THE QUEEN'S COUNTY GUARDIAN.

Head Offices in New Prowse Block—Charlottetown

Rev. G.R. White, City, went to O'Leary yesterday.

D. A. Lawson, Hunter River, was in the City esterday.

Hugh R. Tudhope, of the Tudhope Carriage Company, Orilla, Ont., is in this City.

J.G. McKenzie, New Glasgow, N. S., came over to this city by the Minto yesterday.

Mrs. D.B. McPherson, has returned to this city from an extended trip to Montreal and Kingston, Ont.

D.J. Lynch of the Customs Department, Ottawa, returned yesterday from visiting friends in Peake's Station.

Potatoes were selling in this city yesterday at 25 cents, oats 40 cents, hay $14 to to $15 a ton and pork 6½cts.

Any girl from fourteen to sixteen years of age, who desires office work, should read the classified column.

Parties living in the city, who won Limerick rewards, will please call for them at the subscription counter.

Miss M. Furness will sing at the organ recital being given in St. James Church Thursday night by W.J. Hutchins. Silver collection at the door.

The Queen Hotel, City, has issued one of the prettiest calendars of the season. It is a most artistic and beautifully colored picture of "The Fighting Temeraire' being tugged to her last berth to be broken up.

Brace McKay & Co. Ltd., Summerside, have The Guardian's thanks for a pretty calendar. The frontispiece is beautifully done in colors and is entitled "The Old Mill Dam." The calendar figures are clear and large, the changes of the moon being also given.

Limericks are again coming in. Competitors are asked to send the brightest, aptest, most original lines they can think of. It is not enough that the idea conveyed is original or bright. It must be neatly expressed. "True wit is nature to advantage dressed." An unskilled workman may make a badly-fitting garment from a good piece of cloth.

In Mr. Bayer's show case may be seen a real Xmas picture, entitled "Xmas Dreams." The baby sleeping peacefully in bed dreams of Santa Claus and his wonderful bag of toys. The coloring of this picture which is done by hand reflects great credit on the studio of Mr. Bayer. The show case is made very attractive by the addition of holly ribbon.

Among the Christmas novelties being offered at the bookstores in this City is an attractive booklet entitled, From An Upper Window, by Miss Marion Wathen of Harcourt, N. B. a former director of the Kindergarten in this City. The booklet is written and designed by Miss Wathen and is very original and artistic. The cover is in brown Camel's hair card with lettering in gilt and holly "tag" in the corner. On the inside of the cover is a place for inserting a snap-shot or the sender or a Christmas card. The booklet would certainly make a charming gift to send to a friend abroad.

Some shipments of smelts have recently gone forth from this Province to New York and Boston markets by freight. All such so far arriving in New York, have been condemned as spoiled and unfit for human food. Shippers should be particular to make all shipments to both New York and Boston markets by express only, as in such weather as has existed since the smelt season began, no shipment by freight could be getten through in any thing like good order. A suitable express refrigerator car has been supplied at Pt. du Chene for the transportation of express shipments and until colder freezing weather sets in shipments should go that way.

Yesterday's Guardian contained a portrait of the late Frank Beer McQuarrie, who was drowned last year in the ill-fated steamer Dix, which was sunk at Port Blakely, on Puget Sound. Herewith is the copy of a letter sent to the deceased's parents, D. S. and Mrs. McQuarrie, Crapaud by one of the propietors of the firm with whom their son was employed at the time of his death: "I have started to write to you several times since the terrible disaster of Sunday night, in which you lost your son, and I a friend and valued assistant. Frank has been working in the office, in my department, for nearly two and a half years, and was one of the brightest boys I have ever seen, and his advance in the Company would doubtless have been rapid. It was only a few days ago that the general manager and I were talking of giving him another advance. I can hardly realize he is gone, and every time the office door opens I look up expecting to see him. Every effort is being made to recover the bodies, and by Sunday there will be launches on every part of the Sound, searching for them. Frank's desk and chair have been draped in mourning, and his effects are being taken care of by Oliver and Mrs. Myers. I offer you my deepest sympathy and trust that God will give you strength to meet your sorrows, and such comfort as only He can give you."

