The annual "Oyster" supper given by Prince Edward Island members in the House of Commons restaurant at Ottawa last Wednesday night was a huge success. The hospitality and enjoyment exceeded if anything the dinner given last year. There were over a hundred guests present, including members from the different provinces, the provincial legislatures and the members of the press gallery.

In Province Bros., Queen Street, carpet department window there appears a very faithful representation of a Dutch windmill gotten up by the carpet department staff, Allan McCabe and C. Burns. The idea is well worked out, the advertising part being taken in by the windmill itself being framed of oil-cloth with four large oilcloth arms. The window is appropriately trimmed with oilcloth rolls, mat squares, etc. The whole is decidedly attractive and has drawn much attention. The windmill mechanism is contrived of a heavy weight which propels a high gear.

There was an unusually busy session of the Police Court yesterday morning. Three prohibition cases came up and two appeared as a result of an over-indulgence of the defendant liquid. The following respecting the Hattie Le Blanc trial referred to in another column will be of particular interest to provincialists. During the course of the trial on Friday District attorney Higgins said to the court: "I wish a writ of habeas corpus for Mrs. Elizabeth Richmond." Mrs. Richmond is serving a life term in Sherbrooke reformatory for the murder of Stewart McTavish of Prince Edward Island and the district attorney wishes to show Richmond. Mrs. Richmond is served by her testimony that Hattie is familiar with the English language. Mrs. Richmond and the Le Blanc girl were prisoners together in the East Cambridge jail.
