RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

At the morning service yesterday the Rev. F. E. Bishop spoke from Psalm 90, 12. "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." Division of time is arbitrary, founded on physical activity. Our earthly movements in respect to the sun and moon give us the basis of this division, time itself flows continuous, changeless, unpausing. Reckoning of time has its moral and spiritual advantages, it is well that we should consider the importance of taking good care of this priceless gift of time. To most come daily duties and responsibilities, tragically indeed is the lot of those who have no such demands. Personal duties, social, civic, national, international all make or ought to make certain demands on time. A wide expenditure of time makes for better achievement and this in turn for greater powers. Not only by hours on the dial but by service rendered shall we reckon our time. Important it is to take care of time in regard to conduct and character for carelessness and laxity eat into the fabric of our lives as a cancer. The sense of time brings its challenge too. The tendency of the day is toward more leisure, more opportunity for doing things not as a duty but as a joy. Relaxation, amusement, study, social contacts all have their benefits. Perhaps the truest index to character, and among the principal determinants of personality is the way we spend our leisure. Vital then is the prayer of the Psalmist: "So teach us to number our days."

Another eloquent and interesting address was delivered by Mr. Bishop at the evening service.

Woodward's "The Splendour of Thy Glory" was sung at the morning service and Himmell's "Incline Thine Ear" at the evening service. Mr. V. L. Dingwell taking the baritone solo in the latter. Announcement was made that on Wednesday evening, January 15th, at 7:30 o'clock, the annual congregational meeting would be held. Reports of standing committees, annual financial statement and budget for 1936 will be taken up and it was requested that all committees have their reports in readiness.

On Tuesday evening next, a Te Deum will be chanted in thanksgiving to God for all the blessings and favors received during the past year.

Evangelist Johnston Lectures On Time

Under the title of the "Clock of Heaven" another very interesting lecture was given by Evangelist F. W. Johnston last night in the Brighton Club Rooms. He referred first of all to the various methods employed by man in keeping the time, the dial in the days of Ahas, also the methods used by the Jews in the time of Christ, how they called our nine o'clock the third hour, our twelve the sixth hour, our three the ninth hour, and also how they divided the night into various watches, the first, second, third and fourth watch, etc. But hours, minutes and seconds, the evangelist said, were too small a matter for the Lord. God made the sun to rule the day, the moon and the stars to govern the night.

In this connection the evangelist spoke of the literality of the days of creation. The very fact that God in Genesis spoke of the sun ruling the day and the moon and stars governing the night is proof conclusive, said Mr. Johnston, that the Lord referred to are the same kind that we are familiar with and that therefore the six days of creation's week are literal twenty-four hour days. The fourth commandment, he said, also establishes the literality of those days when the Lord said that six days shall thou labor; for in the six days the Lord made heaven and earth. Here the evangelist said the Lord compared the days upon which he labored with the days upon which we labor, showing conclusively that the days upon which he labored are days such as we are familiar with, and therefore literal days. He marked off by the sun, which of course is the natural clock of the universe and is the one by which we all regulate our watches and clocks.

But while the sun, moon and stars are the natural clock of the heavens, the divine clock that God made to regulate time yet when it comes to the week we have a very different arrangement. There is nothing in nature to regulate the week, and therefore the Lord by a plain divine command gave us a means of determining the end of every week since creation. At the close of creation's week the Lord gave the Sabbath in which there was to be a complete cessation of labor to interrupt the daily activities of the week. This recurring interval of rest would also be a reminder of the work of creation, and therefore of the creator, and since the creator is Christ (Col. 1: 14, 16) it would therefore be a reminder of Christ. That Christ is the creator so the evangelist said, is evident from other texts such as the one found in John 1: 10, where it says that "He was in the world and the world was made by Him."

Mr. Johnston spoke lengthily on the importance of keeping the Sabbath of creation. He said the Lord blessed the seventh day of Saturday and set it apart for all time as the grand memorial of His creative works. But men have changed it and mutilated it and made other substitutions in its place. The Mohammedans have substituted Friday, and Rome has substituted Sunday, but the original Sabbath is just as binding as ever. He spoke about the observance of the seventh day of Saturday by Christ and the apostles and how that the latter of the apostles spoke to Gentile congregations as well as to Jewish on this "sacred day, and never once commanded that they ever keep any other day. Sunday, he said, was never commanded either by Christ or the apostles, and neither did Christ or the apostles ever keep Sunday, the first day of the week, but rather Saturday, the seventh day. Mr. Johnston urged every one to be faithful to the ten precepts of Sinai inasmuch as these same ten commandments were commanded by the Lord Jesus Christ.

