

Who wishes to travel far spares
the gas.

Morning Guardian, Founded 1887
Charlottetown Guardian Two Cents

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

The People's Paper Read by Everybody
Covers Prince Edward Island Like the Dew

Without taste genius is but sublime folly.

CHARLOTTETOWN, CANADA, MONDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1935

12 PAGES

Annual Subscription Delivered $5.00
By Mail Canada and U. S. A. $4.50

Fascist "Flags Of Defiance" To Greet Peace Terms

RIOTS

Protection Sought For Foreigners

(Copyright 1935 by The Havas News Agency)

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) CAIRO, Dec. 15.—(C. P. Havas)—Continued anti-British rioting by Egyptian Nationalists today led British authorities to urge the government to take effective measures to protect the lives of foreign residents in Cairo.

The request was made to Premier Tewfik Nassim Pasha by Sir Miles Lampson, British High Commissioner for Egypt, as crowds of Egyptian Nationalists demonstrated in the streets, demanding complete independence for Egypt and the immediate enforcement of the Treaty of Alliance drafted with Britain five years ago.

A manifesto issued by a Conservative students' committee, requesting that the disorders stop, apparently failed to calm the Nationalists' fury.

Announcement that the 1923 constitution will be restored, has not calmed the demands by many Nationalists for complete independence.

AWARDED OVERSEAS SCHOLARSHIP

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, Dec. 15.—Allan Findlay, member of the Kings Collegiate School teaching staff and former Maritime golf champion, has been chosen 1935 Rhodes scholar for Nova Scotia, the selection committee for the province announced tonight. He will study at Oxford.

ANNOUNCEMENTS COMING EVENTS MEETINGS, ETC

*Christmas Concert, Kinkora Hall, Friday, December 20th. If stormy, Saturday. L-3832-12-16-20-21

*Bunbury School Concert, December 18th at 7.30 P. M. in the school. L-3835-12-16-11.

*Come to the Christmas Concert in Orwell Corve Hall Thursday, December 19th. L-3831-12-16-18-21.

*School Concert on Thursday 19th at Rose Valley Hall. If stormy, next fine evening. Admission 10c. L-3829-12-16-11.

*Poultry—Buying all kinds dressed poultry on graded basis. George Leightner Co., next Queen Hotel. L-3898-12-7-11.

*Grading poultry every day at highest market price for cash. Poole & Thompson Ltd. L-3731-12-12-61.

*I.O.D.E. members please bring contributions and puddings to Chapter Room today, Monday, 16th. L-3839

*Xmas Concert in Cross Roads School, Thursday, December 19th. Admission 10 cents. If unfavorable Friday night. L-3823-12-16-21.

*Buying poultry at Ivan Brown's, Clifton, Tuesday, December 17th till 1 P. M. Also buying Kensington every day. Geo. A. Webster. L-3710-12-14-21.

*Loading live and dressed poultry Wednesday, Dec. 18, paying top market price. Sgd. Delaney and McKay, Albany. L-3813

*The Millview Shipping Club will be buying dressed poultry of all kinds Wednesday p.m. Dec. 18. Highest market prices paid. Sgd. Lawson Jenkins, Secretary. L-3813

*We will be buying poultry Tuesday, Dec. 17, paying highest market prices. A. A. MacDonald and Co. Ltd., Cardigan. L-3812

*Buying poultry on following dates: Dec. 18th, 19th and 20th. Paying highest market prices. Matthews & McLean Ltd., Bridgetown. L-3834

*Beginning December 10th, we will be buying live and dressed poultry, all kinds, paying highest market prices. Matthews & McLean Ltd., Bridgetown. L-3834

*Buying live and dressed poultry daily at J. F. Proffit's warehouse, Kensington, paying highest market prices. H. S. McEwen and Oliver Campbell. L-3448

*Come to an evening's enjoyment to the concert at North Millon Hall Dec. 18th. Varied program of vocal and instrumental music, etc. Proceeds in aid of School Library. Admission 20c. L-3837

BREAK OUT A NEW

SOME APPEALS AND RESPONSES

Here Are a Few of the Touching Appeals to Santa Claus and Some of the Reasons Given for Responding to the Santa Pals Fund Appeal.

