BANFF, Alta., Aug. 14.—(C.P.)—One of the greatest international gatherings Canada has ever welcomed is assembling here for the fifth biennial conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations, meeting from Aug. 14 to 28.

Distinguished students of international affairs, of all shades of political opinion will be present from Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, the United States, Japan, China, the Netherlands, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands in addition to a large and important Canadian delegation.

Also present will be representatives of the International Labor office of Geneva, Miss Mary Craig McGeachy, prominent member of the League secretariat, and Dr. Arnold Wolfers of the International Studies Conference of the League of Nations.

One of the chief figures in the "miniature League of Nations" assembly, which will discuss problems in the Far East and possible solutions, is Sir Herbert Samuel, former British home secretary and at present leader of the Liberal Parliamentary party.

Mr. MacPherson acknowledged the address and thanked the members for their thoughtfulness. When Mrs. MacPherson realized that she would not recover from her illness, she requested that instead of the usual floral offering from the Society that the money be given for missions.

gracious influence exerted by her in the home, the Church and the community. It is told that when George Adam Smith began to write the life of Henry Drummond that he said it was like trying to capture a fragrance. Such might be said of the life of this Christian woman. The meeting closed with the benediction.

CAPITOL TO-DAY MATHESON LANG
"Carnival" has drama that will startle you! Acting that lifts you out of your seat! Such truly great acting is rare!

"BACK STREET" WITH JOHN BOLES AND IRENE DUNN AT PRINCE EDWARD

"Back Street" which opened at the Prince Edward yesterday tells an intensely affecting story of a woman who gave up everything in her life for love, and a man who gave nothing but love. The picture sheds new light on "the eternal triangle," and you will follow the unfolding of the plot with breathless interest.

"CARNIVAL" OUTSTANDING BRITISH PICTURE AT CAPITOL

"Carnival," the attraction which opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday will likely be ranked amongst the ten finest pictures of the year when the annual poll of outstanding pictures is taken. We believe that Matheson Lang's performance in "Carnival" is the outstanding screen portrayal these eyes have seen since Emil Jannings astonished us by his powerful acting.

ON HOLIDAY TRIP—REV. Q. A. McDowell, and Mrs. McDowell left by motor on Tuesday, for Caledonia, where they will spend a week. This having been Mr. McDowell's first parish, he will take the Sunday services in the Presbyterian church there. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell will then proceed to Durham, Pictou county, where they will spend the remainder of their holidays. As a theological student, Mr. McDowell was at one time in charge at Durham and Green Hill.—Sydney Post-Record.

SUCCESSFUL PICNIC.—A very enjoyable picnic was held on Mr. Murdoch D. MacLeod's beautiful intervals at Upper Montague on Friday afternoon by the combined Sunday schools of Kilmuir, Valleyfield and Upper Montague. The afternoon was taken up with softball, sprints, relay races and group games. After supper which was set on tables under the trees, the married men challenged the single men to a tug-of-war. The result after three attempts was somewhat doubtful as the weight of the older men was balanced by the endurance of the younger. Prizes were awarded to the winners of the various events. Much of the credit for the success of the outing which everyone enjoyed, is due to Mr. M. D. MacLeod who supplied the lumber for the tables and also built a wonderful stove, to Mr. John MacLellan and Mr. D. M. Nicholson who built the tables, to McGowan's Ltd., for the use of their truck, and especially to the ladies for the delicious supper which they provided.

PERSONALS

Mr. A. L. Wright and sons left Saturday morning by motor on a holiday visit to Boston.

Mrs. John C. Stewart, Dunstafford, was a recent visitor to Bedford and the North Shore. She also visited her brother, Mr. Harry Court, Charlottetown.

Miss Beth Ladner, North River, and Miss Eleanor Morrison, Bridgetown, spent the week end in Rocky Point, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Campbell.

Mr. L. J. Gay, who has been relieving Mr. M. R. Pitman, Manager of the Royal Bank of Canada at Dorchester, N.B. for the past two weeks is holidaying at his home in Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wright, Brighton Road, have as their guests Mrs. Clifford Fuller of Amherst, Miss Edwina Goodwin of Bale Verte and Miss Elsie Lord of Moncton.

The Late Miss Marion H. Fuller

Residents of the summer colony at Keppoch will hear with regret of the death of Miss Marion H. Fuller, who with her mother, Mrs. Albert W. Fuller, spent two weeks this summer, guests of Mrs. Jaynes at Bayfield, Keppoch. Mrs. Fuller and her daughter left on return to her home in Newton, Mass., via Quebec. In the latter city, Miss Fuller was taken suddenly ill, and died on Aug. 7.

News of her almost sudden death was a great shock to Mrs. Jaynes and to the many who had become acquainted with her during her short but pleasant stay at Keppoch. She was a lady of exceptional charm, and made many friends among those with whom she came in contact. In her home city of Newton she was active in church and social work giving much of her time to these activities. During the past summer Miss Fuller managed the 1933 Episcopal Convention in Maryland, and for some time past devoted three days of every week to social service of Trinity Church, Boston.

