Chester Morris In "I've Been Around" At The Capitol

"I've Been Around," which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre, has Chester Morris in the starring role. He is surrounded by a brilliant supporting cast, headed by charming Rochelle Hudson.

The story is that of a girl who is swept off her feet by the attentions of a smooth-tongued adventurer, who is seeking the wealthiest financial match he can find. But the girl played by Miss Hudson, discovers the character of the man just as she is about to break her engagement with Chester Morris. She rushes the wedding with Morris and then in a dramatic scene reveals her love for the adventurer. When Morris discovers that he has married a girl who loves another man, he doesn't kill her or the other man. He does nothing that the ordinary chap would do. But how he punishes her! How he brings her to her knees!

Miss Hudson does such a splendid job that you hate her for most of the picture. Isabel Jewell is a perfect ray of bubbling sunshine throughout the picture, and Gene Lockhart, as Morris's pal, furnishes a wealth of laughs. G. P. Huntley, Jr., as the adventurer, is excellent. Ralph Morgan, as Miss Hudson's father, handles a small role well. Phyllis Brooks, in her first appearance, turns in a corking job as Huntley's sweetheart.

Our Gooseberry Has Losts Its "R."

(By The Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Sept. 11—"Gooseberry fool" is the name of a dish greatly appreciated in Great Britain and Canada. Mrs. H. P. Plumptre, writing to the press anent the questioned origin of its name says:

"I believe 'fool' is derived from the French word 'fouler,' to squeeze, press or trample down. Probably connected with 'foule—a crowd,' and used, if memory is not at fault, of pressing grapes for wine. By the way, 'goose' in gooseberry, has lost an 'R'. It should be 'grose,' from the French 'groselle,' as is shown in its Scottish name, 'grosset'."

BLAMES PUBLIC SCHOOL

WEYMOUTH, Sept. 11—"I gave him some dictation and he said that he was a poor speller. He explained this by saying that he had been to a public school.

This statement was made in police court here by Dr. Devereaux, police surgeon, giving evidence in a case in which William Arthur Sargeant, of Ealing Park Mansions, Ealing, was fined 10 pounds and ordered to pay costs for driving a car while under the influence of liquor.

Dr. Devereux said that another test he applied was the detection of royal heads on coins. Sargeant detected six coins with King George's head on them and one with Queen Victoria's.

AUSTRALIAN WINES ON LONDON PALATES

SYDNEY, Sept. 10—Exports of Australian wines for the 1934-35 season will be the largest for years, and may exceed the record of 3,772,780 gallons in 1927-28.

For the first nine months the figure is almost 3,000,000 gallons, representing an increase of more than 400,000 gallons over the same period of 1933-34.

The increased trade is stated to be due to a wider demand in Britain, where stocks are gradually declining.

The statistical position in London is the healthiest for years and price-cutting is less evident.

A firming in the local wine position is also expected from the sharp reduction in the vintage this season.

PRINCE IN BREACH OF NAVAL ETIQUETTE

CANNES, Sept. 11—(A.P.)—The easy holiday atmosphere of the Riviera today was offered in British naval circles as an excuse for the failure of the Prince of Wales to observe strict naval etiquette. His lapse was that he boarded the destroyer Wishart hatless and, thus uncovered, raised his arm to acknowledge the guard's presentation of a salute.

SURPRISE PARTY AND PRESENTATION

On the evening of August 8th a very pleasant time took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Torquil MacNeill of Milton, when the Young Peoples' League of Princetown Road met at their home for their regular meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the Rev. Mr. Palethorpe and took the form of a surprise party for one of the members. Mrs. Fred Stewart (Miriam MacNeill), one of the season's brides.

An address was read by the Rev. Mr. Palethorpe, and a beautiful wall clock was presented to her by Miss Edna Proude.

Miriam, who was completely taken by surprise thanked the Young People in a few well chosen words.

The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in games and contests, after which a dainty lunch was served which was enjoyed by all.

Following is the address:

Dear Miriam,—At this our regular meeting of the Young Peoples' League, of which you are a valued member, we wish you to be our host.

We learned with pleasure some few weeks ago that you were about to become a party to an event, which some look forward to but never reach, others have it within their grasp, but fail at the critical moment and spend all the rest of their lives in hope, but lonely bachelordom. They merit not the plaudits of mankind, but our sincere sympathy, for surely if we are to be logical, then if we rejoice with those who, like yourself attain, it follows that we must likewise sympathize with those who strive, but never attain.

