Opinion Divided On Housing Plans

ABOARD SS. ST. LAWRENCE AT FADOUSSAG, Que., June 14 (CP)—Delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Municipalities and Municipalities as to what form to give a resolution to be adopted on a "housing program for Canada" at the end of the five-day conference.

Opinions were expressed by Mayors and other officials from different parts of Canada with the matter being returned to the Resolution Committee for final drafting and further discussion.

Discussion of the housing problem followed an address yesterday by Dr. C. A. Curtis of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., Chairman of the sub-committee on housing and community planning of the federal advisory committee on post-war reconstruction and rehabilitation.

In his address, Dr. Curtis said supplying housing was not yet the responsibility of the government, adding that the matter of controlling housing generally should be the responsibility of the local government and sometimes of the provinces.

Mayor J. E. Lloyd of Halifax, said confining most municipalities in this country regarding the housing problem, is a lack of a definite statement by the Federal Government of its policy.

He asked that such a statement, particularly in regard to slum clearance in larger cities, be made as soon as possible. He said such a statement of policy had been asked last year with "absolutely no result."

Replying to Mr. Lloyd, Dr. Curtis said that the report of his sub-committee was now in the hands of the Government, and that he was hopeful that some of the recommendations contained in it taken up by the Government.

He was unable to say any more since the report, although in the hands of the Government for three months had not yet been printed and released.

Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa, said that the Federation's resolution last year urging the Federal Government to call a conference of Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Governments to study the housing situation "did not get any results."

His previous dealings with the Dominion Government had taught him that "we must go to the provinces to get help," Rev. G. H. Mitchell of North York, Ont., said the housing problem had been created by wartime conditions and that the floating population was responsible for it.

Mayor J. P. Ryan, Brantford, Ont., held that the National Housing Act if rendered further operative could be the solution to the problem.

Alfredman A. Skaling of Saint John, N.B., said that the housing problem was not a wartime problem. It was one which had existed in all large cities "well before we ever had a war."

Mayor R. Brunet of Hull, Que., said the convention should urge the Federal Government to ease off restrictions on building materials. Builders and contractors ought to be given high priority ratings to get building materials.

At the present time, all that could be built in his own city was "shacks" to shelter families with sometimes 14 and 16 children.

Mayor T. H. Lewis of Welland, Ont., said the Government ought to finance housing.

N. S. Premier And Income Tax

HALIFAX, June 14 (CP)— If the Nova Scotia Government is not satisfied with any Federal offers of financial assistance in post-war projects, it will cancel its agreement to stay out of the income tax field, Premier A. S. MacMillan declared tonight.

Speaking over a network of Nova Scotia radio stations, the Premier declared that, before the conclusion of its wartime agreement with Ottawa, the Nova Scotia government always had considered income tax a potential revenue, though it never had collected the tax.

U. S. Cuts Ceiling Prices For Furs

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)— The office of Price Administration ordered a "substantial reduction" in the ceiling prices for domestic and imported fur skins yesterday and said the savings would be passed on to United States buyers.

A regulation effective June 10 fixes prices for sales of skins (through auction houses and brokers, O.P.A. said) specific savings at retail will not be determined until revision of the fur garment price regulation has been completed.

Prices announced for some 30 types of skins are based on the highest prices in effect from Oct. 1, 1941, through April 30, 1942. The base period heretofore has been March, 1942.

De Gaulle Denies Washington Report

LONDON, June 14 (CP)— Gen. De Gaulle's press attaché formally denied tonight a Washington report that the leader of the French Committee of National Liberation recently cancelled orders for several hundred French officers scheduled to join with the Allied first waves in Normandy.

"This is a most incredible report," the press attaché said. "We cancelled no such agreement for we never direct such an agreement. We neglected several months ago with the Allies prior to invasion but, as the whole world knows, we reached no agreement with the American government or Allied commanders, either on government of liberated territory or on sending fifteen officers with the invasion forces."

LONDON, Ont., June 14 (CP)— Resolutions expressing opposition to day nurseries except a wartime measure and asking that stricter censorship be exercised over motion pictures were passed today at the 24th National Convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada.

The Resolution on motion pictures recommended the authorities responsible exercise a more strict censorship over such programs which tend to demoralize the youthful mind, and that a recommendation be made to the Federal authorities or to the Department of Justice, Ottawa, that a course in home-making be instituted in each municipality for parents of juvenile delinquents.

Newsy Letter From Major Bill Reid

Writing from hospital, where he is resting from a slight wound received in the attack on the town of W.W. (Bill) Reid sends a cheery message to all his Charlottetown friends.

