THE PRINCESS OF GRATZEN

By Louis Arthur Cunningham, Author of "Of These Three Loves," "Marionette," Etc.

(Continued from page 2) "Bonsior, Nigaw! Bonsior, Fricot! Tuons le coq! Tuons le coq! Qu'il ne fera plus coquel, coquel! Qu'il ne fera plus... "It is he!" whispered Pol Martin. It is Bonhomme Fricot! "What folly!" said Merdel, but a strange shiver, not of fear, moved over his body. "How could it be?" "Listen!" said Rosine. "Yes. Yes. It is he! It is he!" "Qu'il ne fera plus coquel, la-ri-coi!" "Eh! Bonhomme Fricot!" called Pol Martin in his shrill soprano. "Bonhomme Fricot, what are you doing here?" "The shadowy figure they saw only a glimmer of white at his throat. After a moment he spoke, reluctantly it seemed, yet with relish in his voice. "Are you sure, Pol Martin and Rosine, that it is Bonhomme Fricot you have here?" "Yes, yes, we are sure indeed!" "It could not be the laughing soldier then?" "The laughing soldier would not know our names," pointed out Rosine. "Why do you play this farce, Bonhomme Fricot? We know you." "It was the laughing soldier," said "I gave the real soldier my old hat and shaved off my beard and

C. W. L. ENTERTAIN. - Ten boys from St. M. S. Queen Charlotte were entertained to New Year's dinner at the Queen Hotel Friday by the War Services of the Charlottetown Sub-Division of the C. W. L. The happy gathering being presided over by Father Louis Dougan.

ELECT OFFICERS - At a meeting of the members of the O.N.R. Maintenance of Ways Island Division held in the C. N. R. Depot it was decided to donate $10 to the Charlottetown Hospital and a similar amount to the P.E.I. Hospital. Mr. Brenton Wood reported that $300.00 worth of Victory Bonds had been purchased. The following officers were elected: President - Brenton Wood, Vice-President - James Martin, Secretary - Harry Hennessey, Chaplain - William McGarry, Mr. S.M. Lea, assistant general chairman of the organization, was present at the meeting.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE OF VISITING PILOT - Flying Officer Jack Leigh of Niagara Falls who spent the New Year's holidays as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. L. Prowse in Charlottetown, was credited with a successful attack on a Nazi U-boat in the North Atlantic. The fliers after registering what they believed to be direct hits on the target, remained over the scene for half an hour until darkness came and when they left the oil slick covered an area 100 by 300 yards. Flying Officer Leigh joined the R. C. F. two years ago. He trained at the Charlottetown Airport for nine weeks and made many friends here during his stay. He arrived in the city for the first time on December 27, 1941.

PRESENTATION AT TRAINING CENTRE - Before leaving the Training Centre at Beach Grove Inn to take charge of No. 6 District Depot at Halifax last week, Lieut. Col. J. L. Andrew, M.C., was welcomed upon by members of the Provincial Command and the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion and presented with an address and a suitable gift. Mr. John F. Leitzinger, M.P., the President of the Charlottetown Branch read the address which referred to the splendid manner in which the island soldiers received their initial training and the efficiency with which the Training Centre has been conducted. Capt. N.W. Lowther, President of the Provincial Command in presenting Col. Andrew with a suitable gift said that the Canadian Legion had followed with great interest and pride the basic training of the young soldiers at Beach Grove. Major A.S. Robertson and the staff at the Training Centre wished Col. Andrew continued success. Col. H.D. Johnson, Major T.E. MacNutt, Messrs. E.M. Bagnall and P.E. Palmer, of the Charlottetown Branch and Provincial Command accompanied the delegation and spoke very highly of the work accomplished at No. 6 C.A.B. Training Centre by Col. Andrew and his staff of experienced officers.

