—I. O. D. E. ACTIVITIES —Since the outbreak of the war the I. O. D. E. have been active in organizing various efforts in connection with the miseries that always come in the wake of war. At the outbreak of hostilities Lady Reading sent a cablegram from London asking the I. O. D. E. if they would care to contribute warm clothing to the poor children of London, who were being sent to the country. The I. O. D. E. made a quick response but owing to certain rules and regulations in connection with charitable war work their efforts have been held up temporarily, but it is hoped not for long as these things are urgently needed. This effort on the part of the Canadian Chapters of the I. O. D. E. relieves in a great measure English charitable institutions, who can concentrate their efforts on needed supplies for the soldiers who are on the battle front.—S

Another wedding of interest in this district was that of Miss Margaret Houston of Kensington and Mr. Wilfred Burns. May they have long years of wedded bliss.

The schools have re-opened again after the Fall vacation. Teachers and pupils alike are ready for a hard winter's work.

The Misses Enid Lewis and Grace Deacon were in attendance at the marriage of their cousin Miss Mary Edwards to Mr. Verner Coles of Milton on Sept. 27th.

Miss Helen Lewis student at Prince of Wales College spent the week-end at her home here.

Friends in this vicinity regret to hear of the illness of Mr. L.G. Lewis, a former Freetown son, at the Prince County Hospital. All hope for an early recovery.

Tignish

Miss Jean Hemphill who for the last month has resided in Charlottetown, has returned to her home in Tignish.

Miss Doris Gavin, teacher at Harper Road School, has returned to her home after a brief holiday spent in Charlottetown visiting friends.

Friends regret to learn of the illness of the Superior of Tignish Convent, and wish her a speedy recovery.

On Tuesday morning Leonard Burke and Louis MacDonald, students of St. Dunstan's University, returned to resume their studies after a brief holiday spent at their homes in Tignish

Mr. C.P. McCarthy left Monday for Charlottetown on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. D.B. MacDonald of Traveller's Rest spent a few days in Tignish where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J.J. MacDonald of Tignish.

The districts around Tignish were most successful in their potato crops this year. Potatoes are pouring into the stores, particularly the store of Mr. C.L. Coonan, in great quantities.

It is an old saying "Out of the ruins arise newer and better things." Such is much in evidence in Tignish, for out of the ruins of the old Acadian Hall, where many a good night's fun was had, there arise two new buildings, owned by the losers in the recent fire which threatened to wipe out the village.

The friends of Mr. C. L. Coonan regret to learn of his sudden illness. Mr. Coonan is attended by Nurse Annette Morrissey. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Canadian Flier Describes Flight Over Germany

By Drew Middleton
Associated Press Staff Writer
WITH THE ROYAL AIR FORCE IN FRANCE, Oct. 19—(AP)—A young man from Winnipeg told this correspondent today of a flight in which his bomber, unattended by fighter aircraft, obtained a dozen good pictures of German roads and railroads under constant fire from enemy anti-aircraft guns.

"I am a Canadian," he told me. "I was over here when the war started and offered my services."

"It is fine to be with men from all over the Empire—Canadian, Australians, New Zealanders, South Africans, combined with Britons. It makes us feel so much better."

"When we get a real crack at them (the enemy), we'll show you something."

Another flier, a big sergeant who had been in the air force since 1925, did not find it so exciting. With a Scottish accent, he said: "We went over in daytime to take pictures. The weather was terrible and we couldn't see a thing. We went down lower and it was still bad. Guns opened fire at us and made the old girl wobble like a dish of jelly."

I asked him if he had dropped any pamphlets.

"I'm an old hand at that," he said. "I dropped them on the northwest frontier of India 10 years ago. But it didn't do a damn bit of good."

He said that on another flight he had gone at night flying about the same distance and that the German searchlights were ineffective at about 8,000 feet.

"I could see rivers, bridges and factories as clear as day," he said.

