

B.B.B. Cures Ringworm.

"I had ringworm on my head for nearly a year. I consulted three doctors but derived little or no benefit from their treatment. I then commenced to use Burdock Blood Bitters. Besides taking it internally I washed the affected parts with it and when the bottle was finished I was completely cured." Elsie Slaght, Teeterville, Ont.

Burdock Blood Bitters cures sores, ulcers, boils, pimples, eczema and all skin eruptions of the most chronic type. It makes the blood rich and pure, drives all foul material from the system and builds up the tissues of the body.

THE sports on Dominion Day prom's to be the most exciting ever held in this province. The number of contestants will be larger than ever before. The interest manifested by the different companies is becoming intense. All the companies will enter teams, but the great struggle will be between Nos. 1, 2, 3 and Engineers. Nos. 1 and 2 and Engineers are Charlottetown companies. No. 3 is a Montague Company. Such an array of muscle and litheness as will be presented by those companies has never before graced an Island sward. Every event will be filled to overflowing. A conservative estimate of the number of competitors places it at 200, including tug of war and gun shifting team. Many of these entries will contribute records that will astonish the athletic fraternity.

THE GUARDIAN is in receipt of the program of Messrs. Raymond and Withycombe's summer and autumn tours. The first company will leave Boston on Wednesday July 18th and will tour for seven days to Morse Head Lake and through the Maritime Provinces, including P. E. Island. On Wednesday morning the party will leave via Summerside for the mainland.

Bell representing the Foresters of Charlottetown was also present. STREET LIGHTS.

The Exhibition Now Being Given by Gas Co.

PRONOUNCED SUCCESS

The Lights are Very Powerful Brilliant and Steady.

The exhibition of street lighting which the Gas Company is now giving on Grafton and Great George Street is a surprise to a great many, particularly those who have never visited cities where the incandescent gas lamp is used.

This high power gas lamp is designed for places where a really brilliant light is necessary but for lighting narrower streets, and streets with shade trees, a less powerful light is used, the illuminating effect being obtained by distributing lights at shorter distances apart than is customary or possible with the electric arc.

From actual experience in a number of American cities notably New York, Boston, Brooklyn, Worcester, Mass., St. Louis, Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio, Cleveland, Cambridge, Washington, Ithaca, N. Y., Springfield, Dayton, Ohio, Portland, Maine, Baltimore, New Haven and Bridgeport it has been proven beyond a doubt that three Welsbach gas lamps, distributed on a street gave a much better result than one arc lamp, that it was cheaper and above all is never liable to be out the whole system at once, as is often the case with the electric.

The incandescent gas system has also proven wonderfully successful in British and Continental cities and a number of cities in England which own municipal electric plants, finding the Welsbach system the cheaper and the more effective now recommend it in place of the arc lamp—Bradford, Boulton, Leicester, Liverpool and Leeds are in the list.

In view of these facts the gas companies of to-day have something to work on and the Charlottetown Company deserve credit for placing before the citizens a light which is up-to-date, effective and doubtless economical and the citizens are realizing now that the incandescent gas lamp has come as a competitor for street lighting.

Europe being the birthplace of the Welsbach, it is but natural that it is the field of its present greatest promotion and development in public illumination. The city of Munich—the great art center of Europe—where all matters appertaining to beauty and attractiveness receive most careful consideration, has replaced the ghastly glare of the electric lamps by over 7,000 Welsbachs.
