The World's Record Ranch

Head Office at Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Capitalized at $625,000

Sold Six Pairs of Foxes for $100,000 Establishing a New World's Record

This sale was made to a Russian Syndicate whose representative visited all the large ranches on the Island last summer to make a decision as to where the Best Silver Black Foxes were to be found, AND THE DALTON RANCH GOT THE DECISION.

In the Fox business as in every line of business: There is only one BEST and when we offer Canadian investors shares in the Chas. Dalton Silver Black Fox Co. Ltd., at $100 par value, we offer them stock in the best paying Fox Ranch on the Face of the Earth, the ranch that holds the world's price record for pelts and also the world's record for the price of young foxes.

This is the only Fox Ranching Company that guarantees a dividend, and we practically guarantee a dividend of 40 per cent for the first year:— This is the only Fox Ranch that carries an insurance and it is insured in the amount of $250,000 till July 1st 1913.

All money received is placed to the credit of the provisional directors in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Charlottetown, and can only be drawn on by cheque signed by all three.

Options $12,000 Per Pair

We are now ready to sell options to P. E. Island breeders, on six pairs of Dalton's best Island bred silver Black Fox pups of 1913 at $12,000 a pair. These options number from 7 to 12 inclusive. First come first served. As these are the only options that will be offered to Island Ranchers this year, they would do well to get their applications in early. We will also sell options on six pairs of 1913 pups to Foreign ranches at the same price. These options number from 13 to 18 inclusive.

The Russian Sale

Means that should the Ranch produce only twelve young foxes next year we would have for dividends $290,000 or nearly 50 per cent on the subscribed capital, because Mr Dalton's guarantee of $5,000 for every young fox to the number of fifty not produced, would be on thirty-eight foxes $190,000 which amount added to the Russian sale of $100,000 makes $290,000. These figures are given here to show the enormous profits this ranch will produce at the very lowest estimate.

This Sale Means That 16 per cent of the 40 per cent Guaranteed to the Shareholders is Already Earned and with a fair yield the dividend will reach 80 per cent

The application form in the opposite panel is for the convenience of intending subscribers who cannot make it convenient to apply in person at any of our agencies. Parties taking advantage of this means of subscribing for shares in this company— should fill out the form and send 10 per cent of the amount subscribed, by money order or registered letter to W. B. Prowse, sec'y treas. of the Chas. Dalton Silver Black Fox Co. who on receiving same will send receipt for money received. We have placed this form in our advertisement so that every person on P. E. Island may have a chance to invest part of their surplus money in the best paying Fox Ranch in the world, and if any one gets left out they will have themselves to blame.

What Are You Doing With Your Savings?

Some people are contented with 3 p. c. others buy stocks and bonds and draw interest at 6 p. c. while others buy shares in a pair of foxes and make from 30 to 35 p. c. You—personally—know numbers of these men who have made money in the fox business. If you are drawing 3 p. c. or 6 p. c. instead of 40 p. c. which is guaranteed by the Chas. Dalton Silver Black Fox Co., get out of the rut, $100 invested in this Company will return you more interest than $1,000 in a Savings Bank. And remember that 40 p. c. is the lowest rate of interest that this investment can possibly pay and it may be increased to 80 p. c. To avoid disappointment, send your application for shares today to the undersigned or F. B. McCurdy & Co., Brokers Ch. Town or any branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce on P. E. Island.

NEWS FROM EUROPEAN CENTRES OF GENERAL INTEREST TO GUARDIAN READERS

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (Special)—Princess Lichnowsky, wife of the newly appointed German Ambassador to Great Britain, is the authoress of a book on Egypt which is about to leave the press. It is entitled "Gods, Kings, and Animals in Egypt," and is the record of several visits. Literary friends who have seen advance sheets of the book pronounce it one of the most charming subjective studies of both ancient and modern Egypt which have been written.

GENEVA, Nov. 22 (Special)—The Federal Tribunal, the highest court of appeal in Switzerland, has just given an extraordinary verdict. A wealthy Swiss woman, who for the last twenty years has been an inmate of an asylum, left a will which is contested by her relations, the sum involved being nearly $150,000. The court did not find that the two conditions of incapacity provided by law—namely, absence of will and privation of reason—could be applied in this case, and therefore decided in favor of the will.