ST. JAMES CHURCH

The closing Sunday of the year was impressively observed yesterday when services, morning and evening were conducted by the Rev. T. Owen Hughes, B.A., Cardigan. Mr. Hughes is one of the ablest preachers in the Maritimes, and lived up to his reputation in both sermons yesterday. In the morning he delivered a discourse on the words of Joshua III, and 4: "For ye have not passed this way heretofore."

In the evening his sermon was based on 2nd Corinthians, V and 17 "Old things are passed away; all things are become new."

At the morning service the solo in the anthem was taken by Miss Lena McLure, and in the evening the soloist was Mr. Arthur Bruce.

"G" EYE CRIME DETECTION

(By Howard W. Blackstone Associated Press Science Editor) (Copyright 1935 By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29.—An electric eye which can see past events and which is made by use of the spectrograph, was announced by United States Department of Justice men here today as new equipment in their fight on crime.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation explained this new robot detective as the scientific exhibition of the American Association for the advancement of science which opens its annual meeting here tomorrow.

This is the first time federal crime detection has entered the meetings of pure science. The new "G" eye uses the instrument with which astronomers recognize the different kinds of atoms on distant stars. The spectrograph does this by breaking light into the colors of the rainbow and photographing the lines which compose all these colors.

The "G" eye reveals the "fingerprints" of all the known chemical elements. Each has its own atomic "fingerprints" in lines seen in the spectrograph, lines as plain as the fingerprints on a human finger. Like human fingers, prints no two atoms

INTERVIEW MINISTER OF FISHERIES—Hon. J. E. Michaud, Minister of Fisheries, was interviewed on Saturday by Mr. W. E. Tidmarsh, president and the other members of the executive of the Fish and Game Association of this province. They pointed out the extent to which the streams in this province have been depleted of trout and suggested that the streams be patrolled by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. They also claimed that in their opinion the hatchery is paying too much attention to salmon and not enough to trout in which the sportsmen here are principally interested.

Hon. Mr. Michaud expressed himself as being in sympathy with the aims of the Association and promised to take the matter under consideration.

COLD WAVE SWEEPS PROVINCE—Prince Edward Island experienced the first cold snap of the winter over the week end with thermometers bearing the zero mark. Department of Highway officials said a Government snow plough was stuck at Fredericton and traffic was still choked on the Summerside-Charlottetown highway. A more powerful plough ordered from a Montreal firm has not yet arrived. The route to the Charlottetown airport had been cleared of snow Saturday and another plough had cleared the way to Marshfield where two cars were stuck. Ice has formed on the flats of Charlottetown Harbor and around the docks but the ferry Hillsboro was able to make the regular Sunday crossings to Rocky Point yesterday.

J. and Mrs. Berrigan of Dunedin. Rev. P. McMahon, D.D., celebrated the nuptial Mass. HOLIDAY ACTIVITY AT Y.M.C.A.

A wide range of special activities in the holiday programme at the Y.M.C.A. is holding the interest of a large number, particularly in the junior sections. On Thursday, the first of a series of educational trips to points of interest was made, a group of boys being afforded the opportunity of visiting the Maritime Electric plant. The tour through the power house and an explanation of the equipment was taken care of by Mr. E. V. Bell, plant superintendent, and his staff.

The boys were very appreciative of the interest shown on their behalf. Through the kindness of Mr. Walter S. Grant, the second trip will be made today, the visit being to the plant of the Island Telephone Co. On Thursday afternoon a group of merry junior girls held a party under the direction of their class instructor, Miss Lella Worthy. Following a programme of games, refreshments were served, Miss Ina Gillan, chairman of the committee for work with women and girls at the Y. M. C. A., Mr. W. M. Rowe and Miss Ethel Taylor, members of the committee, assisting. A supper rally of members of the intermediate section was held on Friday night, followed by educational films, kindly loaned by the Bell Telephone Company and illustrative of their own services. Later in the evening the boys enjoyed a period of bowling. Stamp collecting is arousing great interest in the boys' programme and during the week two different groups each held a well attended session. Mr. B. L. Coombs and Mr. Borden Ling, two long and experienced stamp collectors, each met with a group, advising the boys on the value of various issues and showing some of their personal collections.

In the junior games tournament, Francis Curran took the second place in the first round in bowling with Clifford Downe and Gordon Gay as runners-up. Geo. Acorn and Russell McKinnon are leading in both checkers and ping pong. Lloyd Brown, Arthur Godkin and Ray Hennessey are leading in the intermediate boys' billiard tournament. Special programme events and game tournaments will continue throughout this week. On New Year's Day the Association building will be open throughout the morning until one o'clock. The programme will be for members of the senior sections particularly.