IVAN CHARLES MACDONALD

Friends were saddened to learn of the death of Ivan Charles MacDonald, who passed away at his home in Southville, on December 19th. In his 80th year, for the past two years he had been in failing health, although able to be up and about the house. A week prior to his death he had been confined to his bed, the end coming somewhat suddenly. He leaves to mourn two sons and one daughter, Percy T. Kingsboro, Charles T. on the home place, and Ruby Violet. Mr. A. Banks, Annandale, one brother, Edwin, Long Beach, California, and one sister, Irene, in Maine, U. S. A. His wife predeceased him 23 years ago, also a son Harry, five years ago. Services were held at his late home and Kingsboro Baptist Church, Rev. H. R. Bell officiating. The hymns were, "There's a Land That Is Fairer Than Day," "The Heavenly Land." Pall bearers, Walter Fisher, Wallace Murphy, Wallace MacDonald, Stanley and Jennifer Cameron, Lloyd Kennedy, Daniel MacDonald acted as undertaker. Interment in Kingsboro cemetery.

if you marry... if you move... You MUST REPORT

In the obtaining of the marriage license... the rush of preparation... the celebration of the marriage... do not forget that you are required by law to notify the National Registration authorities about the happy event.

The bride changes her name... often both the bride and the groom change their address.

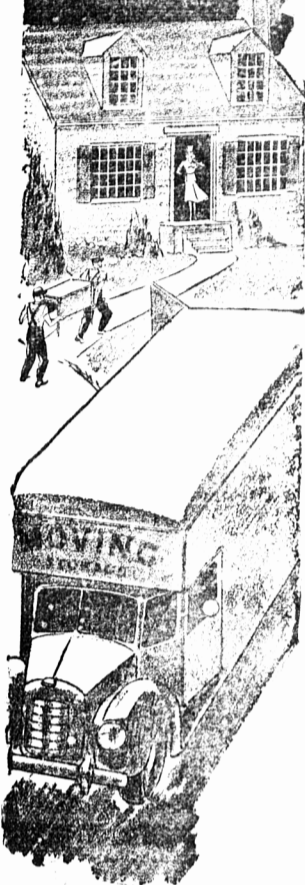

Also, when any registered person moves at any time from one address to another, he or she is required by law to notify the National Registration authorities about the new address.

Every person in Canada, 16 years of age and over, unless exempted in writing, must be registered. It is a patriotic duty to comply with the National Registration regulations. You will avoid substantial penalties by doing so.

Every person, so registered, who afterwards marries or changes his or her address must report within 14 days to the Chief Registrar for Canada.

All registered persons are required by law to have their registration certificate, in their immediate possession at all times. You may be required to produce your registration certificate, by the proper authorities, at any time.

Every duly registered person whose registration certificate has been lost, destroyed, worn out or defaced, should obtain a duplicate certificate. (Necessary forms and instructions for this purpose may be obtained from any Postmaster in Canada.)

THE KIRK OF ST. JAMES

Preaching a sermon for the New Year on the text "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear." (Psalm 46:1-2) Mr. Somers said: "And days may come when you, it may be, will lose touch with Christ, grow hard and cold and dead as any stone, impervious to all that He can do, unimpressed even by the Cross; when you will stand and stare at it and feel no thrill at all; will hear His voice and know it is His voice, and say 'I won't'; will know what He requires of you and refuse flatly; will tire of home and fling away into a far country; will go mad; Christ says: Then, at least, you must lose Him. Not for even then and even then He will be with you near. As Augustine heard God declaring, 'You couldn't have sought Me, if you had not already found Me.' And you too will go to yourself again, the madness will clear from your brain, home-sickness for God will spring up within you, ransacking you of the poor things with which you had tried to fill His place within your heart. And why will all that happen? Only because even in the far country you have not escaped from God. But there too He has followed you, and even there is very near.

But he knew, none better, that any road is a magic road if you have the right charm in your heart. And somewhere for him there would be such a road, one that no other foot had trod before and at the end of it someone who waited for only him. Behind him, under the stars, Merdel and Michel Febre had stopped to gaze at each other in that strange light. "It was wrong," he said, "because you did not forget our hour." "You did not mean it when you said, as you left me then, that you would not return?" "I did not. It was written, all this—long ago. Nothing could ever change it." THE END.
