940.

Personally we are inclined to think what happens to the Tigers in their current series with Boston and the following series with the Yankees in New York is going to have a lot to do with how the teams finish. It is true that the Browns can hit a slump but, so far, they have been the most consistent team in the league and are likely to continue as such.

The team that beats the Browns out is going to have to play sensational ball from here to the finishing line. Right now the Tigers are a red hot club. Whether they can continue their sizzling pace over the remainder of the route remains to be seen. Both the Yanks and Boston can cause them, as well as the Browns, a lot of trouble.

Aircraftsmen Win First Game Softball Finals From Navy Team 6-4

Limiting his opponents to six hits, with two of them coming in the ninth inning, Symkluk on the slab for the winners last night pitched the Aircraftsmen to a 6-4 victory over the Navy in the opening game of the City softball league finals to give the Air Force team a one game lead in the best out of five final series for the City league title.

Playing tight ball in the pinches despite the five errors chalked up against them the Aircraftsmen came through with timely hits off the offerings of two navy hurlers to punch out their victory in the seventh inning with a two run rally after the losers had surged from behind to knot the count at 4-all in the first half of the same frame as the Aircraftsmen defence wobbled momentarily. But it was a nip and tuck battle all the way with the issue being in doubt right to the final out. In the first of the ninth navy had men on first and second with none out; the tying runs were on the sacks but Aircraftsmen pulled out of the hole with a double play on a pop fly behind second base to put down the uprising even though navy with the next man hitting safely saw the game end as McDonald went out on a called third strike with the tying runs again on the sacks.

Aircraftsmen went into a 1-0 lead in the last half of the first. The first two men were retired on infield outs. Patterson singled to deep left and as the ball got away from the Navy left fielder he came all the way home for the opening counter.

Navy forged back into the picture to take a 2-1 lead in the first half of the second on an error, a hit and two bases on balls that was good for two counters but their lead was shortlived as the winners accounted for the equalizer with Schechter, walloping a long triple and then scoring on an error by the Navy catcher.

The score remained deadlocked to the last of the fourth with the "Tars" knot the count. But this was shortlived. Coming to bat in the last half of the same frame the first Air Force batter flied out to left. Dew singled; he went to second as the next batter Schechter walked and then went to third as Mowatt uncorked a wild pitch. Ashley then drove a long fly to left field with Dew scoring after the catch and Schechter added the clincher as the navy catcher let a low pitch get away from him.

Symkluk went the distance for the Aircraftsmen and although in tough spots several times steadied to work his way out of the holes. He had six hits chalked up against him all of them singles while getting four strikeout victims. Laluk started on the mound for the navy and during his four inning tenure on the hill was nicked for six hits and four runs. Mowatt in the four innings he toiled yielded three hits and two runs.

Dodgers Win 14-8 From Cardinals Team

The Dodgers came back last night to defeat the Cardinals 14-8 in the third game of the Holy Redeemer softball finals. Cardinals won the first two games in the best of five series.

The Dodgers were right on their toes last night and were entitled to their win. The Cardinals were hardly up to the form they displayed at the start of the series and will have their hands full to turn back the Dodgers now.

Highlights of the game included Haughey's pitching, which was everything that could be desired; Doiron's catch of Bennie Callaghans' liner which looked like a home run; Gauthier played a great game at second.

Russel St. John was the umpire at the plate, while Hal Bruce and A. Ward were on the bases.

The next game is called for Thursday night at 6.30 and of course is expected to be a real battle between the two teams.

YEO THEATRES "Lost Angel"

A tender and human comedy, full of laughter and just a few tears is now playing at the Yeo Theatre. The film is M-G-M's "Lost Angel," starring moppet Margaret O'Brien, the wonder child who will forever be remembered by moviegoers for her poignant portrayal of the title role in "Journey for Margaret."