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (Special)—A dramatic love tragedy is reported from Weissenau, where a young gardener named Walter Mueller was found asphyxiated by gas fumes. Before his death he had converted his bedroom into a chapel of ardor. The walls were hung with black draperies, and the bed on which the body was found lying was adorned with the choicest flowers. At the head lay a large wreath with long black streamers, on one of which were painted in white the words, "Dedicated to myself," and on the other the inscription, "May Mother Earth lie lightly on thee." A black bordered letter which he had addressed to a friend ran:— "As I am not permitted to marry my love, I leave the world, for without her it is hell to live in. Those who have parted me from her shall know no rest on earth, for my spirit shall haunt them day and night. I die without owing a penny to any man. The wreath and the flowers are an offering to myself."

PARIS, Nov. 22 (Special)—An elephant paid a visit to a tobacco shop near the Gare de Lyon at three o'clock yesterday morning, swallowed several pounds of snuff and 200 or 300 cigars, and wrecked the shop. M. and Mme. Vaux were sleeping in their bedroom on the ground floor just behind the shop—which is also a restaurant—when Mme. Vaux awoke her husband, and said she heard burglars. M. Vaux got of bed and picked up a revolver. Just then the trunk and head of an elephant appeared through the wall, most of which fell on Mme. Vaux, and she, in her night attire, climbed out of a window at the back and disappeared. The elephant, which had escaped from a circus proprietor, had been frightened by a dog, and lost his temper with a carrot hung outside the tobacco shop, as a sign, because it was painted tin and was not good to eat. In less than a quarter of an hour he succeeded in leaving nothing standing except the walls, and only the outer four of those. He then followed his keeper quietly enough to the circus, where he performed in the night.

MILAN, Nov. 22 (Special)—Five persons were killed and ten others frightfully injured by the collapse of Countess Visconti's new country house in the suburbs of Vercelli. The villa, which was constructed of armored cement, has only just been completed, and the countess had invited a number of guests to a musical party in celebration of the event. Several tons of bricks had been heaped on the top floor to test the resistance of the building. Suddenly while the orchestra was playing, and there was a wild rush for the doors, but before many of the guests had time to escape to the garden the whole building came down like a house of cards. The countess herself was the first of the buried victims to be extricated alive. An hour later the rescuers began to reach the first of the corpses. Among the dead was the mother of the contractor. The latter had in the meantime fled, but he has just been arrested at the countess's town residence at Vercelli.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 22 (Special)—The question of Woman Suffrage is now before the Danish House of Commons, and is arousing wide-spread interest. The reform is bound up with the projected general amendment of the Danish Constitution. Herr Bernsten, the Danish Premier has introduced the measure for this purpose. Two points are involved: One, the manner of election for the Landsting (Upper House); and two, the lowering of the qualifying voting age for the Lower House, from 30 to 25 years, together with the extension of this franchise to women.

With regard to the Landsting, it is proposed to abolish certain privileges, such as the nomination of twelve members directly by the King, and to place the electoral power in the hands of the municipalities. Since women have a place on these bodies, they would also become automatically included as voters for the Upper House. It is contended that the proposed amendment is on the lines of the old Danish Constitution of 1849, into which the reactionary spirit of 1866 introduced baneful privileges. The Liberals, Radicals and Socialists, who are supporting the Premier, show no wish to exclude women, and the Conservatives are also said to be in favor of their inclusion.

GENEVA, Nov. 22 (Special)—A pathetic scene took place at the cemetery here yesterday, when a French couple, who had been expelled from Geneva, were arrested as they were attending the burial of their only child. While the priest was reading the burial service, the detectives informed them that they would be conducted to prison, but allowed them to remain until the end of the ceremony.

BOMBAY, Nov. 23 (Special)—Some interesting statistics concerning plague in the Bombay district for the year 1911 are now available. During the year the number of persons in the Presidency who were inoculated against plague was 93,655, as against 30,635 inoculated in the preceding year. Of this total 32,047 were inoculated in the Dharwar district, which was the worst effected in the Presidency. Eighty-one plague cases were reported during the year among persons who had been inoculated, of which 38 proved fatal. But among the latter cases 36 were apparently in the incubation stage at the time of inoculation, the disease having been contracted before the serum had time to react. Of the remaining two cases, one developed plague after one month and the other after two months.

LONDON, Nov. 23 (Special)—Dr. Filippo de Filippi has submitted to the Council of the Royal Geographical Society a plan for a scientific expedition which he has projected to the Western Himalayas and Karakoram, and for which he has already obtained a large proportion of the $50,000 that will be necessary. The council has expressed its approval of Dr. de Filippi's plan. Dr. de Filippi's name is well known in connection with three of the great expeditions which have been so successfully accomplished by the Duke of the Abruzzi, first to Mount St. Elias in Alaska, second to Mount Ruvenzori in Central Africa, and lastly to the Karakoram Mountains. The expedition now proposed will probably be the most important from the scientific point of view that has entered the Himalayas. The special physical characteristics of the Himalaya-Karakoram region, added to the comparative vicinity with which high altitudes can be reached in it, to the dryness of the atmosphere, etc. afford unique opportunities for re-

LISBON, Nov. 23 (Special)—Some days ago the inhabitants of the district of Villa Flor revolted and attacked the Government buildings, pulled out all the official documents and papers in the archives, and made a huge bonfire of them in the street. A military force was sent to arrest the ringleaders.