Federal Cabinet Meets For Talks

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 —(CP) —A three-hour cabinet session now held twice weekly as a rule was the main variation of Parliament Hill today from the government's unspectacular but business-like war routine. The meeting produced no statement of the topics covered in discussion.

A number of departmental officials were called in, chiefly representatives of the Department of Trade and Commerce. No indication was forthcoming, however, as to the reason for their presence.

Several ministers earlier were visited individually by Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company who has been appointed Canadian representative of the British ministry of shipping.

Although official confirmation is lacking, reports persist that the French purchasing mission now in Washington will shortly visit Ottawa, where the British purchasing mission and the British air mission are stationed. If the French mission as a whole does not come here, it is expected representatives will be sent to survey the Canadian situation, looking forward to the time when Canada may produce more war supplies than the Canadian and British governments will absorb themselves.

Europe's Women Mobilized Fast For War Effort

By GEORGE TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP) — When the men in Europe march off to war the women and children left behind do more than "keep the home fires burning" to help win the war.

As in the First Great War, women and youngsters in the belligerent countries are mobilized, not only to take the place of men, so far as possible, in agriculture and industry but to lessen the governmental burden of caring for the aged and infirm, the sick and needy.

Germany was better organized to utilize its women in various kinds of national service than the other powers at war, because it had a head start. During the last summer, before the war clouds broke, the women and youths were called on to do men's work in harvesting crops, for there was a shortage of 1,000,000 hands.

Labor statistics at that time estimated there were 3,500,000 women, single girls and mothers whose children were more than 14 years old available not only to fill jobs but to release men for other "more important" work.

In Allied Countries

Great Britain and Frence made similar underground plans last summer, but not on such a vast scale. Since the declaration of war, however, the systematic mobilization of women and grown children has been steadily in progress. Women replaced men by the thousands in the fields, in shops and factoriees. Women firemen, policemen and guards are now fairly common. Thousands of women in Great Britain and France are training as workers for hospitals or as ambulance drivers.

The British Air Ministry early organized the women's auxiliary air force, designed to relieve the air force proper of all lighter duties, in order to release more manpower for front-line duty. Marriage was no barrier to entering this service. The women occupied separate training camps from the men. They were trained to do emergency flying, such as flying planes from factores to aviation fields.

WHAT, NO CHAMPAGNE?

BOSTON, Oct. 20—Four new destroyers were launched here today with an absence of ceremony which even excluded the traditional froth of champagne on their prows. Water simply was admitted to a huge drydock in which the craft were built.

Simpler Models Autumn Outfits For Old London

By DILLYS THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 21—(CP) — Queen Elizabeth has set a "fashions as usual" vogue for the fall. The Queen ordered her autumn outfit some time ago and has decided not to cancel any of it though elaborate gowns planned for the state visit to Belgium are being turned into simpler models.

Colors have taken on military names to go with tailored lines. Among the new ones are Airway Blue, Bluejacket Navy and Balloon Grey. Green, flame and other bright colors are likely to prove most popular in contrast to the dark colors of uniforms. Black dresses are trimmed with sequins or shining jet embroidery and colorful ornaments.

Crinolines and bustles are definitely out, while dinner dresses have long sleeves and high necklines. Heels are lower. Women these days have more walking to do and stilt heels are hard on the feet.

Cap Hair-Dos

Many members of the women's defence services are having their hair shingled to fit tidily under caps. For those who do not like this type of hair-do a short-cut "perm" is advocated. Curls are combed well off the face in the front and sides and are curled tightly at the back. Hairdressing experts claim this style is easy to wash at home or in camp as the shortness of the hair causes curls to spring back into place when dry.

Fashions for night air-raids are widening in variety, ranging from housecoats in thick materials and one-piece suits, fastening with a zip from top to bottom. The majority of women, however, prefer trousers and sweater as being both warm and serviceable.

AIRPORT BASES ARE BEING RUSHED TO COMPLETION

MONCTON, Oct. 17 —The last link in the chain of radio beam stations across Canada in connection with Trans-Canada Air Lines operations has been forged in the completion of the work on the beam station at Scoudoac, New Brunswick, for use in connection with eastern extension of the T. C. A. to Moncton.

