leader, too, has made great sacrifices of time and money and influence during years when the work was little more than a dream of the future. For eight years I have wondered why it was that he was so enthusiastic over the Association. During this recent conversation he casually asked me if I knew what had become of C. K. Flanders, who used to be the secretary at Norwich, Conn. Then he leaned back and said: "Away back in '86 I was a lonesome student in Norwich. I can never forget my joy when I received an invitation to eat Christmas dinner at the Y. M. C. A. I went and was very kindly received. Mr. Flanders became one of my best friends, often inviting me to his home. He was a true man, of God!"

"With so many of our future leaders of Japan going to America it is with great satisfaction that we know that there is to be found in our Brotherhood such a spirit of Christian fellowship and helpfulness. The growing Association in Japan owes much to the movement at home for such friendship."

SUGGESTIONS OFFERED AT PATON'S BAZAAR

Taking the advice given in Saturday's Guardian hundreds visited Paton & Co's bazaar and thoroughly enjoyed their outing for what is nicer than the splendid showing made by the firm!

An attractive ribbon booth is devoted entirely to hair ribbons, beautiful lustrous, wide ribbons, in a delightful variety of colors at only fifteen and eighteen cents a yard. Every child wants several hair ribbons to wear with their different dresses.

The ladies will be delighted in the silk, cashmere and lisle hose department which is unsurpassed for quality and style. For the little tots the stockings and socks are so cunning they should be seen by all.

While speaking of the little folk, who have been well looked after, the writer recalls the handsome white fur and wool coats, pretty ready-to-wear dresses, white fur rugs, Kimonos, and all the other trifles that make up a child's wardrobe.

The knitted outing coats, sweater coats as they are generally termed, are there in all the different colors, red, red and grey, grey, grey and blue, etc. in all sizes to fit the infant, child, or the grown up man or woman. These goods were so scarce an article in Charlottetown that the firm wisely prepared for the Xmas rush as the winter sports demand coats of this kind.

Prominently displayed are some silk quilted dressing gowns, in different shades, that would make the man of the house an ideal gift. Wondering along attention was called to the rich display of fur lined coats, pony coats, embossed plush sealette coats, something decidedly new, selling from $55 to $100. The Astrachan coats sell at $30 to $50, Caracul from $12.50 to $30, with or without the American Sable collar. Luxury is seen in the rat lined coats, one was a full length, with brown shell, and was decidedly fetching with its genuine mink collar and was marked at $125. There were others also at $15 to $95.

The bachelors' booth has suggestions that will be appreciated by all, for their are linen bags, quilted lounging robes selling at $8 and $10 and many other gifts as the purse will allow.

The men's department is a bower of suggestions attractively and most invitingly placed. There are strikingly rich and handsome ties, some five hundred patterns to choose from, all boxed, ready for mailing, fancy vests, what would be more appreciated? Silk and wool mufflers, excelsa handkerchiefs, socks, shirts, but why enumerate when the gentlemen presiding over that particular section is just bubbling over with suggestions and the wonders of his department as a call will show.

Myriads of other things could be mentioned but suffice to say that the entire store is so arranged that the firm's goods can be thoroughly examined at a glance and their beauty and richness appreciated.

Special mention must be made of the fine line of umbrellas just received, stylish coverings with long Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentlemen—Last winter I received great benefit from the use of MINARD'S LINIMENT in a severe attack of LaGrippe, and I have frequently proved it to be very effective in cases of inflammation.

Yours,
W. A. HUTCHINSON.