The sympathy of all who met them during their stay in Keppoch, and of their many friends at home is extended to the bereaved mother, whose pleasant visit ended so tragically.

STEAMER GOES TOUGH COURSE AROUND IN AWAITS STARS ST. LAWRENCE

Many Church Dignitaries Among those Rescued From Ship.

(Canadian Press)
CHARBOU ISLAND, Que., Aug. 13.—The small coastwise passenger steamer North Shore was pounding itself to pieces on a reef near here tonight while a party of Roman Catholic dignitaries headed by Mgr. Andrea Casullo, Papal Delegate to Canada and Newfoundland, were safe at Rimouski, Que., after a thrilling rescue from the damaged vessel by boats manned by north shore fishermen and the ship's crew. While mist curled from this island-studded portion of the St. Lawrence, the North Shore, owned by the Clarke Steamship Company struck a reef at five P. M., Saturday. Exact cause of the accident is not known but it is believed the ship's compass was affected by magnetic current.

Disembark Safety

Under orders of Captain Joseph H. Ovington and the personal supervisor of Colonel Frank Stanton, Secretary Treasurer of the Clarke Company, the passengers were all safely disembarked in boats manned by the ship's crew and by fishermen living near the scene of the accident. They spent the night in the homes of residents on the Island and this morning were rowed to the steamer Marco Polo in fishermen's boats, the Marco Polo took the party to Matane, Que., from where they were motored by friends to Rimouski.

Captain Ovington and his crew of 21 men remained aboard the stricken vessel overnight but were forced to land today as the wind freshened and high waves began to pound the ship furiously. She suffered a large gash in the bow and remains tilted precariously on the reef. The salvage ship Lord Strathcona was on her way here tonight from Quebec in an attempt to tow the North Shore off the rocks but it was believed locally this would be an extremely difficult task.

Among Passengers

The unique party of Catholic dignitaries boarded the ship at Rimouski last Friday to enable Mgr. Casullo to make a survey of Catholic communities on the North Shore of the St. Lawrence.

The Papal Delegate was accompanied, among others, by Mgr. J. M. Leventoux, Vicar Apostolic of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Mgr. Kelly of Oklahoma, Mgr. Joseph Bearzotti, Secretary of the Papal Legation, Ottawa, Monsignor Eugene C. Laflamme, cure of the Quebec Basilica, L. A. Richard, Quebec Deputy Minister of Colonization, Chevalier Henri Gagnon, Managing Director of the French language newspaper Le Soleil, Quebec, and President of the Canadian Press, Pierre Casgrain, member of Parliament for Charlevoix-Saguenay, Dr. J. E. Gill, of McGill University, Montreal, Col. Stanton and members of the Papal Delegate's clerical entourage.

The party stopped at Anticosti, Harve, St. Pierre, Thunder Bay, and Seven Islands bringing the Papal Delegate in direct contact with the North River population and the Montagnais Indians for the first time. Many Montagnais live in this district and the majority, are Catholics.

Soil Temperature

Other things being equal, dark colored soils absorb more heat and are therefore inclined to be warmer than light colored ones. The temperature of the soil is largely governed by the water and air supply and by the color of the soil. Too much water and little air causes loss of heat and by evaporation results in a cold condition of the soil, while a well drained well-aerated soil tends to be comparatively warm.

The burning of peat lands nowadays is not generally recommended, as uneven burning is likely to occur and here is grave danger of removing so much of the top soil that the infertile soil will be exposed. Burning, however, may be resorted to if the peat is very deep and little decomposed, and if there is no danger of fire spreading.

STEAMER GOES TOUGH COURSE AROUND IN AWAITS STARS ST. LAWRENCE

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—(C.P.)—Giants of golfdom who strut their stuff for the glory that is derived from the game or for their living will have ample opportunity to test the efficiency of their war clubs when they tee off in the opening skirmish for the Canadian Open Golf championship here on August 17.

While the brilliant coterie of stars and lesser luminaries are accustomed to tough assignments in their bid for title laurels, they will find in the Royal York layout, over which this year's classic will be played, one of the most exacting tests in the Dominion.

Unfolding its fairways and greens over the undulating terrain of the beautiful Humber Valley, the course has been laid out to place a premium on long, accurate wood shots and unerring pitches to the greens. All told about 112 bunkers have been judiciously scattered about the course to penalize wayward shots and while some are comparatively shallow, others are of such construction as to defy the very best shot-makers.

As George Duncan, the veteran British star observed during a tour of the course in 1931, "you have here a course that compares favorably with the best we have over home. The bunkers are fairly placed and there are plenty of them, but if you want to approach perfect figures it is just as well to stay clear of the pits."

The championship length of the course is 6,890 yards, calling for par of 72. Seidom has this figure been eclipsed in title play, although Horton Smith, the Joplin Sledge Gun, toured the tricky layout with a brilliant 69 during an exhibition match some time ago.