A department of transport plane has been engaged in this work for the last few days. The work, which is of a highly technical nature, was under the direction of D. D. Murphy and Earle Hickson of the Department of Transport, along with Air Engineer Lou Parmenter. Calibration of these radio range stations is carried out by means of a receiving set installed in a plane and, through the receivers, engineers check and re-check against the "kinks" and "bends" which occur until the transmiter is correctly calibrated.

Work is going ahead on the erection of hangar and administration buildings in connection with the new airport in Moncton which will be used by the Trans-Canada air lines and it is expected that service will commence between Montreal and Moncton before the end of the year.

WIFE OF CHIEF HAD LONG LIFE

CARLYLE, Sask., Oct. 21—(CP) —Death of Mrs. White Bear, widow of Chief White Bear, at the reputed age of 116, removes one who had always been a strong advocate of acceptance by the Indians of reserve life and peaceful relations with the whites.

Chief White Bear, first head of the reserve in the Moose Mountains which bears his name, died 39 years ago. He and his wife ruled the restless band of Cress from 1875 to 1900 and kept them from participation in the rebellion of 1885.

When Chief White Bear died he was succeeded by Chief Jimmie Big Stone who still heads the Indians on the reserve. Mrs. White Bear continued to make her home with her family on the reserve and at the time of her death had completed 64 years continuous residence there.

She was born along the Red River near Winnipeg and spent her girlhood there. As the number of white settler increased and game grew scarce, she, with her parents, and later her husband moved ever westward. In 1875 they were assigned by treaty to the six square miles reserve in the Moose Mountains, and White Bear became the first chief.

U. S. Resents Japanese Army Actions

TOKYO, Oct. 19 —(AP) —American opinion deeply resents the "bombings, indignities and manifold interference with American rights" suffered at the hands of the Japanese army in China, the United States ambassador, Joseph C. Grew declared today.

The ambassador, recently returned from a visit to the United States, during a speech which he said came "straight from the horse's mouth" asserted:—

"When such opinion tends toward unanimity it is a force which a government cannot possibly overlook and will not fail to reflect on its policies and actions."

Grew addressed the America-Japan society, often a sounding board for authoritative discussion of American-Japanese relations.

"They (the American people) regard with growing seriousness the violation and interference with American rights by Japanese armed forces in China in disregard to treaties and agreements," he said.

"It is my belief and the belief of the American government and people that the many things injurious to the United States which have been done by the Japanese agencies are wholly needless."

"American people have been profoundly shocked over the widespread use of bombing in China, not only on the grounds of humanity but also on the grounds of direct menace to American lives and property, accompanied by the loss of American life and the crippling of American citizens."

Grew concluded:—

"Only through consideration of those facts and steps to alter those facts can Japanese-American relations be improved."

North Baltic States Meet In Conference

(By Wade Werner)
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 17 —(AP)— Leaders of four northern states whose neutrality has been threatened by the swift developments and complications of the war will meet in conference here tomorrow.

Emphasizing the importance of this meeting among three Kings, Haakon of Norway, Christian of Denmark, Gustaf of Sweden and President Kyoesti Kallio of Finland was the situation in Finland, where residents were leaving cities and troops were held in readiness in the face of Soviet Russia's as yet unpublished proposals.

Official quarters here were discouraging the idea that tomorrow's meeting had any military significance. They asserted that the leaders of the four northern countries and their Foreign Ministers were gathering to discuss neutrality problems arising from the war, and that the deliberations would be dominated by "the lodestar of neutrality."

One the eve of the conference the Swedish National League of Youth submitted to King Gustaf a petition urging him to invite leaders of the great powers to "take the initiative" which could bring those at war to a conference table.

The League of Youth is one of the smallest political parties in Sweden, but lately has been increasing in strength. It is ultra-Conservative.

(Havas News Agency, in a Stockholm dispatch, predicted that the four Scandinavian leaders will announce joint maintenance of their neutrality and independence.)