This morning we reproduce a few letters from children who write Santa Claus, and from Santa Pals who respond:

Dear Friend Santa: It is getting very near Christmas and I am sending you my best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Well Santa, I haven't got very much to say for you to read so I will close now. Dear Santa, I do wish that you would send me a game for Christmas.

Dear Old Santa Claus: This is to let you know that I am well and hoping that you are the same.

Well Santa did you freeze your nose yet, you better be very careful because Jack Frost is very bad this year, and he is just as apt to bite you as not. Ha Ha! Well, Dear Santa, I would just love you if you would send me a game for a Christmas present.

Dear Santa Claus: Just a few lines to wish you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and to tell you that I would like to get a train from you for a Christmas present.

Dear Santa Claus: I would like to get a mutual top from you for a Christmas present.

To Dear Santa Claus: Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and hoping that you are the same. Dear Santa, Christmas is coming and coming fast and I would love to get a winding car from you for a present.

Dear Friend Santa: Just a few lines to wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Well, Santa how are your toes and fingers and your grey head. Fine eh? Dear Santa, I guess there is a lot of children going to see you. I would love to go but I live too far away and money is so scarce and I would r if you could send me a game for Christmas.

A School Boy: Please accept this small contribution for your great work. I am only a schoolboy, so I am unable to give more.

In memory of my beloved wife who followed with great interest your wonderful work each year.

In memory of my mother—Have looked forward to a nding you this check, it being a solemn ritual performed as my duty in the present in memory of the past.

Members of the Women's Club—This enclosure is to be applied to child, the boy who is not so fortunate as we of the Club, and who hopes that this donation will aid in making a merrier Christmas for him and his mother.

In memory of . . .—May the enclosed check help to bring a lit-

(Continued on Page 8)

Six Burned To Death As Fire Destroys Farm Home

GARNEGIE, Okla., Dec. 15.—Six persons were burned to death today as fire ravaged the four-room farm home of George Bailey 13 miles west of Carnegie. Two others were burned severely. Five fled the house safely.

A defective flue apparently caused the blaze.

The dead were: Jarrell, eight, Gerald, six, and Lillian Gene, three, all children of the Baileys; William Bailey, 24, a half brother of George; Marvin Floyd, 15, and Harry Lee Floyd, 11, nephew.

The severely burned: George Bailey, who rented the house and worked as a farm hand; and Mrs. Laura Bailey, 49, step-mother of Bailey.

Despite his serious burns, George Bailey took the other six survivors in his car to the home of a neighbor where ambulances were summoned.

The fire, occurring early today, enveloped the house before the occupants were aware of it.

"The flames were in my bedroom when I woke up," George Bailey said. "I couldn't get out the door so I broke down an unused door which had been nailed shut and escaped. Then I went back into the house and tried to save some others but the roof started falling and I had to clear out. My clothes were on fire."

Others fled through doors and windows.

"Canada First" Still Policy Of Ex-Prime Minister

Bennett Urges Support Of Dominion, Provincial And Municipal Governments In Facing Canada's Problems.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Dec. 15.—A plea for support of Dominion, provincial and municipal governments by "all men of good will" was made here Saturday night by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former Prime Minister of Canada, at the annual banquet of the Dominion Commercial Travellers' Association.

"Your governments, municipal, provincial and federal, require and demand your sympathetic support and your best efforts to enable them to discharge the trust imposed upon them," Mr. Bennett declared.

The country was making progress, but governments were still confronted with grave problems.

Canada was still fifth among nations of the world in importance of overseas exports, he said, and the "credit of the Dominion remained unchallenged. He was pleased to know Canada was "marching forth from the difficulties of the depression."