The course is excellently balanced as to length of holes and individual character. And while the land is of a picturesque rolling nature, there are no steep climbs. Following is a hole by hole description of the layout:

Hole 1. 415 yards—Par 4: A splendid two-shotter as an opener with the natural roll of the ground giving appreciable run to a good drive. The large green is placed on the crest of rising ground with a broad approach to the pin.

Hole 2. 410 yards—Par 4: The shot must carry a narrow valley with poor drives penalized by traps on either side of the fairway. The green is well trapped although liberal in size for a well-placed pitch.

Hole 3. 205 yards—Par 3: A tricky effort from an elevated tee. There is a fine assortment of traps here to catch shots off the line, with five bunkers guarding the approach to the green.

Hole 4. 430 yards—Par 4: A good drive and iron or spoon will reach the green. The drive is from a plateau tee with a bluff of trees and heavy undergrowth to trap a slice. The large green is well elevated and soundly trapped.

Hole 5. 405 yards—Par 4: A short drive finds a bunker placed athwart the fairway. Deep bunkers also guard a broad elevated green, and a heavily played approach is more than likely to find the rough as the back of the green slopes steeply down a ravine.

Hole 6. 140 yards—Par 3: A beautiful one-shotter over a ravine to a natural plateau green. A yawning trap guards the approach to gobble up a shot played without courage.

Hole 7. 450 yards—Par 5: Plenty of grief here for a player who becomes slightly careless. The drive from an elevated tee is over a gully. A trap awaits a short tee shot and woods will catch a slice or hook.

Hole 8. 220 yards—Par 3: A partial dog-leg to a green protected by a high knoll and sprawling bunkers. A rather difficult par.

Hole 9. 515 yards—Par 5: A great wind-up for the out-going journey with a chance for the long hitters to squeeze in a birdie.

Hole 10. 415 yards—Par 4: A comparatively easy par, although trouble lurks for the unwary as two valleys separate the tee and green with a liberal sprinkling of traps to catch poorly played shots.

Hole 11. 490 yards—Par 5: Except for the ubiquitous traps little to trouble a player who directs his shots along a straight line. Another opportunity for a birdie.

Hole 12. 370 yards—Par 4: Dubbed the "Cathedral" hole and one of the stiffest tests on the course. Heavy rough flanks the right of the fairway with bunkers to take care of a hooked drive. The green, on a jutting plateau is small, demanding a perfect pitch.

Hole 13. 245 yards—Par 3: Presents the first water hazard. The drive is from an elevated tee and calls for carry over a burn 210 yards away. Out of bounds to the left and deep traps guarding the right of the green. Hole 14. 445 yards—Par 4: A tough par. The drive is from the rise of a hill over sloping ground to a winding stream which ambles along the approach to the green. A hook will encounter plenty of grief, with a boundary fence urging caution and a wide stretch of rough and heavy woods as an added hazard.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Further improvement in the condition of Senator Gideon D. Robertson was reported tonight. While the former Minister of Labor will be confined to his home for some time, physicians attending him stated tonight that he may be able to leave his bed in a week or ten days. Senator Robertson became critically ill on Wednesday of last week from a paralytic stroke.

Hole 15. 425 yards—Par 4: A dog-leg, calling for accurate woods and true approach. The green is perfectly guarded by rising mounds hiding deep, yawning traps.

Hole 16. 170 yards—Par 3: An easy par for the player who can keep his iron shot on a true line. A clearance of only 10 yards to the rolling green, with deep traps to right and left. Very easy to drop strokes here.

Hole 17. 480 yards—Par 5: Two good woods and a sound chip should find the green for an easy par or birdie. But disaster awaits the erratic shot as winged traps lurk to right and left and an over-played pitch will encounter heavy rough on the slopes beyond the green.

Hole 18. 460 yards—Par 4: Another fairly easy par. The greatest danger on the home hole is for the player with a tendency to hook. A pulled drive or second shot will find a resting place in the depths of a valley and two cavernous bunkers serve as warning sentinels to the right and left of the broad, undulating green.

E. W. TAYLOR JEWELERS AND OPTOMETRIST Charlottetown AND Alberton

Mr. E. W. Taylor, Watchmaker and Optician came to Prince Edward Island in 1869. His father was in the same line of business and doing a flourishing trade with the gentry and others at Diss, Norfolk Co., England, sometimes selling three expensive gold watches to one family and also filling orders for telescopes and microscopes costing over $100.00 each. Mr. E. W. Taylor is grateful to the many who in the past and present have been his customers. Apprentices who have served with him are or were located in Spokane, Wash., Moscow, Idaho, Stettler, Alta., Sydney, C. B., Winnipeg, Summerside, Charlottetown and other places. Two of them worked some years in the Wallham Factory. Another one did a good deal of work for Birks, Montreal. Just now a branch office is being opened at Alberton, Prince Co., under the management of Mr. J. S. Taylor who is also a registered Optometrist, as it was realized there was a need and opening there. He expects to visit Charlottetown at stated intervals and during Exhibition Week to assist in testing eyes, doing engraving or any fine work required. 231.
