COMMUNICATION WITH PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

(St. John Globe.)

Of course it was reasonable to expect that the matter of the Prince Edward Island tunnel would be again brought to public attention this season. The winter navigation between the Island and the mainland—if that term can be employed in regard to the rather unsuccessful attempts which were made to keep up communication—were in the late winter most unsatisfactory, and the result was great dissatisfaction and great discomfort, and serious loss of business to many people. But the tunnel project is one that cannot be so easily disposed of as the Dry Dock scheme. Some idea may be entertained of the approximate cost of the dock, but to tunnel the Straits of Northumberland is almost like attempting to solve the unknowable. The suggestion that the work can be accomplished for a sum of money no greater than the surplus of the Dominion for the past year is not based upon absolute information. It might be as easy, and no more costly, to bridge the straits at the narrowest point, as to tunnel them, but even this is a matter upon which no sensible man would like to declare that he has uttered the final word. Last winter was a particularly unfavorable one for the winter navigation of the straits, and it may be that for a long time we shall not again have such a winter, but even this is indefinite. It is but natural to hear complaint on the subject. Possibly the limit has not been reached in the production of steamers suitable for the service, and while it may be that no more effective vessels than the Stanley and the Minto can be got, yet it is known that there are persons who believe that the limit in that respect is not reached. We must sympathise with the Islanders in their complaints, and hope for better things for them, but at the present moment it may be regarded as a fact that the tunnel scheme is not within the range of probability.

AN ACHING BACK

Is the first indication of kidney disease, and should be taken as a signal of danger a warning to use Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills while yet there is time to avoid the dreadful pains and certain fatality of this terrible disease. There is no guess work, no experimenting when you use the prescription. It brings relief in a remarkable short time, and because of its combined action of liver and kidneys, cures complicated cases which cannot be reached by any ordinary treatment.

DEATH OF HON. DAVID MILLS.

The sudden death of Judge Mills of the Supreme Court of Canada is announced and causes the more surprise as he was a man of usually robust health and not of very advanced age. He was born in Kent, Ontario in 1831, was educated there and in his early life taught school there. In 1865 he was appointed county superintendent of schools. His public career began with the confederation year 1897. He was then elected to represent Bothwell in the House of Commons, and that honor he retained until 1896 when for the first time he was defeated, and only by 59 votes. He was then called to the Senate.

In the sixties and seventies when he was making himself known as a public man, David Mills was a frequent speaker upon a wide variety of public questions. He was rather a slow and hesitating speaker always, but not dull. He had ideas that were often out of the common. From the beginning as an unknown youth in Parliament, he pitted himself against the foremost men of the opposing party, and early attracted the amused notice of Sir John MacDonald in that way. They were destined to many a serious contest at a later period. By the time when the Pacific Scandal brought about the overthrow of the Conservative party in 1873 Mr. Mills had practically fought his way to a Cabinet position. This was accorded him in 1876 when he succeeded Hon. David Laird as Minister of the Interior.

From an early period in his career Mr. Mills displayed a deep interest in the constitutional and legal questions which came before Parliament. He had many arguments there with leading lawyers, who sometimes thought it worth while to remind him that he was but a layman. He therefore studied law, late in life for the beginning of such studies, and was called to the bar in 1883 when he was fifty-two years of age. Thereafter without much if any practise in the courts he came to be an acknowledged authority on constitutional law and the practice of Parliament. When he was appointed to the Supreme Court a few years ago, although his promotion was contrary to all precedent, it passed almost unchallenged because of the recognised ability, fairness and honor of the new Judge. Had he lived longer he would doubtless have even more fully justified the wisdom of his appointment.

Judge Mills was at one time for several years chief editorial writer on the London Advertiser. In religious faith he was in accord with his first political leader, Alexander Mackenzie—a Baptist. Altogether he has been a public man of the better class, whose attitude and utterances have been devoted to the maintenance of a high standard in political life. He was thoroughly a Canadian, but a loyal subject of the Empire, and an earnest promoter of peace and good-will in our international relations.

The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada

IS

"Prosperous and Progressive."

BARRIE, ONT, April 9th, 1901

HOLLAND A. WHITE, ESQ,
District Manager
SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA,
HAMILTON, ONT.

DEAR SIR,—I have to-day received through your courteous and obliging representative for Barrie Mr Thos Bercroft, your Company's cheque for $1,246 05, being payment of 15-year endowment for $1,000 and profits of $246.65 for which kindly accept thanks.

Being a firm believer in life assurance, I carry policies in the three leading anadian companies and one in an American company, but I have always received larger profits from the Sun Life of Canada than from any other company. A short time ago a 15-year Endowment policy for $2,000, with accrued profits, matured in another Canadian company, and, for the same period, the profits were almost identical on this $2,000 policy and on the $1,000 I held in the Sun Life of Canada. This is a fair comparison, and shows distinctly my reason for applying for $2,000 more assurance in the Sun Life of Canada. I might also state that the profits earned on my policy just matured is more than the agent with whom I placed the assurance told me they would likely amount to. His estimate was $1,230 but the amount received was $1,246.

I need hardly tell you that I am delighted with the good results, and will be pleased to speak a good word for the Sun Life of Canada whenever an opportunity presents itself.

I remain, yours faithfully,
D. H. MACLAREN.