Returns From Cruise
The leader of the Conservative opposition in Parliament, who has just returned from a cruise through United States waters looked fit after resting from the long election campaign. He was in good spirits, chiding the press for their "short-comings during the election which removed the Conservative party" Mr. Bennett saw no way out of present economic difficulties until the world had returned to proper terms in dealing with international trade. Since the gold standard had been abandoned at the international yardstick, no universal measure had been devised for rehabilitating the free flow of trade.

He would suggest the problem commercial men had to solve was to devise some method of enabling a free flow of commodities between nations.

Tariff Removals
"Removal of tariffs will permit a freer flow of trade but it does not provide the universal yardstick which is so necessary for a return to normal conditions," Mr. Bennett asserted.

"How long we may be able to continue paying our obligations in the terms of the contract I am not going to discuss. Canada is still fifth among the exporting countries of the world and we have maintained our world position better than any other country. But you have neglected to consider now, matters affecting the flow of imports into this country. There also is a question of the balance of trade and how it may be affected."

Vatican City, Dec. 15.—Joy and sorrow are likely to intermingle in Pope Pius' elevation to the College of Cardinals tomorrow.

Prelates believe the Holy Father will express his satisfaction with such recent religious manifestations as the Eucharistic Congresses in Buenos Aires and Cleveland, and his discontent with "sieges" against spirituality elsewhere.

The Cardinals will meet their sovereign in a secret consistory. He will elevate the 20 prelates whose names were announced recently, bringing the College to 69. One less than the total prescribed by Canon Law.

The Consistory probably will confirm, or preconize, appointments of archbishops and bishops named since the last consistory.

The public consistory—one of the most impressive ceremonies of the Roman Catholic rite—will be Thursday. Then the Pope will confer the red hat upon the new cardinals. None of the new cardinals will attend tomorrow's consistory. They will await outside Vatican City the arrival of Papi's messengers with tidings of their elevation.

Hauptmann Not To Die In Chair Is Claim

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The New York Evening Post yesterday quoted a prisoner in the Trenton, N. J., death house as saying Governor Hoffman of New Jersey had promised Bruno Richard Hauptmann he would not die in the chair for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

The prisoner is Edward J. ("Sonny") McNamara, awaiting execution for a gangster murder last May 9. The condemned man, the newspaper related, reported the incident to a friend who visited him in the death house.

"You're wrong," the Evening Post quoted McNamara, answering the visitor's comment that Hauptmann was certain to be executed. "Governor Hoffman was in here a short time ago to see Bruno and he gave him his word he would not die in the electric chair for the crime."

POWASSAN, Ont., Dec. 15.—Fox farms here have completed operations for the season and 3,600 black and silver fox pelts were being prepared for shipment to fur markets at Montreal and London. The pelts were valued at approximately $150,000.

SEEK TRADE SETTLEMENT WITH JAPAN

Establishment Of National Commission On Unemployment Also Government Aim.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—Settlement of the trade dispute with Japan, establishment of the National Commission on unemployment and carrying forward policies and proposals arising from last week's Dominion-Provincial Conference, will keep the government busy through the holiday season and up to the time Parliament assembles, probably late in January.

Mr. King stated some week ago it was his ambition to have this problem disposed of before the end of the year. Yesterday he said his latest conference with the Japanese minister indicated negotiations were going forward most satisfactorily.

Establishment of a National Commission on unemployment will now go forward quickly, Mr. King said. He had purposely delayed selecting the personnel of the commission until after the Dominion-Provincial Conference so he could know to what extent the provincial governments were ready to co-operate with such a body.

Every provincial government, including the Social Credit administration in Alberta, agreed to place relief expenditures under the direct supervision of the proposed National Commission, the Prime Minister said.

Knowledge gained by all governments at the Dominion-Provincial Conference would be reflected in legislation which will be introduced at the forthcoming session of parliament and legislatures.

It is not intended to relieve municipalities of all responsibility for direct relief costs, as urged upon the conference last week by a delegation of Dominion mayors, but in co-operation with the provinces and through increased grants in aid which will be all passed along to the municipalities, they will receive an added measure of assistance.

