BOY WANTED.—A good steady boy, with a fair education, must be over 16 years old; to learn the printing. Apply at once to this office.

MR. AND MISS DEACON, Little York, left yesterday morning for Grenville, Assa., in response to a telegram stating the illness of their brother, who has been absent for the past ten years.

THE many friends of Miss L.A. Corbett, South Granville, recently operated on for appendicitis, will be glad to hear that she is improving. Miss Ross, of Charlottetown, is at present nursing her.

AN Oakville despatch of July 26th says The Eckardt casket Company of Toronto held their annual excursion here to-day. Mr. Eckardt, the President of the Company, when nearing the goal in the 180-pound foot race, fell, receiving a nasty gash, which required several stitches. Dr. Urquhart attended him. Mr. Eckardt's friends in Charlottetown will regret to hear of the accident.

EASTERN NOTES.—The schools in this section are in full blast, some under old, some under new management. There is generally a lot of changes at the beginning of the school year, sometimes for the district's benefit, sometimes for the teacher's. As a class the teachers employed here are painstaking and attentive, but with the varied and extensive curriculum required and insisted upon at present, the irregular attendance prevalent in too many of our county districts prevents the proper classification of the pupils, retards the progress of the school, and disheartens and discourages the conscientious teacher.—Miss Nellie McNeill, of Cavendish, is visiting her old pupils and many friends at North Lake at present.—The mackerel are taking the hook along the North Side, and some fair catches are made; not many caught on the south side so far, but the fishermen are still living in hope. Hake is rather scarce too, but the best season for them is still ahead.—Elijah McVane and Alfred Stewart are busily engaged marketing their crop of strawberries, eternal vigilance and unceasing labor have rewarded them with good crops, but the weather is against them reaping the full reward of their work.—Rev. Mr. McPhee has left here for another field of labor.—Rev. Mr. Gardiner of New Brunswick is supplying here at present.—The wave of patriotic fervor which appeared to arrive on our shores at the beginning of hostilities with the Boers, shows no sign of subsiding, and the flag staffs which adorn some of our public and business places, surmounted by flags of different designs, emblazoned by devices unique in the annals and traditions of heraldry, attest the depth of our loyalty, the spirit and the visible signs of our patriotism, and the external symbols of our sympathy with the Empire in her struggle for "Freedom, Toleration, Justice."

INTERESTING MEETING.

Held at the Premier's Office yesterday Forenoon.

Yesterday forenoon, Mr. T. W. Hodson, Live Stock Commissioner, Mr. E. B. Elderkin, of Amherst, president of the Stock Breeders' Association, Mr. R. R. Robertson, superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Nappan, Nova Scotia, and Mr. W. W. Hubbard, of the Co-Operative Farmer, Sussex, N. B., waited upon the Board of Trade with regard to the matter of the transportation of live stock and the promotion of an industry of importance to our people. The meeting was held in the Premier's office in the Provincial Building, and there was a good attendance of members of the Government and of the Board of Trade.

Mr. Elderkin, who was the first speaker, emphasized the importance of co-operation on the parts of the Federal and Provincial Governments and the people with a view to the promotion of the live stock industry in the maritime provinces. There was no reason why these provinces by the sea should not receive a large share of the live stock trade. The climatic and other conditions were highly favorable and the people were just as intelligent as the people of the upper provinces. The people of the maritime provinces should give no help whatever that would be calculated to promote this industry, and the most advantageous rates of transportation should be obtained.

Mr. Hodson followed, speaking at considerable length. He dealt largely with the matters of transportation and organization, his remarks being largely along the lines set forth elsewhere in today's paper.

Mr. P. Blake coincided with Mr. Hodson regarding the breeding of live stock, and emphasized the importance of breeding nothing but the best. He thought it was a good thing to have Mr. Hodson address meetings of farmers throughout the country as the subject was one of vital importance to stock raisers and others.

Mr. Geo. E. Hughes, President of the Board of Trade, also expressed his appreciation of Mr. Hodson's address. He would like to know what the Federal Government intended doing. He regretted to say that our horse trade was not what it should be nor what it had been. He thought the Government should import some good horses. He also thought a horse breeders association would be a good thing for the island province. He hoped the visit of Mr. Hodson would be productive of much good.

Mr. Hodson, in reply to Mr. Hughes, said he had $7,000 for use in his department. But he would not take up any work contrary to the wishes of the ministry of the day no matter whether that administration was Liberal or Conservative. He urged the importance of organization and system. Without organization nothing could be done. He did not believe in the government making importations and selling them cheaply to the detriment of private enterprise.

Mr. Robertson urged the importance of promoting the live stock industry and everything pertaining to agriculture.

Mr. Elderkin, referring to the purchase of thoroughbred horses by the Government, pointed out that such horses, as a rule, cost more money than private citizens cared to invest.

Mr. Horace Haszard spoke of the importance of direct steamship accommodation for the shipment of live stock as well as other products. It is important that facilities be afforded for the shipment of live stock after it has been provided by the farmers. There has been a notable decline in the demand for horses of late years, and a consequence our farmers have not been paying the attention to horse-raising that they had been giving that industry in previous years.

Mr. Blake thought it would be a good idea for the Government to import a thoroughbred horse.

Mr. Mr. Farquharson thought it was slow work for the Government to import horses. But private enterprise moving in that direction might be subsidised by the Government.

Mr. Mr. McLean thought it was advisable to have a thoroughbred horse brought here. But whether the Government should import such a horse was a question.

Mr. Elderkin pointed out that the Stock Breeders Association proposed to have its annual meeting in Charlottetown in November, at which leading stock breeders and others would speak. The meeting then adjourned.