We do not regard this in the nature of a farewell. If we did our gathering tonight would be tinged with the sadness of parting. However, we would like you to know how much we have enjoyed your presence in our meeting week after week. Your kindly way, your contagious smile, your enthusiasm were always an inspiration to us all and an unfailing guarantee of a good time all around. We shall continue on, hoping that as often as you can make it convenient, that you will continue to meet with us.

In asking you to accept this gift for your home, we wish you to understand that with it goes our best wishes for many many years of wedded bliss.

May God's blessing rest and remain with you and yours throughout life's journey.

Signed on behalf of Princetown Road Young Peoples' Society.

SLIM WAIST STILL HOLDS POPULARITY

ATLANTIC, City., N. J. Sept. 12—The 1935 edition of "Miss America" has the same slim waist as of yore, with slightly larger hips. Average measurements of the 34 young women taking part in the Showman's Variety Jubilee here recently revealed these statistics:

Waist 25 inches; hips 33 inches; bust 34 inches.

Twenty of the girls are more than five feet six inches tall and most of them are athletic.

LONG'S MILLIONS

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 12—Huey Long accumulated wealth as boss of Louisiana. His income, he said, was law practice revenue. A check or records showed he was paid $225,000 by the Tax Commission during the six months before his death, and $125,000 by the Public Service Commission. Long's wealth was a matter of continual speculation. Guesses sometimes ran as high of $5,000,000, but few credited any supposition placing it over $2,5000,000.

Growers Barter Apples For German Coal

HALIFAX, Sept. 11—Three thousand tons of German coal were being unloaded here today consigned to a group of Annapolis Valley apple growers as barter for several thousand barrels of Nova Scotia fruit.

It was the first time German coal was ever delivered here. Similarly it will be the first time Nova Scotian apples have ever been shipped to Germany.

This pioneering scheme for development of Canadian trade was divulged here today by A. T. O'Leary, Halifax coal merchant and agent for the Danish Steamship Agnete Maersk that is carrying the exchange shipments. The coal was anthracite, mined in the Rhur Valley and shipped here from Eenden.

Mr. O'Leary said the coal would be distributed by him throughout the Maritimes.

He declined to name the apple growers' organization that completed the transactions, explaining the company wished to remain in the background "for the present at least." He also refused to state whether or not the Government Marketing Board has assisted negotiations.

Magistrate's View of Dogs on Roads

STRATFORD, Sept. 11—A. E. Reeve, vice-chairman of the Stratford Police Special Motoring Court, after dealing with a case in which a motorist had collided with two cars after swerving to avoid a dog said:

"I am a motorist of many years standing and I would not budge an inch to avoid a dog. A motorist who does is a fool—an utter fool—for he does not know what human lives he may endanger."

Dogs should always be kept on a lead when taken out, Mr. Reeve added. Although he had never swerved to avoid a dog, he had never killed one.

An official of the Canine Defence League, discussing the magistrate's view, said: "It is a question of the circumstances at the time. A man is asking for trouble if he swerves when there is danger of running into an omnibus.

"Dog owners," he added, "should keep their dogs under control. On roads with heavy traffic, they should be on a lead unless they are well trained."

An official of the Automobile Association said that the Highway Code urged that dogs should be kept under proper control whether on the road or in a vehicle.

"What looks a safe swerve may, in fact, be very dangerous because of traffic following."

Hot Water

Before breaking an egg for poaching place it in boiling water for about half a minute. The yolk will then be less likely to mingle with the white.

Before peeling tomatoes plunge them first in boiling water and then in cold. The skins may then be removed easily.

When new bread has to be sliced the knife blade should be dipped frequently in a jug of boiling water. This prevents it from sticking to the moist bread.

Oranges that are to be sliced for a fruit salad should be left in boiling water for about five minutes before they are peeled. The white pulp may then be more easily and cleanly stripped off.

To prevent sausages from bursting while they are being fried dip them first in boiling water.

When butter and sugar have to be creamed together, place the bowl in a larger bowl of hot water for a few minutes and beat the mixture. Remove the bowl from the hot water before the butter becomes oily.

Jars of honey, syrup, oil, or oily preparations of any kind may be more thoroughly and quickly emptied if they are first allowed to stand in hot water for a few minutes.

Australian Church Communists Foe

To combat the attacks made by Australian Communists on religion, the Methodist Church will seek, at the 11th triennial conference, to establish a church paper for distribution in industry where Communist activity is most intense.

Rev. William Coleman, of Sydney will present a report to the conference, in which he says: "This phase of the Ministry to those outside the Churches is most essential to counteract the specious attacks upon religion made in Communist literature, which finds its way into the hands of industrial workers everywhere."—Australian Press Bureau.