The proposed National Commission, which will consist of an honorary advisory body and a paid executive, will not only take over entire supervision of relief administration, but will set up machinery to find employment and to train young people for work by arranging apprenticeships.

Responsibility for care of those who could not be gainfully employed even if work were available, will probably remain with the provinces and municipalities concerned. A national registration scheme will identify and classify all the idle both employable and non-employable.

The convening of a special Dominion-Provincial committee on procedure for obtaining amendments to the British North America Act, further meetings of the continuing committee of Dominion and provincial finance ministers, a conference of Dominion and provincial ministers of agriculture, and the usual pre-session preparations, will place an extra burden of work upon all members of the government between now and the assembly of parliament.

Wedding Of Island Interest In Saint John

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) SAINT JOHN, N. B., Dec. 15.—Margaret Robin Mackay Smith, daughter of George J. Smith, Saint John, Saturday became the bride of Nelson Rattenbury, Charlottetown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rattenbury, Charlottetown. Rev. Dr. E. H. Ramsay officiated at the ceremony in St. David's United Church.

Mrs. T. J. Gunn, organist, played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin's Wedding March. During the signing of the register Miss Virginia Spangler, a close friend of the bride, sang "My World." C. Whitney Gilchrist and Harold Williams were the ushers.

A reception at a local hotel followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Rattenbury left for Montreal on their wedding trip, and on their return will reside in Halifax.

Salary Cut For Employees At Montreal Port

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Dec. 15.—A cut of five per cent in all salaries of $1,200 or over will go into effect tomorrow at the Montreal Harbor offices. Alexander Ferguson, acting Port Manager, confirmed that the cut had been ordered from Ottawa.

A salary cut was made effective by the Montreal Harbor Commissioners in 1931 but was later restored. The new cut affects all employees of the harbor with the exception of a number of outside men who work on an agreement basis and staff workers who earn less than $1,200 a year.

OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—(C. P.)—The five per cent reduction in the salaries of Montreal Harbor Commission employees—affected those only who receive $1,200 or more per annum—is the "old statutory reduction, originally 10 per cent but some months ago reduced to five per cent," Edwin Hawken, Chairman of the Dominion Harbor Commission, said here tonight. It was not new so far as the Dominion public service was concerned.

Found Dead In Refrigerator Car At Moncton

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONCTON, Dec. 15.—The body of a man found in a Canadian National Railway refrigerator car here Saturday morning, is believed to be that of Jerry Allan, an Assyrian, of Halifax, police believe will come here tomorrow to make positive identification.

The body was found by William Lirette, a car sealer for the C. N. R., Saturday morning and the man had been dead for several hours, Coroner Dr. R. J. Caldwell stated after an examination. Death was due to asphyxiation by carbon monoxide gas from the heater in the car which contained a shipment of wine for church purposes.

Record Mail For Overseas

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The post-office reported today that Christmas mail from the United States to European countries had by 11:30 a. m. yesterday when the liner Washington was fully loaded with 27,607 sacks of mail, and letters, said by the postoffice foreign mail department to be the largest amount of mail ever carried on a ship from the port.

The previous record of 44,434 sacks last year was surpassed at 12:30 p. m. yesterday when the liner Washington was fully loaded with 27,607 sacks of mail, and letters, said by the postoffice foreign mail department to be the largest amount of mail ever carried on a ship from the port.

(Continued on Page 8)

Late News Flashes

(By Guardian's Special Wire) FORT ARTHUR, Ont., Dec. 15.—(C.P.)—Constable James Wilson of Fort Arthur city police was critically wounded early today in attempting arrest of a man believed to be John Kokani, one of three brothers suspected of attempted burglary. Frank and Tony Kokani are under arrest.

Search for John Kokani was underway by Ontario provincial police.

WARDHA, India, Dec. 15.—(A.P.)—M. K. Gandhi, doctors said today, is improved in health but has been advised to rest for two months and try to seek a change in climate.

Gandhi, who sponsored the civil disobedience movement is suffering high blood pressure.