J. F. Phenner, Halifax, is in this City.

Hon. P. McNutt, Malpeque, was in the City yesterday.

F.R. and Mrs. Miller of Hillsdale, Mich., are in this City.

Robert Palmer, City, is out again after his recent illness.

E. A. Wallberg and E.C. Warren, Moncton are in this City.

Roderick McLure of the Hotel Victoria, City, spent Sunday at his home in Bradalbane.

F.Guy Brooks who has been for the past three years in Manitoba is visiting friends in Murray Harbor.

The mail train did not get in last nigh until 11.30 on account of the S S Empress waiting for the C P R train, at Pt. du Chene.

Capt. John White, Stephen Alexander and John White, Jr., Rexton, N. B., returned Wednesday from Charlottetown, P.E. I.; where they had gone in the Schooner Dwina. They laid up the schooner in Charlottetown.—St. John Telegraph.

The funeral of late Mrs. William Lee took place esterday morning to St. Dunstan's Cathedral. The body was escorted by a large number of the friends and acquaintances, who thus testified for a good woman, who was always held in the highest regard.

The life boat for Charlottetown was tried most successfully for the first time yesterday, when the following crew took the boat out around the harbor. J. P. Moore, coxswain; John McKenna, stroke oar; John Cornfoot, James King, George LeBlanc, Ned Phalen, and John Phalen.

Dennis Higgins, of Medfield, Pictou Co. who came over to Charlottetown to attend the funeral of his mother, the late Mrs. Simon Higgins, only arrived yesterday—a day too late to have the melancholy satisfaction of following the body to the grave. He has been away from this province for twenty-eight years. He leaves for his home this morning.

Hogs, live weight, sold at $4.50 per cwt on the the local market at Chatham, N. B. Whatever the cause of the pronounced slump in price, there is no doubt that a large share of the hog raisers in Kent and Essex blame the new regulations with respect to dressed pork. The prospect of a future increase in price in consequence of maintaining and strengthening the hold of Canadian products on the foreign markets is not accepted by the farming interests as a sufficient return for the present drop in price. The concession with respect to local inspection has done much to allay popular resentment; but it would be hard to persuade the average farmer that any other cause than the regulations had led to the slump.—The above which is from the Maritime Merchant, will probably be of interest to pork raisers in this Provinces.

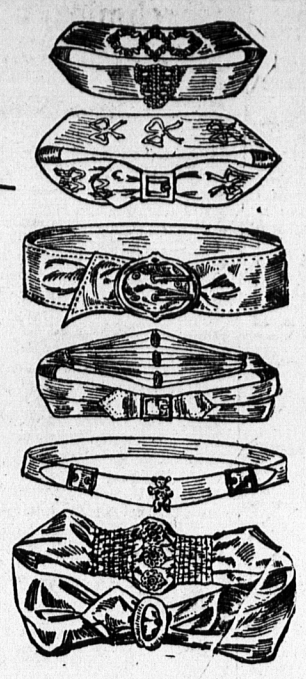
Here Are Some Charming Christmas ideas

Our Great range of belts and Neckwear, delights all.



THE measure of our correctness in these lines is the verdict of New York and Toronto—the best American and the best Canadian neckwear authorities. From these come the lines that we show and that delight you so much—and we are only behind them in the time that it takes for express parcels to come from either city—and by the fact that we do not charge quite so much for the lines we show.

The popularity of elastic belts finds us well prepared this time with handsome novelties of all sorts low priced—medium and high priced goods—and they are all worth the money.

Leather belts, ... 39, 69, $1.00 up to $2.35
Silk belts, ... 25, 39, 50, $1.00 up
Elastic Belts, ... 75, $1.00, $1.25, $1.65

We have dainty neckwear of every good sort—turn overs embroidered linen collars, the new flat bows, lace and chiffon jabots, wristers, stirgs, in fact every thing that is right in neckwear finds authorative expression here. Prices from 10c up to $2.50.

Very special line of handsome Spanish lace scarfs splendidly adapted for Christmas gifts.