At Calle de Terno and Candoso the inhabitants sounded the alarm by ringing the church bells and attacked the soldiers, who were forced to fire repeated volleys. A number of people were wounded. Numerous arrests were made.

Although trials continue, a great number of the Portuguese political prisoners are still in the prisons. Unfortunately, their treatment leaves much to be desired. The majority of those in the Lisbon central prison of Lismoiro are lodged in inadequate rooms wholly devoid of hygienic conditions. Seven prisoners are kept in cells intended only for two. Section 5 holds 37 prisoners, although designed only for 16. In some of the rooms the rain freely enters. Other of the rooms have no windows, and the only light and air are from holes in the roof. The food also is poor. Other conspirators imprisoned in the Castle of Sao Jorge are in as bad condition, part of the living rooms being underground.

DUBLIN, Nov. 25 (Special)—The "Dublin Daily Express" has received information that it is the intention of the Government to establish seven aviation centres around the Irish coast. These stations are to be formed at Dublin Bay, Belfast Lough, Queenstown Harbor, Berrisford, Lough Foyle, Galway Bay, Berrisford, and Waterford. They will be very similar in extent and resources, though Dublin Bay will be the largest. The hangars and other necessary buildings to accommodate twenty-five hydroplanes and aeroplanes are to be provided, and contracts for the building of these will be placed as soon as the plans can be prepared. Attached to the Dublin station will be quarters for a strong detachment of the naval wing of the Royal Flying Corps, which will be constantly maintained here, and daily flights will be taken to ensure that each machine is in proper working order and in every way efficient to safeguard the portion of the coast placed under its care.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 24 (Special)—The prevailing uneasiness in Australia in respect to Japanese espionage has received an impetus from a report by officers of the Intelligence Corps that Japanese and German spies have been working for six months in the vicinity of important railway junctions in the north and east of the Commonwealth. Japanese, who were quickly released, were recently captured with photographs of the supports of Hawkesbury railway bridge, the weak link in the military communication between New South Wales and Queensland.

Members of the Federal Parliament are agitating for severe anti-spy legislation, but the Government, though obviously concerned, is disposed to rely upon the Imperial Official Secrets Act. The Acting Minister of Defence admits that reports have reached his Department but declines to say more.

BERLIN, Nov. 25 (Special)—The Crown Prince's riding accident at Danzig, where he commands the "Death's Head Hussars," is not his first mishap of the same kind; the wonder is that his neck has not been broken long before this. His dominating ambition is to be considered a sportsman in every way, as is evident from every line of his recently-published reminiscences in the field of sport. He has been repeatedly cautioned by his Imperial father against the dangers of steeplechasing, and once he was even ordered several days' confinement to his room—"Stehenarrret!"—for riding his horse up the long flight of steps leading up to the topmost terrace of Sans Souci. cently was the dangerous sport of wild bear hunting, and some years ago he made public the fact that he had slain 2,700 of these animals. Yet he has never sustained the slightest mishap on his sporting expeditions, and all his sons, who are equally ardent sportsmen, have hitherto been as fortunate as their father.

Prince Henry of Prussia, too, has gone unscathed, but he has been the cause of some accidents to others. He had not attained his majority before he managed, while shooting in the preserves of the Grand Duke of Baden, to wound a gamekeeper so severely that the man was crippled for life, and has since been in receipt of a generous pension. Then in Corfu, while climbing a steep hill, he accidentally lodged a shot in a Greek officer behind him; while at a later period he inflicted serious damage on a Turkish dignitary appointed by the Sultan to attend him on a shooting expedition in Syria.

RIGA, Russia, Nov. 24 (Special)—Serious maltreatment of negro sailors by the master and Finnish crew has, it is stated, been discovered on board a Finnish sailing vessel which has arrived here from Africa. The cargo of redwood. A negro was found in chains in a cabin, where he had been confined three days without food. Another negro, unable to afford his maltreatment any longer, jumped into the sea during the voyage and was drowned. The bodies of other blacks were covered with sores. The Public Prosecutor and British Consul have visited the vessel and the matter has been placed before the examining magistrate. The negroes are British subjects.