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—(A.P.)—Two more Catholic priests received sentences today, one for criticizing the Nazi regime, the other for alleged smuggling of money and credits.

A Stuttgart priest was sentenced to six months and fined 5,000 marks ($2,000) for financial irregularities. A Hanau priest was fined 500 marks ($200) for critical comment on the Nazis.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(A.P.)—Caleb J. Milne, 4th, member of a socially prominent Philadelphia family, disappeared Saturday from his New York apartment and tonight was reported kidnapped for ransom.

At the Woodstock, N. Y., home of his mother, a woman who said she is an aunt of the youth asserted he had been kidnapped, that a ransom note had been received, and that federal agents were working on the case.

LEWISTON, Me., Dec. 15.—(A.P.)—Two persons were killed and one was seriously injured near here early today when their automobile hit a tree on the Portland-Poland Spring highway.

The dead: Clifford Schellinger, 26, and his brother, Albert, 17, both of Casco.

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15.—(C.P.)—Police followed a theory of murder and suicide tonight as they investigated discovery of the bodies of Mrs. C. Biggar, middle-aged departmental store saleswoman, and Charles A. Wooley, 50, in widely separated parts of Vancouver Saturday.

Mussolini Plans Major Advance On Two War Fronts

Baldwin Confers With Key Cabinet Ministers In Effort To Clarify Peace Proposals.

(By John Evans, Associated Press Foreign Staff) ROME, Dec. 15.—Major engagements tonight appeared likely to develop soon on both southern and northern Ethiopian fronts as Premier Mussolini spent a Sunday in speeding up airplane production.

The dictator also called on Italy to fly the flags of defiance from every housepost Wednesday in celebration of the Fascist kingdom's "Faith Day," and through his controlled press, threw more cold water on peace proposals.

On the southern Ethiopian front, General Rudolfo Graziani, with fresh white troops coming in, said he was ready for a long anticipated clash with the 40,000 warriors of Ras Desta Dantu, Emperor Haile Selassie's son-in-law.

In the north, Marshal Pietro Badoglio kept his men tuned up with skirmishes while he rebuilt stone foundation roads for the campaign which his officers predicted was imminent.

It Duce, at home, gathered every important aviation executive about him and told them what he wanted. Already five big and fast new type tri-motored bombers are being delivered daily, and 100 are in service now. Experts have said the planes could fly to Alexandria, where the British Fleet is clustered, and back again if necessary.

On Wednesday the women of the kingdom, led by Queen Elena, will give their wedding rings to the cause of an Italy besieged by a "sanctionist" world. On that night, too, the Fascist Grand Council holds another midnight meeting.

Italian newspapers shrouded their Dictator's reaction to the Anglo-French peace plan with editorial gold the proposals, offering Mussolini sovereignty or control over more than half of embattled Ethiopia, would give Italy less than her armies have conquered in the Tigre, "only sand" in the east and south and a zone of influence where hostile Emperor Haile Selassie would reign.

It Duce, informed sources said, will keep the League of Nations and the rest of the world waiting for his answer until after the Grand Council meeting, although the League Council meets Wednesday to discuss the peace plan.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

At the request of the presidency, a lengthy statement which he issued was not published by morning newspapers, and copies of an afternoon paper which issued his declarations were confiscated by police.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

SEEKS RETURN TO POWER

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 15.—A definite struggle between radicalism and conservatism in Mexico was predicted by informed sources today to result from the return of the one-time "strong man," General Plutarco Elias Calles.

The former President, who arrived here from Los Angeles by airplane after a six months of voluntary exile, said he came back to Mexico to "assume responsibility" for all his actions.

At the request of the presidency, a lengthy statement which he issued was not published by morning newspapers, and copies of an afternoon paper which issued his declarations were confiscated by police.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.

While workers organizations threatened a general strike unless Calles left Mexico immediately, the former President remained in his capital residence, guarded by only two soldiers and accompanied by his son Rudolfo, former Secretary of communications, and Luis Morones, prominent labor leader.