RETURNED YESTERDAY.

They Were Met at the Station by Hundreds of Men, Women and Children.

THE GUARDIAN takes pleasure in extending a hearty welcome home to the six Charlottetown citizens who were passengers by the ill-fated Labrador, wrecked off Skerryvore lighthouse, full particulars of which have already been published in this journal and are still fresh on the minds of all readers. Messrs L. E. Prowse M. P. P. J. A. McLaron, W. W. Stanley, S. A. McLeod, W. A. Huestis and Charles E. Leigh, Jr., sailed from Great Britain in the S.S. New England, of the Dominion Line, to Boston where they spent a day. They crossed by the Stanley to Georgetown and arrived in this city by special train about 4.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They were accompanied by a number of citizens who went by special train to meet them at Georgetown. As the train approached the railway station torpedoes rang through the air, steam whistles were blown and voices were raised in cheers. The station was crowded, throngs surrounded the station and teams were in abundance. After a general hand shake and welcome home the boys were escorted to carriages which were awaiting them. A procession was formed headed by Galbraith's Band and as they paraded through the principal streets of the city crowds followed them, crowds along the sidewalks waved hats and handkerchiefs, crowds in upstairs windows and on roofs of buildings waved at them as they passed by. Charlottetown looked gay as flags floated from many buildings throughout the city. The city bell, the town clock and church bells rang out peals of welcome and perhaps everyone in the city rejoiced as once more they looked upon the faces of those of the most respected citizens whose narrow escape from death had created so much excitement. They all look well and are in good spirits, glad to be home again after so perilous a voyage across the broad waters. The return trip was somewhat rough but no fears were entertained as all felt safe in so magnificent a steamer as they claim the New England to be. They brought with them many souvenirs of the trip in the shape of pieces of the wreck, life preservers and many little trinkets of various kinds. Many of the descriptions of their trip are interesting, but the story has been well told. Yet they have had an experience which will ever be worth repeating for generations to come.

Repeat the story o'er,
We cried on the Labrador,
Saved on Skerryvore,
Returned to native shore.
Welcome ever more!

GREEK CABINET RESIGNED

LONDON, April 4.—The Greek Cabinet has resigned.

School Board Meeting.

The regular meeting of the School board was held last evening.—The teacher's report showed the enrollment for the past month to be 1,366—805 boys and 561 girls—the average attendance 1.157 and the percentage of attendance, 89. The number of cases of tardiness reported was 202; number of truants, 16; number of visits made by teachers to parents, 188; number of cases of corporal punishment, 15; number who fell below average in grading, 123; number of requests to leave school before the hour for closing, 168. The highest per centage of attendance in Prince St. school was in Mr. Seaman's department, 96; in Queen Square Mr. Bradley's, 93; in West Kent, Mr. Bowness, 95. Miss Scott, Miss McKinnon, Miss Greor and Mr. Bowness had no cases of tardiness for the month. The attention of the board was called to a case where certain pupils left the department without permission. It was ordered that if such would occur again that the pupils be punished by suspension. A communication from the Women's Council was read calling attention of the Board to the large number of boys and girls of school age to be found in the public streets and elsewhere during school hours and urging them to procure such an amendment of the school law as the ensuing meeting of the legislature as shall convey to them power to compel parents to send their children to school. After considering the matter the following resolution was agreed to by the Board: That a committee of two be appointed to wait upon the mayor and chairman of the Finance committee of the city with a view of taking a census of children of school age in the city in order to ascertain the desirability of compelling the education of tenore pupils and other children absenting themselves from public schools. Messrs. Stewart and McLeod were appointed the committee.

Carol Service.

The closing service of the Easter Festival took place last evening in the First Methodist Church. About twelve hundred people were present and enjoyed a program of music rarely if ever excelled in this city, especial interest attached to the fact that this was Mr. Watts' first opportunity for organ solo work. Expectation ran high as Mr. Watts came warmly recommended from persons of high musical standing in the neighboring provinces. The expectations were fully realized.

The program was opened by the Rev. G. M. Campbell who called on the large audience to join in a tribute of praise and thanks to God for the safe return of our merchant citizens by singing the Doxology. A short invocation, and the first bars of Wely's familiar offertoire in G pealed from the organ. The carols were bright and tuneful, one verse in each carol being taken by a solo voice, only the choruses being harmonized. The lusty voices of the men rang out in their unison passages, an effect as enjoyable as novel.

The chorus work as evidenced in Woodward's, "The Radiant Morn," the climax of hark, Hark my soul and in the 12th Gloria, was especially grand. The alto solo in Shelley's beautiful anthem, Hark My Soul, was taken by Mrs. Watts. She is the happy possessor of a pure alto voice, sonorous and rich, which she uses artistically, yet naturally. Miss Temple was entrusted with the soprano solo and obligato in the same anthem. Her voice is a high soprano, full and strong, her upper "a" rang out over the chorus and accompaniment rich and pure. Mr. Davison being unable to sing his solo owing to a severe cold, his place was taken by Miss Hetie Collins who repeated her success of last Sunday in Van de Waters aria "The Good Shepherd." In the florid passages of the well known "Pilgrims song of Hope" Mr. Watts had an opportunity to show off the sweet stops of the organ and his own djjital dexterity, in the weighty St. Cecilia offertoire a like opportunity to show his pedal work, in both pieces, as in his accompaniments he merited the encomiums passed on him elsewhere and gave evidence of his thorough "at homeness" with the registration of his instrument.

The collection amounting to forty two dollars goes to the choir fund. It is hoped ere long that an opportunity will be afforded the public of hearing this large body of vocalists in secular music of which more anon. The audience joined in the National Anthem and quietly dispersed.

GOFF BROS.

Tailor Made Vs. Factory Made.

Take up the printed announcements of makers and importers of ready-made clothing, and when they strive to give emphasis to the alleged merit of their clothing they invariably tell how nearly they approached to tailor-made.

Here are some quotations—
"Elegantly tailored." "Cut and finished equal to ordered work,"
"Equal in quality, fit, and finish to suits made to order, or similar statements."
Then tailor-made clothes are different to imported factory-made, other wise there would be no need to make comparisons. If tailor-made were no the better clothes they would not be held up as the ideal to which the ready-made strive to reach.

The fact is here is a great deal of difference between a factory-made imported suit and a tailor-made in style and durability.

The man that is different as to the appearance of his clothes when he buys them and when worn a month, may be satisfied with a factory-made, but if he has regard to looks and economy, he will buy tailor-made garments

For those who are not disposed to give the prices usually paid for clothes made to special order, and are not satisfied with the imported ready-made clothing, we have made, and are daily adding, Suits and Overcoats of superior workmanship that we are selling as low in price as imported makes of inferior quality.