"I have been pegging along in the thick of things with the Battalion," he writes, "and the last day when I was a bit unsteady and stepped in the way of a piece of enemy shell. However, it hit at a serious spot so I'm enjoying my stay in hospital. I'm still in good luck and I'll be home in a few days. I'll be home in a few days. I'll be home in a few days."

"As you may have noticed in the news reports, things are going very well down here. There has been some real fighting but most of us feel the worst is now well behind us."

"Haven't seen many Islanders lately although just yesterday I had a nice visit from L.-Col. E. T. Gallant of Souris. Also had a nice long visit from Capt. Lloyd MacNeil. Some of the boys here tell me Al Reid's departure has been going strong with the W.N.S.R. into the future. My brother, Gordie Darrah has now transferred to the Chaplain service. I don't know whether he is starting his work yet as a Padre or not."

Major Reid, who is a son of Dr. A. H. Reid, Charlottetown, has been overseas for the last two years. He was posted to Italy late last year and to the front in the fighting around Rome.

Allies By-Pass Nazi Strong Point In Italy

ROME, June 14 (AP)— Allied troops have swung past the heavily defended town of Orbetello on the Italian west coast, 71 miles northwest of Rome, cutting the junction of two important highways directly north of the town, and today were reported pushing on toward Grosseto, 17 miles away.

Bagno region, six miles south of Orbetello, was captured by the 8th Army and Nazi, an important road junction southwest of Terni was taken by the British 6th Army, headquarters announced tonight.

Considerable German rearward resistance was developing at Terni, but Allied forces now are well within artillery range and its fall was believed imminent.

(German forces who for several days had held up the 5th Army's drive before Orbetello, presumably were trapped by the flanking maneuver, their escape route to the north severed.)

Inland from Orbetello, Allied forces steadily pushed their way up both the eastern and western shores of Lake Bolsina, advancing four miles beyond Valentano and capturing the town of L'Anca on the western side and closing in on Bolsina at the lake's northeastern extremity. The Nazis had retreated and made a strong stand in Bolsina since Sunday.

Special Meeting Of B. I. S. Held

A special meeting of the Benevolent Irish Society was held in the hall, Canadian Bank of Commerce Building last night. Mr. L. O. Kelly, the president, was chairman.

A committee appointed to work with the Citizens' Committee of the frigate H. M. C. S. Charlottetown gave a very satisfactory report.

Rev. Dr. O'Hanley of St. Dunstan's College gave a very interesting talk on Boy Scouts work. Mr. P. A. Lafferty, the secretary of the B. I. S. read a communication from Major Alex Knox, secretary treasurer of the Boy Scouts Association of P. E. I. thanking the Society for the use of their hall for the classes in leadership training which were held recently.

A donation was sent to Mr. Pius J. Callaghan of Queen Square School to help with the classes for pupils. There was also a donation given to the Y. M. C. A. building fund.

The committee appointed to look after post war work gave a good report.

Change Announced

forces reported little trouble from the Luftwaffe.

Besides the great British-based mission of more than 1,500 heavy bombers escorted by some 750 fighters, the skies reverberated from dawn until dusk with the constant covering and supporting of the cross-channel ground assault. On D-Day, about 12,000 sorties were flown but at least 2,000 of these were at night.

These raids came after a night in which R. A. F. and U. S. Army heavy bombers in Britain were grounded, although other units were active. The great air fleet from Britain dumped tons of bombs on six air fields today in another blow to keep the German air force grounded, and one force branched off and struck the Emmerich Oil Refinery in the Rhineland, ten miles inside Germany.

Among other changes were amendments to provisions permitting reimbursement of the cost of treatment arranged privately. The amendments would particularly affect cases where treatment was of such emergency nature and delay in it would be serious.

Mr. Mackenzie said the various changes were made as a result of a study by a committee, composed of Brig. Alex. M. Ross, Major S. Woods, associate deputy minister of pensions, and Dr. T. D. Bain, director of medical services for the pensions department.

The former treatment regulations were the result of almost 25 years of amending and revising as the need was indicated. Mr. Mackenzie said: "Over that period of time they became cumbersome and involved and administration was difficult."

Biggest Day

Scenes like this are being re-enacted daily as re-inforcements for invasion forces in Normandy pour ashore. In this picture, taken on D-Day, Canadian troops swarm down the gangways of LCI (Ls) of the Royal Canadian Navy, through the surf and over the seawall to the shore. Cutted and shell-pocked buildings along the shore are evidence of the furious bombardment that prepared the way for the troop landings.