This time Margaret stars in a comedy about a child who is raised as a prodigy by a group of professors and thinks she is happy until an irresponsible reporter, played by James Craig, enters her tiny sphere and captured her imagination with a promise to show her magic. The result is an evening's fun for all when the super intellectual child sets out and challenges him for proof. And when circumstances force Craig to keep the child for a few days events begin to pop. Craig learns a valuable lesson which enables him to find happiness with his torch singer sweetheart, played by Marsha Hunt, and the young genius becomes a normal, healthy child, aware of all the wonders of childhood.

Meeting Of Red Cross Executive

At a meeting of the Executive of the Prince Edward Island Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society held at Red Cross House on Monday, August 21st., the resignation of Miss Maoel Grant, R. N., as Director of Junior Red Cross was accepted with regret, and Miss Sophie Newson, R. N. appointed as her successor.

Mr. J. D. Bonnell's report of the Red Cross Campaign held in March last revealed that total cash received has now reached $104,687.89 with a balance of $6,444.80 still to be paid in pledges.

Mr. J. E. Campbell, President of the Summerside Red Cross Branch, was in attendance at the meeting and told the Executive of the generous offer of Messrs. Sinclair & Stewart of Summerside of 500 pairs of ladies' shoes in broken lines for shipment overseas to be distributed in the devastated areas. The members of the Executive expressed their sincere appreciation of this generous gift.

The President spoke of the alarming decline in the number of Blood Donors especially at this critical stage of the war when so much blood is needed for transfusions at the battlefront. Mrs. George Martin, President of the P. E. I. Women's Institutes, suggested that all Women's Institutes in the province be written for their assistance in securing more blood donors from the rural districts. It was also suggested that all donors be written and each one asked to secure two new donors.

NORTH NOVAS—

support company commanded by Capt. Doug Eastwood of New Glasgow, N. S., and just before noon the next day got orders to move to Bras where they spent three days under heavy enemy fire.

The first afternoon their positions were strafed by Nazi planes firing rockets and they were bombed two nights running.

The Novas marched to Bourgebus, three miles southeast of Vaucelles, for their southerly attack on Tilly at 3.30 in the morning, July 25.

The battalion went ahead while other Canadian battalions on their right flank attacked the strong German line running east from below Saint Andre sur Orne to the Tilly la Campagne area.

They reached the outskirts of the village about five o'clock.

HARD FIGHTING

The Novas retained the village all day, hoping progress of the main Canadian attack on their right would force the Germans to give up the fight for Tilly. But the main advance ran up against a firm enemy line and was unable to gain much ground in fighting as hard as any Canadians have been through in Normandy.

The Novas were mortared and shelled and counter-attacked from all sides while they held Tilly. When it became clear that they wouldn't be able to hold on without any help, they were ordered back.

Two of the commanders, Major Wilson and Maj. MacDonald, were wounded in the fight, and Maj. Matson is missing.

The Novas regard the battle of Tilly as their toughest in Normandy.

No Defiance Of Prices Board Rules In Quebec Strike

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—Announcement has been made by Donald Gordon that no defiance of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board occurred in connection with the Quebec taxi strike.

Commenting on reports that the drivers were advised to resume operations at increased rates without the Board's sanction, the chairman of the Prices Board explained that the taxi drivers resumed work subsequent to the Board's authorization of the Montreal rate schedule pending investigation into the financial need for the proposed.

Helps Knock Out Three Nazi Tanks

CORP. GEORGE CONNELLY, 25, OF ROYAL STREET UP AND AROUND AGAIN, HOWEVER

A U. S. ARMY GENERAL HOSPITAL, England — Via Military censor) — The Germans sent in four tanks against Corp. George Connolly, 25, of 35 Royal street, Lowell, Mass., and a squad of men, but three of the tanks were knocked out before the fourth sent a shell that wounded the corporal, sending him to a United States army general hospital in England where he is recovering.

Tough to Cherbourg

Corp. Connolly landed half an hour after H-hour on D-Day, meeting less opposition than he had expected. But the fighting to Cherbourg was tough, he said, because the Germans had zeroed in every hedgerow and each curve in the road.