King Gustaf will go to the airport early tomorrow to meet President Kallio, then to the railway station to meet Kings Christian and Haakon. In the evening the three Kings and President Kallio will attend a special service in the Storkyran—Royal Church —and at 9:45 massed choirs will march to the festively illuminated Palace to write the City's welcome in song.

Although there will be no military parade, the thought of the war's menace to all northern countries—not only to Finland —was constantly in the background.

Kensington and Vicinity

The Kensington branch of the B.E.S.L. held their annual meeting in the Kensington town hall on Friday evening Oct. 13th, with a full attendance on hand. The election of officers for the ensuing year being: President, Mr. W. L. Delaney; vice president, Mr. Allison Profitt; 2nd vice president, Mr. Kenneth McLean; secretary treasurer, Mr. H.L. Howard; executive, Dr. R.D. McNeill, Mr. Robert McDonald, Mr. Ernest Johnson. Mr. Preston Kennedy. After discussion and plans for 'Armistice Day," and the usual routine business, the members enjoyed a social hour in conversation, cards, etc, after which the gathering did ample justice to a bounteous repast served by the members and brought the evening to a close with all heartily singing, "God Save The King."

Mr. Kenneth McLean was a business visitor to Summerside on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville B. Darrach and young son Garfield were recent visitors to Charlottetown

"No sooner said than done," is the way the Kensington Home and School Improvement Association do things especially when it is something for the betterment of the school. On Thursday evening at their monthly meeting a discussion on the possibility of renting a radio for the school, in order that the students may hear the educational, historical broadcasts on Monday mornings during the fall and winter months, so on Monday morning Mr. Gerald MacKenzie, local radio dealer, installed one of the General Electric six tube sets for the Home and School Association in the principal's. Mr. McDonald's room.

Mr. Preston Stewart of French River has replaced Mr. Millar Waite as service station attendant for the Messrs. P.J. & C. Kennedy.

Many farmers in this section, getting a bad fright when the cold snap and snow flurries of Tuesday night made their appearance, are making a drive to complete potato digging before the weather man gives them another taste of winter weather. H.

New Treatment In Cancer Cases

By Howard W. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 —(AP) —A new surgical operation which moves the stomach upward so that part of it is in the chest was reported to the American College of Surgeons today. The operation saves the lives of many persons with cancer of the gullet, previously 100 per cent fatal.

A discovery that the new male sex hormone, testoterone, which is manufactured synthetically, will relieve pain of women with the incurable breast cancer was also announced.

The stomach operation was reported by Dr. John H. Carlock, of Cornell Medical College, New York, one of the men who perfected it. The operation is already in use in Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Baltimore and, surgeons said, probably in other cities.

Five years ago, said Dr. Carlock, a person with cancer of the gullet, the food passage to the stomach, was considered so hopeless that nothing could be done but relieve pain. Furthermore, these persons usually died in six months to a year. The obstacles were danger of the surgery and impossibility of building a new natural tube to replace the gullet. Rapid surgical avances have removed the danger, and detouring the stomach upward ito the chest has solved the tube problem.

This operation is used when the cancer is in the lower part of the food tube. The entire lower section of the tube is removed. That leaves the upper, healthy end of the tube hanging in the chest, while the stomach is down in the abdomen, below the diaphragm which is the chest floor.

A slit is made in the diaphragm, through which part of the stomach is drawn upward into the chest. This in fact creates a sort of "upside-down stomach." It also places the stomach in contact with the shortened gullet and the two are sewn together.

Hitler Begins Repatriation of Germans in Baltic

Already begun in Baltic states, Hitler's proposed repatriation of German families scattered across Europe is called greatest resettlement project ever conceived with serious intention of realization. The figures under the name of each country show the number of German-speaking peoples it contains. Dotted line in Germany indicates border of Poland before the conquest. The area of the proposed new Poland and of the proposed Jewish reservation are shown on lines under discussion in Berlin.