His unit had left Cherbourg, and had advanced to within a few miles of St. Lo when Corp. Connolly was wounded.

"Every clump of bushes was a possible enemy stronghold," he said. "The enemy was out to dislodge us from a position and began attacking with four tanks. Sending for anti-tank support, we went into action and knocked out the first two tanks that we saw. The other two tried to outflank us, but we scored a direct hit on one, setting it afire."

Knocked Out

The fourth tank, by this time, had brought its gun into action, he said, and one of its 88mm howitzer shells hit nearby, knocking him out. When he came to he was alone with his gun, and his leg was burning where a piece of shrapnel had struck.

"I started crawling toward a nearby house," he said. "A sniper must have seen the grass move because he began shooting at me. My buddies had taken over in the house, and when they saw me, two of them started my way. When they had gotten about half way, I saw one fold up and fall. The other turned back to the house."

Corp. Connolly was taken to the rear shortly afterward and then to England. He is up and around and his recovery is nearly complete, according to Lt. Williams V. Coventry, ward surgeon, of Springlake, Texas.

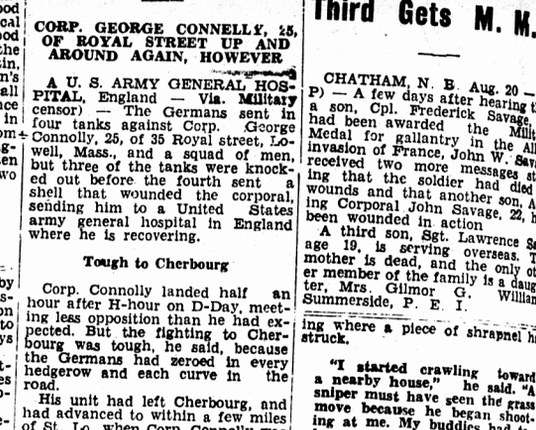
Pte. Connolly's mother was the late Katherine Kelly, Lake Verde, now deceased, whose husband Francis C. Connolly, 35 Royal Street, Lowell, Mass. is now visiting with his brother-in-law, Mr. John Garland and Mrs. Garland at Auburn.

One Son Killed, Another Wounded Third Gets M. M.

CHATHAM, N. B. Aug. 20 — (CP) — A few days after hearing that a son, Cpl. Frederick Savage, 26 had been awarded the Military Medal for gallantry in the Allied invasion of France, John W. Savage received two more messages stating that the soldier had died of wounds and that another son, Acting Corporal John Savage, 22, had been wounded in action.

A third son, Sgt. Lawrence Savage 19, is serving overseas. The mother is dead, and the only other member of the family is a daughter, Mrs. Gilmor G. Williams, Summerside, P. E. I.

Iroquois Squadron Ready



These fliers of the Iroquois squadron of R. C. A. F. Bomber Group has just reached the squadron and were awaiting the start of their operational tours when this picture was taken. Their unit has been hammering German invasion and flying bomb targets lately. Left to right are Flying Officer A. J. McLeod, Elmsdale, P. E. I., Flying Officer M. E. R. MacFarlane (since reported missing) Vancouver, B. C. and Sgt. G. W. Moseley, Brownsburg, Que. — (RCAF Photo).

Long on the secret list, a powerful new weapon, the "Sexton", a 25-pounder full-tracked, self-propelled mount, has been revealed to the world by Munitions Minister C.D. Howe. Designed by Canadians and built only in this country, it has already been made in sufficient quantities to supply the Canadian Army, and is now being made for the British Army. A modification of the Canadian-designed Ram tank, the Sexton is already in action in France. The gun for the new mount is virtually the same as the 25-pounder which stopped Rommel at El Alamein. It is shown being installed into the mount in the lower photo, while above a line of the completed mounts lumbers out to the test ranges.
